

Death Under Desert Sun

HE COULDN'T WAIT TO RIDE

LUDLOW (UPI) — Fifteen-year-old William Volland could hardly wait to get on his motorcycle when his family set up a happy holiday camp on the desert near here early Friday.

The minute they arrived the young fellow leaped onto his trail bike and took off in the desert. He returned in a little while and after a few hours sleep was off again on the bike at 7 a.m., not even waiting to eat breakfast.

This time he didn't return.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Volland of 8502 Madison Ave., Midway City, searched with other members of the camping party who arrived in two pickup trucks and a trailer. They had five other trail bikes to follow the lost youngster.

Discouraged after several hours, they called the San Bernardino County sheriff's office at Barstow. A search and rescue team headed by Capt. Ted Harvey and using four-wheel drive vehicles joined the search.

About 6 p.m. Friday they found William's bike in a canyon only about three miles south of the campsite. It was out of gas.

There was still no trace of the boy. The search went on through the night.

Thirty-four men, six jeeps and eight horsemen extended the search after daylight Saturday. They found footprints and the search grew warmer.

At 9:15 a.m. they found

William's body, hot and lifeless in the bright sun, lying in a wash. He was only about four miles from his starting point at the campsite.

The trackers estimated from his footprints he had walked about 12 miles from his bike—in circles.

Cause of death was not immediately known. Deputies noted the presence of numerous diamondback rattlesnakes in the area. Another possible factor—the temperature reached 110 degrees Friday.

Young Bill Volland was born in San Juan Capistrano, but was educated in Midway City schools. He was a freshman at Westminster High School.

Cornell Chief Resigns After Crisis, Violence

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)—Cornell President James A. Perkins revealed Saturday he will resign his position at the university which became a center of controversy last month when armed black students barricaded themselves in a building.

In a brief statement released by a spokesman, Perkins said he would ask the board of trustees at its June 7-8 meeting to start the search for his successor. He said the board's executive committee was notified of the decision Saturday morning.

Perkins did not give any reasons for his decision or set any date for the resignation.

The spokesman said the president would have no further statement "at this time."

Perkins banned firearms on campus after the incident in which 200 Negroes seized Willard Straight Hall, the student union building, and evicted parents staying there for parents day festivities, then brought in rifles and shotguns.

The center housed the university radio station, WVBR, which also was occupied.

In a broadcast from within the building, Edward Whitfield described as chairman of the Afro-Americans, said the demonstrators were dissatisfied with the "racist" attitude at the university.

The following day, the occupation ended when university officials signed an amnesty agreement. The students marched from the building still carrying their weapons.

On April 23, the faculty agreed to meet the demands of the blacks in order to preserve peace on the campus. One of the demands was that the faculty nullify any disciplinary action contemplated against students involved in a December demonstration.

Immediately there were charges of a sell-out by the administration.

Summit Meeting Discord Denied by White House

President in Bahamas for Talks

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI)—The White House insisted Saturday there is "no indication" South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu does not support President Nixon's Vietnam peace plan.

Reports of a tougher stand by Thieu were rejected, as "interpretations" and "speculation" as Nixon and Secretary of State William P. Rogers flew to Grand Cay in the Bahamas for further Vietnam peace strategy talks.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the South Vietnamese president "was totally aware and closely consulted on the Vietnam peace plan and supported it."

There was full coordination.

"THERE'S NO indication that support has changed," he added.

Reports of a growing rift with the Saigon government were based on dispatches from Seoul where Thieu, following a meeting with South Korean leaders, said he would "never" agree to a coalition government with the Viet Cong.

Thieu also balked at withdrawal of any American troops from Vietnam without a mutual enemy withdrawal.

Thieu previously had accepted the premise that some American forces could be pulled out later this year and replaced with South Vietnamese troops.

As the date neared for Nixon's June 8 summit meeting with Thieu on Midway Island, the President summoned Rogers here for a first-hand report on his talks with the South Vietnamese president and other Asian leaders during his 18-day world tour.

Ziegler said that talks Saturday centered on Midway and added "the President feels the conference goes forward with peace efforts and is a continuation of close coordination between the United States

Questions to be answered are selected for their general interest and helpfulness.

No Sale

Q. A friend of mine was told that it is illegal to have your car marked with a "For Sale" sign if it is parked on the street. What does the law say on this? G.S., Long Beach.

A. Municipal Code Section 3410.95 makes it a misdemeanor for anyone to display a car advertised for sale on a public street in Long Beach while parked or moving. The ordinance was designed as a control on professional used car sales operations and a Long Beach Police Department spokesman noted that officers use discretion in enforcing the law in cases where individuals are obviously just selling a family car. "Like the ordinance against spitting on a public sidewalk, this ordinance is usually enforced only upon complaint," the spokesman said.

Film Flam?

Q. I saw an advertisement which offered free Famous Brand film. I wrote for the film in February, sending 25 cents for mailing, but I never received it. How can this company offer free film? Is it some kind of gimmick? G.A.C., Long Beach.

A. Jules Nelson, chief executive officer for the Film Corporation of America in Philadelphia, Pa., said the film is offered free to solicit film processing business. The company, which produces Famous Brand film, is a photo processing lab which specializes in developing this brand of film. With each processing order, the person receives a new roll of film. Nelson said their lab is specially designed to develop this film. "It can be developed by other labs, but many firms do not want to take the trouble to develop it," he added. The company has been deluged with requests for the free film which has delayed the orders, but Nelson said all of the orders will be filled. A spokesman for the Los Angeles Better Business Bureau said there have been some complaints against Famous Brand Film, but the company has adjusted the complaints they consider valid.

Raceway

Q. Can anything be done about the dangerous traffic situation at the Ascot Park speedway near Torrance after the races are over Sunday nights around 10 o'clock? Can't the police direct the disorderly exit of all the motorists? A.C., Long Beach.

A. Lt. Don Briggs, night watch commander for the 77th Street Division of the Los Angeles Police Department, said he will dispatch a unit to direct traffic next Sunday "as our other calls allow." He said he hasn't been at that station very long, and wasn't aware that the traffic was an unusual problem at the track. "We appreciate people calling us whenever they think an officer could be of use in a heavy traffic situation," he said.

Walk and Ride

Q. Is it permissible for children to ride their bicycles on the sidewalk? I have called different law enforcement agencies and got different answers. M.S., San Pedro.

A. Each city has its own regulations on riding bicycles on the sidewalk. Under Section 56.15 of the Los Angeles Municipal Code, which would cover San Pedro, children are not allowed to ride their bikes on the side-

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao —Striking oil workers Saturday night raided Curacao's radio station and forced it to broadcast demands that the government resign or face renewed violence which has already left two persons dead and the city in smoldering ruins.

About 300 more Royal Dutch marines were on their way by plane here to reinforce the 500 troops and police already on this Caribbean island, 65 miles off the Venezuelan coast.

U.S. Navy spokesmen in San Juan, P.R., said Saturday that some units of the Atlantic fleet were placed on "stand alert" following the bloody rioting and that two U.S. warships were steaming toward the Dutch port.

A U.S. Navy spokesman identified the ships as the USS Berry, a destroyer, and the USS Springfield, a light cruiser.

A rebel raiding party forced radio announcers to broadcast an ultimatum to Prime Minister Ciro Kroon's government, demanding it step down within 48 hours. The raiding party was led by labor leader Amador Nita.

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — One of the cadet officers marching in the big dress review at The Citadel — the state military school in South Carolina — caught the eye of an instructor.

The cadet officer's pants were far too baggy for regulation.

The instructor investigated and there in the fancy dress uniform, complete with a red sash and sword, was, of all things — a girl.

The first female to ever march in a dress review at The Citadel was identified as Janet Roggemann of Hackensack, N.J., the fiancée of Cadet Peter A. Brause of Port Washington, N.Y.

Two senior cadets who engineered the project by getting a dress uniform for Miss Roggemann and then tucking her long hair under the cap were prohibited from taking part in the graduation ceremonies. They will receive their diplomas at a later date.

The cadet commanding the company in which Miss Roggemann marched was reduced to the rank of private.

France Vote Set Today

Two Bomb Blasts End Campaigns; Pohor Off in Polls

PARIS (AP) — France votes for a president today after a campaign which ended with two bomb blasts and a report that interim President Alain Pohor has lost ground in the race to succeed Charles de Gaulle.

About 28 million Frenchmen will cast ballots today, but they are not expected to give a majority to any of the seven candidates. A runoff would then be required June 15 between the first two finishers.

A poll published Saturday afternoon by France-Soir, the nation's largest newspaper, gave Georges Pompidou, De Gaulle's former premier, 41 per cent of the vote.

POHOR, the Senate president who became chief of state April 28 when De Gaulle resigned, had dropped to 25 per cent. It was the fourth straight poll in which his total had decreased, indicating perhaps that Pohor's novelty and freshness were growing stale.

Pohor's political organization seemed troubled by the results and issued a statement that the last minute poll was "unfair" and "apparently more a pressure move than objective information."

The interim president's political headquarters was jarred earlier in the day when a street sweeper accidentally set off a bomb left on the sidewalk about 30 feet from the campaign center. The sweeper's eye was injured. Pohor was not in the office.

ABOUT A MILE and a half away, another bomb went off just after midnight in the smart apartment building where the

Bottomless Dancer Says She's Fighting for Freedom

Carol Cybulski, a shapely blonde who dislikes concealing her assets, thinks of herself as a freedom fighter.

But Orange County jurors last week regarded her in a different light. They found the 31-year-old bottomless dancer guilty of 20 counts of indecent exposure and lewd conduct.

"I was very upset but I expected it," Miss Cybulski says, "but not because I was guilty but because that's the way people are. They weren't trying me. They were trying bottomless dancing."

The Laguna Beach divorcee then talks about the reasons she chose her controversial profession.

CAROL CYBULSKI Dislikes Clothes

"WE ARE fighting for freedom and Sam (Masselli, the owner of the Apartment 'A Go-Go' in Santa Ana where she dances) is willing to go along with me," Miss Cybulski says.

A slow Tennessee drawl crawls around her words.

"At home I go around with practically no clothes. They're binding and I just feel there is no reason for them," she says.

And when some law enforcers and outraged citizens say otherwise, and call her routine a simple selling of sex, her eyes flash.

The same dance, danced with clothes, is the same dance, danced without clothes. It's just people's minds that change it."

She unfastens her attention from the rings on her fingers and looks up.

"You know that saying about it all being in the eyes of the beholder."

Bottomless dancing, according to Miss Cybulski, is just another extension of today's sexual revolution.

"And it's just like the different styles of clothes. Some people just will not accept them."

"I heard about one lady back East that would put bras on cows and cover all out great works of art with fig leaves."

SHE SAYS she doesn't think the day will come when people will walk down the streets naked but maybe when they will not judge a person by his clothes or lack of clothes.

About remarks of spectators when she dances, Miss Cybulski simply says she "shuts her ears." Only the music slips in.

"I dance with the music but there are two songs I have definite routines to. On a certain note of that song, I do a certain step," she explained.

Recently the dancer has incorporated snakes into her act but she doesn't make use of them in Santa Ana because of a wild animal code restriction.

"That's another fear people have grown up with . . . snakes. I just love them. I've never been afraid of them."

The twice-married entertainer who has a nine-year-old son living with her first husband's new family in the east, has two cobras, one rattlesnake and a 12½-foot python. They have been with her for two and a half years.

"The python is gentle. I just hold out my arm and he climbs right up. The rattlers . . . not so. I've been bitten by them three different times but I'm pretty immune to the bites now. I just get sick, maybe a little dizzy but nothing more," she says.

MISS CYBULSKI entered show business five years ago.

"I got tired of fellows with two left feet so I used to get up on the piano and dance to the music by myself. The owner of a bar used to watch and when he opened a go-go bar in Los Angeles he asked me if I wanted to dance," she relates.

She has been dancing since . . . first go-go; then topless and now bottomless.

Miss Cybulski maintains she is not ashamed of her act. She danced bottomless before jurors in pleading her case and she would dance bottomless in front of her family.

"In fact they're coming to California this summer and I will make sure they see my act," she says.

Santa Ana Girl Drowns in Colorado River

The drowning death of a 3-year-old California girl in the Colorado River was confirmed Saturday by police.

She was identified as Kelly Sue Alkema of Santa Ana, Calif. by the Clark County sheriff's department.

She apparently fell into the river from a point on the Nevada side directly opposite Bullhead, Ariz., deputies said. The location is only a short distance upstream from a point where Nevada, Arizona and California share a common boundary point.

Her body was recovered on the Arizona side of the river Friday and apparently transported across the river into California, the sheriff's department said.

Market Strikers Threaten to Picket 150 Warehouses

A strike-lockout involving 350 Los Angeles-area supermarkets may be expanded to include 150 warehouses this week.

Joseph T. de Silva, head of the striking AFL-CIO retail clerks Local 770 said he could see no quick settlement of the dispute which began last Wednesday.

The union called a strike against the Food Giant chain and the employers promptly declared a lockout at some other member stores of the Food Employers Council.

Supermarkets have remained open with hours curtailed by using supervisors and hastily recruited nonunion employees.

About 11,000 union members were idled.

De Silva said picket lines would be set up at warehouses Tuesday and the Teamsters Union has promised to respect picket lines, thus cutting off distribution.

Robert K. Fox, president of the employers council, said: "There is bound to be a very sharp cut in supplies until we can set up alternate methods of distribution to the markets."

Bottomless Dancer Says She's Fighting for Freedom

Carol Cybulski, a shapely blonde who dislikes concealing her assets, thinks of herself as a freedom fighter.

But Orange County jurors last week regarded her in a different light. They found the 31-year-old bottomless dancer guilty of 20 counts of indecent exposure and lewd conduct.

"I was very upset but I expected it," Miss Cybulski says, "but not because I was guilty but because that's the way people are. They weren't trying me. They were trying bottomless dancing."

The Laguna Beach divorcee then talks about the reasons she chose her controversial profession.

CAROL CYBULSKI
Dislikes Clothes

"WE ARE fighting for freedom and Sam (Masselli, the owner of the Apartment 'A Go-Go' in Santa Ana where she dances) is willing to go along with me," Miss Cybulski says.

A slow Tennessee drawl crawls around her words. "At home I go around with practically no clothes. They're binding and I just feel there is no reason for them," she says.

And when some law enforcers and outraged citizens say otherwise, and call her routine a simple selling of sex, her eyes flash.

"The same dance, danced with clothes, is the same dance, danced without clothes. It's just people's minds that change it."

She unfastens her attention from the rings on her fingers and looks up.

"You know that saying about it all being in the eyes of the beholder."

Bottomless dancing, according to Miss Cybulski, is just another extension of today's sexual revolution.

"And it's just like the different styles of clothes. Some people just will not accept them."

"I heard about one lady back East that would put bras on cows and cover all out great works of art with fig leaves."

SHE SAYS she doesn't think the day will come when people will walk down the streets naked but maybe when they will not judge a person by his clothes or lack of clothes.

About remarks of spectators when she dances, Miss Cybulski simply says she "shuts her ears." Only the music slips in.

"I dance with the music but there are two songs I have definite routines to. On a certain note of that song, I do a certain step," she explains.

Recently the dancer has incorporated snakes into her act but she doesn't make use of them in Santa Ana because of a wild animal code restriction.

"That's another fear people have grown up with . . . snakes. I just love them. I've never been afraid of them."

The twice-married entertainer who has a nine-year-old son living with her first husband's new family in the east, has two cobras, one rattlesnake and a 12½-foot python. They have been with her for two and a half years.

FORM ADVISORY GROUP TO EASE TENSIONS

Poly High Parents Huddle With School Officials, But Disagree on Key Points

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

Black and white Poly High School parents sat down together with Long Beach school officials for the first time Saturday to discuss Poly's hate sheet crisis, but found themselves in disagreement on key points.

They did agree that they should serve as an advisory group to help Poly "get through the last 13 days of the school year" and probe deeper into causes of unrest.

But many black representatives felt the school should be closed Monday to iron out problems while white parents and school officials wanted the school to remain open.

The group urged "no punishment" for last week's events be assessed until more facts are gathered and considered.

On Wednesday, about 100 white and black students clashed on the Central District campus, with six students hospitalized and 19 treated for injuries at the scene.

ONE CAUSE of the disturbance was a violently anti-Negro hate sheet, which school officials Saturday termed "irresponsible and inflammatory" and said they "strongly deplored."

The advisory group's resolution noted last week's conflict was "clouded and continues under investigation."

They recommended that "district policies which may have contributed" to Wednesday's incident should be included in the investigation and that opening the school on Monday was "a necessary first step" toward peace at Poly.

Most blacks present voted against the resolution, saying they were doubtful the school should be opened Monday.

The five-hour meeting, held at Hughes Junior High School, included about 15 parents, two faculty leaders and two school district representatives.

Representatives were selected from an earlier white parents' meeting at the Petroleum Club and black-parents' meetings in the Central District.

Earlier in the morning, about 35 Negro parents waited on the sidewalk in front of the Board of Education, believing a meeting would be held there. That meeting had been canceled and was rescheduled at the junior high school in Bixby Knolls.

ERNEST CLARK, director of the Educational Opportunities Program at California State College at Long Beach, repeatedly emphasized that school officials should "forget about disciplining kids for what happened last week and start all over again Monday."

"IF YOU prolong an investigation, and punish white and black kids for what they did last week, you'll start the whole cycle of trouble all over again," he said.

He stressed the need to get at "long-term, underlying problems at Poly" such as "insensitivity" to black student problems; need for more black-oriented courses; black administrators and black teachers; and a go-ahead for a campus Black Student Union.

But faculty representatives and most white parents emphasized the need to punish white and Negro students in Wednesday's disorders. Otherwise, they said, students would feel free to break laws in the future.

Dr. Henry Garcia, Poly principal, said faculty and staff were writing down complaints for presentation to a school district discipline committee.

Clark recommended: —Long-term committees to study discipline, curriculum and other Poly problems.

—A school department institutional change to continually suggest educational innovations.

—Closer coordination of elementary, junior high and high schools in the Central District.

—Expanded, all-year seminars between parents and educators.

Clark said that although there were no definite plans for a formal black boycott Monday, parents would come on campus to withdraw their children if trouble broke out.

Vernon Hinz, assistant superintendent of schools, and Neil W. Phillips, director of high schools, stressed "every attempt will be made to insure safety of all the students." School officials said uniformed and plainclothes police would be stationed on campus and more officers would be available on call.

The main gate on Atlantic Avenue will be the only entrance open, they said, and police there will search students who appear to be carrying weapons.

Jerold S. Jacobs, acting president of the Board of Education, said police believe Wednesday's inflammatory literature originated from a hate group outside Long Beach.

HE COMMENDED the Independent, Press-Telegram for offering a $500 contribution toward a rumor-control center for information leading to the source of the literature.

He also appealed to religious leaders to read a statement from their pulpits this morning urging citizens to "help our youth live, work and learn together in peace, understanding and mutual respect."

"No action should be taken which will further inflame a difficult situation in our community," he said.

Most parents at the meeting predicted a lower-than-average turnout of Poly's 2,700 students Monday morning.

The advisory group plans to meet again Monday.

Rumor-Control
Lines Established

A school district hot line began operation this morning for citizens seeking or wishing to give information on recent Poly High School racial unrest. The hot line—set up to take information or suggestions or answer questions—is HE 7-2853. It will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. today and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday. School officials said it may be jammed with calls at some times, and unsuccessful callers should try again.

Also, a temporary rumor-control center has been established at the city desk of the Independent, Press-Telegram, HE 5-1161, in hope of dispelling racial rumors.

The I, P-T switchboard will open at 7 this morning and 6 a.m. Monday. It closes at midnight, after which information can be obtained from the Long Beach Police Department.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey said Saturday the United States should initiate talks with the Soviet Union on curbing the nuclear arms race before Congress acts on President Nixon's proposal for a limited anti-ballistic missile system.

"The time to negotiate is now," the former vice president said. "If the negotiations are successful, then we will be spared the cost of the weapons. If the negotiations should fail, we will know, at least, that we tried to save mankind from an expensive and dangerous escalation in armament."

Unless the U.S. is successful now in slowing down the nuclear arms buildup, "it can be predicted without qualification that our military planners will win approval of a number of often postponed weapons programs costing, in the end, many hundreds of billions of dollars," Humphrey declared.

Riots Threaten Turkey Parley

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — Student organizations threatened Saturday to stage a week of demonstrations during the 22nd Congress of the International Chamber of Commerce, opening here Tuesday.

As a warm-up, students from Istanbul's Technical University, located 500 yards from the Congress site, burned the insignia of the International Chamber Friday. They denounced the congress as "a gathering of the world's worst exploiters and imperialists."

Riot police cordoned off the new Istanbul Cultural Palace, where delegates from 42 nations and 80 chambers of commerce and industry were arriving.

A Light From Above
In Her Back Yard

A heavy light fell on Mrs. Willy Van Herpen's back yard Saturday.

It weighed 30 pounds. Police said they think it fell from an aircraft. By the time it came to Earth in Mrs. Van Herpen's yard, 6442 Raymond Ave., it had cut a power line leading to her house and smashed several limbs of a tree.

Officer Edward Wysocki said the light—more accurately a lamp—probably fell from a light airplane, most likely a helicopter.

Mrs. Van Herpen said she was awakened at about 2 a.m. by the noise of the lamp crashing to the ground. And went out to her back yard where she spotted it. She said it was not when she touched it.

The lamp, in an aluminum housing, was about two feet in size and was designed to operate in "rarefied atmosphere," police said.

CHICAGO — A two-month investigation has disclosed widespread, unpunished crime at Chicago State and Tinley Park mental hospitals.

Four investigators for the office of state attorney Edward V. Hanrahan found numerous instances of murder, rape, prostitution, torture, narcotics traffic and aggravated battery.

Illicit sexual activity in halls, stairwells and elsewhere on the grounds was found to be so common that security personnel have stopped recording incidences.

Nor have hospital personnel been required to report crimes to the police, Hanrahan said this week in a report on the investigation.

Hanrahan also said that after the investigation began, Hyman C. Pomp, superintendent of Chicago State, instructed staff doctors "not to report unusual deaths and criminal activity to either the coroner's office or police authorities."

The investigators found that patients have no difficulty obtaining liquor, matches, knives, razor blades, guns and clubs.

called it a surrender, and more than a dozen signed a petition to end what they called "normal teaching procedures" unless weapons were removed from the campus.

ANGERED by the demonstrations, the Legislature pushed through bills to penalize disruptive students, including a measure making it a crime to carry guns on a college campus.

Twenty-three assemblymen, all Republicans, issued a statement saying they were "outraged as legislators and as citizens at the capitulation and surrender of certain college administrators to the demands of rebellious militant students."

Later, Perkins said that the nation's colleges probably will have to make new arrangements with civil authorities to handle college disruptions.

At a board of trustees meeting in New York City later, Perkins was given "full confidence of the board."

OPINION on Perkins' action was divided at Cornell. Perkins, 57, has headed the school for six years.

Prof. Cushing Stroul, an English teacher, said the action was necessary because of "a severe crisis of confidence in the administration's leadership."

Provost Dale R. Corson, a possible successor to Perkins, said, "I regret that he found it necessary to do this."

Tempers Cool, but Guardsmen Remain Near Berkeley Park

BERKELEY (UPI) — Daffodils and daisies attached to the barb wire fence surrounding "people's park" wilted in the hot sun Saturday, but tempers in this violence-plagued university city remained cool.

Berkeley police said there had been only a few "scattered" arrests since a massive march by nearly 30,000 demonstrators Friday demanding that the fence come down.

Despite the march by generally well-behaved, sign-waving protestors, the fence — and the National Guardsmen guarding the park — stayed put.

A spokesman for the Guard in Berkeley said only a "handful" of troops, the 50-member 149th Aviation Company, left the city despite the relaxing of tensions. "As of this morning," he said,

"we still have 1,522 men here."

Friday, the demonstrators walked by the park and attached the flowers to the fence while police and guardsmen stood by unsmiling. The fence has been a sore point with area residents since University of California Chancellor Roger Heyns ordered it erected two weeks ago.

Following the massive demonstration, Heyns said he was calling for a special early meeting of the university regents to consider leasing a portion of the park to the city of Berkeley for a nominal "dollar-a-year."

"I will support such a plan," Heyns said. "I'm confident things will move along rapidly, but we'll have to decide the next steps on a day-to-day basis."

The Berkeley city council voted early Friday to accept the lease arrangement if it is approved by the regents. The regents are now scheduled to meet June 13, but Heyns said he would ask President Charles Hitch for an emergency session.

The park controversy began when students and off-campus "street people" created a spontaneous "instant park" out of a vacant lot the university planned eventually to use as an athletic field. Heyns had it fenced despite a loud outcry from its creators.

During Saturday's demonstration, a pickup truck rolled along the parade route and dumped occasional heaps of dirt into the street. The marchers immediately planted flowers, shrubs and sod — although they were later removed.

After the march, the demonstrators returned to "people's park annex" — another vacant lot instantly converted into a spot of greenery. They danced and cavorted far into the night to celebrate the peaceful completion of the demonstration.

During more than two weeks of confrontation over the park, more than 800 persons have been arrested, one man was killed from a shotgun blast by police and scores were injured.

BOLIVIA STUDENTS DRIVE ROCKY OUT

New York Times Service

LA PAZ, Bolivia, — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller cut short his visit to Bolivia, Saturday to avoid possible bloodshed and a political crisis as thousands of student demonstrators marched in this Andean capital to protest his arrival.

The Rockefeller mission's visit was reduced to an airport meeting with President Luis Siles Salinas, who met with Rockefeller at a heavily guarded airbase instead of receiving the visiting mission at the presidential palace in La Paz.

The Murillo Plaza, traditionally the center of political demonstrations in front of the palace, was filled with student demonstrators shouting "Bolivia

Yes, Yankees No."

They carried signs denouncing Rockefeller as representative of "imperialism" and decrying the visit as "an offense to Bolivian nationalism." The students were from both the national San Andres University and the Catholic University in La Paz.

The demonstrations were a larger and better-organized version of student protests than those that greeted Rockefeller on his earlier stops on this trip in Bogota and Quito.

The demonstrators burned an American flag in Murillo Plaza and were clearly hostile to the Rockefeller visit. But the march was more orderly and peaceful than some observers had expected.

STUDENTS END FAST AT UCLA

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Twenty students at UCLA Saturday ended a six-day hunger strike staged in sympathy with demonstrators on the UC Berkeley campus.

A spokesman, Bill Prensky, said the group voted unanimously to end the hunger strike in view of a peaceful settlement of the Berkeley trouble.

A "ritual of thankfulness" was held at a restaurant Saturday evening in the formal breaking of the fast.

The group made a trip Saturday afternoon to the home of Gov. Ronald Reagan, in nearby Pacific Palisades, but he was not there.

Prensky said the hunger strikers wanted to ask the governor to remove National Guard troops from Berkeley.

The hunger strikers — 11 men and nine women — apparently came through the six days in good physical shape.

MEDIC SAVES 2 CHILDREN

LONDON (UPI) — A doctor rescued two baby girls Saturday from their father who barricaded them in a bedroom and held police at bay with a breadknife for 10 hours.

Police said the doctor, who was not identified, entered Charence Monroe's house, persuaded him to put down the knife, and gave him a sedative.

His children, aged 1 and 2 years, were led to safety and Monroe was carried out on a stretcher and taken to a mental hospital in Epsom.

Jogger, in Missouri, Logs 49 Miles More

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI) — English distance runner Bruce Tulloh continued his record-breaking pace Memorial Day by jogging 49 miles to within eight miles of Springfield. Tulloh, 33, is trying to break the record of 73 days in the run from Los Angeles to New York, set in 1964 by Don Shepherd of South Africa. The British long-distance specialist hopes to complete the trip in 66 days.

Three Control Dr. Noguchi Fate

An ex-labor official, an ex-executive and an ex-teacher today sit in judgment on an ex-coroner.

Three people — all members of the Los Angeles County Civil Service Commission — will decide whether Dr. Thomas T. Noguchi is reinstated as chief medical examiner-coroner of Los Angeles County.

and, many people believe, whether the civil service structure will survive.

The three are considered experienced.

They are considered the best in their respective fields.

They are considered honest.

But the three are employed (appointed at $100 a day each) by the same board that fired the controversial Dr. Noguchi — the Board of Supervisors.

AND THEY are counseled in their daily rulings on the Noguchi case by Assistant County Counsel Robert Lynch, whose direct boss is the man who signed the second set of charges against the ex-coroner.

Can the board be impartial ... unbiased ... unprejudiced?

Not only the Japanese-born coroner, but the entire civil service system is on trial, many feel.

Both rest in the hands of Long Beach attorney Harry Albert, Mrs. Thelma Mahoney of Pasadena, and O. Richard Capen of Encino, the Commission president.

All are veterans of the commission.

Brooklyn-born Albert's career spans more years than Dr. Noguchi has been alive. His 18 years on the commission ends in December when, he says, he will retire.

The son of a cattle dealer, he served in the horse cavalry during World War I, quitting Clark University in Worcester, Mass., to join. He returned from war to teaching and moved from east to west.

WHILE teaching algebra to students in Long Beach's Hamilton Junior High School, he attended law school at night and served as a playground director between classes.

However, he found time to marry a pert little student at the Otis Art Institute and have one child, Lurene, now District Director for the Bureau of Public Assistance in Alhambra. Albert's wife, Birdie, died 20 years ago.

"I've never remarried," the 75-year-old teacher-at-large says, with a touch of sadness. "I guess I'll always carry a torch."

Looking back, he claims, he "wouldn't work like that again."

"If teachers, in those days, had received a living salary, I'd probably still be one ... I like teaching better than anything."

But he left his favorite profession and turned to law. He was city prosecutor in Long Beach for almost a year before being appointed to the District Attorney's office. He left after six years.

"I couldn't stand all those people going to jail all the time. They deserved to be prosecuted, don't misunderstand me, but I'd go home and see my daughter and think that the men I'd prosecuted probably had families. It finally got under my skin, so I began my own private practice."

Sen. Long, Wife Planning Divorce After 30 Years

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., and Mrs. Long plan to obtain a divorce, the Washington Bureau of the New Orleans Times-Picayune said in its Sunday edition.

The story said Mrs. Long is in Nevada, where she will obtain a divorce.

Sen. Long is the oldest child of the late Sen. Huey P. Long and nephew

And, between Commission meetings, he still operates his practice in the Ocean Center Building in Long Beach.

OF THE current Noguchi hearing underway, Albert admits it's "the first time in 18 years on the Commission we've had something like this."

"It must be important to a lot of people, but to me, it's just another hearing."

Mrs. Thelma Mahoney isn't quite the veteran that Albert is on the commission, but her experience with labor and labor organizations spans a quarter of a century.

The attractive grandmother of three retired a year ago after serving 25 years, with the AFL-CIO as a legislative specialist.

Still a staunch supporter of the labor movement, she claims what happens now in the legislature "will determine whether they (labor) go forward or back."

"There's a great opportunity now to organize public employees — it's a virgin territory ... but what they give you over a bargaining table can be taken away through legislation."

ADMITTING that her husband is "on the other side" — a lobbyist for the tobacco industry — she still urges labor to "become much more active in the election of candidates who are interested in progressive legislation."

"Whether it's in city hall, the legislature or Congress — that's where the fight is — not on the docks as most people feel," the Los Angeles-born woman claims.

Although well tuned to labor and its problems, Mrs. Mahoney has had time — in addition to the raising of her only child, Mrs. Yvonne Hickam of Hermosa Beach — to serve on other boards and commissions.

She has served for the past 10 years on the advisory board of California State College at Los Angeles, and for the past year and a half on the Status of Women Commission, appointed by Governor Reagan.

Now in her eighth year on the Civil Service Commission, her term expires in 1973.

President of the Commission is O. Richard Capen, who is on the opposite pole from the labor-leaning Mrs. Mahoney.

Springfield, Mass.-born and Trinity College-educated, Capen was "union material" for only two years in his entire meteoric career.

He joined a paper cup company as a salesman upon his discharge as an Air Corps lieutenant following World War II. He was there for two years before he began his own paper cup, plate, etc., manufacturing firm in Los Angeles.

For eight years he built up the company until finally in 1955 he sold it to a firm on the New York Stock Exchange.

TWO YEARS later he was president of the Good Humor Company which he sold in another eight years to handle his own personal investments.

Between those investments and two more personal ones ... his two teenaged daughters, he has served on the Civil Service Commission (two terms as president) for the past eight years.

"We've handled a lot of cases," the handsome, 46-year-old Capen admits candidly. "But this Noguchi case is the first time we've had anything like this."

"... we'll just wait and see what develops."

So will approximately 60,000 county employees.

And so will other seven million county residents.

Bradley Chairman of Dominguez Firm

J. P. Bradley has been named chairman of the board of the Dominguez Water Corporation, after the unit's May meeting, it was announced Saturday.

C. Marvin Brewer will replace Bradley as president of the organization.

Norwegian, Liberia Ships in Collision

TRELLEBORG, Sweden (UPI) — Fire raged through the bow section of a Liberian tanker Saturday after it collided at dawn with a Norwegian bulk carrier, killing one crewman.

Oil spilled from the forward tank of the 71,000-ton tanker Benedic, setting the sea around the two ships ablaze.

The burning oil slick and bad weather hampered initial rescue operations, but by mid-afternoon Danish and Swedish coast guardsmen and fire fighters brought the fires under control.

Yorba Linda, Anaheim Land Discord 'Settled'

Areas of "influence" of little Yorba Linda and big Anaheim won't meet — if the Local Agency Formation Commission has its way.

The LAFC, faced with demands from each city for the right to annex the same territory in Santa Ana Canyon, drew a buffer zone down the middle and said it should be county territory.

Ai issue was about 11 square miles of territory, almost half of which is planted to orange trees. The property is on both sides of the Santa Ana River, roughly from Imperial Highway to the Riverside County line.

Yorba Linda wanted the river to be the boundary line.

Anaheim wanted the right to go north of the river at Imperial Highway, and take in some territory to develop a golf course.

The commission ruled that Anaheim cannot annex south of Esperanza Road. That would leave a "Gaza Strip" varying in width, but about a half-mile wide, of territory which would be controlled by Orange County.

"It must be important to a lot of people, but to me, it's just another hearing."

Mrs. Thelma Mahoney isn't quite the veteran that Albert is on the commission, but her experience with labor and labor organizations spans a quarter of a century.

The attractive grandmother of three retired a year ago after serving 25 years with the AFL-CIO as a legislative specialist.

Still a staunch supporter of the labor movement, she claims what happens now in the legislature "will determine whether they (labor) go forward or back."

"There's a great opportunity now to organize public employees — it's a virgin territory ... but what they give you over a bargaining table can be taken away through legislation."

ADMITTING that her husband is "on the other side" — a lobbyist for the tobacco industry — she still urges labor to "become much more active in the election of candidates who are interested in progressive legislation."

"Whether it's in city hall, the legislature or Congress — that's where the fight is — not on the docks as most people feel," the Los Angeles-born woman claims.

Although well tuned to labor and its problems, Mrs. Mahoney has had time — in addition to the raising of her only child, Mrs. Yvonne Hickam of Hermosa Beach — to serve on other boards and commissions.

She has served for the past 10 years on the advisory board of California State College at Los Angeles, and for the past year and a half on the Status of Women Commission, appointed by Governor Reagan.

Now in her eighth year on the Civil Service Commission, her term expires in 1973.

President of the Commission is O. Richard Capen, who is on the opposite pole from the labor-leaning Mrs. Mahoney. Springfield, Mass.-born and Trinity College-educated, Capen was "union material" for only two years in his entire meteoric career.

He joined a paper cup company as a salesman upon his discharge as an Air Corps lieutenant following World War II. He was there for two years before he began his own paper cup, plate, etc., manufacturing firm in Los Angeles.

For eight years he built up the company until finally in 1955 he sold it to a firm on the New York Stock Exchange.

TWO YEARS later he was president of the Good Humor Company which he sold in another eight years to handle his own personal investments.

Between those investments and two more personal ones ... his two teenaged daughters, he has served on the Civil Service Commission (two terms as president) for the past eight years.

"We've handled a lot of cases," the handsome, 46-year-old Capen admits candidly. "But this Noguchi case is the first time we've had anything like this."

"...we'll just wait and see what develops."

So will approximately 60,000 county employees.

... And so will other seven million county residents.

Norwegian, Yorba Linda, Anaheim Liberia Ships Land Discord 'Settled' in Collision

TRELLEBORG, Sweden (UPI) — Fire raged through the bow section of a Liberian tanker Saturday after it collided at dawn with a Norwegian bulk carrier, killing one crewman.

Oil spilled from the forward tank of the 71,000-ton tanker Benedict, setting the sea around the two ships ablaze.

The burning oil slick and bad weather hampered initial rescue operations, but by mid-afternoon Danish and Swedish coast guardsmen and fire fighters brought the fires under control.

The man killed was

Areas of "influence" of little Yorba Linda and big Anaheim won't meet — if the Local Agency Formation Commission has its way.

The LAFC, faced with demands from each city for the right to annex the same territory in Santa Ana Canyon, drew a buffer zone down the middle and said it should be county territory.

At issue was about 11 square miles of territory, almost half of which is planted to orange trees. The property is on both sides of the Santa Ana River, roughly from Imperial Highway to the Riverside County line.

Yorba Linda wanted the river to be the boundary line.

Anaheim wanted the river to go north of the river at Imperial Highway, and take in some territory to develop a golf course.

The commission ruled that Anaheim cannot annex north of the river, and that Yorba Linda cannot annex south of Esperanza Road. That would leave a "Gaza Strip" varying in width, but about a half-mile wide, of territory which would be controlled by Orange County.

Kennedy Criticizes Thieu, Warns of 'Future Alone'

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, addressing 2,100 University of Massachusetts graduates, said Saturday South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu must make concessions for peace or "face his future alone."

The Massachusetts Democrat said Thieu, who was in Formosa Saturday, "doesn't help the cause of peace by lobbying in South Korea and Taiwan, nations where we spent billions for defense, against President Nixon's peace plan."

Thieu said in Seoul Friday he would never accept a coalition government with the Viet Cong. In Taipei Saturday he said China is an example of "undue concessions" leading to a Communist takeover.

KENNEDY, the Senate majority whip, said, "If we who have given so much and suffered so greatly must make concessions for peace, President Thieu must do the same — or elect to face his future alone."

Kennedy, who last week was critical of the Allied assault on Hamburger Hill in Vietnam, told the graduates he believes the American people support President Nixon "as he speaks with frankness and candor" in his Midway Island meeting with Thieu next week.

The senator drew a large round of applause from the graduates and more than 17,000 spectators as he said Americans who have died in Vietnam have been "men in spirit, but boys in age."

"We have not fought in the heat and mud simply to keep one or two individuals in Saigon's presidential palace," he said.

Kennedy warned against society turning its back on those who seek to promote social change. "If the vigilante spirit grows in the United States... there is no doubt violence will continue, repression will grow and the liberties of all of us will be endangered," he said.

"THE REAL issue today is not whether change will occur... but will it happen peacefully... or will it come violently — against the wall and in the streets — in a way that pulls people apart," he asked.

KENNEDY CHECKING HIS SPEECH At University of Massachusetts Ceremony

Kennedy was the major speaker in a program which saw honorary degrees awarded to television newsman Walter Cronkite and poet Archibald MacLeish, among others.

John W. Lederle, the university president, remarked after presenting the degree to Cronkite: "And that's the way it is, May 31, 1969," referring to the closing of Cronkite's nightly CBS news program. Cronkite broke into a wide grin as the crowd applauded in approval.

Hoover Blasts New Left As 'Pro-Marxist' Movement

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover declared Saturday "America should take note before it is too late" of a "strong revolutionary Marxist movement" bent on destroying established authority in the nation.

In a message at the close of the academic year, Hoover lambasted the new left movement in general and singled out the Student for a Democratic Society as a group "rapidly gaining a definite Marxist-Leninist coloration."

"While the new left movement may or may not make the dean's list this year, it rates an A-plus in revolutionary exploits," Hoover wrote in the June edition of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin.

"The SDS and its adherents," he declared, "have rocked campuses from coast to coast with violence, riots and sabotage."

THE FBI director said it has become apparent that new left students are not on college campuses to seek education.

"Rather," he said, "this conglomerate of malcontents is engineering a drive to destroy our educational system."

Moreover, he said, the movement is being controlled more and more by "the followers of Karl Marx through the old left organizations of the Communist Party, USA pro-Moscow, the Progressive Labor Party, pro-Peking and the Socialist Workers Party Trotskyites.

"Not since the new left came into being has the influence of Marxism-Leninism been so strong," he said.

Accusing militants of terrorizing educational institutions, Hoover said, "Crime under the ivy-covered arches of a college campus is no more excusable than crime in our city streets."

The FBI director, who claims to have uncovered FBI agents infiltrated into various new left groups, also reported a movement is underway to centralize the splintered militant forces.

Another issue to be resolved, Hoover said, whether the new left students will be able to forge an alliance with the working class in order to "bring about a revolution."

Factionalism exists with SDS ranks on whether such an alliance should be formed, Hoover said, but the "pro-Peking, pro-Moscow and Trotskyites" are in agreement that the linkage is "a mutual necessity."

And "the pro-Peking Progressive Labor Party," he said, "already has a strong beachhead inside the national SDS. On some key issues, the PLP comes close to having enough strength to swing votes in national meetings."

Meanwhile, he said, the new left "has made it emphatically clear that mere change and revision are not its objectives."

"Armed with a long list of 'non-negotiable' demands, its immediate goal is the complete overthrow and control of our educational system. We all know what its ultimate goal is."

Hoover, in an apparent reference to college administrators, took issue with compromise as the way to resolve campus disputes.

"Concessions and appeasements will not satisfy those bent on anarchy and nihilism," he said. "America should take note before it is too late."

Inaugural 'Restraint' Is Praised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A task force of the National Commission on Violence credited the "restraint, discipline and courtesy" of Washington's police and city officials for the lack of violence during anti-war demonstrations at President Nixon's inauguration.

The report, released by the commission without comment, was in sharp contrast to a similar document issued in December by a similar study group which charged there was a "police riot" during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago last August.

In Washington, the task force said, police and authorities generally "performed their difficult job splendidly" during the three days of "counter-inaugural" protest activities, Jan. 18-20, that were coordinated by the National Mobilization Committee to end the war in Vietnam.

The report noted that, unlike Chicago, no tear gas or chemical sprays were used and there were few injuries among police or the demonstrators.

11 Oilworkers Found Slain in Biafra

ROME (AP) — Eleven oil workers, missing for three weeks, in war-torn Biafra, have been found dead, their employer announced Saturday night.

They had been among 29 employees of Ente Nazionale Idrocarburi who disappeared after fighting swirled around the work camp May 7-10.

Officials of the Italian state-owned oil company announced recently that the other 19 had been located in a Biafran prison camp.

The dead include 10 Italians and one Jordanian, ENI spokesmen said.

ENI MADE the announcement after two of its representatives returned from Biafra Saturday. The officials said they had seen the bodies of the 11 oilmen but did not give a precise location.

President Giuseppe Saragat, Premier Mariano Rumor and another Italian official sent their condolences to the victims' families.

Meanwhile, ENI stated that the chances for securing the release of the workers held prisoner appeared reasonably good.

The huge, state-run oil firm said it hoped the men — 14 Italians, three Germans and one Lebanese — would be freed soon.

A Biafran statement released in Geneva Saturday dismissed as "ridiculous" reports from the Federal Nigerian government that the missing men were killed by retreating Biafrans.

Sirhan Accepts First Visitor Since Entering Death Row—His Lawyer

SAN QUENTIN (UPI) — Sirhan B. Sirhan received his first visitor Saturday since he entered death row at San Quentin Prison — Defense Attorney Russell Parsons.

Parsons interviewed the convicted assassin of Sen. Robert Kennedy for about 45 minutes in a private room adjacent to the cell he has occupied since May 23.

Parsons said Sirhan "seems in good spirits, is encouraged and is not depressed."

"Sirhan is very satisfied with the treatment he is getting from death row guards," Parsons said. "He's reading quite a bit and is getting much more exercise than he got down in the Los Angeles County Jail."

The soft-spoken lawyer said he gave Sirhan several legal documents to study in connection with the appeal of the death sentence handed down by a Los Angeles jury.

"He knows we have a long fight ahead and is quite satisfied we will make eventual headway," Parsons said.

The Jordanian immigrant was formally sentenced May 21 for the fatal shooting of Kennedy last June 5. Two days later he was secretly flown to San Quentin — on the north shore of San Francisco Bay — to await execution in the gas chamber.

Sirhan occupies Cell 33, South Side, condemned Unit 1. His cell facilities are identical to other death row prisoners with the exception that one cell on either side remains vacant and a reinforced guard stands watch.

I realize the suits are pretty ugly, but I'm there to learn the techniques of swimming and not to be beautiful. Mrs. Nixon and her daughter and son-in-law, Julie, 20, and David Eisenhower, accompanied the President to the British-owned island. Her other daughter, Patricia, 23, remained here.

Sharp Fighting Signals Viet Cease-Fire End

SAIGON (AP) — Sharp fighting broke out in South Vietnam's central highlands Saturday only three hours after the end of a bullet-marred Buddha birthday cease-fire.

The action continued into the night and when it was over, the U.S. Command said, the bodies of 54 North Vietnamese soldiers were found on the battlefield. American losses, from elements of the 4th Infantry Division, were put at 10 killed and 21 wounded.

The fighting near Plei Mrong, about 250 miles northeast of Saigon, was the heaviest listed in battle reports today. There were several other clashes across the country, and the Command said six significant enemy rocket or mortar attacks were reported overnight.

U.S. Air Force Bombers also were back in action with light overnight strikes, ranging from the central highlands to within 30 miles east of Saigon. Spokesmen said the highlands fighting began about 9 a.m. when 4th Division soldiers on a sweep ran into a North Vietnamese force of unknown size.

"The fighting continued all day, and into the evening until about 9 p.m. when the remaining enemy evaded and withdrew," headquarters said. "As the troops swept through the area, there were repeated sporadic contacts as well as some intense firefights."

The Americans were supported throughout the action by artillery batteries, helicopter gunships and fighter-bomber strikes.

Farther northeast, about 95 miles below Da Nang, elements of the American Division's 11th Light Infantry Brigade reported killing 28 enemy in another day-long fight. The Americans suffered nine men killed and 29 wounded.

About 28 miles northwest of Saigon, U.S. 25th Infantry Division soldiers reported 14 North Vietnamese were killed with the aid of artillery and air strikes in a 45-minute clash. Spokesmen said there were no U.S. casualties.

Viets Will Free POW's As 'Package'

LONDON (UPI)—Communist diplomats said Saturday North Vietnam has no intention of releasing U.S. prisoners of war except as part of a peace "package" and will stall the Paris peace talks until the United States halts "war activities" in South Vietnam.

The diplomats, who said the Vietnamese Communist views were communicated last week to their allies in Moscow and to some of their East European friends, also reported the Communists are not prepared to make "piecemeal concessions" towards obtaining peace.

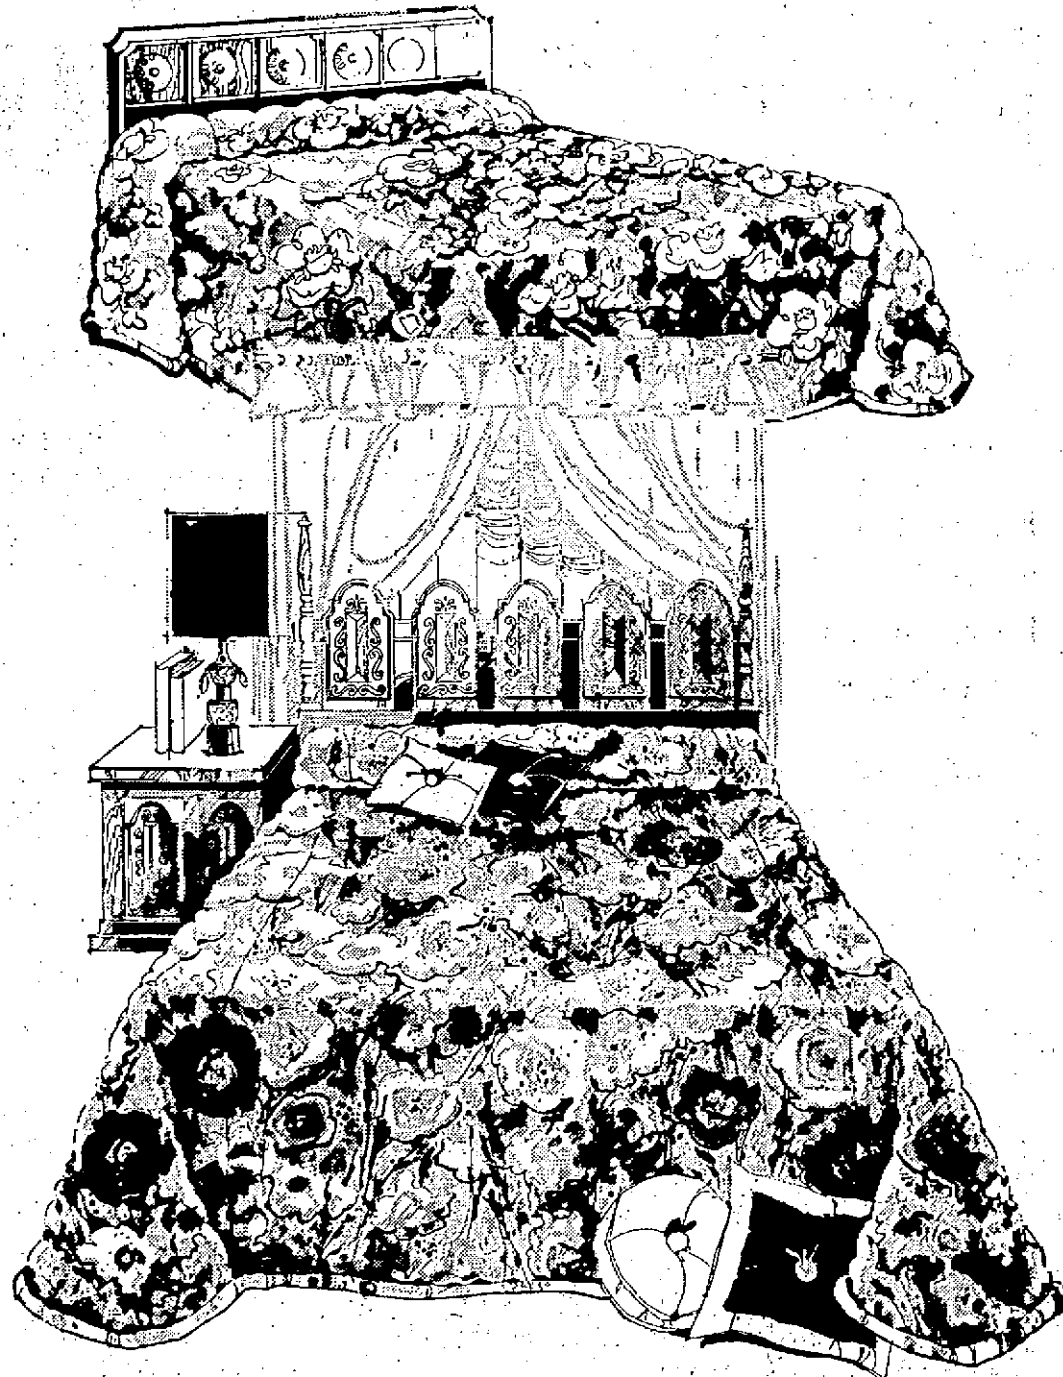

At last report, 336 U.S. servicemen were listed by the Pentagon as Vietnam war prisoners and 967 listed as missing. Of this total of 1,303, nearly 800 are airmen shot down over North Vietnam.

GEN. BRADLEY RETURNING TO NORMANDY

By RALPH DIGHTON
LOS ANGELES (AP) — General of the Army Omar Nelson Bradley, one of the nation's busiest 76-year-olds, will fly to France this week for three days of ceremonies marking the 25th anniversary of D-Day, June 6, 1944.

GEN. OMAR BRADLEY
Led Largest Force

Leading a delegation of eight U.S. generals invited by the French government, he will commemorate the misty morning when the largest amphibious force in history, directly under his command, hit the beaches of Normandy and opened the way to victory in World War II.

He has been leading a happy, active life of semi-retirement, filled with duties and pleasures ranging from chairmanship of a watch company (Bulova) to handicapping horses with professional skill.

On the eve of his departure Sunday for the battle-ground, he helped enshrine in history, Bradley

"They are beautifully trained," he said, "trained as well as any I have ever known. Their morale is very high — we should be proud of them."

Gen. Bradley, the only living five-star general, said that despite exceptions like Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower military men should stay out of politics.

Bradley said a pet hobby, shared by his wife of 2½ years, television writer Kitty Buhler, is handicapping horses — and backing their judgment with bets.

Mrs. Bradley credits some of her luck — "she paid income taxes on $12,000 in winnings in 1967," the general said — to rubbing the nose of a bust of the general that presides over the foyer of their Trousdale Estates home. It's a duplicate of a bust outside the superintendent's office in the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, which Bradley once headed, and cadets have long since rubbed the nose shiny.

The general, however, credits her luck and his own to handicapping methods she learned from a professional gambler.

"It's quite a science," he says, "and we've improved on his methods. Out of five days play last week, I won on four days." The general declined to divulge his secret. "It'd take a whole volume," he said.

Bradley, with 58 years of military service, has been semi-retired since leaving the chairmanship of the joint chiefs of staff in 1953.

Until recently he was active in a score of philanthropies and was a board member of several industries, including a movie studio. He moved here about three years ago. Prior to the first Mrs. Bradley's death, he lived in Washington.

Today, as always, his first interest is the Army. He and his wife write his speeches on airliners en route to the many places his Army duties take him.

He is still technically on active duty and has an office at the Pentagon.

In a recent speech, he offered this capsule of the times:

"I doubt there has been

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM—A-9 Long Beach, Calif., Sun., June 1, 1968

any time in history that there has been a greater need to give thought to what we owe our country. Too many have not learned that freedom is not free, that democracy can expect stern payment from those who share its bounty."

6 Czech Liberals Lose Power

PRAGUE (AP)—The Czechoslovak Communist party purged noted economist Ota Sik and five other liberals from its central committee Saturday in another major step to silence opposition to pro-Soviet policies.

Five other members of the 190-member central committee, including the head of the Czechoslovak Academy of Science, were reprimanded for breaking party discipline.

The actions were announced in a communique covering the central committee's Friday and Saturday session, its first since the April meeting at which disciplinarian Gustav Husak took over as party leader from Alexander Dubcek, the popular reformer.

No changes were announced in the party's supreme ruling body, the Presidium, to which Dubcek still belongs.

Husak previewed the purge in a televised speech to more than 1,000 party workers at Prague's biggest industrial complex, the CKD works. Organized cheering by old guard Communists in the audience turned the show into a personal triumph for Husak, a tough Slovak who has been accused of lacking support among Communist party faithful in Prague and the Czech part of the country.

Turk Workers Win Rise of Uncle Sam

IZMIR, Turkey (UPI) — A new contract Saturday ended a 43-day strike by employees at most U.S. military bases, but workers in Izmir vowed they would not accept the agreement.

The contract calls for a 4-cent per hour wage increase for Turkish workers at American installations, an additional week of vacation and increased food allowances. It was accepted by workers at Ankara, Adana, Istanbul and Samsun.

Orbiter Graduates

MOSCOW (UPI) — Valentina Tereshkova, the world's only woman to make a space flight, was graduated Saturday from the Zhovkovsky Military Aircraft Engineering Academy in Moscow. She orbited the earth in 1963 and entered the academy a year later.

Facts You Should Know About Weddings

by Arch Shinder
Lawson's Jewelers
250 Pine Ave.

June is the month for weddings. There is a certain etiquette most people follow in reference to a wedding. For example: The bride's parents pay for the reception and dinner, the groom pays for the ceremony, the groom's parents pay for the liquor and flowers, the bride and groom exchange plain gold wedding bands as part of the ceremony.

We are fortunate to be jewelers as we are constantly exposed to young love from engagement rings to the wedding. As jewelers, we play an important role as the bride and groom customarily bestow gifts, not only to each other, but to members of the bridal party. A wedding is the occasion for the personal gift and there is nothing more personal than a gift of jewelry. Remember, the gift you choose is something you want the recipient to treasure and remember for many years. That is why JEWELRY is always the ideal gift.

What should the groom give as a gift to the bride?

The birthstone for June is PEARL. It is thus very appropriate to give her CULTURED PEARLS. We suggest a lovely cultured pearl necklace, which she can wear with her bridal dress. Your jeweler will help you choose the exact size, color, and shape of the cultured pearl strand that will most aptly fit your intended. The selection of this cultured pearl strand will give your bride immense pleasure forever. You may purchase a beautiful gift of cultured pearls for approximately $50.00 to $100.00.

If you have any questions, please consult us. We would be not only happy, but proud to be of service in making your wedding a success.

Just drop in, call or write us at Lawson's Jewelers, 250 Pine Ave., Downtown Long Beach, Calif.

GEN. BRADLEY RETURNING TO NORMANDY

By RALPH DIGHTON
LOS ANGELES (AP) — General of the Army Omar Nelson Bradley, one of the nation's busiest 76-year-olds, will fly to France this week for three days of ceremonies marking the 25th anniversary of D-Day, June 6, 1944.

Leading a delegation of eight U.S. generals invited by the French government, he will commemorate the misty morning when the largest amphibious force in history, directly under his command, hit the beaches of Normandy and opened the way to victory in World War II.

He has been leading a happy, active life of semi-retirement filled with duties and pleasures ranging from chairmanship of a watch company (Bulova) to handicapping horses with professional skill.

On the eve of his departure Sunday for the battle-ground he helped enshrine in history, Bradley said in a rare interview that he is as proud of today's fighting men as he was of those who made up his force of 1.3 million troops — the largest American army ever under one man's command.

GEN. OMAR BRADLEY

"They are beautifully trained," he said, "trained as well as any I have ever known. Their morale is very high — we should be proud of them."

Gen. Bradley, the only living five-star general, said that despite exceptions like Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower military men should stay out of politics.

Bradley said a pet hobby, shared by his wife of 2½ years, television writer Kitty Buhler, is handicapping horses — and backing their judgment with bets.

Mrs. Bradley credits some of her luck — "she paid income taxes on $12,000 in winnings in 1967," the general said — to rubbing the nose of a bust of the general that presides over the foyer of their Trousdale Estates home. It's a duplicate of a bust outside the superintendent's office in the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, which Bradley once headed, and cadets have long since rubbed the nose shiny.

The general, however, credits her luck and his own to handicapping methods she learned from a professional gambler.

"It's quite a science," he says, "and we've improved on his methods. Out of five days play last week, I won on four days." The general declined to divulge his secret. "It'd take a whole volume," he said.

Bradley, with 58 years of military service, has been semi-retired since leaving the chairmanship of the joint chiefs of staff in 1953.

Until recently he was active in a score of philanthropies and was a board member of several industries, including a movie studio. He moved here about three years ago. Prior to the first Mrs. Bradley's death, he lived in Washington.

Today, as always, his first interest is the Army. He and his wife write his speeches on airliners en route to the many places his Army duties take him.

He is still technically on active duty and has an office at the Pentagon.

In a recent speech, he offered this capsule of the times:

"I doubt there has been any time in history that there has been a greater need to give thought to what we owe our country ... Too many have not learned that freedom is not free, that democracy can expect stern payment from those who share its bounty."

6 Czech Liberals Lose Power

PRAGUE (AP)—The Czechoslovak Communist party purged noted economist Ota Sik and five other liberals from its central committee Saturday in another major step to silence opposition to pro-Soviet policies.

Five other members of the 190-member central committee, including the head of the Czechoslovak Academy of Science, were reprimanded for breaking party discipline.

The actions were announced in a communiqué covering the central committee's Friday and Saturday session, its first since the April meeting at which disciplinarian Gustav Husak took over as party leader from Alexander Dubcek, the popular reformer.

No changes were announced in the party's supreme ruling body, the Presidium, to which Dubcek still belongs.

Husak previewed the purge in a televised speech to more than 1,000 party workers at Prague's biggest industrial complex, the CKD works. Organized cheering by old guard Communists in the audience turned the show into a personal triumph for Husak, a tough Slovak who has been accused of lacking support among Communist party faithful in Prague and the Czech part of the country.

Turk Workers Win Rise of Uncle Sam

IZMIR, Turkey (UPI) — A new contract Saturday ended a 43-day strike by employees at most U.S. military bases, but workers in Izmir vowed they would not accept the agreement.

The contract calls for a 4-cent per hour wage increase for Turkish workers at American installations, an additional week of vacation and increased food allowances. It was accepted by workers at Ankara, Adana, Istanbul and Samsun.

Orbiter Graduates

MOSCOW (UPI) — Valentina Tereshkova, the world's only woman to make a space flight, was graduated Saturday from the Zhovkovsky Military Aircraft Engineering Academy in Moscow. She orbited the earth in 1963 and entered the academy a year later.

Facts You Should Know About Weddings

by Arel Shinder
Lawson's Jewelers
250 Pine Ave.

June is the month for weddings. There is a certain etiquette most people follow in reference to a wedding. For example: The bride's parents pay for the reception and dinner, the groom pays for the ceremony, the groom's parents pay for the liquor and flowers, the bride and groom exchange plain gold wedding bands as part of the ceremony.

We are fortunate to be jewelers as we are constantly exposed to young love from engagement rings to the wedding. As jewelers, we play an important role as the bride and groom customarily bestow gifts, not only to each other, but to members of the bridal party. A wedding is the occasion for the personal gift, and there is nothing more personal than a gift of jewelry. Remember, the gift you choose is something you want the recipient to treasure and remember for many years. That is why JEWELRY is always the ideal gift.

What should the groom give as a gift to the bride?

The birthstone for June is PEARL. It is thus very appropriate to give her CULTURED PEARLS. We suggest a lovely cultured pearl necklace, which she can wear with her bridal dress. Your jeweler will help you choose the exact size, color, and shape of the cultured pearl strand that will most aptly fit your intended. The selection of this cultured pearl strand will give your bride immense pleasure forever. You may purchase a beautiful gift of cultured pearls for approximately $50.00 to $100.00.

If you have any questions, please consult us. We would be not only happy, but proud to be of service in making your wedding a success.

Just drop in, call or write us at Lawson's Jewelers, 250 Pine Ave., Downtown Long Beach, Calif.

De Gaulle Aim of Europa Nuclear Force Still Gains

BY DREW MIDDLETON
 New York Times Service

LONDON Five weeks after President De Gaulle's departure, one of his basic concepts, a European nuclear force, remains alive in the minds of the continent's political leaders and military experts.

During the meeting of defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Brussels and the two-way conference of the alliance's nuclear planning group here, both held this week, the idea that Europe must begin to think of its own defense, nuclear as well as conventional, appeared to be gaining.

Ministers and officials believe that the organization of a European nuclear force no longer should be a distant dream, but a project to be seriously examined by the European caucus within NATO. The most compelling reason is the widespread doubt over the United States willingness to become involved, under its NATO commitment, in a nuclear war to save Europe.

THIS IS GOOD Gaullist doctrine. The rationale for the establishment of the French nuclear striking force was that France could not count on American nuclear weapons because of American concern over retaliation on the United States by the Soviet Union.

Five years ago Maurice Couve de Murville, then France's foreign minister, raised in public the question of the development of a European nuclear force. This week the idea was pursued with new vigor.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird was careful not to extend American approval beyond the European caucus. This group of European NATO members, led by Britain and West Germany, has a stronger European conventional defense as its first objective.

RECENT DISCUSSION within the caucus, however, has tended to shift to the possibilities of a European nuclear force based, in the first instance, on French and British nuclear weapons.

According to one British source, President Nixon would favor the development of a European independent nuclear deterrent. Similarly, Laird approved in theory British-West German proposals envisaging an earlier use of tactical nuclear weapons in the event of Soviet attack.

American officials, however, do not accept one European argument for a nuclear force. This, implicit in the British-German proposals for early tactical nuclear operations, is that the continental members of NATO cannot raise the quality of their conventional forces to the point necessary to offer a credible deterrent to Soviet attack.

THE UNITED STATES view is that Europe can and must do this. Officials argue that some countries, the Netherlands, for example, are making qualitative effective contributions to the NATO forces in central Europe. They concede, however, that they cannot be certain of the effect on the European allies of Canada's planned withdrawal of two-thirds of the forces it has committed to NATO.

In the past, British governments have been hostile to an independent European force on the ground that its establishment would cause the United States to question its NATO commitment and the wisdom of maintaining a large and expensive Army and Air Force in Germany.

But, as an official pointed out, senatorial opinion in the United States, led by Sen. Mike Mansfield, already is questioning the maintenance of the American forces in Europe and there is a possibility that the proposed nuclear arms restriction talks between the Soviet Union and the United States might result in an agreement on something approaching nuclear parity between the two super powers.

In that situation, the official said, it would be even less likely than it is now to expect the United States to risk the destruction of New York to save Hamburg or Liverpool.

THE EL DORADO location will also obviate plans for a more expensive facility in Harbor City, along with an elaborate trunk sewer system. Thus the taxpayers of Sanitation Districts 3 and 19 will be saved $6.8 million. The cost to property owners in Long Beach segments of these two districts would have been $4.7 million.

Councilman Bond, who represents Long Beach on sanitation district boards, deserves special credit for winning city approval of the water plant.

When first proposed in December, 1963, the plan drew strenuous opposition from city advisory agencies and a number of high-powered citizen groups. Bond championed it from the start. His patience and persistence now rewarded, amount to an outstanding public service.

Thus the taxpayers of Sanitation Districts 3 and 19 will be saved $6.8 million. The cost to property owners in Long Beach segments of these two districts would have been $4.7 million.
Councilman Bond, who represents Long Beach on sanitation district boards, deserves special credit for winning city approval of the water plant.
When first proposed in December, 1965, the plan drew strenuous opposition from city advisory agencies and a number of high-powered citizen groups. Bond championed it from the start. His patience and persistence, now rewarded, amount to an outstanding public service.

Draft Data Burners Find Jail Inhumane

CHICAGO (UPI) — Fifteen persons, arrested for burning records at a South Side draft board, said Saturday they found conditions in the Cook County Jail "the minimum possible for sustaining human life."

Charles Muse, Boston, said they were "treated as well as any other prisoners, but physical conditions at the jail exclude any kind of human treatment."

The 15 protesters, including three women who were held in the women's house of correction, spent four days in jail. They were released after posting bonds ranging from $2,000 to $5,200.

At a press conference in front of the Library of McCormick Theological Institute, the group issued a statement condemning "corrupt penal institutions like those of Cook County," and outlined their plans for further action in Chicago.

"We are now seeking to collect evidence that will enable us to take out court injunctions against the local boards for violating their own regulations," they said.

They said, "No one can be inducted from those boards legally... for we believe the action destroyed the cross-records system as well as the files."

Selective service officials have said induction of draftees will not be seriously affected by the loss of some records.

Heroism Saves

One in Home Fire

SAN RAFAEL, (UPI) — Mrs. Eileen Kenyon, 49, was killed in a $55,000 apartment house fire, but an elderly man was saved by firemen's heroism.

The fire began Friday in Mrs. Kenyon's apartment. She suffocated in the apartment above, Michael Sullivan, 73, was unable to escape until three firemen in asbestos suits reached him in a metal staircase.

Nuclear Carrier to Honor Ike

Pentagon Asking $377 Million to Complete Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed new $510-million nuclear-powered aircraft carrier probably will be named for the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, it was learned Saturday.

The Pentagon has asked Congress for $377 million to complete financing for the 95,000-ton giant. The Navy has received $133 million for the ship in the past two defense budgets.

This would be the third carrier to bear a president's name.

The others are the Franklin D. Roosevelt, built during World War II, and the John F. Kennedy, commissioned last September.

While the Roosevelt and the Kennedy are oil burners, the Eisenhower would be powered by a pair of nuclear engines with fuel cores designed for at least 13 years of sailing before refueling.

The new ship would be about 10,000 tons heavier than the Enterprise, the world's first atomic-propelled warship.

It would be the second vessel of a new class which headed by a carrier named for Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, World War II naval commander in the Pacific. The Nimitz is under construction and when completed will be the largest warship the world has seen.

The Enterprise, authorized in 1960, cost $451 million. The Nimitz, according to the latest estimates, will cost $536 million. By contrast, the conventionally powered Kennedy will cost $277 million.

Japanese Minister in Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi of Japan arrived in Washington Saturday and said his mission is to begin talks to restore Okinawa to Japan as quickly as possible.

He told newsmen that in talks with President Nixon, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and others, "We will be exploring to find a solution together that will be satisfactory to both sides."

Aichi will meet with Nixon Monday in a preliminary session. Formal negotiations with Rogers will take place over the following three days. He will depart Friday for Tokyo.

He told newsmen that since this is his first meeting with the Nixon Administration he did not set a specific goal for the initial negotiations.

There will be other meetings in July and September before a session in November when Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and Nixon meet here for a final decision on the reversion of Okinawa to Japanese rule. The United States expects to continue unrestricted use of its bases on the island, but this is subject to the negotiations.

Anti-War Protests to Mark Exercises

BALTIMORE (AP) — A statement opposing the Vietnam war will be read by a senior at the graduation exercises of Johns Hopkins University Friday.

Robert Ehrlich said Saturday that the statement has been signed by 200 seniors. Ehrlich said that seniors opposed to the U.S. military involvement in Vietnam also will wear white arm bands on their black robes at commencement.

SEXUAL FREEDOM LEAGUE

Where Lonely People Meet and Part

It will be lonely to be dead but it can not be much more lonely than to be alive. — Alex Munthe.

There were a pair of senior citizens with matching gray hair; a round, short middle-aged man with a slight limp, a boy-next-door-looking male thrusting his autograph book into the face of anyone who would sign it...

These were the early comers to the Sexual Freedom League's meeting last week in Long Beach.

The old couple took a seat in the back of the city municipal recreation center and whispered to each other.

The lame man selected a secluded spot, glected his eyes on a young red-haired woman on the other side of the room, and stared... as she drank coffee, as she stood, as she sat.

The third man surveyed the empty hall for a moment and then sank into a chair next to the only occupant on his side of the room — an attractive brunette.

Then they fidgeted and waited a half hour beyond the scheduled meeting time until the auditorium brimmed with spectators — mostly men and mostly alone — and balding.

Bearded Tom Palmer, SFL director, flops himself on a table in the front of the room and with legs swaying, describes the league as "an association of persons who have merged together to make possible in their own lives a greater freedom of sexual expression."

"This is not a brothel nor a dating society."

A man nudges the woman beside him.

"I'm looking for a mate," he whispers. "Hey you're pretty. Did you know you're pretty." His

Argentina Violence Toll Reaches 18

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Army troops brought Cordoba, Argentina's third largest city, under control Saturday but sporadic firing could still be heard after two days of violence which could put the death toll as high as 18.

Patrols of the 3rd Argentine Army, using bazookas and automatic weapons, dislodged what appeared to be the last organized resistance in the early morning hours after moving into the Clinicas student quarter Friday night with orders to silence snipers.

Sporadic gunfire was heard again Saturday afternoon.

hands touch the sleeve of her red dress.

"I like red. It's my favorite color."

Palmer scans the room.

The man next to the brunette leans over and points to the open tablet on his knee.

"That's my phone number. Want to copy it?"

The woman shakes her head.

"Are you sure?" he asks, taken back. "It's unlisted, you know. I used to have this girl calling me at all hours."

Palmer continues to talk. Statistics fall from his lips.

"We have 750 members. They're scattered. One in Hawaii; three in Canada, two in England and of course a wide group here in California. The average age of our women members is 29. For the men it's 34. Our oldest member is 66. There are 3.5 males to every female."

Activity-wise, Palmer says, there are discussion groups, encounter groups, introductory meeting at "George and Esters Lane" and Saturday night parties.

A bespectacled male in a suit timidly tells the woman sitting next to him he paid his $25 to join so he could go to the parties and now he can't seem to get an invitation to anyone of them.

"I called in on the tape and asked for an invitation but I didn't hear a thing. That's why I thought I'd bring myself down here tonight and find out."

He looks up pleadingly.

"Even if I do get it straightened out, I don't know if I'll be able to find anyone to go with me." SFL parties are for couples only — couples do not necessarily have to be of opposite sex.

Palmer speaks now about Assembly Bill 743 which if passed would remove from the penal code all laws restricting sexual activity between consenting adults in private.

A college student raises his hand and asks what SFL is doing to support the bill. Have you a lobbyist... a legal fund?

"It's hard to get a law passed. You have to write a million letters or buy a legislator. Lobbyist and legal funds are too expensive."

Palmer says in the league's last news bulletin he listed the names of all the legislators in California.

A graduate student from California State College Long Beach who is doing a study on "swinging couples" moves down the aisle in her top of the thigh high red dress and at least 20 pairs of eyes move with her.

"What about preventive information of VD diseases," a woman asks.

"I'm glad she asked that question," a man whispers.

Palmer talks about them being adults and the group seems satisfied.

The questions — many asking how protected SFL files are — come and when there are no more, coffee and conversation follow.

A blond effeminate male corners one of the women.

"I'm a new member and so are you. How about if we go to George and Ester's Tuesday. Can I pick you up at 8?" His friend — a dark-haired male — circles the woman, grinning. She shakes her head and leaves.

Then very reluctantly — like lovers saying goodnight — the men and women leave as they came... alone.

OUR AVERAGE GRADUATE READS BETTER THAN 1500 WORDS PER MINUTE.

...He has to—to keep up with the flood of information that comes his way. For today we live in the midst of an unparalleled information explosion.

Right now, as a reasonably well-educated person, you read at 300 words per minute. (The average speed reading course may boost you to 600 words per minute—small improvement.) But after only 8 weekly lessons at the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute you CAN be reading at the average speed of 1500 words per minute. That's 5 times faster than you're reading this now —and with excellent comprehension.

How is this possible? Because Reading Dynamics boosts and tailors your reading speeds to the materials you're reading—from the most weighty text material, to the lightest pleasure reading. Our graduates emerge reading a novel in less than 2 hours, a newspaper in 15 minutes, college texts and technical material at 50-75 pages per hour!

ABOUT OUR CREDENTIALS: The late President Kennedy invited Evelyn Wood to the White House to teach Reading Dynamics to members of his staff. The reaction? Time magazine said "...Washington has seen nothing like it since the days when Teddy Roosevelt read three books a day and ran the country at the same time."

To date over 400,000 people have taken the course. They include senators, businessmen, engineers, housewives, high school and college students, and busy people from every walk of life

NAZI 'ANGEL OF DEATH' MAY BE IN PARAGUAY

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet newspaper said Saturday Dr. Josef Mengele, known as the "Angel of Death" for murderous medical experiments he conducted at the Auschwitz concentration camp during World War II, is living in Paraguay under the protection of President Alfredo Stroessner.

Komsonolskaya Pravda said Stroessner offered protection to the Nazi war criminal, who was reported to have lived in Brazil since fleeing Germany in 1945.

The paper quoted a Paraguayan communist, as saying that Mengele recently crossed the Paraguayan-Brazilian frontier.

Komsonolskaya Pravda also published a photograph of Mengele said to have been taken by Brazilian journalists.

Cambodia Troops Reported at Border

BANGKOK (UPI) — Thai officials said Saturday a "concentration" of Cambodian troops had been observed along the border near Aranyaprathet town, 150 miles east of Bangkok. Fight Bail for Snared Defrauder

NEW YORK (AP) — A Chicago businessman was arraigned on a federal bail-jumping charge Saturday, then ordered held without bail because, a federal attorney said, he is an "international fugitive with a proclivity for failing to appear when required."

Asst. U.S. Atty. David Steinman also said that the businessman, Charles Oran Mensik, 59, had "$10 million hidden away" from mail fraud schemes and could "meet any bail, no matter how high."

Mensik was arrested by FBI agents at Kennedy Airport Thursday night when he stepped off a plane from Montreal. He had been the subject of a world-wide search since he jumped bail.

A PRINCIPAL figure in a Maryland investment fraud case, Mensik disappeared before the start of a five-year federal prison term he was to have begun serving last November. He had been free on $5,000 appeal bond.

Mensik and D. Spencer Grow of Provo, Utah, were charged and convicted in 1963 of using the mails to defraud investors in savings and loan associations.

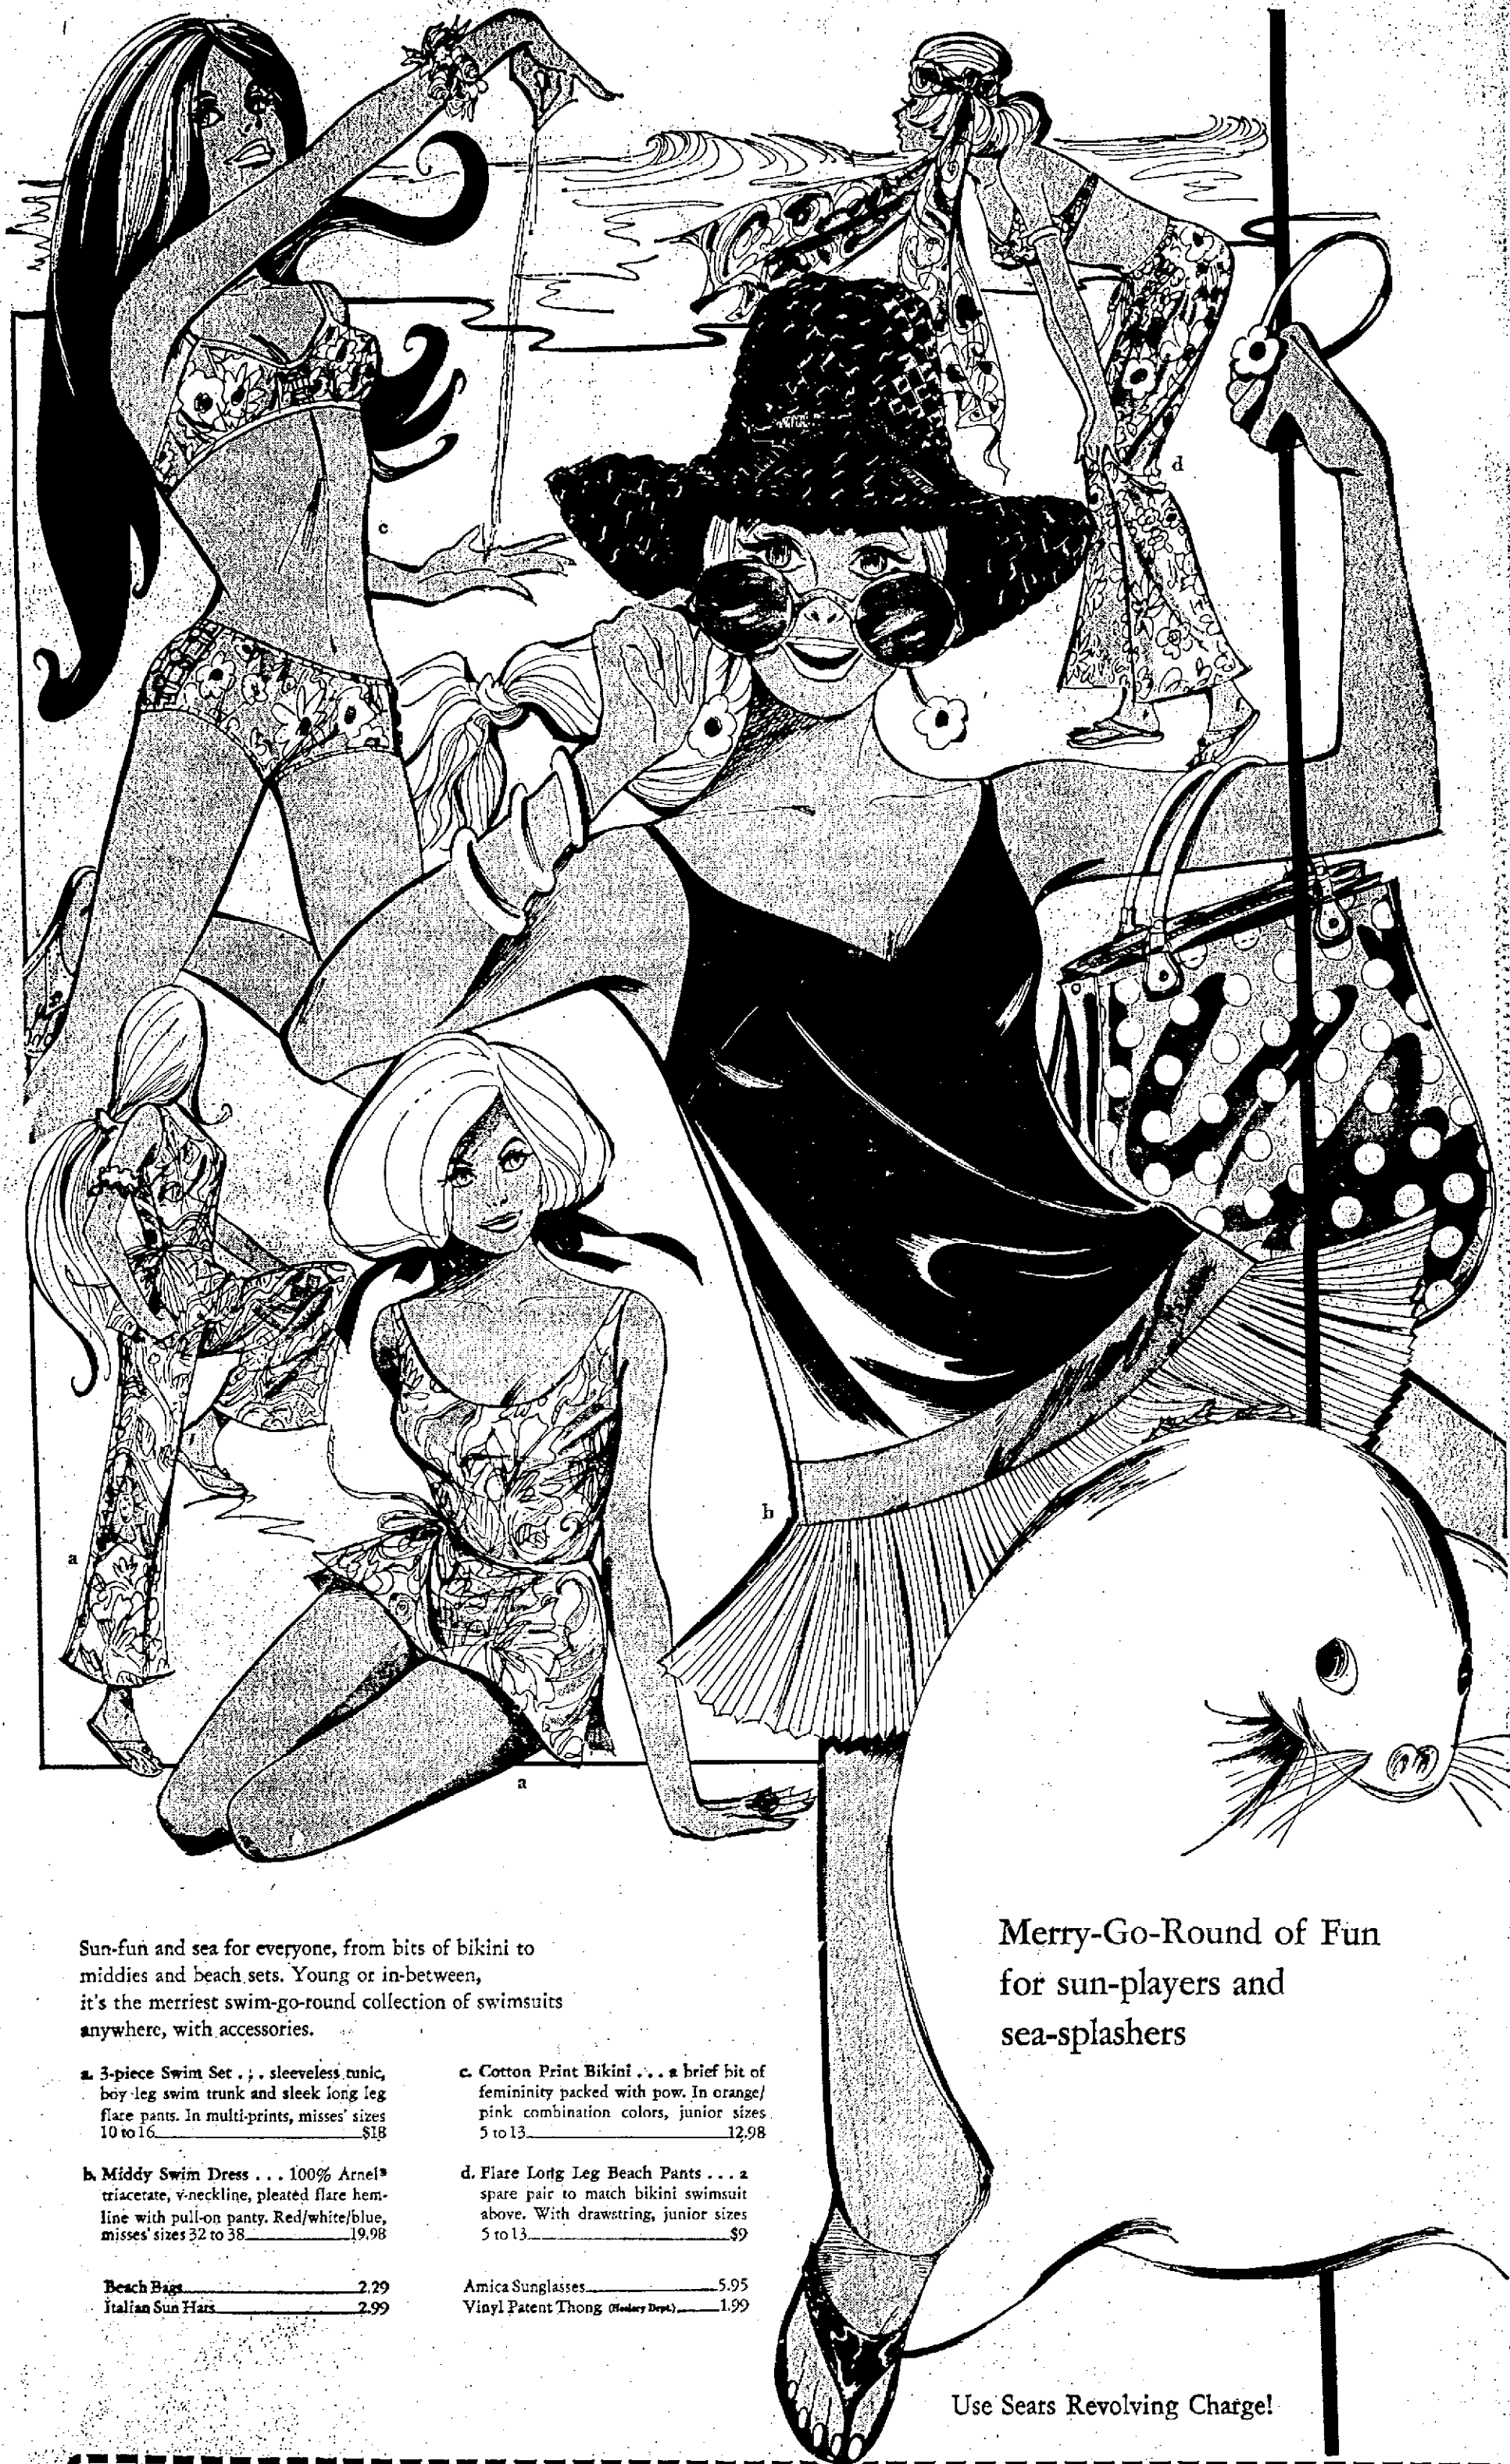

Grow was taken into custody last October after returning from Brazil and now is serving a four-year sentence in the Federal Correctional Institution at Terminal Island, Calif.

Mensik appealed his conviction to the U.S. Supreme Court, which denied a review of the case last Oct. 14. He appealed for a stay of the ruling but was turned down Oct. 31.

STEINMAN SAID at Saturday's arraignment that Mensik's passport showed he had traveled under his own name and had visited Spain at least twice.

Canadian police, Steinman said, put Mensik on the plane that brought him to Kennedy Airport. "He was the only passenger on the plane," Steinman said, but added he had no information on how the Canadian police came into the case.

Steinman said Mensik was found guilty of three counts of an eight-count indictment in the eastern district of Virginia on Dec. 19, 1963. He was sentenced to five years on each count, to run concurrently.

DOUGLAS DC-3 FLIES TO INTERNATIONAL FAME AND GLORY AS TURBO-THREE

STARS IN PARIS SHOW

Grand Old Lady of Airlines Lifts Face, Joins Jet Set

By HERB SHANNON
Aerospace Editor

The Grand Old Lady of the airlines has joined the Jet Set. She also has changed her name again and had her face lifted for a starring role in the Paris Air Show today.

Recently married to jetprop engines, a Douglas DC-3 now is known as the Turbo-Three, forsaking all previous names including Skytrain, Dakota and even the unflattering but affectionate Gooney Bird.

THE WEDDING was performed in Santa Barbara by John M. (Jack) Conroy, developer of the famed Pregnant Guppy large capacity freighter, who joined two modern Rolls Royce Dart turbo-prop engines to the venerable airframe.

Pronouncing the result a success, Conroy said the conversion will enable DC-3s, designed for airline workloads of the 1930s, to compete economically with more modern aircraft in the short-haul cargo and passenger market.

Conroy pointed out that of 12,000 DC-3s and military C-47 counterparts, produced by Douglas at Long Beach and Santa Monica, an estimated 2,500 are still in operation throughout the world.

The Conroy Aircraft Corp. DC-3 facelift extends the twin jet engine nacelles almost to the nose of the aircraft, placing the propellers forward of the pilot's position instead of aft as with the standard piston engine arrangement.

Little else is changed on the Turbo-Three, according to Conroy, who entered the aircraft as his company's centerpiece display at the 1969 International Air Show which opened Thursday at Le Bourget Airport north of the French capital.

HELD UP BY bad weather at Goose Bay, Labrador, on her first jetprop Atlantic crossing, the Turbo-Three is scheduled to land at Le Bourget today after refueling stops at Keflavik, Iceland and Shannon, Ireland.

At Paris, the Grand Old Lady with the nose job takes her rightful place alongside exhibits of three generations of Douglas descendants — the DC-8, a military version of the DC-9 and the forthcoming DC-10 jumbo jet.

Sliding Continent Theory Advanced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two scientists said Saturday they have proved that Australia and Antarctica, now 2,000 miles apart, were once joined in a supercontinent which broke up millions of years ago.

The scientists are Dr. Robert S. Dietz and Walter Spill of the Environmental Science Services Administration. They are geological oceanographers at ESSA's Atlantic Oceanographic Laboratories in Miami.

Their findings followed computer processing of data obtained by U.S. and Australian scientists during a global cruise in 1967 of the coast and geologic survey ship oceanographer. The data disclosed a "precise fit" between the two continents, establishing that they used to be one.

The results reported by Spill and Dietz were further support for the theory, accepted by most Earth scientists, that the continents are sliding about on the planet's surface. The rate of drift varies from an inch to more than four inches in various parts of the world.

The continental drift theory, once derided, says the present continents used to be part of one or two supercontinents which were sundered 100 million to 200 million years ago by forces surfacing from the earth's interior.

One idea is that the planet's exposed crust, that part of it which rises above the ocean, constituted a single continent, called Pangaea. Another theory is that there were two supercontinents, Laurasia in the north and Gondwana in the south.

The ESSA scientists believe the evidence supports the two-continent theory. The southern continent, Gondwana, consisted of what is now Australia, Antarctica, Africa, India, South America, Malagasy, and sundry submerged fragments. Laurasia, according to this view, included North America and Eurasia.

2 Boys Die on Holidays with Families

LAKEPORT (AP) — Two Bay Area boys were victims in separate drowning during the holiday weekend at Clear Lake.

Steven George Marcianno, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Marcianno of Palo Alto drowned in Cold Creek when he tried to scramble off a raft that became untied and started to drift away.

Leon R. Tinschaten, 3, son of Mrs. Jackie Chambers of Hayward, apparently fell from a pier into Clear Lake at Clear Lake Highlands Friday night. The boy was reported missing about midnight, and his body was recovered Saturday.

Secrecy Gone, Pentagon Defends Its Bomber Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, stripping away a secrecy label on information provided a critical Senate Democrat, has defended plans for a new manned bomber but says there is no commitment to build the new warplane.

Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin made public the report Saturday after it was declassified by the Pentagon. The senator had returned the report, unopened earlier when it was delivered to him as a classified document.

Proxmire asked Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird on April 7 whether a request for $23 million in bomber development funds signaled a commitment to build and deploy the planes, called AMSA — the advanced manned strategic aircraft.

PROXMIRE SAID he understood the Air Force wants to build 240 of the planes at a cost he estimates at $50 million each.

"I believe it prudent to initiate development of such a system at this time," John S. Foster Jr., the defense research chief, said in the Pentagon reply. "I would hasten to point out that our proposal to start development on AMSA in no way implies a decision now to produce or deploy the system."

Foster said a decision on production can be delayed until uncertainties about the useful life of B-52 bombers — and about the security needs of the nation — are more fully resolved.

He said the program now proposed by the Pentagon would extend through design and flight-testing of several experimental airplanes.

"A PRODUCTION commitment might be made prior to completion of this development program, provided the need was clear and technical performance milestones were satisfactorily achieved," Foster said.

"I will seek additional guarantees from the Pentagon that the Air Force will not move into production until Congress has specifically agreed to that action," Proxmire said.

Foster said the 240 aircraft Proxmire mentioned "should be considered as the upper limit of the procurement and represents the number of AMSA airplanes necessary to duplicate the task performed today by our B-52 fleet."

"The fleet size will be determined based on our forecasted strategic needs at the time a production decision is made."

Foster said if the Pentagon does buy 240 of the new planes, it would cost about $9 billion, in contrast to Proxmire's estimate of $12 billion.

"THE FIGURE of $25 million to $30 million per plane is hard to believe," Proxmire said. "This looks like the biggest underestimate of a long list of underestimated costs by the Pentagon on major weapons systems."

He said also Foster's estimate of a $1.8 billion outlay for research, development, testing and engineering is far too high. "This job should be done more efficiently and for far less money," Proxmire said.

"I question whether the plane should ever be built," Proxmire said. "This plane will be obsolete before it flies."

Foster said he believes it important to maintain a mixture of bombers, and land and sea based missiles in the U.S. deterrent force.

But Foster insists the projected new airplane would not fuel the arms race.

"Since we view AMSA as an economic replacement for the B-52 force, it is difficult to see how the replacement of over 600 B-52s with far fewer AMSA airplanes could be interpreted as a provocative action or an escalation of the arms race," he said.

Proxmire remained unconvinced. "Why do we need a new manned bomber in an age of sophisticated missiles?" he asked.

Secrecy Gone, Pentagon Defends Its Bomber Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, stripping away a secrecy label on information provided a critical Senate Democrat, has defended plans for a new manned bomber but says there is no commitment to build the new warplane.

Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin made public the report Saturday after it was declassified by the Pentagon. The senator had returned the report unopened earlier when it was delivered to him as a classified document.

Proxmire asked Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird on April 7 whether a request for $23 million in bomber development funds signaled a commitment to build and deploy the planes, called AMSA — the advanced manned strategic aircraft.

PROXMIRE SAID he understood the Air Force wants to build 240 of the planes at a cost he estimates at $50 million each.

"I believe it prudent to initiate development of such a system at this time," John S. Foster Jr., the defense research chief, said in the Pentagon reply.

"I would hasten to point out that our proposal to start development on AMSA in no way implies a decision now to produce or deploy the system."

Foster said a decision on production can be delayed until uncertainties about the useful life of B-52 bombers — and about the security needs of the nation — are more fully resolved.

He said the program now proposed by the Pentagon would extend through design and flight-testing of several experimental airplanes.

"A PRODUCTION commitment might be made prior to completion of this development program, provided the need was clear and technical performance milestones were satisfactorily achieved," Foster said.

"I will seek additional guarantees from the Pentagon that the Air Force will not move into production until Congress has specifically agreed to that action," Proxmire said.

Foster said the 240 aircraft Proxmire mentioned "should be considered as the upper limit of the procurement and represents the number of AMSA airplanes necessary to duplicate the task performed today by our B-52 fleet."

"The fleet size will be determined based on our forecasted strategic needs at the time a production decision is made."

Foster said if the Pentagon does buy 240 of the new planes, it would cost about $9 billion, in contrast to Proxmire's estimate of $12 billion.

"THE FIGURE of $25 million to $30 million per plane is hard to believe," Proxmire said. "This looks like the biggest underestimate of a long list of underestimated costs by the Pentagon on major weapons systems."

He said also Foster's estimate of a $1.8 billion outlay for research, development, testing and engineering is far too high. "This job should be done more efficiently and for far less money", Proxmire said.

"I question whether the plane should ever be built," Proxmire said. "This plane will be obsolete before it flies."

Foster said he believes it important to maintain a mixture of bombers, and land and sea based missiles in the U.S. deterrent force.

But Foster insists the projected new airplane would not fuel the arms race.

"Since we view AMSA as an economic replacement for the B-52 force, it is difficult to see how the replacement of over 600 B-52s with far fewer AMSA airplanes could be interpreted as a provocative action or an escalation of the arms race," he said.

Proxmire remained unconvinced. "Why do we need a new manned bomber in an age of sophisticated missiles?" he asked.

U.S. Job Programs to Put 1,000 Youths to Work Here

Employment officials feel confident that federally subsidized job programs will put anywhere from 800 to 1,000 sorely disadvantaged youths to work here this summer.

If their projections hold up, in fact, the likelihood is the federal programs will absorb most of the impoverished youngsters expected to apply for summer work.

Officials are less confident, however, about the prospects of the non-disadvantaged, many of whom are marginally poor and in desperate need of jobs, too.

It's still too early to tell how many youngsters will flood the summer job market, but based on high school and college enrollment figures, as well as past experience, it's estimated that about 7,500 youths will be looking for work. Thus far, the tide of job seekers hasn't reached flood proportions, as it usually does when school lets out at the end of June. But it hasn't been negligible, either.

IN TWO Saturdays alone — both designated Jobs for Youth Days — the Youth Employment Center at 1318 Pine Avenue processed 600 youngsters. The center now has 900 summer work applicants on file, according to the center's Tony Mazur.

Center officials, meanwhile, are beginning to express concern about the extent to which business firms in the city have responded to appeals for summer jobs.

The Long Beach Metropolitan Division of the National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB), which covers Long Beach and a number of other cities, has a quota of 1,000 summer jobs, but its drive has netted only a handful of Long Beach pledges so far.

However, things are tentatively beginning to look up in the alliance, according to Roy Anderson, director of administration at Douglas Aircraft Co. and an NAB advisor.

ANDERSON blames NAB's slow start in the city on the organization's failure to find a local job coordinator — a businessman willing to volunteer a lot of his time to the program. "Hopefully, though, we'll be over that hurdle by Monday," he said, indicating that NAB will have named a local coordinator by then. When that happens, the summer program should get moving, he added.

There's also some anxiety about the prospects of a state-funded work-study program for about 150 youngsters in the city school system. According to Ronald Detrick, a job coordinator for the schools, the State Department of Education has yet to approve a $51,000 grant for the program, and time is running out.

SOME OF THE federal employment programs for the summer are still in the planning and funding stages, but according to the best available estimates, government funds will account for 800 jobs and possibly more.

The largest of the federal programs — the in-school Neighborhood Youth Corps — is expected to produce between 400 and 480 jobs.

ABOUT 150 YOUTHS are expected to be placed in a variety of public and private agencies through the city's antipoverty agency, the Economic Opportunities Commission.

A few federal facilities in the city, including the Naval Shipyard and the Veterans Hospital, will offer subsidized jobs to 250 additional youths.

The federal government has tightened its eligibility criteria for federally subsidized summer jobs this year, and, as a result, only the poorest of the poor will be able to qualify for the openings.

Rhodesia Rules Out British Ties

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI)—Premier Ian Smith's government ruled out Saturday any settlement with Britain over Rhodesia's independence and urged voters to approve a new constitution providing for continued white-minority rule.

The government set forth its position in a white paper following a bitter attack on Britain's Queen Elizabeth II by Minister of Internal Affairs Lance Smith who said she was nothing more than a "figurehead and a mouthpiece."

"As settlement with the British government has proved impossible of attainment, the Rhodesian government has now submitted to the electorate their own proposals for a constitution which will ensure that the government remained in responsible hands," the white paper said.

Kiesinger Asks Europe-Wide Unity

UEBERLINGEN, Germany (UPI)—West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger called Saturday for the creation of a big European common market open to all countries wishing to join it.

Addressing a meeting of Christian Democratic politicians from Switzerland, Austria and West Germany, the chancellor said European countries ought to make such an attempt following the French presidential elections.

Kiesinger said all interested European nations, including members of the European Free Trade Zone (EFTA) and neutral countries, should be granted the right to join such a big market.

He said such a structure could be operating without a common foreign policy, thus making it possible for neutrals to join it.

Kiesinger said that following creation of such an organization, countries interested in a political union could team up. He said the ultimate goal should be a European federal state.

"It appears essential to me that some day a European federal state is formed with the participation of countries willing to jump over their shadows," Kiesinger said.

He said West Germany is not interested in gaining a dominant position in Europe. But he cautioned "there will be a new Europe only if people trust the Germans."

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF LONG BEACH

Dear Friends:

Your city — and mine — is entering an era of greater well-being for all of us.

Through combined efforts by interested citizens, private organizations, city employees and the City Council, we have solved many basic problems blocking us in the past.

We have opened many exciting doors to the future.

We are rapidly developing our shoreline, our parks, harbor and our streets and highways. Our economy is suddenly growing in many directions, providing needed new jobs.

We have brought world-wide fame to Long Beach by acquiring the Queen Mary. We must justify the world's expectations by making her the finest attraction possible.

Yet, together, we have kept city taxes low.

Because our opportunities are greater, so are our responsibilities.

We must strengthen the unity of all citizens, to deserve the benefits of being a true community.

Together, we can build an even better Long Beach.

Sincerely,

Edwin W. Wade

Yorty Re-Elected L.A. City Mayor

By DON HASTINGS

Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty was re-elected Tuesday to a third term, beating back a strong challenge by City Councilman Thomas Bradley, who had been favored to become the city's first Negro chief executive.

THE WEST

Yorty received 53 per cent and Bradley 47 per cent of the record 75 per cent vote.

UNREST AT BERKELEY continued. It was not on the campus of the University of California, but on the fringes. The demonstrations against the university's take-over of "People's Park," a piece of real estate owned by the university, flared through the week and culminated with a parade of an estimated 30,000 persons Friday. The demonstration, under the watchful eyes of 2,000 police officers and National Guardsmen was peaceful—even jovial.

RACIAL STRIFE STRUCK at Long Beach's Poly High School and classes were suspended Wednesday afternoon and Thursday after a melee that resulted in injuries to 25 students. Parents of black and white pupils were to meet over the weekend to try to resolve the problem.

ACTIVISTS STAGED SIT-INS Tuesday and Wednesday in the California State College at Long Beach administration building in support of Berkeley "People's Park" demonstrators and demanding administrative changes on campus. There were no serious incidents and only one arrest was made.

TWO POLICEMEN WERE SHOT and six were injured Monday when a student protest at Seattle Community College erupted into violence and spread into the city's central district.

THE NATION

A perfect splashdown in the South Pacific Monday ended the lunar-scouting mission of the Apollo 10. During the eight-day space flight, the three astronauts separated a moon-lander craft from the command module, flew within 9.4 miles of the lunar surface and rejoined the vehicles. A spokesman at the space agency's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston called the mission "110 per cent perfect."

When the Apollo 10 crewmen, Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan, returned to Houston, they began an 11-day debriefing to pass on the knowledge they had learned to the Apollo 11 crew, now training for a moon landing in July.

SCRAPPING OF THE POST OFFICE Department was asked last week by President Nixon, who proposed that Congress establish a government-owned, self-supporting corporation to handle the mail. Operating the postal service like a private business would eliminate continuing deficits and constantly increasing rates, the President said.

ENRAGED OVER BEING FIRED from his job at Wisconsin Motors Corp. in Milwaukee, James Flippin, 26, went on a shotgun rampage in the factory Thursday and wounded nine employees and a policeman before being fatally wounded by officers as he fled.

THE KIDNAPER OF MIAMI heiress Barbara Jane Mackle was found guilty and sentenced to life in prison by a Decatur, Ga., judge Monday. The jury had recommended mercy for Gary Steven Krist because of the elaborate precautions he had taken to keep Miss Mackle alive while she was buried in a box during ransom negotiations. Later in the week, Krist's girl-friend, Ruth Elsemann-Schier entered a surprise plea of guilty in the same courtroom and was sentenced to seven years in prison for a "secondary" role in the bizarre case.

SQUANDERING OF BILLIONS of dollars by the Pentagon of "bloated and inflated" defense contracts was charged by a House-Senate subcommittee on economy. The subcommittee, headed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., also announced that hearings will be conducted into the impact of military spending on the national economy.

The Latin-American fact-finding tour of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller was marred last week by anti-American demonstrations in Colombia and Ecuador. The New York governor is making the tour at the request of President Nixon.

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT announced at the Brussels meeting of North Atlantic Treaty Organization defense ministers that it plans to withdraw the bulk of its 10,000-man military force in Western Europe by 1972. U.S. Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and his British counterpart urged the Canadians to reconsider.

TWENTY-TWO PERSONS WERE KILLED and more than 30 injured Wednesday when fire and explosions shattered a dynamite factory in Arequipa, Peru.

THERE WILL BE NO MODIFICATION of Pope Paul VI's ban on all artificial forms of birth control, the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano said Wednesday. There had been rumors that the Pope would relax some of the curbs.

THE WAR

The bloody 10-day battle to capture Hamburger Hill and its subsequent abandonment by American forces stirred controversy in the Senate and among military men involved.

In the Senate, Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., criticized the operation as "senseless and irresponsible. He was joined by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D. On the other side, Sens. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., John G. Tower, R-Tex., and Harry Byrd Jr., D-Va., said lawmakers should not interfere with military decisions.

In the military, Gen. Melvin Zais, commander of the operation, said the battle was one of the "gallant victories" of the Vietnam war. He defended the action as a necessary part of his mission to search out and destroy Communist troops threatening an attack on the ancient Vietnamese capital city of Hue. An enlisted paratrooper called the assault "sheer suicide."

Duped Allies Raze Pacified Town

This is a parable of Vietnam, reflecting the dilemmas that arise when enemy soldiers come to a peaceful village and allied commanders have to decide what to do about it. The story is told by an AP reporter who has spent six years in Vietnam and won a Pulitzer Prize for his dispatches.

By PETER ARNETT

BO KINH, Vietnam (AP) — For half a day the fate of this hamlet and its two neighbors hung in the balance. Would they live or die?

The scales tipped when an American colonel, who was counseling restraint, was killed. The orders were flashed out, and fighter bombers and artillery came in.

The destruction of Bo Kinh epitomizes two things that have burdened the United States ever since it committed major forces to Vietnam. One is that reliable intelligence information, the tipoff that something is coming, often is lacking or faulty. The other is that pacification provides no sure answer.

And Bo Kinh showed again that while people are regarded as the key to victory in Vietnam, they become a secondary consideration when the choice is between saving them or securing a military objective.

THAT A CHOICE had to be made at all in Bo Kinh was caused by the sudden appearance of 200 North Vietnamese soldiers. They had slipped across the Plain of Reeds and entered Bo Kinh and parts of two adjoining hamlets at night, digging bunkers and deploying their heavier weapons.

The hamlets are located a few hundred yards from Thu Thua, a district town south of Saigon, an area long proud of being the most pacified in Long An Province.

Pacification is dependent on people's willingness to resist the enemy. Yet when the North Vietnamese troops appeared no one raised the alarm. Saigon's Popular Force troops, supposedly out in night ambush positions, didn't see anyone.

The North Vietnamese roused people from their beds to ferry them across a wide canal and to help build their bunkers, yet no one in the hamlets' self-defense forces fired his weapon or even attempted to slip a few hundred yards down the dark road to let the district chief know what was going on. Not even the dogs barked.

WHEN THE NORTH Vietnamese were ready, they announced their presence with a clatter of machine-gun fire at the main village outpost. Then they waited two hours till dawn for the reaction.

Intelligence gathered in the Thu Thua area in April indicated that the North Vietnamese were preparing a campaign to disrupt the pacification program. Officials later learned that the local Viet Cong guerrillas in Thu Thua had asked for some assistance.

The exact mission of the enemy troops who slipped into Bo Kinh is still not clear. But they disrupted the pacification program in a way that gave them the maximum advantage — and they used allied firepower to do the job for them.

A Viet Cong general explained the technique to a meeting of a Communist cadre in Quang Tri Province late last year. According to a captured document, he told them that the easiest way to destroy a town or a village was to occupy it, hoist the Viet Cong flag, and let the U.S. Air Force do the job.

"THE AMERICANS can't resist bombing our flag, no matter from where it flies," from the public school or the church steeple," he was quoted as saying.

By sneaking undetected into Bo Kinh the North Vietnamese posed the problem for allied commanders:

What was the best course of action? The enemy had surfaced and was vulnerable, particularly because fairly a couple of weeks later," commented Maj. Donald Vogel, the U.S. adviser to the district. "You might think it would have been better to cordon off the hamlets with a lot of troops, and starve the North Vietnamese out. But when you are the commander on the spot, and the battle is raging, there are other imperatives."

Vogel was pinned down in a rice paddy all that day. The "other imperatives" were determined by officers from the U.S. 9th Division and the Vietnamese province chief.

The decision to bomb was made at noon. Attempts to enter the hamlets that morning had been resisted with heavy fire. Rockets knocked out two American armored personnel carriers advancing across the rock-hard paddy fields.

"In the cool of a room

The senior American

province adviser, Col. Asa T. Gray, 50, of Battle Creek, Mich., who had often visited Bo Kinh and knew some of the people, counseled restraint. He did not even let the American armored vehicles fire their 50-caliber machine guns.

Then a sniper killed the colonel. The bombs arrived soon after.

PARTS OF Bo Kinh and the neighboring hamlets of An Hoa and Vam Thu were methodically destroyed by bombing and artillery bombardments that continued into the evening.

Next morning "the tears sprang to my eyes when I saw it all," said Stan Ifshin, a tall New Yorker formerly with the Peace Corps and now civilian adviser to the district.

"Nine months of my work, all gone," Ifshin thought as he walked amongst the smoldering ruins of the hamlets.

A total of 350 homes were destroyed, some by fires that swept through thatched-roof houses earlier in the day. The civilian dead totaled 19, including a family of nine. Fifty civilians were injured, many of them seriously.

"They got off easily," Ifshin said bitterly. He wasn't referring to the civilians. He meant the North Vietnamese who had slipped away in the darkness, their mission accomplished.

Yorty Re-Elected L.A. City Mayor

By DON HASTINGS
Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty was re-elected Tuesday to a third term, beating back a strong challenge by City Councilman Thomas Bradley, who had been favored to become the city's first Negro chief executive.

Yorty received 53 per cent and Bradley 47 per cent of the record 75 per cent vote.

UNREST AT BERKELEY continued. It was not on the campus of the University of California, but on the fringes. The demonstrations against the university's take-over of "People's Park," a piece of real estate owned by the university, flared through the week and culminated with a parade of an estimated 30,000 persons Friday. The demonstration, under the watchful eyes of 2,000 police officers and National Guardsmen was peaceful—even jovial.

A perfect splashdown in the South Pacific Monday ended the lunar-scouting mission of the Apollo 10. During the eight-day space flight, the three astronauts separated a moon-lander craft from the command module, flew within 9.4 miles of the lunar surface and rejoined the vehicles. A spokesman at the space agency's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston called the mission "110 per cent perfect."

When the Apollo 10 crewmen, Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan, returned to Houston, they began an 11-day debriefing to pass on the knowledge they had learned to the Apollo 11 crew, now training for a moon landing in July.

THE WAR

The bloody 10-day battle to capture Hamburger Hill and its subsequent abandonment by American forces stirred controversy in the Senate and among military men involved.

In the Senate, Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., criticized the operation as "senseless and irresponsible. He was joined by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D. On the other side, Sens. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., John G. Tower, R-Tex., and Harry Byrd Jr., D-Va., said lawmakers should not interfere with military decisions.

In the military, Gen. Melvin Zais, commander of the operation, said the battle was one of the "gallant victories" of the Vietnam war. He defended the action as a necessary part of his mission to search out and destroy Communist troops threatening an attack on the ancient Vietnamese capital city of Hue. An enlisted paratrooper called the assault "sheer suicide."

Duped Allies Raze Pacified Town

This is a parable of Vietnam, reflecting the dilemmas that arise when enemy soldiers come to a peaceful village and allied commanders have to decide what to do about it. The story is told by an AP reporter who has spent six years in Vietnam and won a Pulitzer Prize for his dispatches.

By PETER ARNETT
BO KINH, Vietnam (AP) — For half a day the fate of this hamlet and its two neighbors hung in the balance: Would they live or die?

The scales tipped when an American colonel, who was counseling restraint, was killed. The orders were flashed out, and fighter bombers and artillery came in.

The destruction of Bo Kinh epitomizes two things that have burdened the United States ever since it committed major forces to Vietnam. One is that reliable intelligence information, the tipoff that something is coming, often is lacking or faulty. The other is that pacification provides no sure answer.

And Bo Kinh showed again that while people are regarded as the key to victory in Vietnam, they become a secondary consideration when the choice is between saving them or securing a military objective.

THAT A CHOICE had to be made at all in Bo Kinh was caused by the sudden appearance of 200 North Vietnamese soldiers. They had slipped across the Plain of Reeds and entered Bo Kinh and parts of two adjoining hamlets at night, digging bunkers and deploying their heavier weapons.

The hamlets are located a few hundred yards from Thu Thua, a district town south of Saigon, an area long proud of being the most pacified in Long An Province.

Pacification is dependent on people's willingness to resist the enemy. Yet when the North Vietnamese troops appeared no one raised the alarm. Saigon's Popular Force troops, supposedly out in night ambush positions, didn't see anyone.

The North Vietnamese roused people from their beds to ferry them across a wide canal and to help build their bunkers, yet no one in the hamlets' self-defense forces fired his weapon or even attempted to slip a few hundred yards down the dark road to let the district chief know what was going on. Not even the dogs barked.

WHEN THE NORTH Vietnamese were ready, they announced their presence with a clatter of machine-gun fire at the main village outpost. Then they waited two hours till dawn for the reaction.

Intelligence gathered in the Thu Thua area in April indicated that the North Vietnamese were preparing a campaign to disrupt the pacification program. Officials later learned that the local Viet Cong guerrillas in Thu Thua had asked for some assistance.

The exact mission of the enemy troops who slipped into Bo Kinh is still not clear. But they disrupted the pacification program in a way that gave them the maximum advantage — and they used allied firepower to do the job for them.

A Viet Cong general explained the technique to a meeting of a Communist cadre in Quang Tri Province late last year. According to a captured document, he told them that the easiest way to destroy a town or a village was to occupy it, hoist the Viet Cong flag, and let the U.S. Air Force do the job.

"THE AMERICANS cannot resist bombing our flag, no matter from where it flies, from the public school, or the church steeple," he was quoted as saying.

By sneaking undetected into Bo Kinh the North Vietnamese posed the problem for allied commanders:

What was the best course of action?

The enemy had surfaced and was vulnerable, particularly because fairly a couple of weeks later," commented Maj. Donald Vogel, the U.S. adviser to the district. "You might think it would have been better to cordon off the hamlets with a lot of troops, and starve the North Vietnamese out. But when you are the commander on the spot, and the battle is raging, there are other imperatives."

Vogel was pinned down in a rice paddy all that day. The "other imperatives" were determined by officers from the U.S. 9th Division and the Vietnamese province chief.

The decision to bomb was made at noon. Attempts to enter the hamlets that morning had been resisted with heavy fire. Rockets knocked out two American armored personnel carriers advancing across the rock-hard paddy fields.

The senior American

province adviser, Col. Asa T. Gray, 50, of Battle Creek, Mich., who had often visited Bo Kinh and knew some of the people, counseled restraint. He did not even let the American armored vehicles fire their 50-caliber machine guns.

Then a sniper killed the colonel. The bombs arrived soon after.

PARTS OF Bo Kinh and the neighboring hamlets of An Hoa and Vam Thu were methodically destroyed by bombing and artillery bombardments that continued into the evening.

Next morning "the tears sprang to my eyes when I saw it all," said Stan Ifshin, a tall New Yorker formerly with the Peace Corps and now civilian adviser to the district.

"Nine months of my work, all gone," Ifshin thought as he walked amongst the smoldering ruins of the hamlets.

A total of 380 homes were destroyed, some by fires that swept through thatch-roof houses earlier in the day. The civilian dead totaled 19, including a family of nine. Fifty civilians were injured, many of them seriously.

"They got off easily," Ifshin said bitterly. He wasn't referring to the civilians. He meant the North Vietnamese who had slipped away in the darkness, their mission accomplished.

Few Clues in Missing Girl Hunt

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (UPI)—A brown shoe, a kitten and a mysterious "man in a white car" were all authorities had to go on Saturday in their search for 10-year-old Mary Mount.

Hundreds of residents in this commuter town, 30 miles from New York City, grimly joined the search as fear grew for the life of the girl who disappeared Tuesday evening from a sand pile in a park near her home.

Mary's father, Joseph F. Mount, found only a brown loafer when he went to look for his daughter in Kiwanis Park.

Mount, an executive of International Business Machines, went to the park when Mary failed to return for dinner with her 12-year-old brother. The boy said she stayed behind to play with a kitten. The kitten also disappeared.

Police chief Henry Keller, whose 35-man force has worked round the clock in the case, said the girl may have been abducted by a sexual deviate.

Utah Dentist Says Reds Rifled Nerve Gas Files

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A Utah veterinarian said he believes Communists went through nerve gas files in his Washington, D.C., hotel room. Dr. D. A. Osguthorpe was a state investigator in his deaths of 6,000 sheep last year following an Army nerve gas test in western Utah. Osguthorpe was in Washington to testify at the congressional hearings this month on nerve gas testing. While out to dinner one evening, someone entered his room and went through all the papers on the desk, he said Saturday. "There was a specific paper I needed the next morning which I had set out," he said. It was gone when he returned, and he did not find it until the next day. It had been placed in a book. He said he also discovered the rest of the papers had been gone through and were out of order, and he ascertained the hotel maid had not been in the room.

Nixon's Program Lags in Congress; Little Achieved

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is far too early to tell how President Nixon will finally fare on his 1969 legislative proposals, but many of them clearly are in trouble in the Democratic-controlled Congress.

As the first session of the 91st Congress takes a brief Memorial Day recess, its legislative record so far is one of the most meager of any initial five-month period for many years.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders are quick to point out, however, that this is in large part attributable to the administration itself.

By design the President moved slowly in submitting his program. Some of his proposals have not yet been presented in detailed form.

A MAJOR TEST for Nixon will come in June with expected action by both branches on his plan to extend the 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

GOP leaders insist they are confident Congress will go along, but they concede it may be extremely close.

The next major fight, centering in the Senate, could come over the bitterly disputed recommendation for a limited start on an anti-ballistic missile system. Again an exceedingly close vote is likely, unless some compromise is worked out.

A check of key committee chairmen and sponsors of various proposals indicate it is highly dubious as to whether these will be acted on this year.

A 7 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

Creation of a self-sustaining corporation to take over the postal system.

A penny increase in the letter stamp to 7 cents.

Revision of the draft laws to establish a lottery system and take younger registrants first.

A system of tax credits to encourage industry to enter ghetto areas and hire the hard-core unemployed. A high administration official conceded privately last week it is proving difficult even to draft such legislation.

Far-reaching airways and mass transit development systems. So far the Transportation Department has come up with no specifics on these.

Prospects also are uncertain on other major administration items. The House is expected to pass a tax reform bill embodying many of the Treasury's ideas, but Finance Committee members say they do not see how the Senate can act on so strong opposition at the capitol.

For example, he repeatedly called for automatic cost-of-living increases in Social Security. But now, a subject this year.

The picture on anti-crime legislation is murky, although the Judiciary Committees in both bodies are holding hearings.

Nixon's proposal that the electoral system be switched to a district plan has run into heavy criticism from legislators who favor choosing the President by direct vote. The result may be a standoff with no action this year.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S recommendation for a start on revenue-sharing, with the states and cities appears likely to simmer down to only a token effort, if anything gets through at all.

An administration official who asked to remain unidentified said last week there is a very limited amount of money for this, and that this situation will continue until the Vietnamese war is ended.

There are good prospects for the President's program in a limited number of fields.

For example, it is probable that Congress will enact legislation to deal with hunger that closely parallels his proposal.

NIXON HAS given up on some of his 1968 campaign pledges in view of the congressional figures against this, and the President has not formally proposed it.

He said also in the campaign he would eliminate the Job Corps. So far, he has compromised on a plan which cuts the corps' strength by 50 per cent.

Not all of Nixon's troubles have come from Democrats.

Many Republicans have been unhappy with the proposal on the postal system, because they say it would mean a heavy loss of patronage at a time when the GOP has taken over the White House for the first time in eight years.

Some Republican senators also have been among the strongest critics of the President's anti-ballistic missile decision.

A decade ago Memorial Day normally meant that Congress was two-thirds of the way through its session. But this year many legislators doubt if the 1969 session is half over. They say it may well run to Thanksgiving.

Nixon's Program Lags in Congress; Little Achieved

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is far too early to tell how President Nixon will finally fare on his 1969 legislative proposals, but many of them clearly are in trouble in the Democratic-controlled Congress.

As the first session of the 91st Congress takes a brief Memorial Day recess, its legislative record so far is one of the most meager of any initial five-month period for many years.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders are quick to point out, however, that this is in large part attributable to the administration itself.

By design the President moved slowly in submitting his program. Some of his proposals have not yet been presented in detailed form.

A MAJOR TEST for Nixon will come in June with expected action by both branches on his plan to extend the 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

GOP leaders insist they are confident Congress will go along, but they concede it may be extremely close.

The next major fight, centering in the Senate, could come over the bitterly disputed recommendation for a limited start on an anti-ballistic missile system. Again an exceedingly close vote is likely, unless some compromise is worked out.

A check of key committee chairmen and sponsors of various proposals indicate it is highly dubious as to whether these will be acted on this year.

A 7 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

Creation of a self-sustaining corporation to take over the postal system.

A penny increase in the letter stamp to 7 cents.

Revision of the draft laws to establish a lottery system and take younger registrants first.

A system of tax credits to encourage industry to enter ghetto areas and hire the hard-core unemployed.

A high administration official conceded privately last week it is proving difficult even to draft such legislation.

Far-reaching airways and mass transit development systems. So far the Transportation Department has come up with no specifics on these.

Prospects also are uncertain on other major administration items. The House is expected to pass a tax reform bill embodying many of the Treasury's ideas, but Finance Committee members say they do not see how the Senate can act on so strong opposition at the capitol.

For example, he repeatedly called for automatic cost-of-living increases in Social Security. But powerful subject this year.

The picture on anti-crime legislation is murky, although the Judiciary Committees in both bodies are holding hearings.

Nixon's proposal that the electoral system be switched to a district plan has run into heavy criticism from legislators who favor choosing the President by direct vote. The result may be a standoff with no action this year.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S recommendation for a start on revenue-sharing with the states and cities appears likely to simmer down to only a token effort, if anything gets through at all.

An administration official who asked to remain unidentified said last week there is a very limited amount of money for this, and that this situation will continue until the Vietnamese war is ended.

There are good prospects for the President's program in a limited number of fields.

For example, it is probable that Congress will enact legislation to deal with hunger that closely parallels his proposal.

NIXON HAS given up on some of his 1968 campaign pledges in view of congressional figures are against this, and the President has not formally proposed it.

He said also in the campaign he would eliminate the Job Corps. So far, he has compromised on a plan which cuts the corps' strength by 50 per cent.

Not all of Nixon's troubles have come from Democrats.

Many Republicans have been unhappy with the proposal on the postal system, because they say it would mean a heavy loss of patronage at a time when the GOP has taken over the White House for the first time in eight years.

Some Republican senators also have been among the strongest critics of the President's anti-ballistic missile decision.

A decade ago Memorial Day normally meant that Congress was two-thirds of the way through its session. But this year many legislators doubt if the 1969 session is half over. They say it may well run to Thanksgiving.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A seaman was killed and eight others injured Thursday when a shell exploded prematurely in the breach of a five-inch gun on the Navy destroyer Lowery off the Puerto Rico coast, Atlantic Fleet headquarters said here.

Pavilion Launched

OSAKA, Japan (UPI) — Ground-breaking ceremonies for the $1.5 million Brazilian pavilion at the 1970 Osaka World Exposition were held Saturday.

The Navy said Seaman Jay Dee Good of Peoria, Ill., was fatally injured during routine gunfire support exercises off Culebra Island, a Navy target Island off Puerto Rico. Good was transferred by helicopter from the Lowery to Roosevelt Roads Naval Station Hospital in Puerto Rico, where he later died.

Of the eight crewmen injured, two were hospitalized and the others remained aboard the Lowery, which returned to Roosevelt Roads.

County deputies said Laurin Hill, 5, Arleta, slipped into the swift Kern River below Isabella dam. Her body was found a short distance downstream. She was on an outing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Spalinger.

Two Girls Drown at Lake

LAKE ISABELLA (UPI) — A girl was drowned and another was reported missing in separate water accidents Friday in this Kern County recreation area.

About three hours earlier Joy Williams, 6, Granada Hills, disappeared while floating on an inner tube in Lake Isabella near the Tilly Creek campground. Officers said her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams, told them they found the girl's empty inner tube shortly after noon.

Crow Charges Sharp With 'Smear' Tactics

The Independent Press-Telegram Recommends

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

Robert F. Crow, 7th District council incumbent, Saturday stressed his airport antiexpansion history on the council and expressed strong doubt of his opponent's detachment from a "smear sheet" against Crow, and from a "special interest" figure in the opposition campaign.

Crow noted that Tom Hansen, assistant to the general manager of Pacific Air Transport, worked in the early phases of the primary campaign of opponent Wayne B. Sharp and that Sharp is a past president of the General Aviation and Pilots' Association, "factors which do not certificate to the people of Long Beach that he's opposed to expansion of the airport."

The councilman said although Sharp disclaimed responsibility for a primary campaign flyer which reprinted a news story of a disturbance-of-peace incident in November, 1966, for which Crow was fined, the material is now being mailed citywide, except for the 7th District.

CROW CHARGED
Sharp with responsibility for the flyer's new circulation and said the committee tee responsible for it has its headquarters in the same building as Sharp's campaign headquarters.

On the airport issue, Crow said everybody seems to be making a virtuous claim about opposition to its expansion, but insisted the council record will show it was his motion Feb. 11 which put into operation the study on possibility of an offshore airport.

"Further," said Crow, "it was my query — no one else's — to the city attorney which asked an investigation of the propriety of spending tide-lands money on such an airport."

THE COUNCILMAN, reiterating his doubt of Sharp's statements against airport expansion, said the pilots' association which Sharp once headed paid for some of Sharp's printing expenses at the Seaside Printing Co.

Crow also reported Saturday that Joseph Perkins, secretary-treasurer of Local 692, Teamsters Union, announced the local's support of Crow "as the most qualified candidate by far."

Council Election Tuesday

Long Beach voters will elect a nine-member city council Tuesday, with only about a third of the city's 161,259 registered voters expected to take part in the decision.

Each voter may vote for nine names on the punch-card ballot, making a choice from the two primary finalists in each district. Although each district voted only for candidates in that district in the May 13 primary, Tuesday's election is citywide and every voter has a say in the selection of all nine of the three-year councilmanic posts.

Polling places, identified on the voter's sample ballot, will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. The punch-card tabulation, done on computers in the Public Utilities Building, should provide a final result in less than four hours after polls close at 7 p.m.

All nine incumbents are seeking reelection. Short sketches on each of them and on each of the nine challengers are published elsewhere in today's paper.

Newport Child Drowns in Bath

Patrick S. Tudor, 2, of 2327 S. Margaret Ave., Newport Beach, drowned in a bathtub at his home Saturday when left alone for a few moments by his father, Michael Scheer, police reported.

Scheer said the boy's mother, Patricia Tudor, was away from home for the afternoon. He said he was bathing Patrick, left the bathroom for a few moments, and rushed back when he failed to hear the boy splashing in the tub.

Tools Stolen

Burglars forced open the front door of the Lund Electrical Service, 1485 Caspian Ave., and removed tools valued at $325, police said Saturday.

TO HOSPITAL FUND Ridders Pledge $500,000 Trust

Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Ridder have pledged to establish a half million dollar trust for the St. Mary's Hospital expansion program, a spokesman for the medical facility announced Saturday.

The trust pledge from the publisher of the Independent Press-Telegram and his wife brings the amount of subscriptions raised from the public to help finance the hospital's $10-million expansion program to about $2 million, the spokesman said.

"It has long been the desire of Mrs. Ridder and myself to provide the people of Long Beach with the finest hospital facilities possible," Ridder said.

Only about $1 million now remains in the $3 million public fund drive phase of the expansion program's money-raising effort, the hospital spokesman said.

The new facility will be built on the north side of the present hospital complex, 10th Street and Linden Avenue.

Current plans call for construction of a 10-story structure, which will house some 230 acute medical-surgical beds.

An emergency entrance will face Linden Avenue near the present convent site of the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word.

The Sisters of Charity have pledged to provide $5.9 million in financing; hospital spokesmen reported, and other needed funds will come from federal and state grants and long-term borrowing.

"This is the first year we haven't had any 'click bugs'."

"But," said Stan Penland, director of the 43rd annual Bixby Park Pet Show, "we've had just about everything else."

"Everything else" included a boa constrictor, an alligator-type reptile called a cayman and what seemed to be the entire dog and cat population of Long Beach.

All together, there were over 500 pets and 300 child owners lined up for inspection by Penland and the other judges.

EVERY PET OWNER was given a special blue ribbon by the sponsoring Long Beach Recreation Commission and the assisting Humane Society.

The animals were judged for individual prizes.

Categories for judging included dogs, cats, birds and fowl, rodents, fish, reptiles, insects — and farm animals, represented by at least one horse and one goat.

The judges scored on the largest and the smallest of each species, the longest and shortest tails and the best decorated cages.

Three top prizes were given.

"BEST OF SHOW" went to a raccoon named "Wica." Wica is owned by 12-year-old Teri Anderson, of 6749 Alameda St.

Second prize went to a curly-haired goat named "Patrick." Patrick belongs to Belinda Jensen of 1511 Phillips St.

Third prize went to two Peruvian Guinea pigs belonging to 9-year-old Joseph Fidd, of 2670 Daisy Ave.

'EXCITING YEAR FOR ALL'

L.B. Arts Future Called 'Very Sound'

By GEORGE LAINE
Staff Writer

The future of the arts in Long Beach is "very sound" with the city on the threshold of discovering its own artistic validity, the 1969-70 president of the Regional Arts Council believes.

Dr. Robert Tyndall, dean of the school of fine arts at California State College at Long Beach, said that the Arts Council's second year "gives every indication of being an extremely exciting year for all of us concerned."

DR. ROBERT TYNDALL

THOSE CONCERNED with the Regional Arts Council, in addition to Dr. Tyndall, include Robert Irvin, vice president; Mrs. Frances Henselman, recording secretary; Mrs. E. Don Hellmers, corresponding secretary, and Jerome Leff, treasurer.

The new officers are to be introduced to the Arts Council's membership in its annual meeting, scheduled for 6-8 p.m., June 12, in the Pacific Coast Club. Outgoing president Mrs. Joyce Dale will report on the council's first year of feeling of unity within the city's art community. He said he hopes to enlarge on that feeling in the year ahead.

"Percentagewise," he said, "I'm not so sure there's more art activity going on in New York than there is in Long Beach."

"But we have heard in the past the comments of people who say there's not much of value in art around here. That's just not so," he said. "I see the task of the Arts Council as being primarily bound up in making Long Beach aware of all that is good in the arts now."

"OUTSIDE" ART has, in the past, been regarded as good by Long Beach citizens, he said, while the home-bred arts are routinely dismissed.

"The Times reviewer found much to like in the college's production of Brecht's 'Mother Courage' and counseled his readers that they'd be well advised to journey to Long Beach to see it. Yet the auditorium was just half-full on opening night."

Dr. Tyndall says that there are certain problems involved with the arts at the college campus that need remedies — "with one of the most apparent being the parking barrier. We can't really expect people to attend events anywhere if they're forced to hunt for parking before attending an event."

IN THE MAIN, he said, the state of the arts in Long Beach is one of general good health — and getting healthier.

"The Art Museum has a good image, especially outside of this town," he said. "Most of the arts in this town suffer from an inability to blow their own horn. We in the Arts Council are perfectly willing — and eager — to blow our horn for them."

He characterized Mrs. Dale's initial year of operating the council as "building the firm foundations on which we can extend the council's work."

"In our second year," Dr. Tyndall said, "we'll be trying to answer the question of why we're here."

THE CURRENT crop of municipal candidates may or may not be the best qualified in history, but it does have another distinction.

It includes some of the most determined defacers of public property in local political history.

The term public property loosely includes public utility poles, which are legally off bounds to tacklers of political placards.

That hasn't scared anybody off. Posters have been tacked on poles all over town. One utility outfit made the rounds and pulled them all down. In a few days a new bunch appeared on the same poles.

There's one unconfirmed story about a candidate who was tacking up his sign when a police car came along and stopped. The candidate looked at the officers and said, "You want a raise, don't you?" The story, has it that the officers went their way while he continued tapping in the illegal tacks.

On the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of this great musical group, due honors were paid at public gathering at the Elks Club Thursday night which turned out to be perfectly delightful.

Maybe it was small-townish for people to get together to pay tribute to their band and for the band to respond with a rousing concert displaying its talent and versatility. But what's the matter with a little wholesome small-townism now and then? It's hard enough in this sprawling metropolis to get people together in a common cause and happy spirit.

bandsmen received plaques from Mayor Wade, heard praising resolution passed by the City Council, and got prolonged applause after every number of their program. It was a long one, too, but most of us would have been willing to let it go on for another round.

Jess Grundy headed the committee in charge, Don Gill was master of ceremonies, and Director Charlie Paine did the honors for the band. Some spice was provided by a display of bathing suits on pretty girls, depicting beach wear of various periods in the band's history.

About the bathing suits, Gill observed the expanding exposure from stage to stage, and said he was afraid to predict what things would be like in another year or so.

It was recalled that the band played its first concert on March 13, 1909, in a bathhouse shell on the beach. The band proved itself the "people's choice" when its very existence was put on the ballot in 1957. The citizenry voted 81,255 to 36,099 to retain it. Robert F. Crow, 7th District council incumbent, Saturday stressed his airport antiexpansion history on the council and expressed strong doubt of his opponent's detachment from a "smear sheet" against Crow and from a "special interest" figure in the opposition campaign.

Crow noted that Tom Hansen, assistant to the general manager of Pacific Air Transport, worked in the early phases of the primary campaign of opponent Wayne B. Sharp and that Sharp is a past president of the General Aviation and Pilots Association, "factors which do not certificate to the people of Long Beach that he's opposed to expansion of the airport."

The councilman said although Sharp disclaimed responsibility for a primary campaign flyer which reprinted a news story of a disturbance-of-peace incident in November, 1966, for which Crow was fined, the material is now being mailed citywide, except for the 7th District.

CROW CHARGED Sharp with responsibility for the flyer's new circulation and said the committee responsible for it has its headquarters in the same building as Sharp's campaign headquarters.

On the airport issue, Crow said everybody seems to be making a virtuous claim about opposition to its expansion, but insisted the council record will show it was his motion Feb. 11 which put into operation the study on possibility of an offshore airport.

"Further," said Crow, "it was my query — no one else's — to the city attorney which asked an investigation of the propriety of spending tide-lands money on such an airport."

THE COUNCILMAN, reiterating his doubt of Sharp's statements against airport expansion, said the pilots' association which Sharp once headed paid for some of Sharp's printing expenses at the Seaside Printing Co.

Crow also reported Saturday that Joseph Perkins, secretary-treasurer of Local 692, Teamsters Union, announced the local's support of Crow "as the most qualified candidate by far."

Council Election Tuesday

Long Beach voters will elect a nine-member city council Tuesday, with only about a third of the city's 161,259 registered voters expected to take part in the decision.

Each voter may vote for nine names on the punch-card ballot, making a choice from the two primary finalists in each district. Although each district voted only for candidates in that district in the May 13 primary, Tuesday's election is citywide and every voter has a say in the selection of all nine of the three-year councilmanic posts.

Polling places, identified on the voter's sample ballot, will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. The punch-card tabulation, done on computers in the Public Utilities Building, should provide a final result in less than four hours after polls close at 7 p.m.

All nine incumbents are seeking reelection. Short sketches on each of them and on each of the nine challengers are published elsewhere in today's paper.

Newport Child Drowns in Bath

Patrick S. Tudor, 2, of 2327 S. Margaret Ave., Newport Beach, drowned in a bathtub at his home Saturday when left alone for a few moments by his father, Michael Scheer, police reported.

Scheer said the boy's mother, Patricia Tudor, was away from home for the afternoon. He said he was bathing Patrick, left the bathroom for a few moments, and rushed back when he failed to hear the boy splashing in the tub.

TO HOSPITAL FUND Ridders Pledge $500,000 Trust

Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Ridder have pledged to establish a half million dollar trust for the St. Mary's Hospital expansion program, a spokesman for the medical facility announced Saturday.

The trust pledge from the publisher of the Independent, Press-Telegram and his wife brings the amount of subscriptions raised from the public to help finance the hospital's $10-million expansion program to about $2 million, the spokesman said.

"It has long been the desire of Mrs. Ridder and myself to provide the people of Long Beach with the finest hospital facilities possible," Ridder said.

Only about $1 million now remains in the $3 million public fund drive phase of the expansion program's money-raising effort, the hospital spokesman said.

The new facility will be built on the north side of the present hospital complex, 10th Street and Linden Avenue.

Current plans call for construction of a 10-story structure, which will house some 230 acute medical-surgical beds.

An emergency entrance will face Linden Avenue near the present convent site of the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word.

The Sisters of Charity have pledged to provide $5.9 million in financing, hospital spokesmen reported, and other needed funds will come from federal and state grants and long-term borrowing.

"Everything else" included a boa constrictor, an alligator-type reptile called a cayman and what seemed to be the entire dog and cat population of Long Beach.

All together, there were over 500 pets and 300 child owners lined up for inspection by Penland and the other judges.

EVERY PET OWNER was given a special blue ribbon by the sponsoring Long Beach Recreation Commission and the assisting Humane Society.

The animals were judged for individual prizes.

Categories for judging included dogs, cats, birds and fowl, rodents, fish, reptiles, insects — and farm animals, represented by at least one horse and one goat.

The judges scored on the largest and the smallest of each species, the longest and shortest tails and the best decorated cages.

Three top prizes were given.

"BEST OF SHOW" went to a raccoon named "Wica". Wica is owned by 12-year-old Teri Anderson, of 6749 Alameda St.

Second prize went to a curly-haired goat named "Patrick." Patrick belongs to Belinda Jensen of 1511 Phillips St.

Third prize went to two Peruvian Guinea pigs belonging to 9-year-old Joseph Fidd, of 2670 Daisy Ave.

'EXCITING YEAR FOR ALL' L.B. Arts Future Called 'Very Sound'

By GEORGE LAINE
Staff Writer

The future of the arts in Long Beach is "very sound" with the city on the threshold of discovering its own artistic validity, the 1969-70 president of the Regional Arts Council believes.

Dr. Robert Tyndall, dean of the school of fine arts at California State College at Long Beach, said that the Arts Council's second year "gives every indication of being an extremely exciting year for all of us concerned."

THOSE CONCERNED with the Regional Arts Council, in addition to Dr. Tyndall, include Robert Irvin, vice president; Mrs. Frances Henselman, recording secretary; Mrs. E. Don Hellmers, corresponding secretary, and Jerome Leff, treasurer.

The new officers are to be introduced to the Arts Council's membership in its annual meeting, scheduled for 6-8 p.m., June 12, in the Pacific Coast Club. Outgoing president Mrs. Joyce Dale will report on the council's first year of operations at the same meeting.

Dean Tyndall preceded — and perhaps pre-empted — some of Mrs. Dale's remarks for June 12 when he called the initial year of the Arts Council's activities here "a splendid accomplishment — they achieved much more than anyone could have hoped for."

For the first time, he said, there is a general feeling of unity within the city's art community. He said he hopes to enlarge on that feeling in the year ahead.

"Percentagewise," he said, "I'm not so sure there's more art activity going on in New York than there is in Long Beach."

"But we have heard in the past the comments of people who say there's not much of value in art around here. That's just not so," he said. "I see the task of the Arts Council as being primarily bound up in making Long Beach aware of all that is good in the arts now."

"OUTSIDE" ART has, in the past, been regarded as good by Long Beach citizens, he said, while the home-bred arts are routinely dismissed.

"The Times reviewer found much to like in the college's production of Brecht's 'Mother Courage' and counseled his readers that they'd be well advised to journey to Long Beach to see it. Yet the auditorium was just half-

'Pots' calling kettle black on defense

THE DEPARTMENT of Defense is being bombarded with the heaviest salvos of criticism aimed in its direction since the United States became a great military power.

The reasons are both general and specific. In the former category are widespread disillusionment with the Vietnam war, the burden of federal taxes, the furious protests against any draft and especially the unfair system now in force.

AMONG THE specific reasons are the shipment of potentially dangerous poison gas on rail cars across the country; the harsh sentences given war protesters in courts martial; the army's indirect admission that it tests chemical weapons in the air and its refusal to talk about what it does with biological weapons, or germs; and the disclosure that the Air Force is about to spend at least $2 billion more for the C5A transport than the purported cost.

Within the last few days exonerations of the Pentagon have reached a crescendo. The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, George H. Mahon of Texas, declared that the military had "generated lack of confidence" by its "many mistakes." And a bipartisan House-Senate Committee accused the Defense Department of wasting billions of dollars a year in "bloated and inflated" contracts.

Lack of support for the defense establishment also is reflected in public opinion polls covering all age brackets.

This assertion of civilian displeasure with the armed forces is not unhealthy, if it remains within bounds. For one thing, it strengthens the hand of civil officials, from the President to the lower echelons, against the insatiable demands of a particular type of high brass dedicated to the enlargement of the military establishment.

But neither the Department of Defense nor the generals should be held entirely at blame for Vietnam, the draft and similar decisions which stemmed at least 50 per cent from politicians.

WE SHOULD RESIST the temptation to make an ever-present scapegoat of the military. It has too many collaborators in mufti. And like the police department, it is indispensable in time of emergency.

The only real solutions for costly and sometimes overbearing military forces must extend over a long period of time. They consist entirely of firmer arrangements to advance peace and remove fear from the world.

tions with Cuba, particularly its support of the odious dictator Batista whose excesses were Castro's strongest weapon in the early Sierra Maestra days.

But the conciliation urged by the churchmen demands some faint show of good will from the Cuban regime. And any credible signal must consist of more than words. Castro's word simply is not to be trusted. Ten years ago he promised his own people free speech, free press and an independent judiciary. He has given them none of these democratic rights.

Even Herbert Matthews, an admirer who has just published a biography of Castro, can find no excuse for this betrayal. "Fidel did what he thought was best, or thought he had to do at a given time," Matthews lamely explains.

ONE POSSIBLE signal would be a reversal of Castro's assertion he will continue to harbor plane hijackers. Another would be a moderation of his support for Latin-American insurgency — the main reason for U.S. counter-insurgency agents about which the pastors complain.

This big country can afford to forgive Castro's hostility of the past and even to contemplate generosity toward the little island — but not until he uncoils.

Yorty victory scares liberal Democrats

From Our National Bureau
WASHINGTON — Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty's upset reelection has given an acute case of the jitters to liberal California Democrats here — particularly those with an eye to running for the Senate next year.

All of the liberals, of course, view the maverick Democrat's victory with dismay.

They deplore the conservative Yorty's triumph on philosophical grounds, certainly, but also on the more practical basis that it indicates the running of a reactionary tide that might work against their own bids for re-election next year.

But the deepest concern is among those who are ambitious for the Democratic senatorial nomination for the seat now held by Republican George Murphy.

Liberals most interested and actively campaigning are Reps. John Tunney of Riverside, Phillip Burton of San Francisco and George Brown of Monterey Park, plus state Supreme Court Justice Stanley Mosk.

BAXTER OMOHUNDRO

Both Tunney and Burton seem particularly determined to run.

Yorty has long lusted to be a senator, and it's a fair bet that he is actively considering entering the Democratic primary next year.

His Tuesday victory gave him a "giant killer" image in many eyes, and, sure of his job as mayor for nearly three years, he would campaign without too much political risk as he did in the 1966 gubernatorial primary when he piled up nearly a million votes against incumbent Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

Yorty is enough of a political realist to know that his constituency among Democrats is by no means a majority, but a good calculation is that it's enough to win a primary if the liberals' base is split between several candidates.

Liberals Democrats here agree with this calculation.

"It would be murder," confessed one.

The obvious answer is for the liberals to coalesce around one candidate, but this wing of the California Democratic Party is not noted for its ability to agree upon anything.

Several things could moderate the Yorty factor.

An entry into the race by acting

San Francisco State College President S. I. Hayakawa could cut into Yorty's base, since the semanticist has gained a reputation as a "law and order" man through his handling of college demonstrators.

Hayakawa has been quite inscrutable when asked about his political intentions.

Too, Yorty might have an agreement with Los Angeles millionaire Henry Salvatori not to run against Murphy.

Salvatori was the archangel in Yorty's mayoralty race, but also is a leading figure in Murphy's blossoming re-election organization. He just might have persuaded Yorty that he would be a push-over for Murphy in the run-off.

On the other hand, there's the faint, devious possibility that Salvatori would like a push-over for Murphy.

UMAS works in peace for a vital cause

UMAS, THE CAMPUS organization of United Mexican American Students, carries the big stick of the threat of radicalism or violence in its arsenal against its grievances with the establishment. But UMAS at California State College Long Beach has no present inclination to use them.

Two personable young men, Edgar Rodriguez and Richard Lujan, proved the reasonable thrust of their argument this week as first speakers in a series of forums, "Campus Insight-1969," sponsored by the Marina Democratic Club in Seal Beach.

They noted that UMAS on the CSLB campus was voted by students as the most outstanding campus organization. It won out over 135 others. The reason, they said, is that UMAS has attacked the problem of making its people, Chicanos, functional in the Anglo society while some fraternities had wasted their time and energy on such useless projects as toilet paper rolling contests.

Chicanos start behind and stay behind because of their difficulty in articulating in English, they said, in their appeal for bilingual teaching programs to overcome that handicap.

Working with the Economic Opportunities Program, UMAS has succeeded in getting college entrance requirements — especially entrance test exam grades — waived for some Mexican American students, who are then put on one year's probation to see if they can handle college work.

Regarding the English-oriented standard entrance exam, Rodriguez and Lujan said that a New Jersey firm which authors the tests invited UMAS representative Fernando Hernandez, of Long Beach, to be a consultant in an effort "to make the tests relevant to Chicanos."

THE SPEAKERS spoke with some pride of the respect which UMAS at CSLB had earned from administration, faculty and students here. Their emphasis was consistently on positive remedies for the Chicanos' plight of "getting the short end of the stick." Lujan said UMAS has accepted the establishment argument to use available channels for redress.

But when those ways fail or are nonproductive, as they usually are, Lujan contended, the Chicanos look necessarily to the means that others have used — demonstrations and violence.

"No matter what anybody says," Lujan declared, "it works."

To become functional, the speakers said, Chicanos must have education. Without bilingual teaching programs, few Mexican American students make the grade. They cited the 57 per cent drop out rate in Lincoln High School, Los Angeles, highest in the nation. They noted the 12 per cent unemployment rate among Mexican Americans, twice the national average.

THE ARGUMENT may finally reduce to the question of whether this government is willing to accommodate this proud minority which believes in the integrity of its own culture while aspiring to succeed in a world of "Anglo" majority.

Rodriguez and Lujan submit that the melting-pot idea has worked among other cultures here because of the complete cut-off from those cultures. But "we were here before the Anglos," he points out, and "we are so close to our homeland."

Lack of money is another problem. Chicano parents in the barrios make $3,000 to $4,000 a year, and "there's no way in the world they can send a son to college. And Ronald Reagan says 'cut, cut, cut' and that means we don't get, get, get."

Why make it tough to vote?

AMERICANS take great pride in our nation's democratic traditions, but I couldn't help wondering during the 1968 presidential campaign why we make it so difficult for our citizens to vote.

The United States is, after all the best, educated, and most technologically advanced country in the world. Almost every American has a radio and television set, and is kept informed on important issues.

Why shouldn't we let every voting age citizen cast a ballot on election day? I think we should.

But look at the results from 1968. Of 120 million voting age Americans, only 72 million cast a ballot for president. That means 48 million were left out.

President Nixon, who received 43 per cent of the votes cast, actually won the support of only one in every four voting age Americans.

Does this mean Americans are lazy or indifferent about electing their president? I don't think so. But, as a nation, we can certainly do better.

ONE PROBLEM is that we still have a paper curtain of old-fashioned registration and voting laws which keep people away from the polls. The right to vote is a privilege, but why make it so difficult?

Take residency requirements, for example. Every year 20 million

HUBERT HUMPHREY

Americans move to another state. Many of these citizens are prevented from voting for president until they have lived in their new state for one or even two years. In 1968, five millions citizens were disenfranchised by the residency laws.

But these are American citizens, wanting to vote for a national leader. Why should anyone have to live in a state for a year before he or she can vote for president? It may have made sense in the horse and buggy days, but it doesn't today.

We also have a crazy quilt of absentee voter laws. In 1968, six million Americans didn't vote because they couldn't leave work or because they were away from home. Another seven million didn't vote because they were sick or disabled and couldn't get to the polls.

We ought to help these people to vote. Yet, in many areas, citizens have to penetrate a bureaucratic maze in order to cast an absentee ballot.

WE ALSO keep many of our citizens from voting by just plain making it hard for them to register to vote. Our political parties expend a tremendous amount of time and energy just telling people how and when and where to register.

In many communities, there is only one place to register to vote. It is often an office, tucked away in some county or city government building, with hours of operation that make it difficult for the working man or woman. Is it any wonder that many a citizen grows cynical of government?

In this electronic age, when we are able to keep accurate and up-to-date census and tax lists on computers, we ought to take the burden of registration off the individual and put it on the government.

We ought to do away with the 45 and 60 and 90 day registration cut-offs. We ought to do away with the one and two year residency laws.

Every American citizen ought to be able to register and vote on election day by going to the polls and properly identifying himself or herself as to name and residence.

IN SOME WAYS we have done well in expanding suffrage in this country. Since the passage of the voting rights act of 1965, the registration of blacks in the South has doubled. The old barriers of property ownership and sex and race have been struck down.

The next goal should be the lowering of the voting age. Our young people today are the best informed, best educated, most idealistic generation in our nation's history. They want to participate. We ought to let them. I have long supported lowering the voting age to 18, and it is time we moved in this direction.

Then too, the president and vice president should be elected by direct popular vote. The out of date electoral college should be scrapped.

Before 1972, let's go to work to get state legislatures to bring registration and voting laws into the 20th century. Let's tear down that paper curtain. Let's live up to our democratic heritage by allowing and encouraging every American citizen to vote.

Louisiana Demos miffed—hearing halted

From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Democratic Party's Commission on Party Reform abruptly cancelled a hearing in New Orleans last week after a complaining letter from Louisiana National Committeeman J. Marshall Brown.

Brown's letter to Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, bitterly attacked the commission chairman, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, for scheduling the hearing without having consulted Brown, Gov. John J. McKeithen or other Louisiana party leaders.

Although he denied criticism of the commission's motives, Brown said that the group's snubbing of state leaders is "the sort of thing that cost us the election."

Perhaps more to the point, Brown said that calling of the hearing without prior consultations put the Louisiana leaders "in the position of having our official positions challenged."

Although his letter was marked "personal and confidential," Brown sent copies to a list of people that JAPANESE diplomats here are concerned that the time and place chosen for the meeting of President Nixon and President Thieu may wound some sensibilities in the homeland.

The meeting on Monday Island comes just 27 years after the island was the focal point for a great sea-air battle in which the United States smashed a huge Japanese task force to turn the tide of World War II in the Pacific.

AT A caucus of House Democrats, various members were polled on what they were doing to sell tickets to a $500-a-plate party fundraiser next month.

Everyone glittered when the question was asked of L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the powerful Armed Services Committee who is ardently courted by defense contractors.

Rivers allowed as how he'd been able to sell some $10,000 worth of tickets to "friends."

DRIVING along a Washington street the other day was a car that bore a license plate holder enscribed "for vitality-drink milk." below it was a bumper sticker saying "legalize marijuana."

'Pots' calling kettle black on defense

THE DEPARTMENT of Defense is being bombarded with the heaviest salvos of criticism aimed in its direction since the United States became a great military power.

The reasons are both general and specific. In the former category are widespread disillusionment with the Vietnam war, the burden of federal taxes, the furious protests against any draft and especially the unfair system now in force.

AMONG THE specific reasons are the shipment of potentially dangerous poison gas on rail cars across the country; the harsh sentences given war protesters in courts martial; the army's indirect admission that it tests chemical weapons in the air and its refusal to talk about what it does with biological weapons, or germs; and the disclosure that the Air Force is about to spend at least $2 billion more for the GSA transport than the purported cost.

Within the last few days exhortations of the Pentagon have reached a crescendo. The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, George H. Mahon of Texas, declared that the military had "generated lack of confidence" by its "many mistakes." And a bipartisan House-Senate Committee accused the Defense Department of wasting billions of dollars a year in "bloated and inflated" contracts.

Lack of support for the defense establishment also is reflected in public opinion polls covering all age brackets.

This assertion of civilian displeasure with the armed forces is not unhealthy, if it remains within bounds. For one thing, it strengthens the hand of civil officials, from the President to the lower echelons, against the insatiable demands of a particular type of high brass dedicated to the enlargement of the military establishment.

But neither the Department of Defense nor the generals should be held entirely at blame for Vietnam, the draft and similar decisions which stemmed at least 50 per cent from politicians.

WE SHOULD RESIST the temptation to make an ever-present scapegoat of the military. It has too many collaborators in mufti. And like the police department, it is indispensable in time of emergency.

The only real solutions for costly and sometimes overbearing military forces must extend over a long period of time. They consist entirely of firmer arrangements to advance peace and remove fear from the world.

Castro must show some good will

UNITED Presbyterian Church leaders have issued a Latin American position paper advocating, among other policies, that the United States open "normal relations" with Castro Cuba.

That goal would be worth pursuing if Fidel himself were not so firmly opposed to it. As the Presbyterians note, the lifting of the eight-year-old trade embargo would "demonstrate that United States intends to avoid primitive politics in Latin America."

THE EVIDENCE suggests, however, that the Island dictator invites no such gesture and would not reciprocate if it were offered.

He remains locked in the anti-Yankee obsession that caused him to embrace communism and to transform himself from a native revolutionary to an indigent dependent of the Soviet Union.

The U.S. has no reason to feel proud of the history of its relations with Cuba, particularly its support of the odious dictator Batista whose excesses were Castro's strongest weapon in the early Sierra Maestra days.

But the conciliation urged by the churchmen demands some faint show of good will from the Cuban regime. And any credible signal must consist of more than words. Castro's word simply is not to be trusted. Ten years ago he promised his own people free speech, free press and an independent judiciary. He has given them none of these democratic rights.

Even Herbert Matthews, an admirer who has just published a biography of Castro, can find no excuse for this betrayal. "Fidel did what he thought was best, or thought he had to do at a given time," Matthews lamely explains.

ONE POSSIBLE signal would be a reversal of Castro's assertion he will continue to harbor plane hijackers. Another would be a moderation of his support for Latin-American insurgency — the main reason for U.S. counter-insurgency agents about which the pastors complain.

This big country can afford to forgive Castro's hostility of the past and even to contemplate generosity toward the little island — but not until he uncoils.

Louisiana Demos miffed—hearing halted

From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Democratic Party's Commission on Party Reform abruptly cancelled a hearing in New Orleans last week after a complaining letter from Louisiana National Committeeman J. Marshall Brown.

Brown's letter to Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, bitterly attacked the commission chairman, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, for scheduling the hearing without having consulted Brown, Gov. John J. McKeithen or other Louisiana party leaders.

Although he denied criticism of the commission's motives, Brown said that the group's snubbing of state leaders is "the sort of thing that cost us the election."

Perhaps more to the point, Brown said that calling of the hearing without prior consultations put the Louisiana leaders "in the position of having our official positions challenged."

Although his letter was marked "personal and confidential," Brown sent copies to a list of people that included all Democratic governors, senators, representatives and party chairmen.

Yorty victory scares liberal Democrats

From Our National Bureau
WASHINGTON — Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty's upset reelection has given an acute case of the jitters to liberal California Democrats here — particularly those with an eye to running for the Senate next year.

All of the liberals, of course, view the maverick Democrat's victory with dismay.

They deplore the conservative Yorty's triumph on philosophical grounds, certainly, but also on the more practical basis that it indicates the running of a reactionary tide that might work against their own bids for re-election next year.

But the deepest concern is among those who are ambitious for the Democratic senatorial nomination for the seat now held by Republican George Murphy.

Liberals most interested and actively campaigning are Reps. John Tunney of Riverside, Phillip Burton of San Francisco and George Brown of Monterey Park, plus state Supreme Court Justice Stanley Mosk.

BAXTER OMOHUNDRO

Both Tunney and Burton seem particularly determined to run.

Yorty has long lusted to be a senator, and its a fair bet that he is actively considering entering the Democratic primary next year.

His Tuesday victory gave him a "giant killer" image in many eyes, and, sure of his job as mayor for nearly three years, he would campaign without too much political risk as he did in the 1966 gubernatorial primary when he piled up nearly a million votes against incumbent Gov. Edmond G. (Pat) Brown.

Yorty is enough of a political realist to know that his constituency among Democrats is by no means a majority, but a good calculation is that it's enough to win a primary if the liberals base is split between several candidates.

Liberal Democrats here agree with this calculation.

"It would be murder," confessed one.

The obvious answer is for the liberals to coalesce around one candidate, but this wing of the California Democratic Party is not noted for its ability to agree upon anything.

Several things could moderate the Yorty factor.

An entry into the race by acting

San Francisco State College President S. I. Hayakawa could cut into Yorty's base, since the semantic has gained a reputation as a "law and order" man through his handling of college demonstrators.

Hayakawa has been quite inscrutable when asked about his political intentions.

Too, Yorty might have an agreement with Los Angeles millionaire Henry Salvatori not to run against Murphy.

Salvatori was the archangel in Yorty's mayoralty race, but also is a leading figure in Murphy's blossoming re-election organization. He just might have persuaded Yorty that he would be a push-over for Murphy in the run-off.

On the other hand, there's the faint, devious possibility that Salvatori would like a push-over for Murphy.

UMAS works in peace for a vital cause

UMAS, THE CAMPUS organization of United Mexican American Students, carries the big stick of the threat of radicalism or violence in its arsenal against its grievances with the establishment. But UMAS at California State College Long Beach has no present inclination to use them.

Two personable young men, Edgar Rodriguez and Richard Lujan, proved the reasonable thrust of their argument this week as first speakers in a series of forums, "Campus Insight-1969," sponsored by the Marina Democratic Club in Seal Beach.

They noted that UMAS on the CSLB campus was voted by students as the most outstanding campus organization. It won out over 135 others. The reason, they said, is that UMAS has attacked the problem of making its people, Chicanos, functional in the Anglo society while some fraternities had wasted their time and energy on such useless projects as toilet paper rolling contests.

Chicanos start behind and stay behind because of their difficulty in articulating in English, they said, in their appeal for bilingual teaching programs to overcome that handicap.

Working with the Economic Opportunities Program, UMAS has succeeded in getting college entrance requirements — especially entrance test exam grades — waived for some Mexican American students, who are then put on one year's probation to see if they can handle college work.

Regarding the English-oriented standard entrance exam, Rodriguez and Lujan said that a New Jersey firm which authors the tests invited UMAS representative Fernando Hernandez, of Long Beach, to be a consultant in an effort "to make the tests relevant to Chicanos."

THE SPEAKERS spoke with some pride of the respect which UMAS at CSLB had earned from administration, faculty and students here. Their emphasis was consistently on positive remedies for the Chicanos' plight of "getting the short end of the stick." Lujan said UMAS has accepted the establishment argument to use available channels for redress.

But when those ways fail or are nonproductive, as they usually are, Lujan contended, the Chicanos look necessarily to the means that others have used — demonstrations and violence.

"No matter what anybody says," Lujan declared, "it works."

To become functional, the speakers said, Chicanos must have education. Without bilingual teaching programs, few Mexican American students make the grade. They cited the 57 per cent drop out rate in Lincoln High School, Los Angeles, highest in the nation. They noted the 12 per cent unemployment rate among Mexican Americans, twice the national average.

THE ARGUMENT may finally reduce to the question of whether this government is willing to accommodate this proud minority which believes in the integrity of its own culture while aspiring to succeed in a world of "Anglo" majority.

Rodriguez and Lujan submit that the melting-pot idea has worked among other cultures here because of the complete cut-off from those cultures. But "we were here before the Anglos," he points out, and "we are so close to our homeland."

Lack of money is another problem. Chicano parents in the barrios make $3,000 to $4,000 a year and "there's no way in the world they can send a son to college. And Ronald Reagan says 'cut, cut, cut' and that means we don't get, get, get."

Why make it tough to vote?

AMERICANS take great pride in our nation's democratic traditions, but I couldn't help wondering during the 1968 presidential campaign why we make it so difficult for our citizens to vote.

The United States is, after all the best educated and most technologically advanced country in the world. Almost every American has a radio and television set and is kept informed on important issues.

Why shouldn't we let every voting age citizen cast a ballot on election day? I think we should.

But look at the results from 1968. Of 120 million voting age Americans, only 72 million cast a ballot for president. That means 48 million were left out.

President Nixon, who received 43 per cent of the votes cast, actually won the support of only one in every four voting age Americans.

Does this mean Americans are lazy or indifferent about electing their president? I don't think so. But, as a nation, we can certainly do better.

ONE PROBLEM is that we still have a paper curtain of old-fashioned registration and voting laws which keep people away from the polls. The right to vote is a privilege, but why make it so difficult?

Take residency requirements, for example. Every year 20 million

HUBERT HUMPHREY

Americans move to another state. Many of these citizens are prevented from voting for president until they have lived in their new state for one or even two years. In 1968, five millions citizens were disenfranchised by the residency laws.

But these are American citizens, wanting to vote for a national leader. Why should anyone have to live in a state for a year before he or she can vote for president? It may have made sense in the horse and buggy days, but it doesn't today.

We also have a crazy quilt of absentee voter laws. In 1968, six million Americans didn't vote because they couldn't leave work or because they were away from home. Another seven million didn't vote because they were sick or disabled and couldn't get to the polls.

We ought to help these people to vote. Yet, in many areas, citizens have to penetrate a bureaucratic maze in order to cast an absentee ballot.

WE ALSO keep many of our citizens from voting by just plain making it hard for them to register to vote. Our political parties expend a tremendous amount of time and energy just telling people how and when and where to register.

In many communities, there is only one place to register to vote. It is often an office, tucked away in some county or city government building, with hours of operation that make it difficult for the working man or woman. Is it any wonder that many a citizen grows cynical of government?

In this electronic age, when we are able to keep accurate and up-to-date census and tax lists on computers, we ought to take the burden of registration off the individual and put it on the government.

We ought to do away with the 45 and 60 and 90 day registration cut-offs. We ought to do away with the one and two year residency laws.

Every American citizen ought to be able to register and vote on election day by going to the polls and properly identifying himself or herself as to name and residence.

IN SOME WAYS we have done well in expanding suffrage in this country. Since the passage of the voting rights act of 1965, the registration of blacks in the South has doubled. The old barriers of property ownership and sex and race have been struck down.

The next goal should be the lowering of the voting age. Our young people today are the best informed, best educated, most idealistic generation in our nation's history. They want to participate. We ought to let them. I have long supported lowering the voting age to 18, and it is time we moved in this direction.

Then too, the president and vice president should be elected by direct popular vote. The out of date electoral college should be scrapped.

Before 1872, let's go to work to get state legislatures to bring registration and voting laws into the 20th century. Let's tear down that paper curtain. Let's live up to our democratic heritage by allowing and encouraging every American citizen to vote.

Our City Council election Tuesday

By L. A. COLLINS SR.

IN THE MAY 13 city primary election, two men were nominated from each of the nine councilmanic districts as candidates. Next Tuesday the voters city wide will decide which of the two will be elected for three-year terms. All nine of the present incumbents will be on the ballot. It is probable seven of them will win by large margins. But there is considerable doubt as concerns the other two. They are Robert Crow in the 7th and R. E. Corbett in the 9th district.

Crow was the only incumbent who failed to receive the largest vote in his district. His opponent, Wayne B. Sharp, received 2,990 votes to 1,745 for Crow. In my opinion city wide voters should give careful consideration to choosing councilmen according to the choice of the voters in the district—unless there are unusual circumstances involved.

It is probable Crow's poor showing was due to the unfortunate involvement with the police in a marital dispute which had wide publicity. But it should also be recognized that his official acts as a councilman have been sound.

HIS OPPONENT, Wayne Sharp, operator of the Pierpoint Restaurant, has a fine reputation as a business man and is favored by the voters in his district. In my opinion he would deserve the city wide vote because he was chosen by his district over Crow. But there is an unusual circumstance involved. Sharp's restaurant operates on city land in the harbor. He is not the lessee from the harbor department. He sub-leases from the Fisherman Warf Company—which had the master lease with the city—paying a percentage of his business to that master lease holder. His sub-lease has to be approved by the harbor manager—who is appointed by the Harbor Commission—whose members are appointed by the City Manager with approval of the City Council.

It is contended this raises a "conflict of interest" issue for one serving on the City Council. Sharp's attorneys tell him all he needs do is to disqualify himself on any issues involving the Harbor Department if elected to the Council. But the fact remains that the master lease will be up for renewal while Sharp would be in office and he therefore would have reason to be concerned by what the terms would be.

It is unfortunate that this questionable circumstance exists because it raises a serious question at a time when Supreme Court justices and the City of Los Angeles conflict of interest cases are in the minds of most of the people. But with these facts before them the voters must make the decision next Tuesday.

In the 9th district "Pat" Corbett received 2,373 votes in the primary to his opponent Russell Rubley's 1,252. Here again is an unusual circumstance. During the last month Corbett has been awarded $3,420 by the State Workmen's Compensation referee. This was on the basis that Corbett has suffered heart attacks attributed to the strain of serving on the council. This will be taxpayer money from the city. He is also awarded 40 per cent of his future medical bill for all future treatment.

IT RAISES THE question of the advisability of re-electing a man to a job after his health has been judged to be impaired by that job. His last serious attack was last May in Hawaii when he was returning from a City Council trip to Japan. He was hospitalized for 30 days in Hawaii. He has been a dedicated worker for his district—a fine man in my opinion. But I can not justify endorsing him for another term under these circumstances.

His opponent, Russell Rubley, operates his own business in North Long Beach—It is an electronic manufacturing complex. He has long been active in many local civic activities. He, in my opinion, is deserving of the office he seeks.

I recommend a vote for all the other seven incumbents because they were endorsed by a majority of the voters in their separate districts in the May 13 primary election and, in my opinion, are deserving of re-election next Tuesday.

Moonlighter or not?

EDITOR:

Reference is made to an article under the heading, "Barry Goldwater Top Moonlighter."

The common conception of the term moonlighting refers to a person under normal full time employment who accepts supplemental work. The article compares Mr. Goldwater's income with six active members of the U.S. Senate.

Since Mr. Goldwater assumed the duties of U.S. Senator in January of this year the writer challenges the propriety of the use of the term, moonlighting and comparison of Mr. Goldwater's income with that of incumbents.

EDITOR:

Your even-tempered comments on the Fortas case deserves wide approval. The sequence of events suggests no wrong-doing by Mr. Fortas, quite the contrary. When he accepted a fee from the Wolfson Foundation, Wolfson was only under investigation, not under indictment. If a man on trial (i.e. under indictment) in American courts is innocent until proven guilty, what shall we say about a man who isn't even on trial? That he is too poisonous for honest men to associate with?

And, note this, one month after Wolfson's actual indictment, Mr. Fortas returned the fee, even before Wolfson's guilt had been established, surely this is discretion beyond the call of duty! Moreover, somewhere in this manufactured miscarriage of fair play, the Wolfson case did reach the portals of the Supreme Court where it was refused a hearing

From Our L. A. Bureau

GO TO MUNICIPAL Court's division 58 in Los Angeles any weekday morning and you'll see some 250 sad-faced men and women waiting to be sentenced for being sick. Long Beach proved there is a better way, but it has not made much difference. Not for the clients in division 58.

They got drunk. They were arrested. You see them standing before the bench, mostly silent and hopeless and full of remorse, shuffling to a slow self-destruction.

THEIR STORY in court is short and swift, usually told in five simple words.

"How do you plead?"

"Guilty."

They know their lines. Most of them have been there before, some many times, and they will be back many times. Yet their chances for a better life could be very good.

Dr. Gerald A. Heidbreder, the county health director, says about 60 per cent of the county's chronic drunks could benefit immediately from treatment. Another 30 per cent could be helped too, but it would take longer because they would have to dry out first.

THE FIGURES are backed up by experimental work done in Long Beach. In the city health department you can find about 300 getting care, and most of them will find their way to freedom from drink.

BILL MAYER

"I have nothing but praise for Long Beach," Heidbreder said. Why isn't the same sort of thing being done all over the county?

"The limiting factor," he said, "is money."

Maybe the limiting factor is myopia.

True, a county-wide program, with all the doctors, nurses, buildings and everything else needed to do the job, would require six or eight cents more on the tax rate. But not for long.

"THERE WOULD be compensating savings," Heidbreder said.

"Treating and curing alcoholics would mean great reductions in police costs, courts, jails, hospitals, automobiles—all sorts of things."

Most people have no idea what they are paying for. In 1965 one out of every three arrests in the United States was for public drunkenness.

Every year in Los Angeles County 135,000 men and women are taken to jail for being drunk. Not for drunken driving. Not for disturbing the peace. Not for doing anything more than going out somewhere when their bodies are so soaked that they can't take care of themselves.

Heidbreder figures most of those arrests are really the same people, 35,000 of them, going through the cycle repeatedly, coming back again and again.

MAYBE IT'S TOO much to expect the Board of Supervisors to add six or eight cents to the tax rate to save 50 cents of a dollar. Maybe they shouldn't be asked. The state, perhaps, or the federal government, could do it better, and do it everywhere.

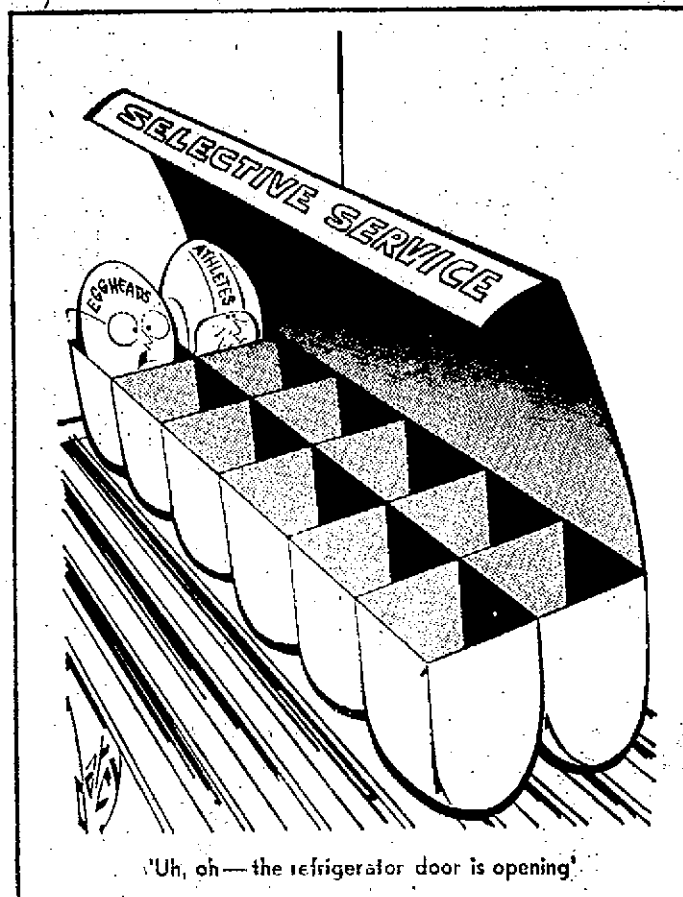

But Heidbreder would like to see at least one treatment center in Los Angeles for those brought to division 58. He figures half the drunks arrested in Los Angeles County pass through there, and this would be a way to cut the problem in half without really spending much money.

As it is, almost nothing is being done. Under the state program, less than one half of one per cent of the county's alcoholics are taking the cure.

Oil remains Hickel's major headache

WASHINGTON — Walter Hickel, former governor of Alaska, has now been Secretary of the Interior a little over four months. And since this column was among those which, during Hickel's Senate confirmation debate, focused critical attention on his qualifications, it is only fair to report on his activities now.

The secretary of the Interior sits in the same long, spacious room once occupied by a famous predecessor, Harold L. Ickes. On the walls are the same photographs and paintings of Indian art and beautiful scenes from the nation's parks. At one end of the room, Ickes used to sit cross-legged, in a blue shirt, hunched behind a big pile of papers.

HICKEL NOW sits behind a relatively clean desk. He wears a coat and smiles more than did the "Old Curmudgeon." But he is just as tough as Ickes on some things, particularly enforcement of equal job opportunities in the Interior Department for all races.

You also get the impression from talking to Hickel that he is just as friendly toward Indians as were his predecessors, though he has some vigorous views regarding the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

"Not everyone can be a Ph.D.," he says, referring to the importance of technical training for Indians and Eskimos. "I have confidence in myself, because I can work with my hands. I learned to be a carpenter at Claflin, Kansas, when I was a youngster. If I ever lose this job, I can work with my hands again and make good money too."

The new secretary of the Interior is trying to get more trade schools and technical training started in Alaska instead of the past system of "busing," whereby Indian children were sent 1,200 miles from Alaska to schools in Oregon or Oklahoma.

When Hickel was told about the Papago Indian Reservation near Tuc-son, Arizona, which has a population of 6,000 Indians and is the size of the state of Connecticut, he remarked: "You sound just like the former governor of Alaska."

DREW PEARSON

SECRETARY HICKEL has more confidence in some of his tough bureaucrats than when he took over the Interior Department. At one time he considered removing John F. O'Leary as head of the Bureau of Mines but changed his mind. He has found O'Leary to be a dedicated, hardworking public servant.

Hickel is still having trouble with oil. His major headache has been the oil leaks along the California coast which besmirched the beautiful Santa Barbara coastline last winter. But he has other problems closer to home, including oil import quotas for the Atlantic Coast.

Hickel probably doesn't know it, but his subordinates let themselves be sweet-talked by plausible lobbyists for Shell and Humble into changing the regulation whereby three U.S. groups were planning to build three refineries in the New York-New Jersey area to desulfurize Venezuelan oil in order to lessen air pollution in the big cities of the East. Shell and Standard want to do the refining in Venezuela instead and four of their lobbyists, Carter Perkins and David Bryce of Shell, with John Knodell and David Smiley of Humble, maneuvered with the Interior Department right under Hickel's nose to upset these U.S. desulfurizing plans.

OFF THE California coast, where Hickel acted promptly to curtail pumping after Union Oil developed its big leak, pumping has been resumed and oil is still leaking.

The offending Union Oil well was plugged with cement at midnight, February 7, and for several days everyone thought the nightmare was over. But on February 12 the ocean bottom broke open at several places along the fault lines, and the sea turned black again. From mid-February to early March the oil flowed upward from the shallow oil sands into the ocean at a rate of 50 barrels to 500 barrels a day, depending on whether you take Union Oil's estimate or that of Alan A. Allen of the General Research Corporation of Santa Barbara.

Allen estimates that by May 1 three million gallons of oil had flowed into the channel.

Union Oil does not go along with these figures. Wherever leaks are found in the ocean floor, funnels are placed above them and about four barrels of oil are picked up per day. In addition, Union Oil is conducting skimming operations to pick up oil or leaking oil.

Sharp's attorneys tell him all he needs do is to disqualify himself on any issues involving the Harbor Department if elected to the Council. But the fact remains that the master lease will be up for renewal while Sharp would be in office and he therefore would have reason to be concerned by what the terms would be.

It is unfortunate that this questionable circumstance exists because it raises a serious question at a time when Supreme Court justices and the City of Los Angeles conflict of interest cases are in the minds of most of the people. But with these facts before them the voters must make the decision next Tuesday.

In the 9th district "Pat" Corbett received 2,373 votes in the primary to his opponent Russell Rubley's 1,252. Here again is an unusual circumstance. During the last month Corbett has been awarded $3,420 by the State Workmen's Compensation referee. This was on the basis that Corbett has suffered heart attacks attributed to the strain of serving on the council. This will be taxpayer money from the city. He is also awarded 40 per cent of his future medical bill for all future treatment.

IT RAISES THE question of the advisability of re-electing a man to a job after his health has been judged to be impaired by that job. His last serious attack was last May in Hawaii when he was returning from a City Council trip to Japan. He was hospitalized for 30 days in Hawaii. He has been a dedicated worker for his district — a fine man in my opinion. But I can not justly endorse him for another term under these circumstances.

His opponent, Russell Rubley, operates his own business in North Long Beach — It is an electronic manufacturing complex. He has long been active in many local civic activities. He, in my opinion, is deserving of the office he seeks.

I recommend a vote for all the other seven incumbents because they were endorsed by a majority of the voters in their separate districts in the May 13 primary election and, in my opinion, are deserving of re-election next Tuesday.

Moonlighter or not?

EDITOR:

Reference is made to an article under the heading, "Barry Goldwater Top Moonlighter".

The common conception of the term moonlighting refers to a person under normal full time employment who accepts supplemental work. The article compares Mr. Goldwater's income with six active members of the U.S. Senate.

Since Mr. Goldwater assumed the duties of U.S. Senator in January of this year the writer challenges the propriety of the use of the term, moonlighting and comparison of Mr. Goldwater's income with that of incumbents.

EDITOR:

Your even-tempered comments on the Fortas case deserves wide approval. The sequence of events suggests no wrong-doing by Mr. Fortas, quite the contrary. When he accepted a fee from the Wolfson Foundation, Wolfson was only under investigation, not under indictment. If a man on trial (i.e. under indictment) in American courts is innocent until proven guilty, what shall we say about a man who isn't even on trial? That he is too poisonous for honest men to associate with?

And, note this, one month after Wolfson's actual indictment, Mr. Fortas returned the fee, even before Wolfson's guilt had been established, surely this is discretion beyond the call of duty! Moreover, somewhere in this manufactured miscarriage of fair play, the Wolfson case did reach the portals of the Supreme Court where it was refused a hear-

Jail for the sick--so useless and costly

From Our L. A. Bureau

GO TO MUNICIPAL Court's division 58 in Los Angeles any weekday morning and you'll see some 250 sad-faced men and women waiting to be sentenced for being sick. Long Beach proved there is a better way, but it has not made much difference. Not for the clients in division 58.

"They got drunk. They were arrested. You see them standing before the bench, mostly silent and hopeless and full of remorse, shambling to a slow self-destruction.

THEIR STORY in court is short and swift, usually told in five simple words.

"How do you plead?"

"Guilty."

They know their lines. Most of them have been there before, some many times, and they will be back many times. Yet their chances for a better life could be very good.

Dr. Gerald A. Heibredner, the county health director, says about 60 per cent of the county's chronic drunks could benefit immediately from treatment. Another 30 per cent could be helped too, but it would take longer because they would have to dry out first.

THE FIGURES are backed up by experimental work done in Long Beach. In the city health department you can find about 300 getting cure, and most of them will find their way to freedom from drink.

BILL MAYER

"I have nothing but praise for Long Beach," Heibredner said. Why isn't the same sort of thing being done all over the county?

"The limiting factor," he said, "is money."

Maybe the limiting factor is myopia.

True, a county-wide program, with all the doctors, nurses, buildings and everything else needed to do the job, would require six or eight cents more on the tax rate. But not for long.

"THERE WOULD be compensating savings," Heibredner said.

"Treating and curing alcoholics would mean great reductions in police costs, courts, jails, hospitals, automobiles—all sorts of things."

Most people have no idea what they are paying for. In 1965 one out of every three arrests in the United States was for public drunkenness.

Every year in Los Angeles County 135,000 men and women are taken to jail for being drunk. Not for drunken driving. Not for disturbing the peace. Not for doing anything more than going out somewhere when their bodies are so soaked that they can't take care of themselves.

Heibredner figures most of those arrests are really the same people, 35,000 of them, going through the cycle repeatedly, coming back again and again.

MAYBE IT'S TOO much to expect the Board of Supervisors to add six or eight cents to the tax rate to save 50 cents of a dollar. Maybe they shouldn't be asked. The state, perhaps, or the federal government, could do it better, and do it everywhere.

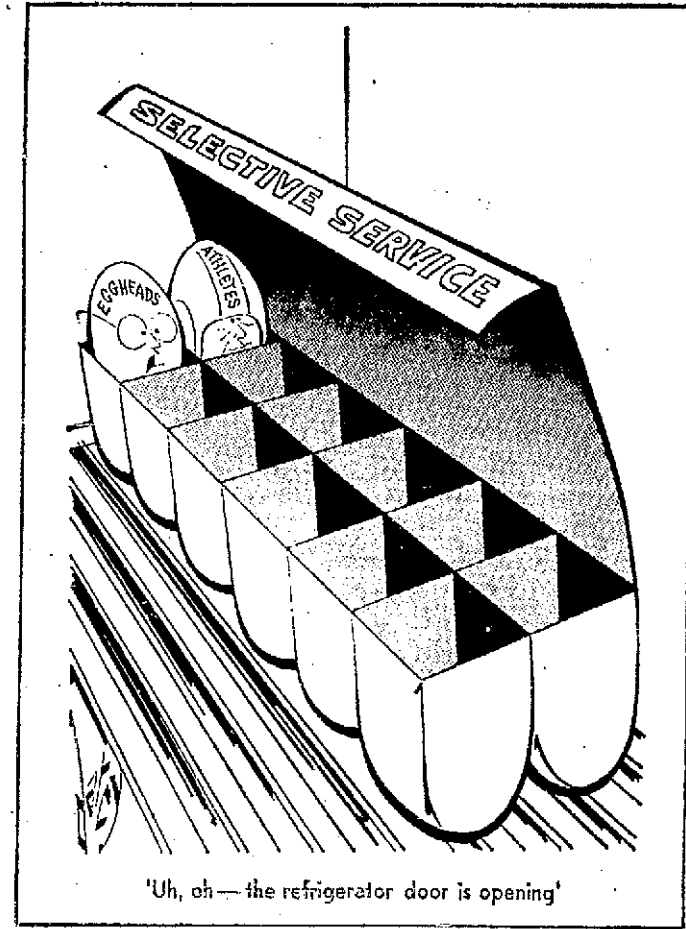

But Heibredner would like to see at least one treatment center in Los Angeles for those brought to division 58. He figures half the drunks arrested in Los Angeles County pass through there, and this would be a way to cut the problem in half without really spending much money.

As it is, almost nothing is being done. Under the state program, less than one half of one per cent of the county's alcoholics are taking the cure.

Oil remains Hickel's major headache

WASHINGTON — Walter Hickel, former governor of Alaska, has now been Secretary of the Interior a little over four months. And since this column was among those which, during Hickel's Senate confirmation debate, focused critical attention on his qualifications, it is only fair to report on his activities now.

The secretary of the Interior sits in the same long, spacious room once occupied by a famous predecessor, Harold L. Ickes. On the walls are the same photographs and paintings of Indian art and beautiful scenes from the nation's parks. At one end of the room, Ickes used to sit cross-legged, in a blue shirt, hunched behind a big pile of papers.

HICKEL NOW sits behind a relatively clean desk. He wears a coat and smiles more than did the Old Curmudgeon. But he is just as tough as Ickes on some things, particularly enforcement of equal job opportunities in the Interior Department for all races.

You also get the impression from talking to Hickel that he is just as friendly toward Indians as were his predecessors, though he has some vigorous views regarding the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

"Not everyone can be a Ph.D.," he says, referring to the importance of technical training for Indians and Eskimos. "I have confidence in myself because I can work with my hands. I learned to be a carpenter at Claflin, Kansas, when I was a youngster. If I ever lose this job, I can work with my hands again and make good money too."

The new secretary of the Interior is trying to get more trade schools and technical training started in Alaska instead of the past system of "busing," whereby Indian children were sent 1,200 miles from Alaska to schools in Oregon or Oklahoma.

When Hickel was told about the Papago Indian Reservation near Tuc-

DREW PEARSON

son, Arizona, which has a population of 6,000 Indians and is the size of the state of Connecticut, he remarked: "You sound just like the former governor of Alaska."

SECRETARY HICKEL has more confidence in some of his tough bureaucrats than when he took over the Interior Department. At one time he considered removing John F. O'Leary as head of the Bureau of Mines but changed his mind. He has found O'Leary to be a dedicated, hardworking public servant.

Hickel is still having trouble with oil. His major headache has been the oil leaks along the California coast which besmirched the beautiful Santa Barbara coastline last winter. But he has other problems closer to home, including oil import quotas for the Atlantic Coast.

Hickel probably doesn't know it, but his subordinates let themselves be sweet-talked by plausible lobbyists for Shell and Humble into changing the regulation whereby three U.S. groups were planning to build three refineries in the New York-New Jersey area to desulphurize Venezuelan oil in order to lessen air pollution in the big cities of the East. Shell and Standard want to do the refining in Venezuela instead, and four of their lobbyists, Carter Perkins and David Bryce of Shell, with John Knodell and David Smiley of Humble, maneuvered with the Interior Department right under Hickel's nose to upset these U.S. desulphurizing plans.

OFF THE California coast, where Hickel acted promptly to curtail pumping after Union Oil developed its big leak, pumping has been resumed and oil is still leaking.

The offending Union Oil well was plugged with cement at midnight, February 7, and for several days everyone thought the nightmare was over. But on February 12 the ocean bottom broke open at several places along the fault lines, and the sea turned black again. From mid-February to early March the oil flowed upward from the shallow oil sands into the ocean at a rate of 50 barrels to 500 barrels a day, depending on whether you take Union Oil's estimate or that of Alan A. Allen of the General Research Corporation of Santa Barbara.

Allen estimates that by May 1 three million gallons of oil had flowed into the channel.

Union Oil does not go along with these figures. Wherever leaks are found in the ocean floor, funnels are placed above them and about four barrels of oil are picked up per day. In addition, Union Oil is conducting skimming operations to pick up other leaking oil.

Columnists on the opinion pages are chosen to present diverse viewpoints and do not necessarily reflect the editorial position of this newspaper.

Navy-Army Units Slam Cong Haven

(Editor's Note: In his three tours as a staff correspondent in Vietnam, Military Editor Buck Lanier observed the numerous ways war is being waged there. River combat is one of those ways.)

By BUCK LANIER

Four years ago the idea of the Navy running amphibious assaults with Army troops would have been scoffed at in Vietnam.

Today it is commonplace in the Viet Cong-infested Mekong Delta.

The in-country Navy, or "brown water," is working with the Army's 9th or "Old Reliable" Division, to begin the clean up of Viet Cong and their arms and stores caches spotted throughout the Delta.

It is not an easy task as there are about 5,000 miles of navigable waterways slicing through the area.

The Mobile Riverine Force (MRF) is making its presence known with authority and it is a surprised and angry Viet Cong that is being dealt with harshly — on their former virginial "home floor."

Operations Giant Slingshot and Barrier Reef, all part of the "Sea Lords" concept developed by the commander of Naval Forces Vietnam, Vice Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., are running around the clock.

And a strange variety of craft are used, including "mini-battleships," "micro-carriers," armored troop carriers and assault patrol boats.

The VC are fighting back with firefights and ambushes almost on the hour.

Chances are 2-1 in favor of a MRF sailor or soldier being hit during his tour.

Compton Voters to Have Negro Mayor

Compton, come Tuesday, will be the biggest city west of the Mississippi with a Negro as its top elected official.

On Tuesday, voters will choose between Douglas F. Dollarhide, 46, the city's first Negro councilman, and Dr. Walter F. Tucker, 44, Negro dentist and vice president of the high school board.

The candidates for the post were finalists in a field of five.

The incumbent, Mayor Chester R. Crain, who is white, is not seeking re-election. He said he is "keeping a promise I made years ago to retire at age 55."

According to Crain, the community, with a population of about 80,000, is two-thirds black. He said about 10 per cent of the population is Mexican-American.

Dollarhide, a fleet sales manager for an auto dealer, interprets the primary election as "a rejection of extremism." A campaign release says "Compton requires leadership of moderation and involvement."

Yorba Linda's Farm Center Quits Activities

After 50 years of "good dinners, good fellowship and keeping abreast of the agricultural situation in this part of the county," the Yorba Linda Farm Center has quit.

CATERERS: A BIT OF U.S. HERITAGE

By JACK BALDWIN
Maritime Editor

A special bit of Americana greets foreigners coming ashore at the Consolidated Marine Terminal in the Port of Los Angeles — and amazes them.

To them, catering trucks — the food wagons Southlanders take for granted — are something else.

"They've never seen anything like this before," says Fred Kasvike. He is master of one of the mechanized chuck wagons. He parks his truck at the terminal whenever a big passenger liner pulls in for a visit to the Southland.

VISITORS ARE overwhelmed at the selection of goodies on the "rolling restaurant."

And, says Kasvike, the self-service idea throws them a bit, too.

"Foreigners are not used to self-service. They are afraid to help themselves."

During a recent visit of the P&O Lines' luxury liner Canberra, an attractive, miniskirted first-grade teacher from Melbourne, Australia, was introduced to catering trucks.

"We have nothing quite like this 'Down Under,'" 23-year-old Rhonda Paice said. "Oh, we have carts and motor trucks offering food for sale, but each merchant has only one item to sell. You must go from truck to truck to buy different things. But here you can get a full course dinner from one van."

And then, our vans only come out for large affairs, like a parade — never for a such a small event as a ship arrival," she added.

Kasvike, who operates a catering truck for Al Follman Catering Co., claims most foreigners are more courteous than many Americans.

Safe Boater Class Begins This Week; 75-Student Limit

Because of limited facilities at the Sea Explorer Base, enrollment in the small boat handling summer course offered by the Long Beach unit of the United States Power Squadrons will be limited to 75 students, according to Dr. Frank Blair, commander of the squadron.

The first class will be Monday at 7:15 p.m. at the Sea Explorer facility, Second Street and Appian Way in the Long Beach Marina.

The free classes will be held on Monday and Thursday nights for the next seven weeks.

Enrollment is open to any resident of Los Angeles or Orange County 16 years of age or older.

The course material is intended to expose boat operators, sail or power boater, to the minimum knowledge they should have before setting out in a pleasure boat.

Subjects covered include Coast Guard requirements, federal and state requirements, aids to navigation, docking and undocking, distress signals, customs and etiquette, safe boat handling techniques, lights, dead reckoning, charts and symbols, and other material relating to handling wet storage and trailer boats.

L.B. Helps Gardens in Recreation

An agreement with the Long Beach Recreation Department to provide a recreational program at Hawaiian Elementary School has been authorized by the Hawaiian Gardens City Council, Mayor C. Robert Lee said.

The action was taken on recommendation of Mayor pro-tem Lee Johnson and Councilman Carl Rodgers, who reported they had received many commendations on the same program conducted last year.

Renée Durbin, junior at California State College, Long Beach, will be recreation leader, according to Gale Tweed, district supervisor for the Long Beach Recreation Department.

IN ANOTHER action to upgrade the recreational and educational programs for children of the community, the council approved location of two portable classrooms at Lee Ware Park by the Economic Opportunity Community Improvement Association for the Headstart Program. Carol Wells, the group's representative, said a plot plan for the structure will be presented to the council before July 1, when the building will be moved in.

Mayor Lee also announced that Roberta Anderson had been appointed assistant director of the Hawaiian Gardens Teen Post, located in the city's recreational center building.

EX-GERMAN SOLDIER KNOWS
Freedom, a Priceless Possession

By BOB SANDERS
Staff Writer

In the winter of 1941, a young German soldier walked through a hospital ward near Leningrad on the Russian front. He had already been wounded twice and was due to be wounded once again.

Ten soldiers were being treated in the ward," he says today, "but only one had been wounded. The rest had frozen hands and feet.

"I'll never forget the smell of rotten flesh. It was terrible."

Otto Skirde, who now resides with his family in a two-story, five bedroom home at 10101 Merrimac Drive, Huntington Beach, has come a long way from that day.

OTTO SKIRDE... HE DOES NOT FORGET

BUT HE HAS never forgotten. Chances are, he never will.

To him, the word "freedom" takes on a greater meaning than for most of us.

He worked harder to get his.

He was a sturdy 13-year-old in Heilsburg, Germany, in 1933 when Adolph Hitler came into power — and he remembers it well.

"We had an election in our town," he recalls. A man stood in the voting booth to watch everybody vote. If they didn't vote the "right" way things happened.

"One man who didn't vote 'right' was tied to the back of a wagon and dragged down the streets while the people, even lit-

However, he still says, "I was lucky."

Of the 56 boys in his high school graduating class, only four were alive at the end of the war. One of the four lost both legs, another lost both eyes. Only one went through unscathed.

Three of Skirde's five brothers were killed — all on the Russian front.

"I knew the war was over," he recalls, "when the Americans came in. We all knew what had happened in the first World War. Besides, all the equipment we captured in Russia was American."

WHEN THE WAR was finally over, he went to the town of Melsungen, Germany, to try to put his life together. There he met his wife, Anna, and they started their family.

Their three children were born: Monica, now 23; Marion, now 21, and Manfred, now 19.

Although he found steady work as a plasterer, his nerves were bad and he was not happy.

"I made my mind that, if I could, I would see that my kids had a better chance than I had had," he says.

And he did.

In 1955, the Skirde family went to Vancouver, Canada, where they lived until 1963 when they moved to Seattle. On a vacation trip, they visited friends in Huntington Beach, and they decided to move there.

Today, Otto Skirde is a happy man. He will achieve a longtime ambition later this year when he becomes an American citizen.

Though his German accent is still strong, it is not difficult to understand him. He is a plain spoken man.

"When I read about rioting here," he says, "I just don't understand it."

"People here just don't know how much freedom they have, or how to use it."

"Those who seem to sympathize with communism ought to go there to live with it for a year. That would cure them.

"I have lived under it, and I know."

And he does.

Forecast for Monday

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Use your ingenuity. Improve upon plans. Look for new opportunities. Much can be done on the spur of the moment where you live.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Today is one of those subtle turning points: your sense of what is important is shifting. Never things take on added importance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): The temptation is to bury your head in the sand or to distract yourself by shopping. Neither has the desired result. Romantic contacts are thwarted by old circumstances — wait for another day.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): New acquaintances provide interesting possibilities. Children and their adventures can leave you baffled. This time you must figure it out yourself, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Everything goes much better for you today, so settle the leftovers of the last three days. Your money sprouts wings if you open your wallet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Keep your ears (and eyes) open for information you will need later. If you will omit any secrecy, this is good day for dealing with any problems of no business matters in the later hours become easily untied. Meditation, study, or serious music this evening would be helpful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): New partnership arrangements are appropriate now, but do not put up the chivalry or materials. Your male has some fresh tricks. Some of them enjoyable, all surprising.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Interview a prospective employer. The day off and make the rounds looking for different ideas, new angles. Romantic interests stronger in the evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Conservative approaches will get you further ahead today. The situation of parents comes to your serious attention. Deal with interruptions as the people who break in on your schedules. Celebrate it. At home this evening, see what the state of affairs may be.

QUAURIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Do what you can to ease conflicts between relatives and relatives. Offer your own analogies for any misunderstanding. It can even be fun.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Creative activity is ready to bubble up at any encouragement. Young people provide a little surprise and special interest. Romance beckons from nearby.

Mike Cullen urges you to elect Ted Cruchley

I have a request to make to the 36,542 Long Beach men and women who voted for me in last November's election.

The 8th Councilmanic District where my family lives needs a new Councilman. When you go to the polls next Tuesday, June 3, I urge you to elect TED CRUCHLEY to this important office.

It may surprise you to have me, a staunch Democrat, so strongly support TED CRUCHLEY, an equally staunch Republican. But this is not a decision to be influenced by partisan politics. It is simply a matter of choosing the best man to fill this office.

We urgently need a change. We need a new Councilman who will attend Council meetings regularly. We need a man with business experience and sound judgment. We need a man with the courage to stand firm on all matters vital to the city's welfare. This includes consideration for the rights of families who live in areas which might be affected by proposed plans for airport expansion.

I have known TED CRUCHLEY a long time. I respect his intelligence, his integrity and his dedication to the community in which we live. He is well qualified to perform the duties of Councilman and perform them well. I urge you to go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for him as new Councilman from the 8th District.

CANNES — Omar Sharif sat with his jacket on but his shoes off, his feet in his black socks resting on the coffee table, while he watched a soccer game on TV. It was a picture of domesticity that several women have failed to trap him into. Patiently and brightly he answered all the silly questions.

"How do you like being thought of as a homewrecker?"

"That I don't like!" He lit an American cigaret. There were light grey strands in his hair and mustache. "I don't think anybody's a homewrecker. If it's a good home, you can't wreck it."

"But you seem to have given up on marriage."

"Not at all. But it gets tougher and tougher when you get older. My conception of life is to have a wife and family. And I think I'm made for marriage. I've been separated now for four years. I have a 12-year-old boy, Jarek, who goes to school in London. If the right girl came along...

THERE ARE those who think Omar is too sophisticated ever to marry again, and the reported romances with all his leading ladies, the last one being Anouk Aimee, before she got engaged to Albert Finney, may mean nothing at all. It all came up because Anouk and Omar co-star in "The Appointment" — partly because Anouk was married to Pierre Barouh when they started the picture and wasn't when it opened.

But Omar would prefer discussing bridge.

"I guess I'm part of the first category players," he agreed.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Dialogue: "I got married because I was tired of going to the Laundromat, eating in restaurants and wearing socks with holes."

"Funny. I got divorced for the same reason."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Sometimes a movie's so bad that you're sorry you asked the woman in front of you to take off her hat.

"REMEMBERED QUOTE: "When you're right you can afford to keep your temper; when you're wrong, you can't afford to lose it."

EARL'S PEARLS: a banquet is sometimes just a plate of cold chicken and peas entirely surrounded by warm appeals for dough.

Comic Bob Melvin was approached by a man asking for a handout. "Are you sure," asked Bob, "you won't use it for whiskey?" "Oh no," the man insisted, "this is for food. I already got money for whiskey." That's earl, brother.

BRITISH PRODUCER Richard Gregson and his bride, actress Natalie Wood, leave Holy Virgin Mary Church in Los Angeles Friday after their Russian Orthodox ceremony. It was the second marriage for both.

Deirdre Flynn Is Doing Her Things as Stand-In

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — An exceedingly curious girl about town is Deirdre Flynn, Errol Flynn's eldest daughter, who is a movie stand-in — a low estate indeed for the daughter of the late screen idol.

Deirdre is tall, independent, given to introspection and possessed of a lovely face.

Her disposition is watchful; her sense of humor wry. Her economic position near disastrous. She earns $29.15 a day before deductions and taxes, and is fortunate if she works three months a year.

AT THE MOMENT she is standing in for Michael Douglas who is also a second generation Hollywood youngster, son of Kirk.

Deirdre stands under the hot sun or lights and walks through the motions of young Douglas for the cameraman. When it's time to roll the cameras, Deirdre goes to the sidelines and Michael takes over.

It is a thankless, glamorous, tedious job. "It is also a living," Deirdre said flatly. "The job is boring, but when you're standing in for a nice guy like Michael who has a big part you keep busy."

Deirdre is not the first girl who's been a stand-in for a male performer. For years Marlon Brando's stand-in was a female.

HER PROFESSION, such as it is, doesn't concern Deirdre so much as establishment of her citizenship and the settlement of her father's estate which has been in litigation since his death a decade ago.

Miss Flynn, who is 25 and unmarried, was born in Mexico and was considered to be a citizen of both Mexico and the United States, but her U.S. citizenship has never been clearly established.

Her mother, former actress Nora Eddington — who is now happily married to businessman Richard Black — is helping straighten the matter out. But there is nothing her mother can do to straighten out the complications of her father's estate.

Struggling Actor Warns of Pitfalls

By PATRICIA E. DAVIS
NEW YORK (UPI)—Bryan Young, a struggling young actor, advises other theatrical hopefuls to "have second thoughts" about acting careers.

The 23-year-old actor has been pounding the pavement of Broadway for four years. In that time, he says, he has made "a little headway. It's so difficult to get a start," he says. "I'd tell anyone thinking about going into acting to really think it over hard before deciding — there is no security in this business."

BRYAN, who was born in Shrewsbury, Pa., came to New York after work-

"But you seem to have given up on marriage."

"Not at all. But it gets tougher and tougher when you get older. My conception of life is to have a wife and family. And I think I'm made for marriage. I've been separated now for four years. I have a 12-year-old boy, Jarek, who goes to school in London... If the right girl came along..."

THERE ARE those who think Omar is too sophisticated ever to marry again, and the reported romances with all his leading ladies, the last one being Anouk Aimee, before she got engaged to Albert Finney, may mean nothing at all. It all came up because Anouk and Omar co-star in "The Appointment" — partly because Anouk was married to Pierre Barouh when they started the picture and wasn't when it opened.

But Omar would prefer discussing bridge.

"I guess I'm part of the first category players," he agreed.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Dialogue: "I got married because I was tired of going to the Laundromat, eating in restaurants and wearing socks with holes."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Sometimes a movie's so bad that you're sorry you asked the woman in front of you to take off her hat.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "When you're right you can afford to keep your temper; when you're wrong, you can't afford to lose it."

EARL'S PEARLS: a banquet is sometimes just a plate of cold chicken and peas entirely surrounded by warm appeals for dough.

Comic Bob Melvin was approached by a man asking for a handout. "Are you sure," asked Bob, "you won't use it for whiskey?" "Oh no," the man insisted, "this is for food. I already got money for whiskey." ... That's earl, brother.

Deirdre Flynn Is Doing Her Things as Stand-In

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — An exceedingly curious girl about town is Deirdre Flynn, Errol Flynn's eldest daughter, who is a movie stand-in — a low estate indeed for the daughter of the late screen idol.

Deirdre is tall, independent, given to introspection and possessed of a lovely face.

Her disposition is watchful; her sense of humor wry. Her economic position near disastrous. She earns $29.15 a day before deductions and taxes, and is fortunate if she works three months a year.

AT THE MOMENT she is standing in for Michael Douglas who is also a second generation Hollywood youngster, son of Kirk.

Deirdre stands under the hot sun or lights and walks through the motions of young Douglas for the cameras. When it's time to roll the cameras, Deirdre goes to the sidelines and Michael takes over.

It is a thankless, glamorous, tedious job.

"It is also a living,"

Deirdre said flatly.

"The job is boring, but when you're standing in for a nice guy like Michael who has a big part you keep busy."

Deirdre is not the first girl who's been a stand-in for a male performer. For years Marlon Brando's stand-in was a female.

HER PROFESSION, such as it is, doesn't concern Deirdre so much as establishment of her citizenship and the settlement of her father's estate which has been in litigation since his death a decade ago.

Miss Flynn, who is 25 and unmarried, was born in Mexico and was considered to be a citizen of both Mexico and the United States, but her U.S. citizenship has never been clearly established.

Her mother, former actress Nora Eddington — who is now happily married to businessman Richard Black — is helping straighten the matter out. But there is nothing her mother can do to straighten out the complications of her father's estate.

Struggling Actor Warns of Pitfalls

By PATRICIA E. DAVIS

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bryan Young, a struggling young actor, advises other theatrical hopefuls to "have second thoughts" about acting careers.

The 23-year-old actor has been pounding the pavement of Broadway for four years. In that time, he says, he has made "a little headway. It's so difficult to get a start," he says. "I'd tell anyone thinking about going into acting to really think it over hard before deciding — there is no security in this business."

BRYAN, who was born in Shrewsbury, Pa., came to New York after working in summer stock "dressing stars, painting scenery and doing props" in Indianapolis, Ind., where his parents now live.

Meat-Tenderizer Soothes Jellyfish Stings

Meat-Tenderizer Soothes Jellyfish Stings

By DICK EMERY
Staff Writer

Stung by a jellyfish? Painful, isn't it? Two Smithsonian zoologists who have been stung by jellyfish "just hundreds of times" gave a suggestion this weekend about a remedy.

It's as simple as salting an ear of corn.

Just put meat-tenderizer on the stinging skin," said Dr. Leonard Schultz and David G. Cargo.

The jellyfish which have been stinging the two scientists are Chesapeake Bay jellyfish, on the East Coast, but they're the same ornery variety, also known as sea nettles, which have been heckling beach visitors here.

Recent sea currents have swept many of the purplish, dishpan-sized, translucent jellyfish into surf areas of the Long Beach strand and neighboring beaches.

Even stringy pieces of jellyfish torn up by breakers will cause a stinging, prickling reaction if they brush against human skin.

The two scientists are doing research work sponsored by the University of Maryland on how to relieve Chesapeake Bay of jellyfish, which interfere with fishing, plug intakes of boat engines, clog nets, eat infant oysters and sting bathers.

"We got stung so often," Dr. Schultz told a UPI reporter, who passed the word on, "that we looked for a remedy."

"The standard lifeguard cure, scouring the skin with wet sand, washing it with hot water and soap and then sponging it with ammonia solution, seemed too slow and unhandy for us."

We remembered how Malayan natives put papaya juice on sea-wasp stings. The active ingredient in papaya juice is papain, a protein-splitting enzyme, used in meat-tenderizer.

"So we tried meat-tenderizer on jellyfish stings. It works fine! Wet the skin, apply tenderizer, wait a few minutes and rinse the tenderizer away. No more pain!"

said they will stick to their old standby remedy, "scrub, hot-water wash, weak ammonia."

One reason, they indicated, is that meat-tenderizer is expensive.

Fewer Home Starts Seen by Builders

"Home" builders expect to produce about 3 per cent fewer total units this year than 1968 when starts amounted to 1,540,000 units," reported David Young, president of the Building Industry Association of California on his return from a directors' meeting of the National Association of Home Builders in Washington, D. C.

Single family housing is expected to drop by 4 per cent while rental apartment units will rise by 3 per cent, he predicted.

"The inflationary spiral and the tightening supply of mortgage credit has caused the contraction in builders' plans," Young said.

"The builders do not foresee any measurable drop in interest rates in the immediate future. Only six months ago we were looking for an increase in starts this year in a range of 5 to 8 per cent.

"The increasing shift to building of apartments reflects more and more lenders' inclination toward equity participation in making loans—in other words, to take a "piece of the action."

SOUTHLAND PROGRESS

LONG BEACH, CALIFORNIA, SUNDAY, JUNE 1, 1969

IN A RECENT SURVEY, NAHB's Builders Economic Council, composed of representative NAHB builders throughout the nation who build in all price classes reported the "negative" facts in response to a BEC survey.

About half of the 750 members responded to the survey. They see a declining trend in activity in the latter half of 1969.

Some of the survey's points:

Interest rates: The average conventional interest rate increased to 7.63 per cent in April, 1969, from 7.06 per cent in September, 1968. One quarter of all builders reported rates to be over 8 per cent; last September only 2 per cent so reported. In April, only 16.5 per cent could obtain mortgage loans at 7 per cent or less; in September, almost 60 per cent had loans available at those rates.

Financing: More builders are relying on savings and loan associations for permanent financing. This year, 69 per cent of the respondents said they obtained this financing from S & Ls; last year, only 49 per cent indicated they did this. Main shift has been away from life insurance companies which last year supplied funds for 22 per cent of the builders and this year for only 8 per cent.

THE INVENTORY OF UNSOLD homes, in the low-priced category was rated by 64 per cent as below normal, 30 per cent as normal, and 6 per cent above normal — findings consistent with trends in previous years. In medium-priced homes, 47 per cent indicate below normal, 41 per cent normal, and 12 per cent above normal. This was an improvement from 1968 when 60 per cent classed this category as below normal, 37 normal, and 3 per cent above normal. Unsold inventory of high priced homes was considered normal by 46 per cent, below normal by 33 per cent, and 21 per cent above normal. This was a shift from 1968 when 5 per cent considered inventory above normal; 44 per cent normal, and 51 per cent below normal.

Bricks of Garbage in Future Roads, Buildings?

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business Editor

Metropolitan areas around the world have a common problem: garbage disposal.

Last week a New York scrap processing firm and a Tokyo company announced possible solutions.

Their ideas are nearly identical.

The Long Island company says it has mastered the technique of compacting garbage into stable, dense blocks for burial in future construction sites as ready-solid fill.

The Tokyo firm says it can do that — and a little more.

It claims to have a technique whereby the compressed blocks are coated in hot asphalt or concrete, thus making them ideal for road beds and even in buildings.

THE KEY New York idea, according to 36-year-old Joseph Menafra, president of American Menmax Corp., is to compact garbage under pressure into 5,000 pound cubes that can be put to use in a wide variety of water-control and land reclamation projects.

"We can help communities clear their air and even to build golf courses where their garbage dumps are," Menafra asserts.

The young executive also heads one of the New York area's largest scrap processing firms, and has used large presses for years to compress worthless automobiles and other objects into solid metal cubes for reclamation purposes.

"Putting presses to work handling garbage is certainly more difficult," he notes, "but we have five years of experimentation behind us and we know how."

THE company has designed and developed a "system of total sanitation," and has worked with major manufacturers of compaction machinery and hauling equipment to make the system efficient and inexpensive.

"The community has no capital investment to make in our system," reports Menafra.

AMERICAN MENMAX MACHINE... Even Chews School Bus

For a fixed price per ton, his firm will:

Build a high density compaction plant, complete with all necessary equipment, which it will also operate.

Deposit the stable, dense blocks of compacted garbage in deep burial sites selected for their potential use as recreation or industrial centers.

Reclaim the burial site when filled, transforming it into such facilities as parks, golf courses, flight strips, ski areas, amphitheatres — whatever the community's plan calls for.

COST OF the American Menmax system, according to its chief executive, is less than the costs for current methods which reduce garbage by incineration or loose burial, and the net reduction in volume of waste materials is greater.

Incineration reduces volume by 4 to 1 at best, while only accepting about 30 per cent of all solid wastes; whereas, high density compaction reduces volume by 10 to 1, and accepts and processes the entire range of solid waste disposal — including objects as large as a school bus, claims Menafra.

IN THE past few years, various garbage baling methods have been developed and efforts have been made to put garbage to practical use in reclamation projects and other fields.

But such methods have failed to eliminate the problem of decomposition which in turn leads to pollution, pests and even disease, according to Kenitshi Tezuka in Tokyo.

Moreover, the sheer bulk of baled garbage poses many difficulties in connection with haulage.

Tezuka solved the question of bulk to a great extent by producing a machine designed to compress garbage into rock-hard blocks with a very high specific gravity.

Now Tezuka has perfected an asphalt or concrete coating method which makes the blocks of garbage virtually indestructible and hygienic.

UNDER the new pressing-coating method, the garbage is compressed, wrapped in chicken wire and dipped in hot asphalt or concrete. The blocks are cooled by dipping in water.

Tezuka, who developed the method, said that tests by Kyoto University over a six-month period, proved that the blocks of garbage did not decompose nor shrink.

AFTER-HOURS WORK, COMPUTER GIVES HOPE

Banks of Future Could Be 'Buried' in Paper

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Bankers' hours!" It's a term to evoke envy, make you think of leisurely 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. days.

It never was a really true picture, and less so today when many a bank is working around the clock.

Just as important as the daily banking hours are the activities that start when the doors are closed to the general public. Two of the most important "after hours" activities involve computer services and transportation of checks and related financial items.

The relatively high cost of computer installations for smaller businesses, including some banks, has led many banks to establish data processing centers where they not only do their own work, but subcontract to handle jobs for smaller banks and other business firms.

The transportation of checks in the process of collection assists bank to reduce "float" — uncollected funds outstanding. Overnight delivery service shortens the length of time checks are in transit by periods of a day or more, and increases the cash supply available for loans and investments. Increasingly, these services are provided by a number of banks working together.

TYPICAL of one of today's operations in this area is that of Marine Midland Services Corp., a subsidiary of Marine Midland Banks, Inc. Marine Midland has established computer centers in Buffalo, Syracuse and New York City, where over 300 people are employed "after hours" processing canceled checks and other related bank items.

The Buffalo center alone processes between 300,000 and 1 million items nightly.

With the ever-increasing dependence on computer technology for such things as credit card sales processing and payrolls, these services are becoming more and more popular with firms of all sizes.

For instance, Marine Midland does the bookkeeping for 700 different payroll accounts alone, issuing over 165,000 checks per month, while performing associated computer services for 40 other banks.

THE marketing of computer services created a great demand for a quick transportation system to handle the pickup of punched paper tapes, punch cards and encoded documents and delivery of the computer print-out data.

Marine Midland Banks, Inc. solves this problem by use of mail delivery service, a combination of land and air transportation between some 216 points in New York State with connecting services into other states and Canada.

This service started as an experimental program in 1958, long before the impact of computer technology on business. Designed to fill a need for rapid transportation between banks of checks in transit, originally it was a combination of a few station wagon runs and commercial aircraft flights.

The land runs today cover some 4,000 miles a day, roughly the round-trip distance between Bangor, Maine and Miami, Fla., and two round trips a day between New York, Syracuse and Buffalo by private aircraft.

BY reducing the amount of time required to process these checks in transit, Marine Midland says it has made an additional $10 million per-day available.

Bankers Utilities, a holding company in Chicago which owns 53 per cent of the District National Bank of Chicago and 14 per cent of Archer National of Chicago, has its own transportation company, Bankers Dispatch Corp.

This service not only transports the normal flow of bank items and data processing materials, but serves some 7,000 different places of business, including 2,870 banks and bank branches.

Bankers dispatch operates in Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, and in Toronto and Montreal, Canada.

It transports such varied items as processed film between processor and retail outlet, optical and dental goods for laboratories and their customers, medicines between drug wholesalers and individual doctors and hospitals, and small mechanical and electronics parts from manufacturers to users.

INDIANA National Bank, Indianapolis, provides services between its offices and correspondent banks via a helicopter atop its 27-story downtown office building.

Franklin National Bank, New York, also has taken to helicopters to beat part of its check commuting problems. With 56 offices, on congested Long Island, the bank has contracted with New York Airways to wing checks drawn on island banks to downtown Manhattan.

First National City Bank of New York handles international service of checks and related banking items via transoceanic jets. Collections from all over Europe are rushed to New York daily, met at Kennedy Airport by First National agents and sped to the bank for quick processing.

Collections can be cleared in one or two days, rather than the three or four or more required previously. The savings are considerable for First National City, which has 169 overseas branches.

MARINE Midland says it now is exploring a plan to institute foreign aviation courier service. Men would leave every day on specified flights to various banking centers around the world to provide foreign service for Marine.

Center's new multi-million-dollar facilities at 5580 Cherry Ave., Long Beach.

Mayor Edwin W. Wade, Gayle Kovaly (Miss Welcome to Long Beach) and community and civic leaders attended the ceremonies.

Wade and Miss Kovaly joined Donald E. Harris, Commercial Business Service general manager, and Glenn E. Van De Veere, Commercial Education Division general manager, in traditional ribbon-cutting ceremonies for this $2.5 million data processing and computer educational center.

Following formal festivities, officials, company executives and guests toured the new 26,000 square foot home for these divisions of Computing and Software, Inc.

"WE ARE proud to have contributed to the growth of Long Beach for nearly a quarter of a century," Harris told the more than 300 guests. "Our initial capabilities centered on providing oil field production accounting and related services to major petroleum companies in Southern California."

Commercial Business Service serves a diversified roster of clients through a wide spectrum of computerized services with emphasis on general purpose business data processing, California motor vehicle registration lists and specialized data processing services for the petroleum industry.

The company currently employs 150 individuals and has one IBM 360/30 computer installed and a second will be operational in August.

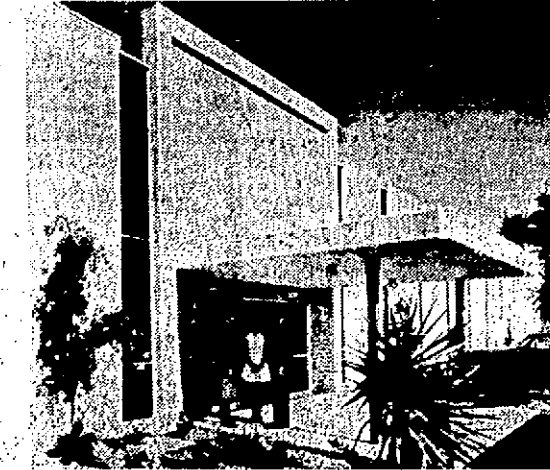

IN A MARKED departure from conventional data processing vocational training, Computer Career Center introduces its students to actual daily classroom observation of commercial computer room operations.

Two of the school's lecture rooms adjoin the Commercial Business Service computer room. The common wall is made entirely of glass.

"Our new concept enables the instructors to lecture from the computer room and provide their students with live demonstrations," explained Van De Veere.

"Students are also given continuous opportunities to gain actual computer experience. We have designed our Computer Career Center to train qualified graduates to fulfill the ever increasing employment market."

The Computer Career Center is a part of Computing and Software's Commercial Education Division and offers courses in computer operations, computer programming and keypunching.

Orange County Housing Role Is PCBC Topic

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business Editor

Orange County's mushrooming role in Western housing is solidly reflected in the intensified educational program of the Eleventh Annual Pacific Coast Builders Conference beginning Wednesday at San Francisco, President Frank E. Oman said.

Ten prominent executives of Orange County-based development, homebuilding and architectural firms are featured on the program for the second largest event of its kind in the nation, Oman said.

A major consideration during the three-day conference is the future impact of vast planned communities, with several Orange County developments being spotlighted.

Heading the Orange County contingent are two presidents: Philip J. Reilly of the Mission Viejo Co. in Mission Viejo, and John Klug of Pacesetter Homes, Newport Beach. Both will make key comments on contemporary planned communities. Mission Viejo's John Martin is also on the program.

A five-man executive delegation from the Macco Corp. of Newport Beach, led by Corporate Vice Presidents Harry Lasky and Lon Rubin, will also be PCBC panelists.

Other Macco participants are Darrell Wright, David A. W. Young, and Pat Munn.

PAST BAD WEATHER AND CURRENT tight money have caused a reduction in anticipated housing starts in California this year, Bank of America says.

Bank economists have revised their housing starts projection from 180,000 to 160,000.

"The level of starts expected during 1969 will do little to relieve the intense pressures of demand for new housing, and vacancy rates in most housing markets will remain at the current historically low levels," according to the bank's economists.

"After an average seasonally adjusted rate of 170,000 units started during the last four months of 1968, the average for the first quarter of 1969 was about 130,000, reflecting the bad weather of January and February.

"Continued pressures in the money and capital markets have caused lenders to cut back on their financing, and, in turn, many builders are reluctant to carry out plans they had previously made."

Bank of America economists noted there is no likelihood of a substantial increase in the amount of funds available for mortgages before mid-summer.

PRODUCTION OF GOODS AND SERVICES (Gross State Product) in California increased 8.2 per cent in a year to $99.80 billion in April and was expected to pass the $100 billion mark in May, according to The Bank of California. Personal, government, and business spending for fixed investment advanced both in the year and the month.

The Bank of California Economic Series measures economic activity in its tri-state service area and encompasses production of both goods and services to determine Gross State Product.

Income from nine separate industrial classifications also measures, in balance, spending by persons, government, and by business for fixed investment. The Bank's estimates are seasonally adjusted at an annual rate.

The commodity producing industries, which include manufacturing, construction, agriculture, and mining, and account for 32.6 per cent of gross production, advanced to $32.51 billion in April.

Production in the distributing industries (trade and utilities) totaled $25.38 billion, while the service type industries rose to $27.11 billion, showing an increase of 9.7 per cent in a year.

Production of services by federal, state, and local governments climbed 8.7 per cent in a year to $14.79 billion.

"ORANGE COUNTY BUSINESS ACTIVITY growth continues to lead the state," Richard Nevins, Southern California member of the State Board of Equalization says.

The 8.46 per cent increase in business tax outlets in 1968 is more than twice the statewide average of 3.56 per cent. The Santa Ana office, which services Orange County businesses ended the year with 25,835 Business Tax Accounts compared with 23,819 in 1967. This dynamic growth is expected to continue.

"Local governments continue to find the local sales and use tax administered by the Board of Equalization an economical source of revenue which grows with inflation and the economic activity of the community," Nevins noted.

Garden Grove received $1,699,855 in fiscal 1968 compared with $1,304,487 in fiscal 1963, an increase of 30 per cent. For the same period the state-wide increase was 43 per cent.

DOES THE GREAT OUTDOORS beckon to you? It does for millions of Americans. And they create a multi-billion-dollar market in the process.

These Americans reclaiming their outdoor heritage have more money, leisure time and education than their forebears. They're eager for new outdoor recreational pursuits, and they're ready and able to go where the action is.

For investors, the action represented a $33.8 billion market last year.

This could reach $55.7 billion by 1975, says Charles A. Wetzel senior recreation analyst for the nationwide investment firm of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis. Sporting equipment purchases could increase 68 per cent to $6.2 billion by then, he says.

"These projections appear fully attainable, and they may well turn out to be conservative," Wetzel writes in detailed research booklet on the leisure time market, entitled "The Great Outdoors . . . An Investment Opportunity."

LOCAL BUSINESS ACTIVITY declined fractionally in April, according to L. H. Showalter, vice president and manager of Security Pacific National Bank's Long Beach Office.

A considerable downturn in department store sales and weaknesses in construction and real estate activity were partially offset by gains in other components of the Southern California economy, Showalter said.

April economic performance is estimated at 188.5 on the Southern California business index (1957-59=100) compiled by the bank's Economic Research department. The April measurement is down slightly from 189.2 in March and from a record high 191.7 in February.

Business, however, remained nearly 10 per cent stronger last month than a year ago, when it was measured at 171.7 on the index.

STOCKHOLDERS OF REXALL DRUG and Chemical Company voted to change the name of the company at the annual meeting.

The new name: Dart Industries.

"It is more realistic," Justin Dart, chairman and president, explained.

LONG BEACH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TRADE TIPS ON THE WORLD MARKET

(Note: Revan Komaroff is transacting business in Africa and Europe. In his absence, Richard Anderson, director of research for the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, will fill in as guest columnist.)

By RICHARD ANDERSON
One of the most successful ways for a manufacturer to start exporting goods overseas is to participate in international trade fairs.

Trade fairs are an excellent method of exploring new markets or introducing new products to your established markets.

U.S. industry as a whole exports less than 4 per cent of its output, so it is fairly certain that most American manufacturers have never tapped the overseas market.

Trade fairs can be very helpful in doing just that. Participation in this activity can open up promising new opportunities by direct to the market person to person contact at minimum risk and expense to you as the exporter.

MANY American manufacturers have used trade fairs to determine the response for their product in an overseas market.

After determining the demand, a foreign distributor or sales agent can often be located during the time that the company is participating in the trade fair. Pan American Airways has recently published a directory listing over 2,000 international trade fairs classified by products to be held in some 60 nations.

This directory would be an important piece of reference material for any new manufacturer desiring to enter into the export market.

Another method for businessmen located in the Long Beach Orange County area to determine the market for their products in the Orient would be to participate in the official trade delegation and tour to EXPO '70 in Osaka, Japan, and the Orient sponsored by the Long Beach Chamber leaving on March 7, 1970, for 21 days.

Parsons Co. Gets Erie Job

The Ralph M. Parsons Company of Los Angeles has been selected general construction contractor and quality control consultant by the Detroit Edison Company for a new $229 million atomic power plant to be built on the western shore of Lake Erie.

The plant, Unit No. 2 of Detroit Edison's Enrico Fermi plant, will produce 1,127 MW and will use a boiling water type reactor. It will be built on the same site as the existing development breeder reactor plant.

Unit No. 2 is planned for operation in early 1974.

NAMED

Harris B. Fisher, former district manager for Owens/Corning Fiberglass, has been named vice president-marketing for Wm. Lyon Homes, Newport Beach, and will be in charge of advertising, public relations, merchandising, marketing and sales.

Goodenow Marks Half Century in Insurance Work

Fifty years as a life insurance agent was marked last week by Long Beach's Curtis H. Goodenow, 1815 Marshall Place.

He was honored by his local New York Life associates at a Brower's dinner. Goodenow, at age 71, led the Long Beach general office in 1968 sales volume.

During his career, all but the first year spent in Southern California and since 1941 in Long Beach, Goodenow has insured more than 2,500 persons for more than $18 million.

A 15-time winner of the industry's National Quality Award and twice a member of the elite Million Dollar Round Table, he has specialized in service to Navy personnel during his Long Beach year.

(He got to sea himself in 1966 and last year, on two three-month, round-the-world cruises with Mrs. Goodenow.)

Born in Iowa, he grew up in the Northwest. After attending the university of Washington and serving during World War I in a hospital unit, Goodenow joined New York Life in Seattle in 1919.

Stevedore Company Gets Usage of Berths

The Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commissioners has granted the Metropolitan Stevedore Company the right to use Berths 138 and 139 for a minimum annual rental of $175,000.

The five-year contract provides that revenue from office space, rental, dockage, and wharfage in excess of $175,000 but less than $250,000 would be equally divided between the company and the harbor department.

Revenue in excess of $250,000 is to be divided on the basis of 25 per cent to the department and 75 per cent to the company.

Coldwell Co. in Newport Plaza Office
Newport Beach office of Coldwell, Banker & Co., Realtors has moved to a new location in the Newport Financial Plaza of Newport Center. It was announced by Robert S. Hirsch, manager, and William H. Farnsworth, vice president in charge of residential operations.

Bright Future

Present indications are that 25 countries propose adopting or expanding their use of nickel and nickel alloys for coinage in 1969 or 1970. These changes will involve 41 denominations.

General Motors will stage another major exhibit for Southern California GM dealers as part of a continuing effort to provide customers with topflight service, it was announced by John R. Wyatt, manager of GM's Burbank Training Center.

The display will be at the center July 8, 9 and 10 and will feature the latest developments in modern, efficient tools and equipment for use in GM's automobile dealers' service facilities.

General Motors, in conjunction with the Equipment and Tool Institute, has invited more than 45 major manufacturers of automotive service equipment to display their products.

These exhibits are a part of the GM Guardian Maintenance program directed at improved dealer service. They are entitled "Guardian Maintenance Equip-O-Ramas."

WYATT SAID "THE INCREASE in vehicle sales in recent years has resulted in expanded service responsibilities and requirements for the dealer. For the past 14 years, our training activities for dealer service personnel have been directed at increasing their efficiency in the servicing of General Motors vehicles."

"We have also urged our dealers to rebuild or expand their facilities to provide necessary space for the servicing of vehicles. In the past few years, more than 7,000 dealers throughout the United States have built new facilities or expanded existing structures to meet an ever-increasing demand for service and we expect this trend to continue. Our dealers in Southern California have been very active in this area."

WE WILL HAVE ON DISPLAY all types of special service equipment from lifts to specialized diagnostic equipment so that dealers might learn of the latest and most modern equipment available for their service area. This joint venture between General Motors, the Equipment and Tool Institute and their wholesalers should encourage GM dealers to update their service equipment with the latest in modern tools to meet the growing demands of repair service," Wyatt declared.

He emphasized that although GM would not recommend to their dealers any particular make of equipment, major equipment manufacturers whose products are foremost in the industry would participate, providing dealers with a freedom of choice in their equipment selection.

This approach in handling dealer equipment requirements was adopted in recognition of the contribution that wholesalers and jobbers make to dealers in providing the servicing and training essential to the operation of the equipment they sell.

He added that particular emphasis will be placed on equipment related to periodic motor vehicle inspections, and suggested shop layouts that will provide dealers with direction in this important area.

The first Equip-O-Rama was held at the Burbank Training Center three years ago.

PORTS O' PROGRESS

Legislation which could have tremendous impact within the two local ports has been introduced in Congress.

The bill, H.R. 9513, would amend the Submerged Lands Act to establish the coastline of certain states, including California, as being, for the purposes of that act, the coastline as it existed at the time of the state's entry into the Union.

The bill has been referred to the Committee on the Judiciary for further consideration.

PAUL F. IRVING of San Pedro, has been appointed supervisor of ship operations for the University of Southern California.

The newly-created position Irving will fill will relate particularly to the operation of the Velero IV, the 110-foot research vessel which the university operates for its teaching research, and other craft operated by the school.

Among Irving's duties will be the purchase and maintenance of scientific gear, handling ship supply procedures, scheduling use of Velero IV and other craft, the recruiting and training of personnel, and the review of proposed scientific projects.

Among other scientific projects in which the ship is currently engaged is USC's research into the effects of oil pollution in the Santa Barbara Channel. The university has been conducting the research for the past three months under a $220,000 grant from the Western Gas and Oil Association.

A 75-PASSENGER HYDROFOIL capable of clipping along at 45 knots is due to arrive June 20 from San Francisco to be placed in service between the mainland and Catalina Island.

The craft, built at a cost of $1.8 million in 1966, has been operating on Puget Sound between Seattle and Vancouver, B.C.

The boat will operate out of the Catalina Terminal in San Pedro. It will make the 25-mile trip to the island in less than one hour.

Belair Aviation, Inc., 2600 E. Wardlow Road, Long Beach, has been appointed a flight center and dealer for Piper Aircraft Corp.

Belair, formerly Custom Aircraft, Inc., has operated at Long Beach Airport for nine years, primarily in maintenance.

Under the linkup with Piper, the firm now will emphasize flight training, according to Al Caldwell, president.

Belair will use its new Link general aviation flight simulator in its training program. The firm was first in California to install the training device.

WALTER N. HOLTZ, 20712 Spindrift Lane, Huntington Beach, has been promoted to manager of power plant engineering for Western Air Lines.

An engineer with Western since 1966, Holtz previously held a similar position with American Airlines in Tulsa for two years.

Before joining American, he was employed by General Dynamics Astronautics in San Diego and Piper Aircraft Corp. in Lock Haven, Pa.

Holtz was graduated with a degree in mechanical engineering from Pennsylvania State University in 1957.

THREE LONG BEACH MEN from Utility Helicopters, Inc., 3215 E. Spring St., have completed a grueling 5,000-mile whirlwind flight from Nicaragua over the Amazon jungles to Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Bill Davidson, Utility vice president, headed the trio which included Bob Gordon, project chief pilot, and Bert Leidelmeier, mechanic.

Their Bell 205A-1 helicopter will provide transportation to and from the drilling barge Mariner I for Union Oil Co. of Argentina. It had been doing similar work in Nicaragua.

In Argentina, it will be operated by Helicopteros Utility, S.A., a new subsidiary of Utility.

Gordon recently completed a six-month stint flying another Bell 205 in New Zealand, supporting the drilling barge Discoverer II, which brought in New Zealand's first offshore wells for Esso and Shell Oil Co.

Utility and its sister company, Anchorage Helicopter Services, Inc., of Alaska, operate 40 helicopters world-wide, servicing oil, mining and construction industries.

Both companies are subsidiaries of the Cosmo-dyne Corp., 2920 Columbia St., Torrance.

Petrolane Earnings at New High

Petrolane Incorporated has reported record earnings for both the six and 12 months ended March 31.

Net earnings for the six months were $6,174,799, or $2.50 per share based on shares outstanding, compared to $4,654,929, or $1.83 per share in 1968. Sales for the first half of fiscal 1969 were $89,717,767, compared to $84,742,813 the previous year.

For the twelve months, net earnings were $7,956,225, or $3.06 per share based on shares outstanding, compared with $7,126,188, or $2.70 per share in the previous year.

SALES were $160,154,113, compared to $149,354,152 for the same twelve-month period in 1968.

R. J. Munzer, Petrolane president, said improved profitability of the LP-gas Division was primarily responsible for the record earnings, and the Sater Bros. Market Division and the Offshore Service Division also contributed to the increased earnings.

DETROIT MAKES CHANGE

Glass-Belted Tires America's Answer to European Radial Ply

DETROIT (UPI) — The tires on most American-made 1970 model cars will provide much longer mileage, better stopping qualities and more control in tight situations.

The tires, fiberglass belted, are America's answer to Europe's radial ply tires.

General Motors is switching gradually this year. Starting in May, GM is shifting some of its car lines to the glass belted tires, and more will be switched over as production of the tires increases, until all lines are equipped with the belted tire.

Ford also is planning to switch to the new tire beginning with its 1970 cars, and industry sources say Chrysler and American Motors will, too.

RIGHT NOW, only a few low-volume lines, including the American Motors sporty two-seater, the AMX, have the glass-belted tires as standard equipment, although some other makes offer them as optional equipment.

Fiberglass-belted tires are relatively new. They were offered to the public only three years ago, at a time when the so-called radial ply tires, imported from Europe, were beginning to gain some headway in this country because of their longer-wearing qualities and better car-control characteristics.

But radials had one big drawback. They gave a much rougher ride than American tires, which are bias-plyed.

AMERICAN tires are built with the plies running at an angle to the tread, down to the bead. Radial tires have the plies wrapped at right-angles to the tread. They reduce tread-squirming as the tires touches the road, and there is far less tendency for the tires to lean sideways off the rim in a sharp turn, thus giving superior control.

But the two big drawbacks were the harsh ride and much higher price.

Then came the glass-belted tires. These are built with two bias plies like the standard American tire, but with two additional belts running around the tire under the tread, made of fiberglass. These tires are less expensive to build than radials, but virtually duplicate the wear and control characteristics of the radial.

They also offer nearly as soft a ride as the bias-built tire.

THE BIAS-BELT tires will cost more than the conventional American tire, but considerably less than the radials. That probably means some increase in the price of the car.

The increased cost of the glass-belted tires can be more than recovered by the estimated 50 to 100 per cent increase in wear if they are properly maintained.

Proper maintenance, of course, is a requirement for getting maximum wear out of any tire.

New Home Model Attracts House Buyers to El Ray Park

Throngs of prospective home-buyers are expected this weekend at El Ray Park due to the exciting introductory offer of a new home model, the Del Amo, according to officials of the Boise Cascade Building Co., developers of the Cerritos community.

Priced at $29,950, the three-bedroom Del Amo home may be purchased on terms, with monthly payments of $172, including principal and interest and down payments as low as 10 per cent, a spokesman said.

Containing 1,500 square feet of living space, the spacious new model also includes a large family room, numerous luxury features and built-in extras.

SALES officials at El Ray Park point out that purchases may also take advantage of the Equity Transfer Plan, allowing them to transfer the equity in their present home as part of the financing arrangements for a new El Ray home.

Also available are a number of other popular styles, both one and two-story and split-level, with floor plans providing three or four bedrooms and two or three baths. Balanced Power kitchens contain a full complement of built-in appliances and work-saving design improvements.

SPURRING sales in recent weeks, has been the announcement of a major shopping center, to be built on a 140-acre site on South St., just one minute from El Ray Park. The mall complex will include 70 stores, restaurants, banks and a theatre.

Glen-Mar West's Final Unit Selling Out Quickly

The final unit of Glen-Mar West has opened, climaxing one of the most successful sales programs in Southern California real estate history.

More than 1600 homes have been built and merchandised under the Glen-Mar West name, notes sales manager Bob Buckley.

Just 41 homes will be built in the final unit, located in Huntington Beach, on Edwards, just off Warner Avenue.

"In view of what happened at previous unit openings, and coupled with the fact that there will be only 41 homes in this unit, we're advising area homebuyers to come out this weekend, as we do not expect these homes to remain very long," Buckley states.

The final unit will start at $22,995.

They will be available in three and four bedroom plans with such popular features as vaulted cathedral ceilings, patio kitchens, pool-size rear yards, double door entries, separate dining rooms, richly-grained kitchen cabinets, cultured marble pullman counters, decorative wrought iron railings, built-in Gaffers & Sattlers range, oven and dishwasher, disposers, and wall-to-wall carpeting.

All utilities in Glen-Mar

West are underground, thus protecting views and preserving the natural beauty of the community.

BACKING up the excellent home values is the prime location of Glen-Mar West.

Within a few miles of the community are all the elements for enriched living: beautiful beaches for surfing or swimming, scores of parks and playgrounds for children the great fun centers of developed marinas, golf courses and, of course, Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm, two of Southern California's best known attractions.

To visit Glen-Mar West take the San Diego Freeway to Magnolia, and drive south on Magnolia toward the ocean to the corner of Magnolia and Garfield in Huntington Beach.

The sales office and models are open daily from 10 a.m. until dark.

Privacy 'Way of Life' at Bixby Green Apt. Village

One of the most effective words which can be used in describing an apartment to a prospective tenant is that word "privacy."

It is, unfortunately, a fact of apartment living that, while the landlord may be able to offer a tenant everything in the way of luxury and recreational facilities, he has to hesitate a bit when it comes to the matter of assuring a degree of privacy which a home owner enjoys.

An exception to this rule is Bixby Green Apartment Village in Garden Grove. At Bixby Green, privacy is a way of life. It figures in the planning and construction of each suite within this secluded "community" within a community.

BIXBY GREEN is patterned after the European concept of suburban town houses.

Suites are situated within six acres of landscaped grounds which serve to further isolate Bixby

Green from surrounding residential neighborhoods. The architecture is dramatically austere (another European influence) so that structures and landscaping blend into one pleasing impression of town and country living.

Each suite is a two-story residence with a separate address (and with no upstairs neighbors). As many as three bedrooms occupy the upper floor. Downstairs floorplans include a long entry-hallway, expansive living room, formal dining room and private garden patio.

Kitchens have won the all-electric Gold Medallion award, and each suite has its own washer-dryer unit.

ONE OF Bixby Green's most notable features — and one which substantiates the apartment village's promise of privacy — is the matter of soundproofing.

Each suite is totally soundproofed in a manner which has gained Bixby Green considerable notoriety within the apartment construction industry. (An advertisement describing Bixby Green states that "they could hold a football rally next door, and you'd probably never hear it.")

Central air conditioning in each suite is another standout feature of Bixby Green.

The grounds around Bixby Green have also been planned to emphasize seclusion. Tree-lined walkways lead to swimming pool, putting green, shuffleboard courts... and even a Bixby Green village green. Numerous little plazas dot the walkways, adding still further picturesque evidence of the European touch.

Tenants have the privilege of two parking spaces, both of which are in an underground parking area. (As the ad says, "At Bixby Green, cars are out of sight. Literally.")

EVEN THE lease policy of Bixby Green is a plan for privacy. The apartment village is limited to adults only, and to families with children 16 years and older. Rentals begin at $240 a month for suites averaging 1400 sq. ft. of totally soundproofed living space.

The furnished model suites of Bixby Green are open each day for inspection. Take the Garden Grove Freeway to the Knott Avenue turnoff.

Drive north under the freeway to Lampson Ave. Look for the large windmill, the sign that you've arrived at Bixby Green.

IN VOLUME OF CARGO

Port of L.A. Sets Record in '68

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Marine Editor

The volume of cargo moving through the Port of Los Angeles during the last fiscal year set an all-time high, according to Bernard J. Caughlin, port general manager.

During the 12-month period ending June 30, imports and exports moving across wharves and piers amounted to 28,931,577 tons.

The previous record cargo year was 1954, with 26,513,998 tons.

Caughlin noted there were gains in other major categories, as well, with total commerce up 2,500,000 tons over the previous year.

"IT WAS the best year ever in the history of our harbor," Caughlin said. "The year's all-time high was closely challenged in fiscal years 1966 and 1967, but it was never beaten until now."

Gross revenues at the harbor last year totaled $12,517,097, a 10 per cent increase over the previous high of $11,012,170 in 1966-67.

Operating expenses were $5,672,175 for a net income of $4,637,580, a $1,231,908 increase over the previous period.

"Not only has the Port of Los Angeles retained its title as the tonnage leader on the West Coast—a title it earned in 1923 and has never lost—but it has earned new recognition as the major economic center of world commerce on the West Coast of the United States," Caughlin said.

IN PARTICULAR cargoes handled during the past fiscal year, lumber showed a 13 per cent increase, while bulk petroleum also jumped 13 per cent—from 16,592,698 tons to 18,880,603 tons.

Intercoastal shipments improved 61 per cent to 326,761 tons, while Coastwise and Hawaiian receipts both recorded 38 per cent jumps. Coastwise receipts increased from 4,425,545 tons to 6,121,289 tons.

A total of 4,233 ships moved through the Port in 1967-68. In the past year, 426 more vessels called at the port than in the previous period.

"THE increasing traffic of ships through Los Angeles Harbor demonstrates a growth of international friendship and the beginning of a new era as more and more of our Asian neighbors emerge into international trade, the port manager said.

During the last fiscal year automobiles and accessories continued to rank among the top commodities imported, including 73,225 tons from West Germany, 48,480 tons from Japan, 5,690 tons from England and 5,343 tons from Sweden.

Iron and steel plates and sheets again led the list of the top ten imports, with 354,717 tons, followed by iron and steel cars, rods, angles and sheet piling, 200,722; fresh fruits and nuts, 176,429; motor vehicles, parts and accessories, 138,333; sugar, molasses and syrups, 113,267; iron and steel tubes, pipes and fittings,

Last year, the port was selected by Japanese shipping interests as their headquarters for containerized cargo operations in Southern California.

Sun City Resident, 84, Was Hopalong Cassidy's Sheriff

Special to the Presses Section
SUN CITY — Maybe you remember him—Hopalong Cassidy's sheriff?

Or the general with the gold-braided chest in "Maytime" with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy?

Or the goateed aristocrat in "My Fair Lady"?

If not, perhaps you remember Murray Barnard, whose stage name was Forbes Murray in 1,500 motion pictures.

Barnard, now a resident in retirement in Sun City, 22 miles south of Riverside on U.S. 394, has played opposite all the greats of the wovie world, including Gene Autry, Fay Bainter, Joan Bennett, Joan Blondell, Buster Keaton, Ida Lupino, Frank Morgan and, of course, Hopalong (Bill Boyd) Cassidy.

AT 84, Barnard says he has enjoyed one of the longest and most successful careers of any motion picture actor.

Sitting in the living room of his Sun City home, kept spic-and-span by his wife, Ada, Barnard is happy to review his press clippings and the photographs taken during his long movie career.

Barnard launched his career in New York the year of the San Francisco earthquake. — 1906 — after spending two years studying voice. He was a "consistent" in most of the William Boyd movies, playing the role of a "bad guy" or the sheriff.

A NATIVE of Hamilton, Ontario, Barnard, wearing a craggy mustache or goatee, remembers the motion pictures he enjoyed the most — "Say It In French," "Air Devils," "The Spider's Web," "My Son Is a Criminal," "Flying G-Men," "The Lady and the Mob," "Romance of the Redwoods," "Outside These Walls," "Missing Daughters" and "Mandrake the Magician."

Barnard, who was under contract to Columbia most of his motion picture career, remembers when the top actors made $150 per week. It was during the depression, and they were glad to get it.

BARNARD NOW, indirectly, is involved in dramatics — he reads to the congregation of the United Church of Christ in Sun City.

"There are lots of wonderful people here," he says of the community of 6,000. "We love it, and we looked for a community like this from Ventura to

CASSIDY (L), BARNARD . . . In Heyday

San Diego. My wife and I are happy. The stage and the motion pictures are only memories now."

"The motion picture is one of the finest documents of history," says Barnard. "Many of the motion pictures made 25 years ago are new to this generation. Television is only the medium to present them. Great names of yesteryear will continue to return — W. C. Fields, Laurel and Hardy, and the like.

"Television will never let them die, and the bad men of the Hopalong Cassidy series will never rest in peace."

WATCH OUT FOR YOUNGSTERS

Chevrolet Motor Division has transformed National Safety Council's driver reaction and vehicle stopping formulas into simple, visual arithmetic, i.e. driving 30 mph the normal stopping distance is 69-78 feet; at 60 mph, more than 228 feet are needed to stop. Youngsters often run from behind parked cars. So, says, Chevrolet MD: "Drive defensively."

Low-Cost Housing Under $14,000 May Be Manufactured

Many younger couples and some senior citizens, unable to pay today's prices, for conventional housing, have been forced into the rental market.

But not for long, if the mobile home manufacturing industry has its way, say two experts in the field.

"You get more space for your money with a mobile home, which runs about $8.50 a square foot, compared to $14 a square foot for a stationary home," says Robert L. Wallace, vice president of Universal CIT Credit Corp. "It's apparent, then, that for the same amount of money a mobile home owner can get much more in the way of space and comfort."

ANOTHER expert, Robert M. Swaffield of Long Beach, vice president and western general manager of Divco-Wayne Industries, Santa Fe Springs, one of the nation's largest mobile home manufacturers, predicts more than 90 per cent of all new housing in the $14,000-and-under bracket will originate in mobile home factories.

"Manufacturing technology is the only way to combat soaring prices of building materials and annual labor increases of conventional on-site construction," said Swaffield.

He said the advantages of the factory-built home in the huge second home market include the fact many of these communities are in rather remote mountain areas, or desert lands as well as seashore locations where due to seasonal limitations, terrain and limited dependable labor supply, construction costs of a conven-al home are greater than in the urban and suburban areas.

"WE can produce a mobile home, furnish it, deliver it to the site and set it in place."

Swaffield's western division of Divco-Wayne is producing a big share of that companies' national output. Divco-Wayne is a division of Boise-Cascade which has world wide facilities in lumber, construction and related industries.

UNTIL 1956 Japan imported 83 per cent of her foreign coal from the United States. These imports now have been more than halved, and the Japanese iron and steel federation estimates Japan will soon be getting half her imported coal from Australia.

Full page color ads in Australia's newspapers offer Japanese cameras, tape recorders and record players as "the perfect gifts."

Sydney's big, double-decked buses are plastered with ads for Japanese cars, and it's the "in" thing for Aussie teenagers to straddle Japanese motorbikes.

SYDNEY (UPI) — Japan's economic invasion of Australia has won with dollars what her World War II militarists failed to achieve with bullets.

"Whether we like it or not," admitted an Australian economist, "we are now members of Japan's coprosperity sphere which she tried to promote along with her 'Asia for Asians' plan 30 years ago."

"And," he added, "most of us like it."

Practically every Japanese cartel has a business interest in Australia, which now has become both a source for Japan's raw materials and a market for her products.

Some of Australia's gain has been at the expense of the United States.

FORMERLY, the only Rising Sun flags flown in Australian waters were seen aboard pearl jiggers working out of Broome in West Australia. Now the "Maru" ships are regular commuters at every Australian harbor.

The 50,000-ton ore carriers load "Savage" River pellets in Tasmania, and Mitsui colliers load coal at Newcastle and Brisbane worth $126 million a year. Even bigger ore carriers shuttle in and out of the new port of Dampier in West Australia, moving thousands of tons of Hamersley ore to the Yawata Iron Works in Japan.

Weeks later other Japanese freighters bring the iron ore back into Sydney Harbor in the form of automobiles, trucks, machinery and motorbikes.

WHAT ONCE was a narrow, one-way street of trade from Australia to Japan is now a teeming freeway of exchanged imports.

Like everything else in Australia, it started with wool.

Postwar Japan became one of Australia's biggest wool customers. But the Japanese insisted trade was a two-way street, and suggested Australia balance the scales by importing Japanese products.

Politicians in Canberra, particularly the Laborites, fought the idea, saying Australia would be flooded with cheap Japanese goods that would cost thousands of jobs.

Economists and diplomats finally forced the expanded trade agreement down the various political throats, but none of the gloomy forecasts came true.

It soon became apparent the Australian working man was perhaps the biggest benefactor. He could now buy things previously unavailable or too expensive for his pocketbook. Housewives, in particular, welcomed the new products.

"THE JAPANESE are accepted in all the urban areas," explained author-historian Ronald Mackie. "Only in the rural, outlying areas is there any evidence of the old, wartime distrust and dislike. We have an entire new generation who have absolutely no memory of the war and none of the hostility that once saturated all of Australia."

There is concern in both Tokyo and Canberra about the eggs of both countries being put into the same basket. The Japanese wonder about the future stability of Australia's economy and the possibility this great source of their raw materials might weaken through labor strife, and inflation.

Australians fear they could become economic satellites of the Japanese and lose out on other international markets.

BUT THERE is one thing that worries Australia's economists even more; that is the specter of Japan's resuming trade with Mainland China.

"That possibility sends cold chills up and down many a spine in Canberra," said Victor Carroll, managing editor of the Australian Financial Review.

"Before the war Japan obtained most of her raw materials from China — that was her reason for invading Manchuria."

"Australia has become the alternative to a closed China. But there is no doubt Japan would turn to China if those coal, iron ore and other raw materials were available at this closer and cheaper source."

FOR THE present this economic marriage of convenience is successful. Australia has found a new source of capital to develop its mineral wealth. The Japanese have a source of raw materials for their heavy industries. The Australian consumer has a wider range of goods on the shelves and at competitive prices.

And the Japanese have brought the imbalance of trade with Australia back in line with their growing exports.

Jeff Shows Old College Try in Win

By FRED CLAIRE
Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA — He didn't have the appearance of a man from Rutgers. In fact, when the game was over, Jeffrey Allen Torborg looked as though he has just played middle guard on a muddy football field.

But that's the way Jeff Torborg, the reserve Dodger catcher, prefers to play — sweating, running, going all-out and doing his best to beat the opposition.

Torborg contributed a major share in the Dodgers' 7-6 victory over Philadelphia Saturday night.

He had three hits, one less than his total in the previous 44 Dodger games, and increased his average to a club-high .350 (7 for 20).

Furthermore, Torborg has a five-game hitting streak which dates back to May 9, due to his infrequent appearances.

Pitcher Bill Singer (7-4) scored what proved to be the winning run for the Dodgers, although it was Torborg who got things started.

He led off the eighth with a double to center, his third consecutive hit, and moved to third when Singer bunted and was safe at first when no one covered.

Pinch-hitter Willie Crawford sent a ground ball to second baseman Cookie Rojas, who threw the ball home to catch the sliding Torborg.

Singer eventually scored on a wild pitch by losing pitcher Bill Wilson (0-3) with the bases loaded after Wes Parker had walked.

The Dodgers came from behind for the 13th time in 27 victories after the Phillies had taken a 3-0 lead on a first-inning homer by Richie Allen and a two-run homer by Mike Ryan in the second inning.

The victory required a little bit of everything by the Dodgers — a two-run double by Parker, who went 3-for-3 to increase his average to .328; a home run in the fifth inning by Bill

Russell, a run-scoring single by Ted Sizemore in the fifth and a two-run homer by Bill Sudakis in the seventh inning as the rookies continued to contribute to the Dodgers' success.

2ND CAR MORE RELIABLE

Mario 'Happy' He Crashed

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Mario Andretti earned $205,727.06 with his 500-mile race victory Friday and became the first winner in Indy history to top the $200,000 mark.

Andretti's share came from a record total purse of $804,627.50.

The happy champion reflected on his record-shattering performance overnight and said Saturday the key may have been a practice crash nine days earlier which destroyed his first-choice car.

"I'm not at all sure the Lotus I crashed would have finished the race," the Italian-born Andretti said Saturday. "In all honesty, a Lotus has the most ultimate potentials as a race car, but it is not a proven race car."

Andretti crashed into the speedway wall May 21 and emerged with a burned face and a demolished race car.

"Although I have a singed-up face, I'm almost happy the crash happened," Andretti said. The auto racing fraternity paid its tribute to Andretti at the traditional victory banquet Saturday night, where it carved up a record payoff of $804,627.57, with $205,727.06 going to the winning team.

He also will receive the Camaro pace car, a $1,000 wardrobe, a garage full of tools and numerous other merchandise prizes.

Dan Gurney of Santa Ana was awarded $67,732 for second place and Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., last year's winner who finished third Friday, picked up $45,647.

Andretti, the burns on his face still bothering him, admitted he was "numb" after the Memorial Day victory.

"The next morning there are a lot more things you realize. You become yourself again. Now I've had time to meditate and appreciate what has happened. It makes life beautiful," he said.

Andretti said the next goal for him is to win a Grand Prix race on the European circuit. But he said he doesn't have any plans right now to go to Europe.

WANT THIS PITCH BACK, JOE?
This was pitch that ended Joe Sparma's dream of no-hitter Saturday. Seattle's Don Mincher doubled with one out in ninth for only hit off Detroit hurler. Tigers won, 3-2.

'Pal' Ruins Sparma's No-Hit Game in Ninth

SEATTLE (UPI) — An injured teammate nearly put Joe Sparma in baseball's hall of fame Saturday but a friend kept him out of it.

Only because starter Mickey Lolich was ailing with a bruised pitching arm back home in Detroit, Sparma got the nod to start for the Tigers in a nationally televised game against the Seattle Pilots.

Despite flurries of early wildness and poor support, the 27-year-old right-hander hurled 8 1-3 innings of no-hit ball.

Seattle first baseman Don Mincher, a longtime buddy of Sparma's, doubled 380 feet off the right centerfield fence with one out in the ninth for the only hit off Sparma in Detroit's 3-2 victory.

Both Seattle runs were unearned and aided by Detroit errors and Sparma's wildness.

"You won't meet a finer guy than Don," the Detroit pitcher said after the game. "I don't congratulate him on his hit, but if it had to come from someone, it might as well have been Don."

With the count 2-0, Mincher said he was looking for a fastball. I got one, about chest-high," said Mincher who drilled it off the fence between the center and right fielders.

Mincher advanced on shortstop Dick Tracowski's error and came home on a fielder's choice grounder.

"I guess he (Sparma) is a bit disappointed that he missed a no-hitter," said Mincher. "But I'm just as happy that he missed it."

Commented Seattle manager Joe Schultz: "It is not a well-pitched game when you walk seven but you have to give the guy credit for getting us out."

3:58.4 by La Benz; No Ryun or Carlos

BERKELEY (AP) — Chuck La Benz, running in a field hurt by Jim Ryun's last-minute withdrawal, paced four runners to a sub-four minute mile Saturday, winning in 3:58.4 at the first Kennedy Games Invitational Track Meet.

La Benz of Arizona State, whose previous best time was 4:00.1 earlier this year, at the West Coast Relays, out-jockeyed Sam Bair of Kent State on the final turn and won the race by inches.

Bair also finished in 3:58.4. Bob Day of the U.S. Army was in at 3:55.6 and John Lawson of the Pacific Coast Club had a 3:59.5.

A crowd of about 15,500 sat patiently waiting to see Ryun run the mile through a met that had great promise but suffered from the loss of key performers.

Just before the mile was to be run, however, Ryun, who set a then world record of 3:51.3 here three years ago, addressed the crowd and said he had to withdraw because of a knee injury.

Ryun, the record holder with a 3:51.1 mark, said he made the decision as he was warming up and added, "It's a most mysterious injury. I can't tell you exactly what's wrong nor can the doctor."

A hot duel between John Carlos, Charlie Greene and Lennox Miller in the sprints was ruined when Carlos flew to New York Friday night after his father had suddenly died. Greene then pulled a muscle in the 100.

Mel Gray of Missouri won the race in a wind-aided 9.4 and Oliver Ford of Southern University took the 220 in 20.6.

Jorma Kinnunen of Finland and Mark Murro of Arizona State staged a competitive duel in the javelin, Kinnunen winning at 282-11.

FEDDERLY VS. McCORMICK

Perfect Final for City Golf

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

It will be Mike Fedderly against Bill McCormick for the Long Beach city golf championship at Skylinks today and a more appealing, contrasting match is hard to imagine.

Fedderly, lean and dapper, is the skillful iron player and steady putter, while McCormick, swarthy and packing 215 pounds on a 6-foot-3 frame, is the long knocker with the reputation of delivering in the clutch.

To make the 36-hole showdown more attractive, Fedderly, an unheralded 31-year-old interior designer, deserves to be a slight favorite based on his play in this tournament. He is an impressive 4-under-par for 75 holes.

But how do you bet against McCormick? He hasn't lost in match play at Skylinks, his home course, in six years, and he has won this event twice, in 1964 and 1966. Still, the scorecard shows him 10-over-par in his five matches this year.

McCormick, 24, didn't win any fans Saturday, but he put away Dave Elder, last year's finalist, 1 up, by making the key shot when he needed it for a birdie on the par-5 17th.

Fedderly, meanwhile, never trailed, against Ed Donahue, winning 5 and 3, despite the fact that he once missed three consecutive putts from three feet. One cost him a birdie, but Fedderly made four others to give him 16 in this tournament, twice that of McCormick.

Fedderly is confident that if he plays as well today as he did against Donahue, he will beat McCormick. His opponent can't make the same statement.

"I'm not hitting the ball square and I'm not swinging good," said McCormick. "I was disgusted with myself several times today. In fact, I was downright embarrassed."

To win his third title, McCormick says he must do at least as well as he did in beating John Richardson on Friday morning. He was 1-under-par in posting a 2-1 victory.

Most of McCormick's supporters feel that he plays just well enough to win. Richardson was the toughest of his first four opponents, and McCormick had the shots when he needed them.

Elder, last year's finalist, never really pushed McCormick, although the match was even three times, the last on the 18th hole when Bill hit his drive out of bounds.

PHILADELPHIA — He didn't have the appearance of a man from Rutgers.

In fact, when the game was over, Jeffrey Allen Torborg looked as though he has just played middle guard on a muddy football field.

But that's the way Jeff Torborg, the reserve Dodger catcher, prefers to play — sweating, running, going all-out and doing his best to beat the opposition.

Torborg contributed a major share in the Dodgers' 7-6 victory over Philadelphia Saturday night.

He had three hits, one less than his total in the previous 44 Dodger games, and increased his average to a club-high .350 (7 for 20).

Furthermore, Torborg has a five-game hitting streak, which dates back to May 9, due to his infrequent appearances.

Pitcher Bill Singer (7-4) scored what proved to be the winning run for the Dodgers, although it was Torborg who got things started.

He led off the eighth with a double to center, his third consecutive hit, and moved to third when Singer bunted and was safe at first when no one covered.

Pinch-hitter Willie Crawford sent a ground ball to second baseman Cookie Rojas, who threw the ball home to catch the sliding Torborg.

Singer eventually scored on a wild pitch by losing pitcher Bill Wilson (0-3) with the bases loaded after Wes Parker had walked.

The Dodgers came from behind for the 13th time in 27 victories after the Phillies had taken a 3-0 lead on a first-inning homer by Richie Allen and a two-run homer by Mike Ryan in the second inning.

Reid on Bird Spree, Fires Incredible 61

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Steve Reid, a soft-spoken Californian, bolted out of the pack with a fantastic 9-under-par 61 Saturday and closed to within three strokes of leaders Bert Yancey and Lee Elder in the third round of the Memphis Open Golf Tournament.

Reid, 32, a five-year tour veteran and winner of the 1968 Azalea Open, had a string of seven consecutive birdies en route to the best round on the tour this year and just one stroke off the PGA record.

"It's one of the most incredible rounds I've ever heard of," South African Gary Player said.

"I just felt there was no stopping me," Reid said. He vaulted from a tie for 38th to a tie for third, behind Elder and Yancey, with a 54-hole total of 200, 10 under par for three tours over the 6,485-yard, par-70 Colonial Country Club Course.

Yancey, a one-time West Point cadet, and the slim Elder, one of the few Negroes on the tour, remained in a tie for the top spot, each with a 66.

That put them at 197, three strokes in front of a group of five. Their 54-hole total matches the best on the tour this year.

In addition to Reid, those at 200 include Lou Graham and Dave Hill, each with a 66; Player, who had a 67; long-hitting Dan Sikes, 68, and John Lotz, also 68.

Reid, whose birdie string of seven was one off the record held by Bob Goalby, had a couple of anxious moments after posting his remarkable round.

Shortly after he finished, play was delayed for 13 minutes by a thunderstorm that drenched the course and sent lightning dancing over the layout. The skies then cleared and play resumed.

Reid, who had nine birdies and no bogeys, started by saving par from a trap on the first hole, then birdied the second from 10 feet after pulling a wedge around a tree.

He clipped the cup on 15-foot birdie putts on the fifth and sixth.

"On the fifth, it spun out to the left," he said. "and on the sixth, I just don't know how it didn't stay in. It was in the hole — I hit the dead center of the back of the cup — and the ball just jumped out."

He wedged to within six inches on the 10th, canned an eight-footer on the 11th, coaxed in a 40-footer on 12 and put a wedge eight feet from the pin on 13 and holed the putt.

"I was thinking about shooting a 59 after that string of birds," he said. "No one has ever done it, and I had two birdie holes to go," he said.

One of them, the 16th, turned tough for him, however, and a couple of poor shots forced him to can a 40-foot putt to save par.

The other was the 18th, where he missed an eagle try.

Elder, gunning for his first tour victory, had one bogey—he missed the green—and five birds, including a monster putt of 55 feet.

Yancey, winner of last week's Atlanta Classic, had two bogeys, three birds and an eagle. The latter came on the par four, 298-yard 10th hole, where he holed out from a trap.

Bob McCallister, the first-round leader with a 63, withdrew because of illness.

BASEBALL'S GREATEST?

One Man's Alltime Family

New York Times Service

NEW YORK — It's a delightful truism even if the mod generation has to wait a good many years before appreciating it. Some day they will, though. Here it is: The older a man gets the faster he could run as a boy.

The passing years sometimes play tricks on memory and sometimes warp perspective. Therein lies the danger to any long-time observer when he is called by the Baseball Writers Assn. to name the greatest players ever to have performed, the Top Ten, which means one man at each position plus a right-handed and left-handed pitcher.

The results of this ballot will be announced in an Oscar-type television spectacular at an elaborate black-tie Presidential dinner in Washington on the eve of the July 22 All-Star Game.

This will be a high spot of professional baseball's centennial year and is a slick promotional scheme that is bound to generate fierce bar-room arguments for months afterward.

That's the main idea, of course, the return of the diamond sport to its former status as a prime topic of conversation and debate.

SELECTING THIS TEAM is a brutally difficult assignment, leavened by the fact that the picker never can go far wrong even though he finds himself aghast when he realizes the men he bypassed!

In only one position can he feel comfortable and sure of himself. That would be shortstop where Honus Wagner, eight-time batting champion of the national league, towers over all others as not only the best hitter but the premier fielder as well.

The safest guide is to pick from the list of immortals already enshrined in the Hall of Fame. Thus you can choose with complete confidence at least two of his three outfielders.

Ty Cobb was baseball's finest hitter with a career average of .367. He won 12 batting championships and hit over 300 for 23 years.

Babe Ruth was off by himself as a home-run king with 714. Not only did he have a career average of .342 but he was a superior fielder after he switched from being twice a 23-game winner as a pitcher.

For four decades Tris Speaker, at 344, has been accorded the centerfield spot on any dream team. But the conviction keeps growing that Willie Mays has moved past him, especially since Willie now is approaching the 600 mark in home runs. So the joyous Mays is chosen here, the only modern and the only non-Hall-of-Famer in the group.

Do you realize what other outfielders are squeezed out? Pause for a minute and study the list, along with career averages.

They are, alphabetically: Joe DiMaggio, .325; Harry Heilmann, .342; Wee Willy Keeler, .345; Stan Musial,

.331; Mel Ott, .304; Al Simmons, .334; Paul Waner, .333, and Ted Williams, .344. It's enough to scare a guy.

WHEN THE SHIFT is made to the infield, the easiest choice is Wagner. But Pie Traynor, .320, is almost as dominant at third. Then the selector heads smack into trouble. At first the Cooperstown brigade offers Jimmy Foxx, .325; Lou Gehrig, .340; Hank Greenberg, .313; George Sisler, .340, and Bill Terry, .341.

Gehrig hit the longest ball, Sisler was a magician in the field and Terry was solid in both departments. Splitting them is like splitting the atom. For some reason I can't quite explain, even to my own satisfaction, I pick Terry.

Second base is loaded with the likes of Eddy Collins, .333; Frank Frisch, .316; Charlie Gehringer, .321; Rogers Hornsby, .358; Napoleon Lajoie, .339, and Jackie Robinson, .311. My impulse is to choose Frisch, who could do everything magnificently well.

Yet Hornsby, the finest right-handed batter ever, cannot be ignored.

CATCHING IS A PROBLEM because Mickey Cochrane, .320, and Bill Dickey, .313, run a virtual dead heat. This time I'll let intangibles decide. The flaming spirit of Cochrane gives him the nod.

Three right-handed pitchers are off by themselves, Walter Johnson with 416 victories, and Christy Mathewson and Grover Cleveland Alexander at 373 each. It hurts to leave off the legendary Matty but it would hurt more to leave off the strikeout king, Johnson. He is the pick.

The best lefties over the years have been Lefty Grove, Carl Hubbell, Sandy Koufax, Eddy Plank and Warren Spahn. I'll string along with another strikeout king, Grove.

The manager for this dream team? There can be only one, John McGraw. The greatest individual player? I'll take the Babe.

'PERFECT' L.B. CITY GOLF FINAL

birdie all day, eagled the 489-yard, par-5 14th by holing a 40-footer to go 2 up. But he lost the 15th to a par and then the 16th with his OB.

Elder, a 27-year-old budget analyst for the city, was short with his irons all day and it was to plague him again on the pivotal hole, the 513-yard 17th.

He came up 50 feet short on his third shot, while McCormick knocked a sand wedge three feet from the cup. Elder almost canned his putt before McCormick easily sank his.

Elder, who finished 4-over-par, had one last chance to get even on the 18th, but his 25-footer was long and McCormick was conceded a 6-inch putt after a try from 20 feet.

McCormick finished with 34 putts, Elder 32.

Federly was far more sensational. He holed birdie putts of 4 and 10 feet to win the second and third holes, and he should have made it 3 up when he missed from three feet on the par-5 7th after getting home in two shots.

As it turned out, Federly was to miss identical 3-footers on eight and nine, but he never lost his lead as Donahue, after winning eight, had to save a bogey on the ninth.

Donahue, a five-time Los Alamitos champion, hadn't gone over par until that hole, and he was very much in contention when he just missed a birdie on No. 10 and made a brilliant save of a par on No. 11 from the rough.

But Federly was too tough. He hit the flagstick on No. 12 and was conceded a 4-foot birdie when Donahue found the rough twice. Then on the par-3 13th, Federly struck again with a 10-footer for a deuce.

Now three down, Donahue flubbed the next two holes to end it as Federly made routine pars. He wound up hitting 11 of 15 greens in regulation, and he was no more than 10 feet off the apron on the ones he missed.

Throw out the three bad putts and he had a super round, a fact that McCormick must be mulling over today.

Tee off is 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Graebner in Tourney Finals

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Clark Graebner of New York took only 50 minutes Saturday to defeat Jim McManus of Berkeley, 6-2, 6-3, in the semifinals of the national hard court tennis championships.

In the other match, Erik Van Dillen, an 18-year-old San Mateo youth, upset veteran Allen Fox of Los Angeles, 6-8, 6-1, 8-6.

Graebner overpowered McManus with hard serves and ground strokes.

Fox, playing his first tournament after recovering from a hip injury, simply tired in the 95-degree heat.

DONNELL CULPEPPER

Callan's Spotfin Catches Amazing

When a man tells you that he caught spotfin croaker in two hours of fishing and that the smallest weighed three pounds, the largest, 4-9, and that he threw back a dozen or more under three pounds, he's either an infernal liar or a very good fisherman and he knows the California surf better than one angler in 10,000.

Mike Callan, a manufacturers' representative for Old Pal tackle boxes, Creek Chub lures, Cortland line and several other products, casually mentioned his catch of 10 spotfin while we were talking about other subjects. If I hadn't known Mike for many years, I would have called him a liar. Instead, I just told him that he'd have to prove it to me.

Prove it, he did, late Thursday afternoon, but he swore me to secrecy about "his beach hole," a spot downcoast where if more than five persons gathered, it would be an enormous crowd. In fact, he threatened to blindfold me and two others, Ron Howarth and Walt Babcock, both noted for their fishing ability ashore and at sea.

Mike Callan With Carload of Croakers

So, all I can tell you that it is a small beach spot in the Oceanside area. It is so situated that one can't park his car and use it for headquarters. It takes a bit of hiking and casts of long distance, although perch and corbina can be reached with shorter casts.

SPOTFIN CROAKER IS A FISH that once was quite prevalent in the surf and the bays and back waters. They feed far out in the surf, mostly in water from eight to 10 feet deep and they liked razor clams (which we used), mussels and other regular surf baits, although we found Thursday night at high tide that they were going for the clams better than anything else.

It was Mike who drew first blood when we started fishing and when I saw him toss back a spotfin of more than two pounds, I almost got sick. "They have to be four pounds, or better," he told us. "Just put the others back. We'll still have plenty."

Mike was trying for one that would weigh 7 or 8 pounds, but his largest was 5. Ron topped all of us by tying into one that took him back and forth along the beach. It weighed 6 pounds. We came home with 10 spotfins, all above that 4-pound mark, and I don't know how many we threw back.

No doubt, there are many surf fishermen who never saw a spotfin croaker except in a picture book of fishes. There is no way of mistaking a spottie because there is a large black spot covering the inside and outside of the pectoral base. The yellowfin croaker is shaped slightly differently and the pectoral fin is yellow. The largest spottie on record weighed 9 1/4 pounds.

WHILE MIKE WON'T TELL YOU where we fished, he will tell you some other secrets about the spotties. He uses an 11-foot rod, monofilament line of 12-, 15- or 20-pound test, a conventional reel, set very carefully so that he doesn't get a bird's nest of line every time he casts, such as many of us do with conventional outfits.

The reason for the heavier line is to be able to drag in kelp, a menace on any beach when the waves are strong. Spotties don't grab the bait and run. More often, they nibble at it just enough so that you know a fish is working, and then perhaps they'll run for the beach itself, making you think that you have lost the fish.

Mike's secret is to set the hook and reel in very fast. The spottie may decide to take you down the beach 50 or 100 yards and then the other way. He will fight right into the sand itself. Ron found that out when he caught his 6-pounder. It got off the hook and Ron fell flat on the beach to grab the fish before the next wave took it out.

Mike's fishing Wednesday night was done alone. He weighed his 10 spotties at the Long Beach Marina and the weights were as follows: 3-3, 3-6, 3-8, two 4s, two 4-2, 4-8 and 4-9. Then he gave all the fish to anglers who had been sitting for hours in the Marina with not one strike.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—Even though fishing won't be permitted at Morena Lake (San Diego County) until next spring, camping and picnicking will be allowed through the summer season, with rates one dollar per night per camper, trailer or tent.

"Camping in the National Park System," a listing of 418 campgrounds open to public use, has been published and may be purchased for 20 cents by Catalog No. 129-71-969 from the Superintendent of Documenting Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

The Watson Trap and Skeet Range is now open seven days per week. Previously, it was closed on Mondays. The shooting schedule now calls for 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. on weekdays and from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Colin Leads Vikings With .354 Mark

Centerfielder Ray Colin dominates the final 1969 Long Beach City College baseball statistics, according to assistant coach Al Verdun.

The Viking co-captain led the team in batting with a .354 average, in runs-batted-in with 25, doubles with 10 and stolen bases with 10.

He also tied for the lead in runs scored with Glenn Berberet with 23 and most hits with Ed Crosby with 40 each.

Ray Brown (11-1) led the pitching with a 1.32 earned run average. He struck out 68 in 115 innings. Tim Brady (9-5) fanned 66 in 103 innings.

The state champion Vikings, who finished the year with a 25-12 record, hit .272 as a team in the 37 games and the team ERA was 1.89 for the season.

Was Rig Calling Right Shots for Hapless Angels?

By BUD GOODE

Has California dropped into the ocean yet? No, but a California property known as the Angels sank quietly into a sea of despair. And Rigney Towers toppled.

How do you measure a manager's contribution to a team?

The Clutch Batting factor, defined as the percentage of base runners who score, gives an insight into the manager's baseball know-how.

Team runs are related to hitting ability, speed on the bases, but they are also a function of the manager's ability to call the right play — when to bunt, when to steal, when to hit-and-run — and to make these calls on his knowledge of player strengths and weaknesses.

To measure Clutch Batting percentage, Computer Corner poured runs, hits, base-on-balls and hit-by-pitch statistics into our Univac electronic sports analyzer. Here's the result:

NATIONAL LEAGUE	Clutch Batting %	AMERICAN LEAGUE	Clutch Batting %
East		East
Brussels	.378	Baltimore	.339
Chicago	.361	Washington	.339
New York	.361	Detroit	.339
Pittsburgh	.332	New York	.315
Philadelphia	.312	Boston	.315
St. Louis	.291	Cleveland	.267

West	Clutch Batting %	West	Clutch Batting %
Dodgers	.320	Oakland	.403
Atlanta	.314	Minnesota	.367
San Francisco	.331	Seattle	.350
Montreal	.314	Chicago	.337
Kansas	.312	San Diego	.337
San Diego	.293	Angels	.266

THE DODGERS are the most improved team in the National League. They are scoring a phenomenal 38 per cent of their base runners, up from 26 per cent last year.

The Cardinals are suffering from the biggest fall-off, scoring only 29.1 per cent of their runners. But the Cards have been improving.

Out of the running? Only two teams, the Angels and Indians in the American League. Cleveland is scoring only 26.7 per cent of its runners, the Angels only 26.6 in this vital Clutch Batting breakdown.

The Angels and Indians can't catch the leaders. At this rate, they can't even catch a streetcar.

DONNELL CULPEPPER

Callan's Spotfin Catches Amazing

When a man tells you that he caught spotfin croaker in two hours of fishing and that the smallest weighed three pounds, the largest, 4-9, and that he threw back a dozen or more under three pounds, he's either an infernal liar or a very good fisherman and he knows the California surf better than one angler in 10,000.

Mike Callan, a manufacturers' representative for Old Pal tackle boxes, Creek Chub lures, Cortland line and several other products, casually mentioned his catch of 10 spotfin while we were talking about other subjects. If I hadn't known Mike for many years, I would have called him a liar. Instead, I just told him that he'd have to prove it to me.

Prove it, he did, late Thursday afternoon, but he swore me to secrecy about "his beach hole," a spot downcoast where if more than five persons gathered, it would be an enormous crowd. In fact, he threatened to blindfold me and two others, Ron Howarth and Walt Babcock, both noted for their fishing ability ashore and at sea.

So, all I can tell you that it is a small beach spot in the Oceanside area. It is so situated that one can't park his car and use it for headquarters. It takes a bit of hiking and casts of long distance, although perch and corbina can be reached with shorter casts.

SPOTFIN CROAKER IS A FISH that once was quite prevalent in the surf and the bays and back waters. They feed far out in the surf, mostly in water from eight to 10 feet deep and they liked razor clams (which we used), mussels and other regular surf baits, although we found Thursday night at high tide that they were going for the clams better than anything else.

It was Mike who drew first blood when we started fishing and when I saw him toss back a spotfin of more than two pounds, I almost got sick. "They have to be four pounds or better," he told us. "Just put the others back. We'll still have plenty."

Mike was trying for one that would weigh 7 or 8 pounds, but his largest was 5. Ron topped all of us by tying into one that took him back and forth along the beach. It weighed 6 pounds. We came home with 10 spotfins, all above that 4-pound mark, and I don't know how many we threw back.

No doubt, there are many surf fishermen who never saw a spotfin croaker except in a picture book of fishes. There is no way of mistaking a spottie because there is a large black spot covering the inside and outside of the pectoral base. The yellowfin croaker is shaped slightly differently and the pectoral fin is yellow. The largest spottie on record weighed 9 1/4 pounds.

WHILE MIKE WON'T TELL YOU where we fished, he will tell you some other secrets about the spotties. He uses an 11-foot rod, monofilament line of 12-, 15- or 20-pound test, a conventional reel, set very carefully so that he doesn't get a bird's nest of line every time he casts, such as many of us do with conventional outfits.

The reason for the heavier line is to be able to drag in kelp, a menace on any beach when the waves are strong. Spotties don't grab the bait and run. More often, they nibble at it just enough so that you know a fish is working, and then perhaps they'll run for the beach itself, making you think that you have lost the fish.

Mike's secret is to set the hook and reel in very fast. The spottie may decide to take you down the beach 50 or 100 yards and then the other way. He will fight right into the sand itself. Ron found that out when he caught his 6-pounder. It got off the hook and Ron fell flat on the beach to grab the fish before the next wave took it out.

Mike's fishing Wednesday night was done alone. He weighed his 10 spotties at the Long Beach Marina and the weights were as follows: 3, 3-3, 3-6, 3-8, two 4s, two 4-2, 4-8 and 4-9. Then he gave all the fish to anglers who had been sitting for hours in the Marina with not one strike.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—Even though fishing won't be permitted at Morena Lake (San Diego County) until next spring, camping and picnicking will be allowed through the summer season, with rates one dollar per night per camper, trailer or tent.

"Camping in the National Park System," a listing of 418 campgrounds open to public use, has been published and may be purchased for 20 cents by Catalog No. 129.71-969 from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

The Watson Trap and Skeet Range is now open seven days per week. Previously, it was closed on Mondays. The shooting schedule now calls for 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. on week-days and from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Colin Leads Vikings With .354 Mark

Centerfielder Ray Colin dominates the final 1969 Long Beach City College baseball statistics, according to assistant coach Al Verdun.

The Viking co-captain led the team in batting with a .354 average, in runs-batted-in with 25, doubles with 10 and stolen bases with 10.

He also tied for the lead in runs scored with Glenn Berberet with 23 and most hits with Ed Crosby with 40 each.

Ray Brown (11-1) led the pitching with a 1.32 earned run average. He struck out 68 in 115 innings. Tim Brady (9-5) fanned 66 in 103 innings.

The state champion Vikings, who finished the year with a 25-12 record, hit .272 as a team in the 37 games and the team ERA was 1.89 for the season.

Was Rig Calling Right Shots for Hapless Angels?

By RUD GOODE

Has California dropped into the ocean yet? No, but a California property known as the Angels sank quietly into a sea of despair. And Rigney Towers toppled.

How do you measure a manager's contribution to a team?

The Clutch Batting factor, defined as the percentage of base runners who score, gives an insight into the manager's baseball know-how.

Team runs are related to hitting ability, speed on the bases, but they are also a function of the manager's ability to call the right play — when to bunt, when to steal, when to hit-and-run — and to make these calls on his knowledge of player strengths and weaknesses.

To measure Clutch Batting percentage, Computer Corner poured runs, hits, base-on-balls and hit-by-pitch statistics into our Univac electronic sports analyzer. Here's the result:

THE DODGERS are the most improved team in the National League. They are scoring a phenomenal 38 per cent of their base runners, up from 26 per cent last year.

The Cardinals are suffering from the biggest fall-off, scoring only 20.1 per cent of their runners. But the Cards have been improving.

Out of the running? Only two teams, the Angels and Indians in the American League. Cleveland is scoring only 26.7 per cent of its runners, the Angels only 26.6 in this vital Clutch Batting breakdown.

The Angels and Indians can't catch the leaders. At this rate, they can't even catch a streetcar.

FASSNACHT, ARANGO TOPS 7 49ers Win All-America Distinction in Swimming

Cal State Long Beach has had seven athletes receive all-America honors in swimming.

The most acknowledged members of Don Gambrell's team, which finished seventh in the NCAA university division championships at Indiana University were freshman Hans Fasnacht and sophomore Julio Arango.

Fasnacht, an 18-year-old athlete from West Germany, was chosen all-America in four events, the 500 and 1,650-yard freestyle, the 800-yard freestyle relay and the 400-yard individual medley.

Fasnacht won NCAA championships in the 400

NORDSKOG IN NEW BOAT FOR RUM RUN

Van Nuys industrialist Bob Nordskog will be defending his Rum Run Trophy when the 84-mile offshore power boat race runs out of Long Beach Harbor Saturday, but he'll have to do it in a new boat this time.

Nordskog, 56-year-old daredevil who donated the trophy in the first place, will challenge an expected 20-boat fleet in America, a 27-foot Magnum hull powered by a trio of 135-horsepower Johnson Offshore Special outboards.

With new 499-cu.in. engines, Nordskog and his navigator, Noel Younger, were among the favorites in last March's Long Beach-Ensenada International. But Holocaust's new engines overheated off La Jolla.

Start for Rum Run III will be off Belmont Shore Pier at 10 a.m.

LBCC, Harbor Grid Rivals

By DAVE DANIEL

It's a little early to tell, but we have a good nucleus to work with.

That's Paul Chafe's current outlook for Long Beach City College's 1969 football fortunes.

"We have a lot of men to replace, especially a passer and the receivers. It looks like it might be the year of the lineman," he said.

Gone to UCLA is all-America quarterback Dennis Dummit, who set records in every passing department last year, and a trio of receivers that caught 108 passes between them — Rick Wilkes (38), Dale Didur (38) and Denby Mayfield (32).

Also missing will be John Merino, the leading rusher for LBCC the past two seasons and the leading scorer in the tough Metropolitan Conference last year.

Chafe begins his fourth year as head coach of the Vikings and is coming off his most successful campaign, a 6-2-1 record. Next year's schedule, however, appears to be stacked against the Vikings.

Traditional scrimmage rival Harbor College becomes a solid game opponent for the first time in six years as the 1969 opener. The Seahawks are expected to field a fine team this year after a disappointing 1968 campaign.

There's also the matter of the 1964 Junior Rose Bowl to finally be settled. Both LBCC and Harbor finished with 10-0 records that year and the Vikings were selected to represent the West Coast in the JRB—something which Harbor hasn't forgotten.

Cerritos College, which leaves the Metro to join the new South Coast Conference with Fullerton, Orange Coast, Santa Ana, Mt. San Antonio and two San Diego JCs, is the next opponent.

With Cerritos leaving the Metro, that leaves seven teams and an open spot for a third pre-season

Outspoken author tells single girls how to dish it out

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON
Director, Women's News

Now that Helen Gurley Brown has told single girls all there is to know about sex, she's decided they should learn to cook.

The passionately outspoken author of "Sex and the Single Girl" and "Sex and the Office" now shows her followers a different route to a man's heart.

Directions come in the form of a witty, informative (and, of course, provocative) book entitled, "Helen Gurley Brown's Single Girl's Cookbook."

In California to promote her latest literary "sexsation," the piper of single girls the world over explained it this way:

"I think cooking is something a single girl can do to get on with her life . . . to enhance her social horizons."

"I believe passionately that any girl who wants to can have a lovelier, happier life. Not because it will be plopped into her lap, but because she can do things herself to make it happen."

That's where the cooking comes in.

NOW, HELEN Gurley Brown is about the last female in the world one would expect to find in the kitchen.

When we met, the feminine answer to Hugh Hefner was luxuriating in her ultraexclusive suite in the Bel Air Hotel.

She was soft-spoken and refined, attractively turned out in an off-white designer original by New York's Donald Brooks.

The fiery editor-in-chief, who is credited with changing—and saving—the face of Cosmopolitan magazine, has a new project: selling single girls on the idea of cooking by the book.

Her reasons: "I say cook because you are lone-

Making a Big Splash on the Long Beach social scene Friday will be first annual Plazaquatics, "It's a Wet, Wet, Wet, Wet World."

Show will be staged in the beautiful new Belmont Plaza Swimming Pool, 4000 Olympic Plaza, which opened last summer for Olympic diving and swimming trials, since has been used for the National AAU swim meet and other major aquatic events.

Designed to appeal to the entire family, the 8 to 9:30 p.m. event will intermingle competitive and exhibition swimming and diving with comic capers by aquatic clowns and a parade of Elizabeth Stewart's swimsuits, "then and now."

Jointly sponsored by Family Services

Guild and Junior League of Long Beach, proceeds from the 1,600 tickets ($2 for adults, $1 for children through 18 years of age) will help keep alive the valuable Homemaker Service of Long Beach. Tickets will be sold at the door. Special sponsors seating ($25) also is available and may be arranged through Mrs. Robert Porter, chairman of sponsors, 5400 The Toledo.

Headlining the outstanding list of swimming greats scheduled to appear are Pat McCormick and Dr. Sammy Lee.

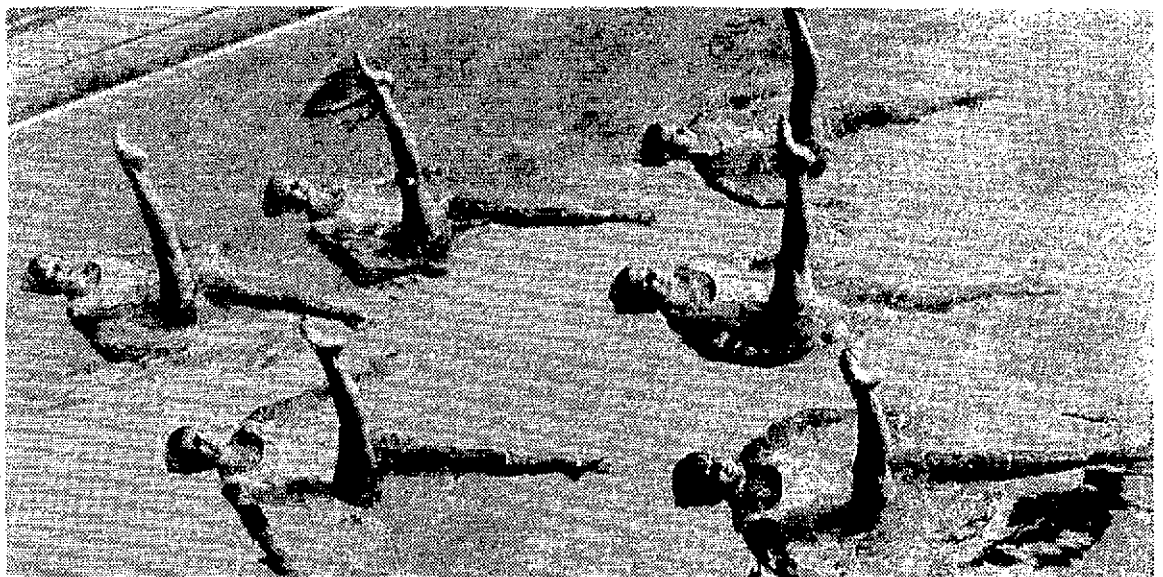

Two teams from Phillips 66 Men's Medley Relays and two from Girls' Medley Relays, coached by Don Gambrell, will perform. Men's Team A is composed of Charles Campbell, CIF champion '68 100-yard back-

GROCERY CREDIT CARD

Markets welcome check(s)

By DIANNE SMITH

Something new has been added to the growing bulge of credit cards in wallets, but this one is good only in supermarkets.

It's called Welcome Check and it allows the holder to cash checks in any of 950 subscribing markets from Santa Maria to the Mexican border without presenting any other identification.

Welcome Check also protects markets against check kitters, forgers and frauds since its purpose is to reduce the loss to the grocery industry from bad checks.

Completing its first month of operation, Welcome Check has been well received by participating markets, but some customers are complaining about the 10-cent service charge for checks written over the amount of purchase or for cash only.

The charge, explained Thomas A. Clark, assistant to the president of Telecredit, which operates the system, is to cover the cost of the check cashing concession at each market.

"What started out as a minor service to customers of supermarkets has become equal to the banking business," Clark said, and "we're taking over that service."

Out of 100 million checks cashed last year, at least 60 per cent were transacted at supermarkets.

And in the process, the grocery industry lost nearly $250,000 to forgers and bad check passers. This loss, in turn, was passed on to the consumer in higher food prices.

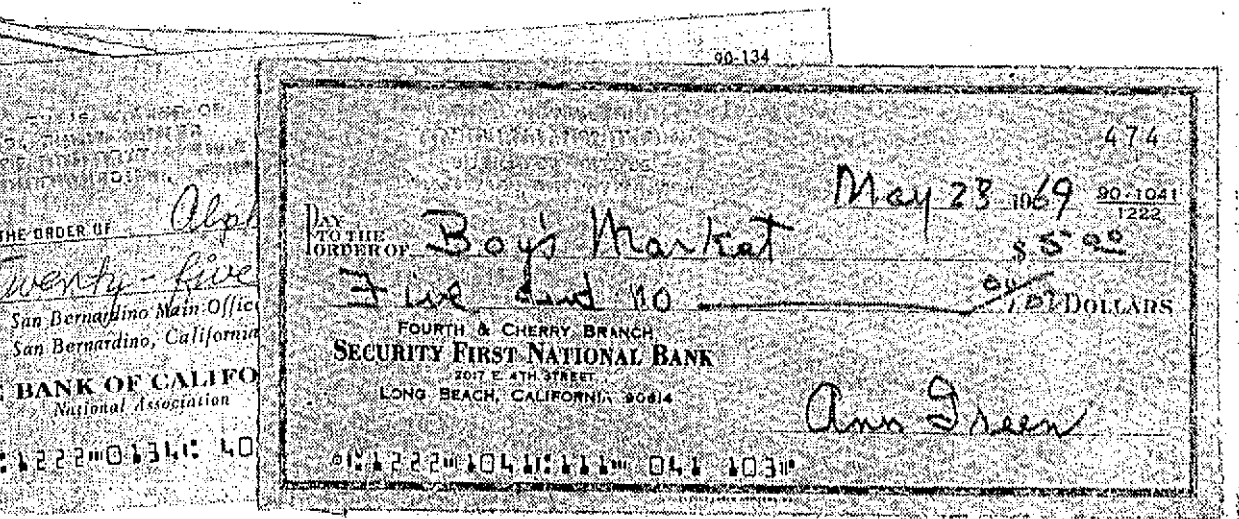

Welcome Check hopes to eliminate this loss, Clark said, guaranteeing each participating store coverage on all bad checks.

In the past, if check cashing privileges were revoked in one market, a person could go elsewhere, but no more.

Telecredit has a computerized record of such transactions and can feed the information to any market within 20 seconds.

Occupying the entire third floor of the 1901 Avenue of the Stars building in Century City, Telecredit employs 440 persons, which is tenfold its number last

WILD WAVES SAY Beat of mariachis did their fishing hearts good

By IOLA MASTERSON

MEMBERS OF Southern California Tuna Club don't wait for Friday for fish. They'll eat, talk or do it at the drop of a hook.

A squad of them are off on annual broadbill catching tourney at the resort of Pamilla (near San Jose del Cabo), Baja California. Tourney chairman Bob Westmyer and wife, Rosemary, hosted a farewell bash for the angling set.

Over cocktails and hefty hors d'oeuvres, conversation roamed the seven seas of fish between such guests as Charlie and Lella Sudduth (he's defending champion this year), Harriet Ibbelson, Tom and Gussie Thompson, Jack and Mildred Dorsey.

Others who listened to the beat of a mariachi band were Harold and Katy Parks, Charlie and Myrtle Cox, Bill and Elaine Winston, Bob and Irene Ziebarth and Russ and Leonie Pray.

To add to the gaiety, the Prays came in Mexican costumes and Russ, in a gigantic peon hat, even played guitar with the band. And he's darned good at it, too.

HATS BLOOMED as bright as floral centerpieces when Alamitos Bay Garden Club hosted its lively spring luncheon at Ports O' Call.

Theme was all on astrology and the place was all in good vibration from laughter as crazy poems were read designating the meaning of Zodiac signs.

Favors were birthday fashion predictions for every one from Aquarius to Taurus. Among those in crowd of 150, thanking their lucky stars they chose to attend, were Mmes. Merretta (Court) Prowell, Mary Alice (Robert) Braly, Virginia (Jerry) Chrisman, Chris (Neal) Dundas, Bea (George) Hart, Willa Mae (O. B.) Hughes, Ola (Don) Murphy and Marge (Robert) Sprague.

Party planners and program providers were Bobbi (Jack) Vial, president-elect, Carol (Don) Helmers and Nancy (Jerry) Thompson.

ANOTHER Zodiac inspired funfare was a cocktail and dinner at home of Bette Arntzen for Civic Light Opera friends. It started out to be a birthday party for Jackie (Mrs. Harvey) Waggoner — a Gemini from May.

So many, it turned out, were born under the sign encompassing both May and June dates, they honored them all. Gemini cohorts cavorting were (in addition to Jackie) Henri Scanlon, Stan Toppen, Jim Boyd, Lou Griffith and Katie Brant.

As always there was lots of singing with new lyrics for familiar tunes based on twins. They wrote a special song, based on Scorpio, for Ed Killingsworth.

He had to hear "his" by telephone, though. Ed, who broke his arm and subsequently required surgery on his wrist, was home recuperating. Laura Killingsworth really had her hands full that week.

Ed's operation was May 21; on the 23rd she opened her home for the annual meeting of Junior League, attended by 250; week ago Saturday, the 24th, she brought Ed home from the hospital and that same night entertained the cast of "Camelot" in which she played the leading lady.

HERE'S A SURPRISE note. Bob (Mr. Piano) Pierce sold his Hammond Organ business out on Lakewood Boulevard. Late in August he and Marge will go to Japan, he representing Long Beach as president of the Miss IBC contest.

Bob has been asked to be one of the judges of the beauty pageant, now on loan to Japan. From Japan, where they'll make official visits to several cities in connection with IBC, they hope to continue around the world.

In the meantime, back here on the ranch, Bob is having a big room added to their home which will serve as his office. Although he sold the organ place (bought by Sherman Clay Co. with headquarters in San Francisco), he'll continue to publish his Pierce's Piano Atlas and other publications for the piano and organ industry.

Provisionals and spouses present were Jane and Charles Boyer, Carolyn and Bert Du Mars, Bunny and Richard Kussman, Betty and Stan Luker, Mary Kay and David Peterson, Diane and Bob Ruchti, Gretchen and Walt Voss and Elaine and Bill Winston.

Special guests were RR's chairman and her husband, Patti and Bob Bergmann.

STILL IN Memorial West with both legs in casts from hips to toes is Joe Williams, mechanical engineer for Schlumberger Oil Well Services.

He was tuning his car's motor, parked in his garage, when the cussed thing got out of gear, slammed him against the wall breaking both legs.

There's still something to laugh about. The accident occurred just two days after he proposed to Ginny Cole and she has been accusing him ever since of trying to get out of it.

Good ol' Joe says "not so" and proved it by insisting they be married in the hospital before his release sometime toward the end of this month.

Smart Ginny, who is with Sperow Realty, just smiles quietly and confidently to herself. After the accident, Joe gave up his apartment and friends moved all his belongings to Ginny's. Without the I Do he has no place to go.

End of July they'll be moving to New Orleans where Joe is being transferred as of Aug. 1. Any motor tuning prior to the trip will be done by a qualified mechanic.

SORCERESS costumes and "equipment" worked like magic in producing great party for Alamitos Bay Garden Club. Program producers who created fun with astrology are Bobbi (Mrs. Jack) Vial, Carol (Mrs. Don) Helmers and Nancy (Mrs. Jerry) Thompson.

AT WIT'S END

The need for identity is strong in us all

By ERMA BOMBECK

A magazine in which a story of mine appeared recently listed me simply as a "young grandmother."

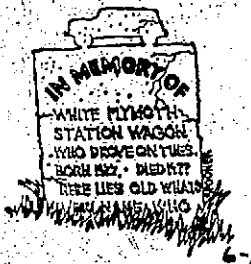

I collared my 10-year-old and said, "You didn't get married over the weekend, did you?"

He said, "Are you kidding? I'm not even allowed to cross the highway by myself."

I was shook. It wasn't the idea of being an early grandmother that bugged me half as much as having another identity hang-up . . . another label to add to my growing list.

It seems I've always been Erma's little girl, Thelma's sister, Miss Wrist's pupil, Mr. Wine's problem, Dr. Spitzer's patient, Bill's wife, Mr. Miller's customer, Matt's mother, Helen's neighbor, Troop 876's cookie captain or record club number 006789435. Now I was going to be "someone's grandmother" before I even had a name. It isn't fair.

Would you believe it if I told you I was once identified as the white Plymouth wagon who drove on Tuesdays? No name. No personality. Just the white Plymouth wagon who drove on Tuesdays.

I thought about this one day as I was sitting in the car picking lint off the dashboard, waiting for the next group to pile in. How would that look on my tombstone, stone.

Civic leaders laud City Club for work in social service

By JOYCE CHRISTENSEN

Words of praise were heaped on members of Woman's City Club Social Service Committee during annual luncheon at the clubhouse.

Leading the lauding of Delphine Worchesek, chairman, and her committee was Capt. Paul Landsdowne, head of the Juvenile Bureau for Long Beach Police Department.

Capt. Landsdowne thanked the group for its help in providing clothing for youngsters who — for one reason or another — have occasion to be in juvenile hall.

"Each year, 6,000 juveniles pass through our portals," he said. "Of these, 1,400 are children age nine and under who are not delinquent but are victims of dependency problems beyond their control — unfit homes, accidents, desertion."

"It is through groups such as yours that these youngsters can be clothed when they come to us without clothing, and can have a caddy toy to take with them when they leave."

REPRESENTING American Cancer Society which the Social Service Committee aids by preparing dressings was Mrs. Betty Seaman, director, who presented pins and certificates to members who have worked for the society for five years. Honored were Laura Middlemiss, Alice Johnson, Irene Berglund, Irene Rae, Sylvia Wright and Mrs. Worchesek.

Among other special guests for the day were Rev. Ward McCabe, chaplain at Galilee Navy Family Chapel; Mrs. Robert S. Langdon, Woman's City Club president; Mrs. Peg Crawford, incoming president; and Mrs. Virginia Claus.

Other organizations which benefit from WCC efforts include Cystic Fibrosis, Good Sports Inc., Heart Fund, Crippled Children's Society, Long Beach General Hospital and Beachcomber Center for Handicapped Children.

AUTHOR-EDITOR HELEN GURLEY BROWN

don't eat. (It helps if you have a dog for an excuse — then you can take home other people's portions, too.)

"All this beef you can reorganize into some delicious new dishes." And she tells you how.

NO, THE BOOK which she spent four years working on doesn't contain a list of aphrodisiac recipes.

"I wondered if we should phony it up that way," she commented, "but I just couldn't. What IS aphrodisiac is that much of the food is high in protein which is essential to good health. Being healthy makes you feel sexy."

Liquor, she noted, is an aphrodisiac in the sense it tends to lessen inhibitions and "thus should be part of any dinner."

But the attractive, petite, 47-year-old Mrs. Brown cautioned girls not to let a guy get too much liquor: "Then he's good for very little."

WHAT ABOUT her own recipe for happiness? A copywriter-turned-author who worked her way up from the secretarial ranks, Helen Gurley Brown is a compulsive worker (14 hours a day) who attributes her success to "pouring myself into everything — including a lot of things that haven't worked."

Her first major success, "Sex and the Single Girl," appeared seven years ago (when Helen was 40) — and single girls have never been the same since.

Nor has Helen Gurley Brown. As a result of her writings, public and TV appearances and editorship of a major magazine, she is internationally recognized as an authority on what young women can accomplish on their own.

"It's sweet and delicious to have all this going now — at a time in life when most women are wondering what to do with themselves," said Mrs. Brown.

She doesn't believe enough women are doing enough things with their freedom.

"Where are the women leaders fighting slum conditions? Where are the girls going into the practice of law and medicine? Where are the women leaders involved in politics? Women can run for office and win!"

Credited with starting the whole sex revolution ("but I didn't do it alone!"), the spokesman for liberated single womanhood lives in mid-Manhattan in a "beige and white apartment, cat-colored to go with Gregory and Samantha."

Though married for 10 years to 20th Century-Fox vice president David Brown, she professes to think single — "all men would rather have a girl than a wife."

About her 398-page book of sensational recipes: "All people aren't born cooks. I wasn't. I'm still struggling. But I know if I had had this kind of recipe book when I was a single girl, I might have quit being single sooner."

"Well, maybe."

some, cook because you don't have a date on New Year's Eve; cook because you don't have a boyfriend.

"It's creative and you can please a lot of people with it. You don't have to do all this cooking specifically for a man. You do it for you."

"But if you follow the directions for each little dinner carefully" — and she tells how to really dish it out! — "you can't help but wind up one of the most beloved hostesses (and girlfriends) in town."

HELEN, admittedly a "lousy cook," didn't come up with the recipes herself.

"Margo Riemann (she's had two cookbooks published already) allowed me to take her wonderful recipes and present them in MY words, together with a few philosophical thoughts along the way," said the High Priestess of Single Womanhood.

It's those "philosophical thoughts" that make the book purely Helen Gurley Brown.

For instance: "It's better to get hollandaise all over your negligee sleeves than to wear something appropriate to cook in if you are entertaining a man."

Another: "It's silly, right off, to plunge into utensils. Beautiful sets of matched enamelware won't do a thing for the figure you're taking to Catalina or Bermuda or Hawaii. It needs a new Rudi Gernreich swimsuit, not a new copper bottomed pan."

She pointed out it's possible for the single gourmet to be "to turn out lovely food with a creaky assortment of hand-me-down pots on a two-burner stove if necessary."

"Whoever you are, whatever you do — no matter how small — do it the very best you can. It's more apt to bring success than sitting around thinking big," she said.

Written for "girls who, up to now, thought poaching meant stealing another girl's boyfriend and grilling is what he gets when she catches him," the book starts at the beginning with simple how-to-boil-water recipes for things like fried eggs, ecstatic hamburgers and crisp bacon.

Then it goes on to more complicated things... like her Rhett Butler Casserole "which you can feed ANY man" ... ways to "beef up" simple dishes ... and "food for the affair" — in five phases.

Other spicy tidbits include "Food to take to bed," "Oh, God! He's brought me his fish!" and "What a friend we have: cheesecake."

And then there are gourmet delights the career girl on a shoestring can whip up. Like dinners from a bowser bag: "Single girls often have dinner in restaurants where they serve portions of roast beef and steak that would fill three of Hannibal's cannibals. Take home what you

WHAT ABOUT her own recipe for happiness?

A copywriter-turned-author who worked her way up from the secretarial ranks, Helen Gurley Brown is a compulsive worker (14 hours a day) who attributes her success to "pouring myself into everything — including a lot of things that haven't worked."

Her first major success, "Sex and the Single Girl," appeared seven years ago (when Helen was 40) — and single girls have never been the same since.

Nor has Helen Gurley Brown.

As a result of her writings, public and TV appearances and editorship of a major magazine, she is internationally recognized as an authority on what young women can accomplish on their own.

"It's sweet and delicious to have all this going now — at a time in life when most women are wondering what to do with themselves," said Mrs. Brown.

She doesn't believe enough women are doing enough things with their freedom:

"Where are the women leaders fighting slum conditions? Where are the girls going into the practice of law and medicine? Where are the women leaders involved in politics? Women can run for office and win!"

Credited with starting the whole sex revolution ("but I didn't do it alone!"), the spokesman for liberated single womanhood lives in mid-Manhattan in a "beige and white apartment, cat-colored to go with Gregory and Samantha."

Though married for 10 years to 20th Century-Fox vice president David Brown, she professes to think single — "all men would rather have a girl than a wife."

About her 398-page book of sensational recipes:

"All people aren't born cooks. I wasn't; I'm still struggling. But I know if I had had this kind of recipe book when I was a single girl, I might have quit being single sooner."

"Well, maybe..."

PART OF THE Cathode Ray Tube (CTR) room at Telecredit in Century City, where markets subscribing to Welcome Check can obtain verification on check casher within 20 seconds after calling operator, who punches information on keyboard linked to computers.

Grocers join credit service to cut down check cashing loss

December.

Telecredit was founded in 1961 as a check verification system, which it still operates along with a third program, insure-a-check, at major department store chains.

ITS MANAGEMENT team is all under 35 years of age, starting with president Lee A. Ault III, 32, and chairman of the board Ronald Katz, 33.

More than 1.5 million Welcome Check cards have been issued and the applications are coming in at a fantastic rate — anywhere from 10,000 to 32,000 a day — according to Clark.

There has been a delay in sending out cards due to the volume of applications and because many persons do not fill out all the pertinent information on the application.

To be fed into the computer, all the required information must be supplied before a Welcome Check card can be issued, and if it is not filled out, the application is returned with a letter of explanation.

All this is time consuming, Clark explained. The entire system is geared to the California drivers' license, with applicants listed by license number, eye color and day of birth.

This also explains why both a husband and wife must have separate cards, Clark said.

Persons without a drivers' license can still be issued a card if they have a social security number.

In addition, about 1,500 bad checks a day are being processed through the computers.

Telecredit used two high-speed IBM 360 memory computers and has check cashing information on more than 10 million Californians.

THE COMPUTERS log all valid California drivers' licenses issued by the Department of Motor Vehicles and information sent in by banks on accounts closed for cause.

In operation 24 hours a day, seven days a week, Telecredit employs 64 operators on three shifts to staff the Cathode Ray Tubes, which are linked to the computers and the massive communications system.

The telephone hookups can handle 10,000 calls an hour and 200 simultaneously.

When a code 2 appears on the screen, the operator informs the market there is negative check information for that person.

If a person cashes a check and there are insufficient funds to cover it when it clears the bank, the check is returned to Telecredit and not the market. The person's name then goes on a referral list, which is computed daily and sent to individual markets.

Then begins the process of getting payment by sending the check through a second time for cashing. If it clears the second time, the person's name is removed from the referral list of bad check passers. However, this process takes at least six days.

If the check bounces a second time, the security section, which employs 37 agents — mostly retired police officers — goes into action and tracks down the individual to get payment.

Continued abuse of the Welcome Check will mean confiscation of the card.

When a customer uses his Welcome Check to cash a check at a market other than the one where it was issued — such as a different store in the same chain — the manager makes a call to Telecredit for verification.

HOW HAS THE program been received by markets and customers? Except for complaints about the delay in receiving cards and the 10-cent service charge, the markets report a good reaction.

Most markets will cash checks without a Welcome Check card if the person has a drivers' license, until Telecredit catches up with the applications.

Managers questioned locally said most customers accept the dime charge after they understand what it's for.

Telecredit keeps a percentage of the 10 cents and the rest goes into a reserve fund for that market to cover bad checks.

"Welcome Check will allow store managers to put more time and effort into their own stores," Clark said, instead of spending 15 to 20 hours a week trying to collect on bad checks.

"We're hoping these savings are passed on to the customer," he added.

COMMENTS FROM spokesmen for area markets participating indicate a general satisfaction with the program.

"It's going real fine. It's going as best can be expected for a new program. We've had few complaints about it," were the responses received.

Area stores honoring Welcome Check are ABC Stores, Allied Supermarkets, Alexander's, Alpha Beta, Boy's, Food Fair, Hughes, Mayfair, Michael's, Ralph's, Safeway, Shopping Bag, Thriftmart, Von's, United Market and Carl's.

Each store displays the green and white Welcome Check emblem in its window.

'Trumpets of the Lord'

Cicely Tyson, Theresa Merritt and Lex Monson in scene from all-black Broadway musical "Trumpets of the Lord" which will open a three-week run Tuesday at Lindy Opera House, 5210 Wilshire Blvd. Based on "God's Trombone" by James Weldon Johnson, the show is a series of hand-clapping, foot-tapping sermons delivered by three ministers in a small church in the Deep South. Howard Roberts based his musical score on gospel music.

Art association members exhibit at L.B. Museum

By VIRGINIA LADDEY Long Beach Art Association is greatly to be admired for its support of art activity in this community, for its continual effort to raise the quality of its own offerings, for the distinguished caliber of many of its members, and for consistent infusion of new blood.

The present 45th Annual Show of members' works, however, is being shown in the Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., and, thus, must be judged on the basis of museum quality. The eminent critic, Nicolas Calas, in "Art In An Age of Risk" observes: "We expect the artist to say better what others may have already said." With few exceptions, the LBAA painters do not say anything better, though what they say, they say well.

THIS YEAR, several association members have discovered "Op" painting. Major retrospectives of this style were circulated nationally more than three years ago. A prime quality of this form is immaculate craftsmanship as seen over the years at the local museum in works by Karl Benjamin, Florence Arnold, Lorser Feitelson, Helen Lundberg, et al. Some nice, fresh works in the present show like Richard Ironmonger's "Six Cube System" and "Red and Go" by Dorothy Wells suffer from less than perfect finish.

However, in this genre, Marian Bruce's "Red, Hot and Blue" and Amedeo Petralia's "Premidi" are fresh and exquisitely crafted, with compositions appropriate to the acrylic medium.

There are many works of great merit. Dorre Stogner never ceases to evoke poetic mysticism; I prefer her collage, "Tomb of the Druid," to her prize-winning "Elegy."

ARTISTS of the caliber of Eugene Wallin, Robert Adams, Anna B. Hayes and Aline Thistlethwaite continue on personal pursuits with little attention to stylistic change; all to the good. Sandra Beebe offers a vigorously brushed, painterly "And the White Waves Falling" which puts those magical Laguna seascapes to shame.

Both Betty Anne Kirkpatrick and Cheryl West do clever things with multiple canvases.

Reginald Stewart in recital Thursday

Reginald Stewart, head of the piano department at Music Academy of the West, Santa Barbara, will play a recital Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at the Institute of Lifetime Learning, 215 Long Beach Blvd.

Stewart first won recognition when he debuted as conductor and pianist with the London Symphony in Albert Hall in 1930. He appeared with the NBC Symphony, conducted by Arturo Toscanini, was for seven years conductor of the Toronto Philharmonic, then headed the Peabody Conservatory of Music. Later, he became conductor of the Baltimore Symphony.

STEWART will play several Chopin Etudes, two Nocturnes, two Impromptus and "Ballade in A Flat." After intermission, he will perform Beethoven's "Sonata in C major," Bartok's "Rumanian Dances" and Rubinstein's "Staccato Etude."

REGINALD STEWART

The Institute of Lifetime Learning will supply complimentary concert tickets to those who write or telephone for them.

Although Stewart now resides in Santa Barbara, he frequently tours in this country, Canada and Europe as pianist or conductor with leading symphonies. He has recorded for Victor, Vanguard and EMI.

His Long Beach appearance has been arranged as a gift to the community by Gregor Ziemer, program director of the Institute of Lifetime Learning, and Edna Wilson Ziemer, director of music.

As summer nears, art goes outdoors

By ELSIE EMERY Arts Editor

With fair weather and holidays at hand, and vacation days a bright promise, outdoor art exhibits beckon enticingly.

Next Sunday, Downey Museum of Art will stage its 12th annual "Art Unlimited," inviting both professional and amateur artists to compete for more than $1,200 in awards. Top prize is the $350 Museum Purchase Award.

Entries (a fee of $2 each is required) must be delivered Saturday between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Next Sunday, judging will be done from 9 a.m. to noon by Goldthwaite H. Dorr III, director of Santa Barbara Museum of Art; Ralph Massey, sculptor; Gerald Brommer, president of the National Watercolor Society; C. Ray Kerciu, associate professor of art at Cal-State, Fullerton; Eudora Moore, director of California Design, Pasadena Art Museum; and James Simpson, gallery director of Long Beach City College.

'Spring Spectacular' choral music Friday

The fifth annual "Spring Spectacular" of Long Beach City College choral groups will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday in the LBCC Auditorium, Harvey Way near Clark Avenue.

Ranging from sacred and classical choral music to folk songs, show tunes and novelty numbers, the concert is directed by Wayne B. Gard. Performing groups are the College Choir, the Madrigal Singers, the Men's Chorus, the Varsity IV and other vocal ensembles.

Friday's program will include portions of the show presented during a recent Northern California tour which brought standing ovations wherever the LBCC choral groups performed.

Soloists for the concert will include Linda Speer, soprano; Grady Mirigo, tenor; and Jim Brown, trumpet. Dave Gustafson will conduct two numbers, Jester Hairston's "I Want Jesus" and Mueller's "The Lord's My Shepherd." Helen Davenport is accompanist, assisted by Pam Eveland.

Tickets will be available this week at the college banker's office, 4901 E. Carson St., or at the box office Friday night.

Dancers look ahead to festival

Dance — a category introduced last year for the Southwestern Youth Music Festival — will again be included in the 1969 festival Aug. 21, 22, 23 and 24.

When, at the suggestion of executive director Gilbert Reese, dance was added to the 1968 festival, it marked the first time in Long Beach that dance teachers had been organized for any project. Mary Jacob, Marian Rankin, Albert Ruiz, Audrey Share, Alexandra Shermatova, Valerie Silver and Zena Urman formed the nucleus of a committee to arrange last year's participation.

On the final day of the festival, winners will perform in a program to which the public is invited.

All interested dance teachers are asked to attend a meeting Wednesday at noon at 2740 E. Broadway.

Kudos for Kenton

Stan Kenton — one of the jazz greats — will receive a musical tribute when he performs Wednesday at Long Beach City College, sharing honors with trumpeter Don Ellis in an "Evening of Jazz." Tickets are $2.

Foreign films

Czechoslovakian films, highlighted by Vojtech Jasný's "When the Cat Comes" (1963), will be shown in the Little Theater of California State College, Long Beach, today at 8 p.m. and Monday at 8 and 9 p.m. The picture deals with the evil which a spectacled cat is able to detect by showing people in their true colors. The story is based on Czech fairy tales and music.

Two short films will complete this final program of the Associated Students Explorations in Film series.

'Trumpets of the Lord'

Cicely Tyson, Theresa Merritt and Lex Monson in scene from all-black Broadway musical "Trumpets of the Lord" which will open a three-week run Tuesday at Lindy Opera House, 5210 Wilshire Blvd. Based on "God's Trombone" by James Weldon Johnson, the show is a series of hand-clapping, foot-tapping sermons delivered by three ministers in a small church in the Deep South. Howard Roberts based his musical score on gospel music.

Art association members exhibit at L.B. Museum

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Long Beach Art Association is greatly to be admired for its support of art activity in this community, for its continual effort to raise the quality of its own offerings, for the distinguished caliber of many of its members, and for consistent infusions of new blood.

The present 45th Annual Show of members' works, however, is being shown in the Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., and, thus, must be judged on the basis of museum quality. The eminent critic, Nicolas Calas, in "Art in An Age of Risk" observes: "We expect the artist to say better what others may have already said." With few exceptions, the LBAA painters do not say anything better, though what they say, they say well.

THIS YEAR, several association members have discovered "Op" painting. Major retrospectives of this style were circulated nationally more than three years ago. A prime quality of this form is immaculate craftsmanship as seen over the years at the local museum in works by Karl Benjamin, Florence Arnold, Lorser Feitelson, Helen Lundberg, et al. Some nice, fresh works in the present show like Richard Ironmonger's "Six Cube System" and "Red and Go" by Dorothy Wells suffer from less than perfect finish.

However, in this genre, Marian Bruce's "Red, Hot and Blue" and Amado Petralia's "Premidi" are fresh and exquisitely crafted, with compositions appropriate to the acrylic medium.

There are many works of great merit. Dorre Slogner never ceases to evoke poetic mysticism; I prefer her collage, "Tomb of the Druid," to her prize-winning "Elegy."

ARTISTS of the caliber of Eugene Wallin, Robert Adams, Anna B. Hayes and Aline Thistlethwaite continue on personal pursuits with little attention to stylistic change; all to the good. Sandra Beebe offers a vigorously brushed, painterly "And the White Waves Falling" which puts those magical Laguna seascapes to shame.

Both Betty Anne Kirkpatrick and Cheryl West do clever things with multiple canvases.

Reginald Stewart in recital Thursday

Reginald Stewart, head of the piano department at Music Academy of the West, Santa Barbara, will play a recital Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at the Institute of Lifetime Learning, 215 Long Beach Blvd.

Stewart first won recognition when he debuted as conductor and pianist with the London Symphony in Albert Hall in 1930. He appeared with the NBC Symphony, conducted by Arturo Toscanini, was for seven years conductor of the Toronto Philharmonic, then headed the Peabody Conservatory of Music. Later, he became conductor of the Baltimore Symphony.

STEWART will play several Chopin Etudes, two Nocturnes, two Impromptus and "Ballade in A Flat." After intermission, he will perform Beethoven's "Sonata in C major," Bartok's "Rumanian Dances" and Rubinstein's "Staccato Etude."

The Institute of Lifetime Learning will supply complimentary concert tickets to those who write or telephone for them.

Although Stewart now resides in Santa Barbara, he frequently tours in this country, Canada and Europe as pianist or conductor with leading symphonies. He has recorded for Victor, Vanguard and Edo.

His Long Beach appearance has been arranged as a gift to the community by Gregor Ziemer, program director of the Institute of Lifetime Learning, and Edna Wilson Ziemer, director of music.

'Spring Spectacular' choral music Friday

The fifth annual "Spring Spectacular" of Long Beach City College choral groups will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday in the LBCC Auditorium, Harvey Way near Clark Avenue.

Ranging from sacred and classical choral music to folk songs, show tunes and novelty numbers, the concert is directed by Wayne B. Gard. Performing groups are the College Choir, the Madrigal Singers, the Men's Chorus, the Varsity IV and other vocal ensembles.

Friday's program will include portions of the show presented during a recent Northern California tour which brought standing ovations wherever the LBCC choral groups performed.

Soloists for the concert will include Linda Speer, soprano; Grady Mingo, tenor; and Jim Brown, trumpet. Dave Gustafson will conduct two numbers. Jester Hairston's "I Want Jesus" and Mueller's "The Lord's My Shepherd." Helen Davenport is accompanist, assisted by Pam Evland.

Tickets will be available this week at the college banker's office, 4901 E. Carson St., or at the box office Friday night.

DEAR ABBY

Guest's raffle annoys hostess

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I recently gave a beautiful dinner party. I used my good tablecloth and real linen napkins, had candlelight, placecards, and served a lovely meal.

After the guests had finished eating and adjourned to the living room, I went into the kitchen for a few minutes, and when I came out I saw the guests exchanging names and addresses.

I thought, "My, how nice, they are anxious to know each other better." Then I saw money exchanging hands!

Well, it seems that one lady was selling raffle tickets for her church charity.

I became very much annoyed and told the ticket seller in a nice way, of course, that I didn't like it.

Several of the guests defended her, saying it was a good cause, but what else could they say?

What is your opinion of this? ANNOYED HOSTESS

DEAR ANNOYED: Off hand, I'd say it's poor taste to sell raffle tickets to guests at a dinner party, but I would have to know more about how the lady made her pitch.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a wonderful man I've known for years. Mike is intelligent, witty, charming, and he treats me like a goddess. He has asked me to marry him, and I have accepted.

Mike is not a nut, he's a sensible, down-to-earth guy. The problem? His favorite color is lavender, and he is determined to marry me wearing a lavender suit. HIM NOT ME!

This is the first time we've seriously disagreed on. I want a conventional wedding. I've been married before and he says my last wedding, which was "conventional," was a big success, but the marriage was a flop.

How do I win this one? SHEILA

DEAR SHEILA: Why fight so hard to win this one? If Mike is all you say he is, let him wear the pants and choose the color.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if there is any way possible for a man who has had a police record since the age of 14 to become a registered nurse. He has been convicted of a felony, which had nothing whatsoever to do with narcotics of any kind.

This person has a good wife and a small child, and he wants more than anything else in the world to become a male nurse. He has rehabilitated himself and will now lead the good life after having learned the hard way.

He has a good job (working for the state) and is considered well-adjusted. Thank you for any help you can give me. NO NAME PLEASE.

DEAR NO NAME: This person should apply for enrollment in the school of nursing he wishes to enter. If he "qualifies," I see no reason why he cannot achieve his ambition. Whether or not he will be accepted with his "record" will depend upon the requirements of that school.

DEAR ABBY: My problem concerns two dear friends whose company we genuinely enjoy. They are a father and son, who together tip the scales at 700 pounds.

They were here last week, and immediately following dinner they both literally FELL onto my couch. It is a sturdy piece of furniture, but with this enormous weight hitting it all at once — well, the springs must now be re-tied and the decking replaced.

Abby, how can I tactfully tell these people to please distribute their heat a bit more evenly? I am not going to tell them what happened, but I don't want it to happen again. TIMID

DEAR TIMID: Next time, subtly "guide" Big Daddy to one sturdy chair, and Junior to another.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 68704, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I thought, "My, how nice, they are anxious to know each other better." Then I saw money exchanging hands!

Well, it seems that one lady was selling raffle tickets for her church charity.

I became very much annoyed and told the ticket seller in a nice way, of course, that I didn't like it.

Several of the guests defended her, saying it was a good cause, but what else could they say?

What is your opinion of this? ANNOYED HOSTESS

DEAR ANNOYED: Off hand, I'd say it's poor taste to sell raffle tickets to guests at a dinner party, but I would have to know more about how the lady made her pitch.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a wonderful man I've known for years. Mike is intelligent, witty, charming, and he treats me like a goddess. He has asked me to marry him, and I have accepted.

Mike is not a nut, he's a sensible down-to-earth guy. The problem? His favorite color is lavender, and he is determined to marry me wearing a lavender suit. HIM not ME!

This is the first thing we've seriously disagreed on. I want a conventional wedding. I've been married before and he says my last wedding, which was "conventional," was a big success, but the marriage was a flop.

How do I win this one?

DEAR SHEILA: Why fight so hard to win this one? If Mike is all you say he is, let him wear the pants and choose the color.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if there is any way possible for a man who has had a police record since the age of 14 to become a registered nurse. He has been convicted of a felony, which had nothing whatsoever to do with narcotics of any kind.

This person has a good wife and a small child, and he wants more than anything else in the world to become a male nurse. He has rehabilitated himself and will now lead the good life after having learned the hard way.

He has a good job (working for the state) and is considered well-adjusted. Thank you for any help you can give me. NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: This person should apply for enrollment in the school of nursing he wishes to enter. If he "qualifies," I see no reason why he cannot achieve his ambition. Whether or not he will be accepted with his "record" will depend upon the requirements of that school.

DEAR ABBY: My problem concerns two dear friends whose company we genuinely enjoy. They are a father and son, who together tip the scales at 700 pounds.

They were here last week, and immediately following dinner they both literally FELL onto my couch. It is a sturdy piece of furniture, but with this enormous weight hitting it all at once — well, the springs must now be re-tied and the decking replaced.

Abby, how can I tactfully tell these people to please distribute their weight a bit more evenly? I am not going to tell them what happened, but I don't want it to happen again. TIMID

DEAR TIMID: Next time, subtly "guide" Big Daddy to one sturdy chair, and Junior to another.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dance of the monkeys

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Travel Editor Fred Kraft recently was aboard when a Pan Am Jet Clipper took off on a flight to the Philippines for the inauguration of the new Manila Inland Continental Hotel, and then onward through southeast Asia. This is his fourth report on the 28,000-mile trip.

DENPASAR, Bali — The king of demons had kidnaped an exquisite girl, the wife of the exiled heir to a throne, and tonight throngs of Balinese from the village of Peliatan, 30 miles north of here, gathered in a torch-lit temple courtyard to witness her uncertain fate.

Naked from their waists up, 150 figures slithered out of the flower-scented shadows and formed concentric circles around the ditches for a do-die struggle against the evil one and return the girl to her royal mate.

Thus began the Ketjak.

THE GRACE OF BALINESE GIRL DANCERS is legend. Two of them perform in the Barong dance. (Indonesia National Tourist Organization photo.)

THE KETJAK OR MONKEY DANCE is perhaps the best-known of a half-dozen celebrated dances performed by the Balinese. Naked from the waist up, 150 men form in concentric circles to enact an army of monkeys which fights to free a girl from an evil demon, in accordance with an epic from the Ramayana saga of Hindu mythology.

or monkey dance, an epic from the Ramayana of Hindu mythology which I had come half way around the world in a sleek Pan American Jet Clipper to witness.

THE HALF-CLAD figures were men and boys from the countryside surrounding Peliatan who had rehearsed their roles as monkeys for weeks. Now, as the plot began to unfold, their arms and bodies swayed in unison and their eerie chants and chattering chilled the still night.

At last, with the girl still a captive of the demon, the exiled Rama himself appears to do battle but is struck by an arrow that turns into a snake, tying him up like a rope. An ally appears from nowhere and frees the Rama by pricking the snake to death.

Finally the king of monkeys arrives, assembles his simians and incites them to avenge Rama. He challenges Rama's attacker to come from the clouds and fight. The dance group then divides itself into two camps; one is the demon's army and the other, the army of avenging monkeys. The performance ends with Rama slaying his foe and rejoining his wife with whom he triumphantly returns to his throne.

THE OUTCOME of the play was a triumph for the spectators as well as for Rama and his strange allies. These deeply religious and superstitious natives who crowded the perimeter of action — obviously relatives and friends of the cast who had witnessed the slaying of the evil one many times — cheered long and lustily.

"The Balinese," explained an American friend living on the island,

"are invariably joyously overcome, as still another bad spirit bites the dust."

Originally the Ketjak was a choir of men with a repertoire of litanies. The production I had just witnessed was done without music or sound effects.

Local people sometimes trudge miles to rehearse, always eager to be a part of the play without thought of remuneration.

As the American added, they not only had struck a telling blow against evil spirits but also had satisfied their artistic nature by play acting.

NEXT DAY at another village called Sempidi I attended a Barong dance, a drama which tells the story of an eternal fight between good and evil spirits. The Barong is a mythical lion who helps human beings escape the influences of evil. But unlike the action in the Ketjak, the fight in the closing scene is inconclusive because of the magical power of evil.

I rated both plays as intimate theater at its best.

BACK AT the Inter-Continental Hotel Bali Beach, whose modernity puts it a world apart from humble Peliatan and Sempidi, I discussed with manager Siegfried Biel and his attractive wife how the coming of the big jets might affect the Balinese and their customs.

"Their simple life and religious fervor have endured 5,000 years," Biel answered. "I would predict little chance of a change, at least in the foreseeable future."

The big jets from at least six international airlines will start swishing into Bali in mid-August when a 10,000-foot landing strip is opened at Denpasar airport, putting this "Paradise of the Pacific" on the tourist trails extending from every continent of this shrinking world.

Fiesta 200 is opened in San Diego

SAN DIEGO — Oie!

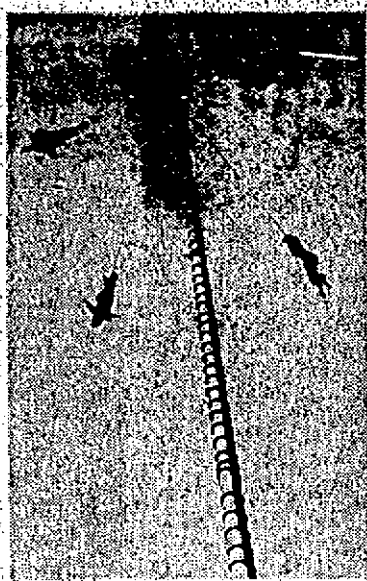

A highly novel, possibly unique attraction for summer visitors to San Diego is Fiesta 200, south-of-the-border feature of the city's 200th anniversary observance. A cultural arts and trade fair, colorful and authentic Fiesta 200, which opened with the breaking of the traditional "pinata," will continue through Nov. 2.

Situated on an 18-acre site in San Diego's historic and colorful Old Town, not far from Santa Fe Railway's streamliner terminal, Fiesta 200 is built around an assemblage of Mexico's best arts, crafts, culture and entertainment.

Admission to the fiesta grounds is free. There is a charge for viewing the spectacular "Los Voladores," the Papantla Indians who plunge into space from atop a 100-foot pole, and for the "Ballet Folklórico," a rich combination of the past and the glowing present in dance interpretation, music and costume.

Other exciting attractions include the "Mercado Mexicano," the Mexican market where artisans demonstrate age-old skills in glass-blowing, pottery making, weaving, and in the fashioning of jewelry from precious metal and rare stones; and the Plaza Rosa, the center of public events.

For the Mexican food aficionado, Fiesta 200 is the place for gratification. Visitors will find virtually at every turn cantinas offering Mexican dishes with strange-sounding names. There are also the standard favorites of many Americans—burritos, arroz con pollo, tacos, enchiladas, all in greater or lesser variety, and the typically native version of the American cruller, the "churros" which are designed to be eaten while hot, with chocolate, also hot.

A great many visitors to the Fiesta 200, and other features of San Diego's year-long observance will find their ways to the city aboard Santa Fe's three San Diegan streamliners which make daily round trips from Los Angeles.

Cycles big menace on Cozumel

By STAN DELAPLANE
ISLAND OF COZUMEL — A gray drizzly morning on Cozumel off the Caribbean coast of Mexico. "No, Señor, this is the dry season," said the waiter. "The rainy season is in September." Chac, the Mayan rain god, is working overtime. Paper squeezes into a typewriter with a damp, limp feeling. The keys hit with a splashy thunk.

The island is full of scuba divers. Rent all gear by the day, $6. Air, $3.20 a tank. (Share diving boats at $45 a day.)

So far they've lost two divers this year — most diving is to 200 feet for black coral. But the lethal hazard here is a fleet of red Honda motorcycles. They rent for $10 a day.

"So far this year, 16 killed and 200 wounded," said the waiter. A very modern casualty rate for an island 30 miles long, 12 wide. It's warm as mother love down here. The island is blazing now with hibiscus and flame trees. Coco palms lean against the evening sky.

We want to do some scuba diving at Cozumel, but must really do it on a shoestring...

I'VE BEEN trying to find some cheap operation here. This is a new island to most people. There are only a half dozen hotels. They've got the rates fairly high. For Mexico and for scuba divers, that is.

We are at Cabanas del Caribe, $32 double with meals. The modest Hotel López in the village gets $8 single without meals. Caesar Balsa, the Hilton of Mexico, has just opened the elegant new El Presidente, $40 double with meals.

Now the hotels are only running four out of 10 rooms full. And one man assures me, "If the rate is $20 a day, and you say 'I can only pay $15' — I think you will get it." Two in town at $8 double.

No meals. One thing good. It's cheap to get here. A little more than $100 round trip for the hour-and-a-half flight from Mexico City. More direct flights by Pan American from Miami or New Orleans.

We came down on a new Aeronaves de México flight from Tijuana. For $201, this gives you a circle trip with stopovers anywhere enroute: Tijuana-Merida-Cozumel-Mexico City-Guadalajara-La Paz-Tijuana.

New air terminal eases connections in Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Denmark — Danish wits call them the "Seven Small Homes" — after the Copenhagen restaurant of the same name — but the new string of special terminals for domestic SAS flights at Kastrup Airport have become a popular fixture of internal travel in a country of islands.

They are also one item in a program of airport and air terminal developments throughout Scandinavia which will call for expenditures of more than $600 million over the next decade.

The "Sjo Sma Hjem" represents a new, semi-shuttle approach to Danish domestic services. Grouped around a central hall which has a cafeteria and rest rooms, each individual terminal serves a specific route. Baggage is deposited directly into loading carts; and passengers write their own tickets and pay for them on the airplane.

LOCATED on the side of the airport closest to Copenhagen, the new domestic terminals have parking space for 400 cars immediately across the street.

Although the Danish government has recently given the green light to the $520 million project for a new international gateway airport on the island of Saltholm between Copenhagen and Malmo, Sweden, the present Kastrup Airport is being expanded to handle the 50 per cent increase in traffic which is anticipated before Saltholm is ready about 1978.

Staatendam will circle S. America

Holland-America Line is offering the first luxury cruise around South America to depart from the West Coast with stops at 24 ports. The SS Staatendam sails from Los Angeles Oct. 7 on a 58-day cruise around the "undiscovered" continent emphasizing ports of call which are not normally scheduled on cruises as well as the more well known ports such as Rio, Buenos Aires and Montevideo. Rates are from $2,375 to $6,235 (all tipping included on board ship).

This cruise south of the equator was planned to coincide with the late spring and early summer in South America. Unusual features of the cruise are calls at Galapagos Islands, famous for their giant turtles, and a trip along the delta complex of the Amazon and Para Rivers. Calls will also be made in Acapulco and Mazatlan (Mexico), Trinidad, Grenada and Curacao.

A selection of sightseeing tours is featured by American Express, including performances in some areas of local dances and music, luncheon or dinner of national cuisine, and inland trips from two to five days which encompass the principal attractions of the areas visited.

The itinerary includes: Acapulco, Mexico; Galapagos Islands, Ecuador; Caliao (Lima), Peru; Antofagasta, Chile; Valparaiso (also for Santiago), Chile; Concepcion, Chile; Puerto Montt, Chile with scenic cruising near glacier area of Tierra del Fuego; Punta Arenas, Chile; Mar Del Plata, Argentina; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Montevideo, Uruguay; Santos (also for Sao Paulo), Brazil; Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Salvador (Bahia), Brazil; Recife, Brazil; Ponta Pinheiro anchorage, Brazil; Belem, Brazil; Port of Spain, Trinidad; St. George's, Grenada; La Guaira (for Caracas), Venezuela; Willemstad, Curacao; Cartagena, Colombia; Cristobal, Canal Zone; Balboa, Canal Zone; Mazatlan, Mexico.

32 states okay Monday holidays

"Uniform Monday Holiday laws, already passed by 32 states in less than a year, are halfway home in five other states where they have cleared at least one house of the legislature," according to Warren N. Martin, vice-president-public affairs, of the Air Transport Association (ATA).

Martin said the states in which the Monday Holiday Plan has cleared one branch of the legislature are California, New Jersey, Ohio, Oregon, and North Carolina.

The Monday Holiday Act, overwhelmingly passed and signed by then President Johnson last June 28, establishes five automatic three-day weekends a year. However, for individual state residents to be guaranteed the benefits of Monday holidays, it remained for each state to enact a holiday law paralleling the Federal legislation.

THE NEW holiday calendar, which will go into effect in January, 1971, will look like this: Washington's Birthday on the third Monday every February

Memorial Day the last Monday in May

Columbus Day the second Monday in October

Veterans' Day the fourth Monday in October

In addition, Labor Day will continue to be the first Monday in September, making a total of five long weekends a year.

Backers of Monday Holiday legislation, which include the Air Transport Association, Discover America Travel Organizations, Chamber of Commerce of the U.S., and National Association of Motor Bus Owners, have called attention to the social and economic benefits of travel and tourism in the United States: reuniting of families; the opportunities for better understanding among our peoples; the development and preservation of our national shrines and natural attractions; the vast multiplier effect of the travel dollar; and the creation of new products, services, facilities and employment opportunities in accord with national objectives.

MARTIN SAID, airline industry studies of passenger traffic moving over present holidays when they happen to fall on Monday, as opposed to when they occur in midweek, prove without doubt that more families can better plan

Jamaica home of snoring frog

Jamaica is home to many fascinating frogs. Some are tree frogs. The largest of these are called States that have passed the Uniform Monday Holiday Plan include: Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

The snoring frog of Jamaica is said to be the second largest of all the world's tree frogs.

The "Lighting Up Time" report, which appears on the front page of each issue of Bermuda's daily newspaper, The Royal Gazette, is a throwback to the horse-and-buggy days when carriage drivers were obliged to have their lamps lit by dusk or pay a fine.

LOS ANGELES — Avianca Airlines of Colombia, the senior airlines of the Americas, will inaugurate a Los Angeles-to-South America service three times a week Tuesday.

Jets will fly south Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays and will return Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Avianca's route includes Bogota, Quito, Lima, Santiago, Buenos Aires plus Manaus on the Brazilian Amazon.

Karpin on bridge

by Fred L. Karpin

Many years ago, the late Chief Justice Vinson was in a game with Mademoiselle Bonnet, wife of the French Ambassador, Chief Justice Marvin Jones of the U.S. Court of Claims, and Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer, wife of the Attorney-General under President Wilson.

On the very first hand, Justice Vinson found himself in a doubled four spade contract which, with four tricks remaining to be played, had already been defeated one trick—and a rout appeared imminent!

At this point, Vinson perceived that the dummy had only three cards left, while he had four.

A search for the missing card revealed that Justice Jones possessed five cards, having somehow appropriated one of dummy's.

Chief Justice Vinson now gleefully threw his cards on the table, proclaiming: "I declare a mistrial." In a mournful tone of voice, Chief Justice Jones replied: "Granted."

Vinson was considered to be a most aggressive, and, at times, an unorthodox bidder.

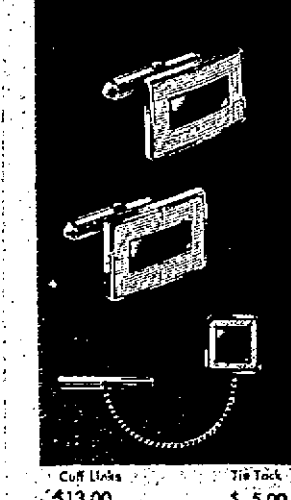

Without any doubt, the strongest feature of his game was his defensive play. Here is an example of Vinson's defense in action. He was sitting East, North-South vulnerable. South deals.

MANY PLAYERS, had they been in the East seat, would probably have played the spade nine on West's opening lead of the king, thus urging West to continue the suit. But not Justice Vinson.

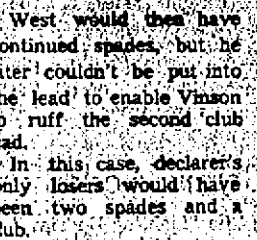

Instead, he promptly overtook the king with the ace, after which he cashed the ace of clubs.

He then returned a spade to West's known queen. West now played back a club, which Vinson ruffed for the setting trick.

Had Vinson signalled for a spade continuation by playing the nine-spot at trick one, South would have fulfilled his contract.

PAYS YOU CASH . . . Your cash benefits increase each year . . . to a maximum of $130.00-A-WEEK . . . at no extra cost to you.

PAYS YOU CASH BENEFITS . . . for hospitalization for any accident immediately. Any sickness is covered beginning 30 days after Effective Date of Policy.

NO AGE LIMIT . . . No medical examination required. No salesman will call.

ONE out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family tomorrow . . . next week . . . next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have more than doubled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stopped but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do if he is hospitalized? We believe we have the answer in the famous Presidential Extra Cash Plan that relieves you of worry about the terrible financial threat of accident or illness.

Pays you $100.00-a-week tax-free cash whenever you go to the hospital.

Now, Presidential's economy plan enables you to enjoy this protection. Mail the enrollment form on back page, with first month's premium. We will send you the actual policy to look over at home. No rush. No agent will call or phone you. Take 15 days to decide. Show the policy to a friend, a family adviser first. You lose nothing if you don't want the policy. But if you do want it, you're entitled to Presidential's special low rates described on page 5. So low, you'll find you get protection at a price that's just a fraction of what you'd expect to pay.

Your cash benefits increase each year—at no extra cost to you!

Your cash benefits automatically rise year after year. You get peace of mind so you don't have to worry about rising costs. You get $103.00 a week in the second year. $106.00 a week in the third year. $109.00 a week in the fourth year. How comforting it is to know that — after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there three days or more, you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. Yes, if your doctor has you employ a full-time Registered Nurse within 5 days after you come home, we'll pay you $100.00 a week—for as long as you need the nurse—even up to 50 weeks. It's like having a reserve of $5,000.00 cash to draw on when you need it. These benefits also increase each year by $3.00 a week. Another exceptional feature you have with Presidential . . .

. . . Pays you $100.00-a-week cash for maternity benefits!

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that gives you cash to help buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured in the wonderful Family Plan With Maternity for the entire period of pregnancy, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days—as long as necessary—you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement, up to 100 weeks.

All these added cash benefits.

Yes, in addition to $100.00 a week for hospitalization and $100.00-a-week maternity benefits and $100-a-week for a Registered Nurse at home . . . you get all this:

Added cash benefit: $1,000.00 cash to your family if death occurs within 90 days from any accidental injury. Think how handy the cash can be in time of loss. It can take care of burial expenses without burdening your loved ones.

Added cash benefit: Up to $2,000.00 cash for loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs any time within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check for $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 will bring greater peace of mind during the period of adjustment.

Added cash benefit: Choose either Family Plan . . . and your children will be covered too! Presidential pays up to $5,000.00 at the rate of $50.00 A WEEK any time your youngster goes to the hospital . . . for removal of tonsils, appendix or any other illness or injury!

And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, Presidential will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL—TO A MAXIMUM OF 100 WEEKS per confinement! THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON Amazing Low Rates—Money-Back Guarantee

You can now have your first month's protection at the special low rates shown on page 5! But you must act immediately. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection Plan must be mailed on your convenient form NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT of the date in your Enrollment-Application.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your Enrollment-Application is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your Presidential policy covers every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by war or any act of war; any mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a U.S. Government Hospital, pregnancy except as provided under the maternity benefit provision; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy... during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will even be covered for that condition after this policy has been in effect for 2 years. Of course, meanwhile every new condition is immediately covered.

How can pennies buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But Presidential can now provide you and your entire family with $100.00-a-week tax-free Income Protection for pennies a day ONLY BECAUSE WE ENROLL A LARGE NUMBER OF PEOPLE AT ONE TIME—direct by mail! This

If you are 65 or over you will collect $70.00 A WEEK in addition to Medicare

Why are smart folks 65 or over now hastening to protect themselves with the Presidential Extra Cash Plan in addition to what Medicare will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks 65 or over, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to benefits you receive from Medicare—or any health insurance with other companies you may have. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, Presidential pays you $70.00 a week... EVEN FOR 100 WEEKS if necessary! You can receive as much as $7,000.00 for each illness or injury when hospitalized!

highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone—and the savings are passed on to you!

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensable X-rays, doctor bills, medicines and drugs that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your bills that keep on coming in at home?

Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

Why you must act before the deadline date shown in your Enrollment-Application

Why must you act by the deadline? Because as mentioned above, we must receive your form the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time.

We mail you the policy as soon as we receive your Enrollment-Application. When the policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant, or banker. Better still—show it to your own insurance man... even though he may very well be working for another insurance company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere -- at any price!

Money-Back Guarantee—in case you change your mind

Even after you mail your Enrollment-Application... even after you examine the policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish... even after all this you are still free to return the policy within 15 days of the date you receive it, and every penny you paid will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind—you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits just as if you had already said "yes." That's right, you will be fully covered all this time for any accident which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the policy.

However, after you've seen the policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection under the Plan that's best for you.

PLAN I—INDIVIDUAL(S) ONLY PLAN:

If you want to cover yourself—or yourself and one or more adult dependents (including your spouse)—then this is the Plan for you. Each person must be 18 or over, and shall pay, (per person), the rate applicable to his or her age.

NOTE: Where there are no dependents, PLAN I is the most economical to choose for a husband or wife (or both).

THESE ARE YOUR LOW RATES

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
18-39	only $3.95
40-49	only $4.95
50-59	only $5.95
60-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

SAVE EVEN MORE (over 8%) by paying at quarterly half-year or yearly rates sent with policy.

PLAN II—FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is still growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $5. This entitles you to all maternity benefits. It also covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and under 19 years who live at home. Future dependent children will be covered if you notify us when they reach 3 months of age and without any additional charge.

PLAN III—FAMILY PLAN WITHOUT MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is no longer growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $3. With the exception of children yet-to-be born, Plan III covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and under 19 years who live at home.

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown above (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us — or because of advanced age — but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Act now—"Later" May Be TOO LATE!

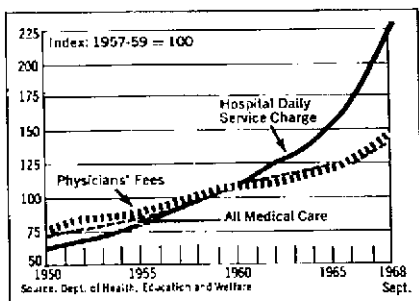

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. Get your Enrollment-Application and first month's premium into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 23 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS...

1. How much will my policy pay me when I go to the hospital?

You are paid $100.00-A-WEEK cash every single week. And it starts the very first day you are in the hospital. (If you are 65 or over, you are paid $70.00 a week, in addition to any Medicare benefits you receive.) You are paid $50.00 A WEEK up to 100 weeks every time your children go to the hospital; when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.

2. Will I be paid if I am hospitalized for less than a full week?

You certainly will . . . regardless of whether you are in the hospital for as short a time as one day . . . or as long a time as a week, month, year or more.

3. Does this Plan pay you from the first day of hospitalization?

Yes! You receive full cash benefits of $100.00 A WEEK starting the very first day you enter the hospital. The coverage begins when we accept your completed Enrollment-Application and your first month's premium—that is the day you and your loved ones are covered for any accidents. Sickness coverage begins 30 days after the Effective Date of the Policy.

4. How much do I receive for a Registered Nurse at home?

$100.00 A WEEK for up to $5,000.00 after you have been hospitalized for 3 days or more, and your doctor has you employ a full-time Registered Nurse within 5 days after you leave the hospital. Ten years from now it will have increased to $130.00 a week in benefits . . . at no extra cost to you!

5. Are there any accidental death benefits?

Yes. $1,000.00 cash is paid to your estate when death occurs any time within 90 days of an accident.

6. Will I be paid extra if I lose a limb or eyesight?

Yes. Presidential pays $1,000.00 for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye; $2,000.00 for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes . . . when dismemberment occurs any time within 90 days of the accident.

7. How much do we receive for pregnancies?

If you have the Family Plan with Maternity, you receive $100.00 A WEEK for as long as 100 weeks for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in hospital confinement when both husband and wife are enrolled under this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.

8. Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?

Don't worry. You still collect $100.00 A WEEK for a total of 100 weeks. And if you have already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days, it's considered a new confinement, and you can collect for an additional 100 weeks. Of course, any new condition is covered immediately for a full 100 weeks.

9. How may I use these benefit payments?

You may use them in any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you.

10. May I apply if I am 65 or over?

Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply — there is no age limit! Members 65 or over are paid $70.00 a week plus all Medicare benefits.

11. Can I collect from Presidential even if I carry other insurance?

Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from policies with any other companies, including Medicare for folks over 65.

12. Why do I need this Presidential Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?

While hospital costs have doubled in recent years, very few people have doubled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will require hospital care this year—and you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your Presidential checks are rushed direct to you by mail to use as you see fit.

13. What benefits do my eligible, dependent children get?

If you choose a Family Type Plan, your dependent eligible children, ages 3 months to under 19 years, would receive

First Class
Permit No. 27416
Philadelphia, Pa.

13. What benefits do my eligible, dependent children get?

If you choose a Family Type Plan, your dependent eligible children, ages 3 months to under 19 years, would receive 50% of all the cash benefits of the Plan (other than Waiver of Premium).

14. May I add future dependent children to my policy after it is in force?

Yes, indeed, if you have the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY. Just notify us when they are 3 months old and they will be covered without evidence of insurability and without any additional charge.

15. Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?

No, definitely not! Presidential guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the 31-day grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state.

16. Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?

No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you enrolled. Presidential guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state.

17. What is not covered by this policy?

The only conditions not covered are those caused by: any mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a U.S. Government hospital; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war. EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED—including pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage when both husband and wife have been enrolled in the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY for the entire period of pregnancy.

18. What are the requirements to enroll in one of these Presidential Plans?

You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must enroll before midnight of the date in the Enrollment-Application.

19. Why is this offer good for a limited time only?

Because, by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.

20. Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining Presidential during this enrollment period?

Yes, there certainly are. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application—just the brief enrollment form. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility — and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!

21. Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?

Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 18.

22. How does the money-back guarantee work?

Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return the policy within 15 days of the day you receive it, and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be protected while making your decision!

23. How do I join?

Fill out the brief Enrollment-Application and mail it, with your first month's premium to: The Presidential Life Insurance Company of America, 11401 Roosevelt Boulevard, Philadelphia, Pa. 19154.

What Your Name Means

By LA REINA RULE

MISS RULE: What is the background on HOLCOMB? — A.M., Glendale.

HOLCOMB, English, began as "Hole-cumb" describing a home "at a hollow in the side of a valley." Towns by this name are in the English counties of Lancaster, Somerset, and Devon, where Henry de Holecombe lived in 1273. The Holcomb shield from Devonshire is blue, crossed by a silver chevron set between three gold men's heads wearing wreaths.

MISS RULE: Would like data on LE DOUX. — E.L., Lyswood.

LE DOUX, French, describes the forefather's home as being in an "agreeable, sweet place." The Le Doux shield from Picardy, France, is blue, emblazoned with a rampant gold lion placed between two arms in armor, each holding a sword erect.

MISS RULE: What is the explanation of SHUE? — E.S., Long Beach.

SHUE, Americanized German, began as the medieval German term "Schu," meaning "shoe," identifying a trademark sign of an ancestral shoemaker.

MISS RULE: Please explain HIGHFILL. — R.H., Long Beach.

HIGHFILL, English, began as the 12th century

Glad You Asked That!

By Hy Gardner

Q. What bugged Ava Gardner most about her ex-husbands? Anna Tourner, Montreal.

A. In sizing up a new admirer, Ava said to a friend: "He isn't a boy like Mickey Rooney. He isn't hard to get along with like Artie Shaw. And he hasn't got a quick temper like Frank Sinatra!"

Q. Why did Sammy Davis Jr. chicken out after buying the movie rights to "The Man," Irving Wallace's fabulous best-selling novel about the first Negro President? — Nellies Sims, Port Jervis, N.Y.

A. Author Wallace supplies the details: "Sammy acquired the film rights with his attorney, Irving Stein, and photographer Milton Greene. He was going to produce, not act in the picture. He had Sidney Poitier in mind for the lead. After Stein was killed in an auto accident, Sammy felt he couldn't handle such a tremendous project alone and bowed out. The rights reverted to me and were bought by Argo International, an independent. The producer is veteran film maker Jack Lamont, who assigned Richard Attaway, a fine Negro writer, to develop the screenplay. He's discussing Ossie Davis as the black President and either Jimmy Stewart or Gregory Peck as the Secretary of State."

Q. They say that President Nixon has ballplayer's hands — real big mitts. Has he? — Tom Trundle, Beaumont, Tex.

A. I never held hands with him, but I heard he told a visiting piano teacher, at a White House reception that he could do an octave and three notes — but gets little chance to prove it these days!

Q. How come Pat Boone always seems to be smiling? On TV, in magazine photos, etc.? Since his syndicated TV talk show bombed what's he got to laugh about? — Bill Duestall, Tampa, Fla.

A. 1. A new chain of franchised restaurants. 2. Part ownership in a land development firm. 3. Major holdings in the Oakland Oaks basketball team. 4. A solid piece of his syndicated tapes. 5. A healthy hunk of half a dozen feature films. Plus youth, good health, a happy marriage and fine children. Wouldn't that make YOU smile?

Q. How come you can get a divorce in Las Vegas after only six weeks but have to wait six months for a fishing license? — Joe Winslow, Long Island City, N.Y.

A. If you're a visitor you can get a non-resident license like right this minute. However, it does take six months if you're a resident. (I guess they like to protect all fish, those swimming in Lake Meade and those drowning in the Nevada divorce courts.)

Ava and Frank, in younger days. He had a temper.

Q. Is it true that when he attended school Spire T. Agnew won a piano scholarship? — James Sigworth, Houston.

A. "About my musical talents," the vice president chuckles, "I DO play the piano . . . or should I say 'murder' it occasionally . . . but strictly for my own enjoyment!"

Personal Mementos: To William J. Fielding, Rockville Center, N.Y.: A Navy chaplain did make "Praise the Lord, and Pass the Ammunition" a WW II patriotic chant, but it was Army Pfc. Frankie Loesser who wrote both the words and music. Circa 1942 . . . To Gwen Rinalso, Dallas: Elvis Presley sold exactly 6,485,000 copies of "Hound Dog" plus some 100 million assorted Presley discs . . . To Irene Talamo, Worcester, Mass.: You've got keen eyesight. That was Milton Berle playing a gangster in a 1941 vintage TV movie titled "Tall, Dark & Handsome" . . . To A.R., B.D., K.L., and a dozen other curious readers: Raymond Burr plays his role in "Ironsides" from a wheelchair because the script, not a doctor, prescribes it. In private life he's a jogging enthusiast.

OUR COVER

In a couple of years Florida will have a "Disneyland" that will outdo the original. Called Walt Disney World, the vast project will have a section similar to Anaheim's "Magic Kingdom" — but it will offer more besides. The first phase will provide a complete "Vacation Kingdom," with hotels for tourists to stay in and a wide range of recreational activities on water and land, including swimming, boating, water-skiing and golf. Our cover shows a Walt Disney Productions model of the first phase of the project. The long-range plans for Walt Disney World include much more, even a model city. Turn to Page 5 for more on Walt Disney World.

THE WELLS REPORT

Farewell, My Lovely

By Bob Wells

THE DESTRUCTION OF LOS ANGELES by some epic violence has been one of the recurring themes of the literature of our time. The artist-hero of Nathaniel West's "The Day of the Locust" intermittently works on his masterpiece, a huge mural depicting "The Burning of Los Angeles." In science-fiction, the City of the Angels has been variously overcome by atomic bombs, death rays and plague germs.

More recently, we have had the prediction — reflected or perhaps originating in literature — that Los Angeles along with the rest of California would be destroyed by earthquake.

It is fascinating to speculate on the origins of this death wish for Los Angeles. The frequency of earthquakes in California is one reason. Another and more important, I think, is that Los Angeles has always repelled and frightened eastern writers, who much prefer San Francisco. This is because Los Angeles is typically and completely Californian — unimpressed by eastern writers and their values — while San Francisco is a comprador city like Hong Kong, a beautiful but thoroughly colonial outpost of eastern culture amidst the wild, wild west.

San Francisco, of course, was destroyed by earthquake and fire in 1906, and it seems terribly unfair to easterners that a similar fate has never smote barbarian Los Angeles.

WELL, REJOICE, EASTERN WRITERS, because the truth is that the razing of Los Angeles has progressed to an advanced stage. It has been accomplished without atomic bombing, without fire, without earthquake and with a minimum of violence.

For almost 20 years now, hardly a day has gone by without the crumbling of walls and a cloud of masonry dust white against the brown smog to mark the passing of another landmark in central Los Angeles. The destruction of Los Angeles has escaped attention because it has been planned and executed by the people who own it. Now and then the plaintive protests of people who have lost their homes merit a paragraph or two in the newspapers. Since these protesters are mainly the unlucky losers of our society, little heed is paid them.

Recently, I stood atop Bunker Hill at early twilight and looked down into central Los Angeles. It looked a little like Tokyo when I first saw that city right after the B-29s had leveled whole blocks and neighborhoods.

From Bunker Hill, one can see great gaps in Los Angeles where buildings and groups of buildings have been razed to the ground. They were leveled, not by bombs or artillery, but by the wrecking ball in order to make room for the automobile. Where office buildings and hotels and stores once stood there is now nothing but parking lots.

BUNKER HILL itself is as bald and bare as a lonely Sierra peak. The turreted mansions with their gingerbread porches and stained glass windows are gone. Once the pride of the turn-of-the-century wealthy, and more recently dingy rooming houses for the haunted, the hopeless and the harried, they have been pulled down to make way for the glass-and-stone dream towers of the urban redevelopers.

I went to Bunker Hill on a pilgrimage to yet another landmark before it too gave way to progress. I went to take a last ride on Angel's Flight — that ridiculous yet brave funicular railway that since 1901 has been climbing the 315-foot slope of the hill from Third and Hill Sts. I went to say goodbye to the L.A. of World War II and the 1940s — the L.A. of Raymond Chandler and Fletcher Bowron and yellow streetcars and the Los Angeles Daily News, the L.A. of my youth.

The death of Angel's Flight got wide coverage in the newspapers and on television. Lots of people came out for one last nostalgic ride. They brought their small children and carefully placed them on the funny little seats up front, and as they led them away after the ride I could hear them explaining that an era was ending.

THAT WAS FUNNY TO ME — That so many people should come to the funeral for Angel's Flight, the funeral for the Downtown L.A. of the classic days. When I was a youth of 18 and lived and worked in Downtown L.A. in 1942, and again after I returned from the Army in 1945, nobody went downtown who didn't have to go there.

I can remember hearing people boast that they hadn't been east of Western Ave. for 15 years. I remember resenting them — not audibly, for I was a polite youth — because I couldn't afford to commute from distant suburbs like Hollywood or Leimert Park. The closest I got to that magic Western Ave. dividing line was Normandie Ave., where I shared an apartment for a few months. I resented it also because I sort of liked Downtown L.A.

Those were the days before the smog closed in. You gave directions to newcomers by telling them to walk toward the mountains or away from the mountains. There is a memory to make you cry — if the smog hasn't done it already.

I REMEMBER THE FIRST TIME I rode Angel's Flight. The fare then was three cents, I think. The thing that impressed me most were the old people that weren't riding — the old men and women coming from Grand Central Market with their bread and potatoes and wearily climbing the stairs up the steep hill to save the three-cent fare. These were the old men with faces — as Raymond Chandler described them in his books — "like lost battles," and women "who should be young but have faces like stale beer."

The look and touch and smell of summer on city streets was different, too, in those days before smog. Summer light was soft and white with just a glint of gold. The air had the usual city fragrances — tire residue on concrete, hot street-car rails, wedges of perfume scent meticulously measured out by the revolving doors of department stores, ten thousand clothing smells of musty tweeds, dry, crisp cottons, moist woollens and waxed shoes. The smells of barbershops and movie theaters. Laced into this busy fragrance was a lazier one — what Chandler described as "that peculiar tomcat smell that eucalyptus trees give off in warm weather."

The L.A. Times in those days was written by bank clerks in a manner well calculated not to disturb the digestion of GOP county committeemen or the financiers who stiffly showed their cuffless well-tailored pant legs as they stepped out of their chauffeured Packards onto the sidewalks of Spring St. The real flavor of the city was caught by the orange-faced six-columned pages of the Daily News, and particularly by its three local columnists, Matt Weinstock, Ted LeBerthon and Gene Coughlin. How I wished I could write as well as they did. Today, a quarter-century later, I still wish I could write as well as they did.

DOWN THESE MEAN streets of L.A., like Chandler's hero, Philip Marlowe, I went too. I rode the PE red cars through the Los Angeles Subway — just one foot short of one mile long — to Hollywood and Vine, then the most famous street corner in the world. I stood in line for network radio shows on Sunset Blvd. and I lied about my age to get a highball at the Florentine Gardens.

All those things and places are gone now along with Angel's Flight. I do not overly mourn them. All places change and I do not believe in making museums of whole cities. The new Los Angeles is probably better. Just the same, I am glad I never could boast I hadn't been east of Western Ave. in 15 years.

OUR COVER

In a couple of years Florida will have a "Disneyland" that will outdo the original. Called Walt Disney World, the vast project will have a section similar to Anaheim's "Magic Kingdom" — but it will offer more besides. The first phase will provide a complete "Vacation Kingdom," with hotels for tourists to stay in and a wide range of recreational activities on water and land, including swimming, boating, water-skiing and golf. Our cover shows a Walt Disney Productions model of the first phase of the project. The long-range plans for Walt Disney World include much more, even a model city. Florida's Walt Disney World — It Will Outdo Disneyland

By Richard Lesley

ORLANDO, FLA. — California's world-famous Disneyland will have an eastern counterpart in a couple of years. And the Florida version of Disneyland will outdo the original in many respects.

Walt Disney World will open to the public in October 1971 on a site 16 miles southwest of here. It will offer a new concept in vacation resorts, a complete family "Vacation Kingdom."

Walt Disney World will be much larger than Disneyland, will have many more attractions and will offer complete vacation packages at five hotels with a total of 4,000 rooms.

Consider the magnitude of the project, already more than three years in the planning. It will encompass 27,000 acres — an area twice the size of Manhattan Island and about the same size as the city of San Francisco.

Of the 27,000 acres, though, "only" 2,500 acres will be devoted exclusively to resorts and recreation. This compares with 70.5 acres of entertainment area now at Disneyland. The 2,500 acres will reach nearly three miles across Walt Disney World from east to west, and almost two miles from north to south.

The project as a whole will take many years to complete. In addition to a complete "vacationland," it eventually will include an Experimental Prototype Community of Tomorrow (EPCOT), an industrial park designed to showcase American industry at work and an "airport of the future."

PLANS FOR "PHASE ONE" of Walt Disney World were detailed recently. This is the part that will open in October 1971. It will be built around a proven success — a "theme park" that will include some of the most popular features of Disneyland as well as many new attractions. The second phase will be started five years later.

Walt Disney Productions, whose board chairman is Roy O. Disney, estimates Walt Disney World will draw eight million visitors the first full year of operation and that about 90 per cent of them will come from out of Florida. About 5,500 employees will be hired to staff the amusement park and the first two resort hotels.

A major contrast to Disneyland will be the inter-relationship between the theme park and the nearby hotels. They will be a part of the same world of entertainment and recreation activities. A transportation network — monorail, water craft and land vehicles — will link the hotels to the "Magic Kingdom" theme park.

The entire "Vacation Kingdom" will be constructed around a man-made lagoon and natural lake. Considerable progress already has been made in ground preparation. There will be facilities for a wide range of outdoor recreation and entertainment on both land and water.

On the water, the natural sports potential of the existing, 450-acre lake is being expanded with the excavation of an additional 200-acre, man-made lagoon.

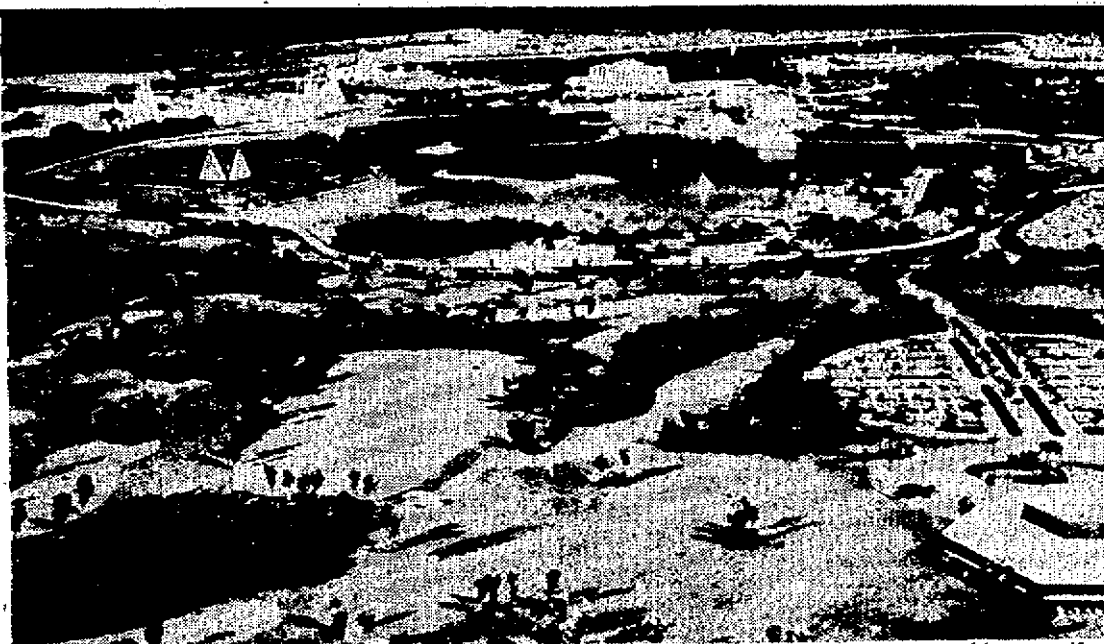

Soon, a pleasure waterway nearly three miles long and dotted with natural and man-made islands will become a center for boating, sailing, water skiing, fishing and aquatic spectacles. This waterway will be kept crystal clear and safe for water sports enthusiasts.

In addition, 3.8 miles of white, sandy beaches from 80 to 100 feet wide, have been built up around the perimeter of the waterway for "seaside" activities like sunning, picnicking and swimming.

On the land, in addition to the "Magic Kingdom" theme park, plans are being developed for 18-hole

Model shows details of the "Vacation Kingdom," which will be a part of Walt Disney World — specifically, those facilities to be constructed on a site near Orlando, Fla., before and during the first five years of operation. Focal point will be a lagoon (center), around which will be constructed an amusement theme park (upper left), similar to Disneyland, theme resort hotels and an entrance complex. There will be facilities for a wide range of outdoor recreation and entertainment on land and water. Note the golf course in the foreground.

EAST GETTING ITS OWN 'MAGIC KINGDOM'

championship golf courses, stables and, bridle trails, nature tours for study of the property's pristine wilderness areas, and a full complement of recreation activities including swimming, tennis, archery, bicycling and camping. The hotels will offer nightclub entertainment and dancing, and nearby there will be theaters presenting motion pictures and stage shows.

An almost endless variety of restaurants will be found, not only in the theme park, but in the theme resorts as well.

THE HOTEL "THEME RESORTS" — so called because each is being based upon a single theme that represents a culture or architectural style around the world — will offer far more than simply convenience of location to the new "Magic Kingdom" and its attractions. In design motif, food specialties, recreation activities, convention facilities and even the type of entertainment to be presented, these major hotels will complement each other and the attractions of the theme park.

The resort hotels will vary in size from 500 to 700 rooms, and will be themed along Contemporary, Polynesian, Asian, Venetian and Persian motifs. These will be constructed before and during the first five years of operation, in response to demonstrated public demand.

At the visual center of this vacationland will stand the "Magic Kingdom." In general concept and size it will parallel California's Disneyland, which itself established a new standard in outdoor recreation 14 years ago.

Guests, having left their automobiles either at their hotel or the day-visitor parking center one-half mile away, will travel to the theme park aboard Walt Disney World-Alweg monorail trains, water craft like historic steam-driven side-wheelers, or land conveyances like double-deck buses or trams. Thus, the main entrance will be a bustling transportation center. The entrance complex will include a parking area for 14,000 cars.

The amusement park will include seven realms, somewhat similar to those of Disneyland — Main Street, Adventureland, Frontierland, Fantasyland, Tomorrowland, Liberty Square and Holidayland.

The architectural styling of Main Street in Florida will be "Eastern Seashore Resort Victorian," a decorative and flamboyant turn-of-the-century decor making extensive use of glass and wrought iron.

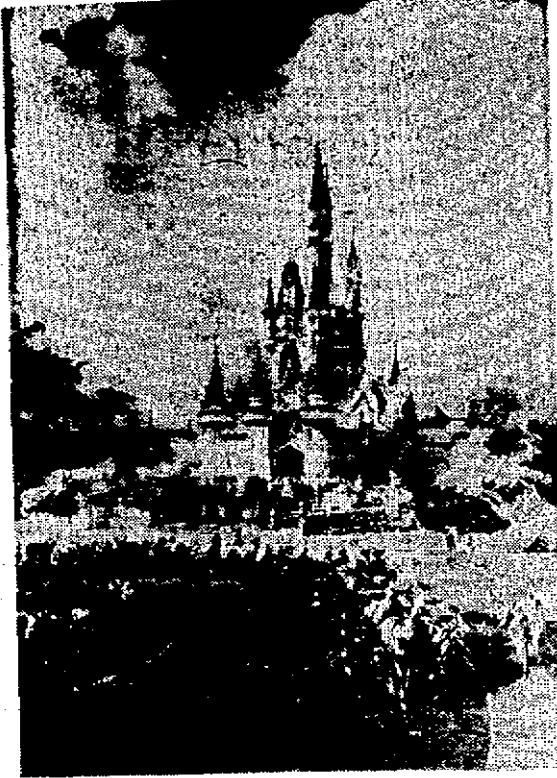

On stage in Frontierland, the Country Bear Band will present a foot stompin' country and western hne-down starring the zaniest group of bears ever assembled. These "Audio-Animatronics" animals will sing and swing and strum in the finest tradition of wild western musicals.

Nearby in Adventureland will be found Thunder Mesa, a spectacular panorama, where the Old West will live again through a series of exciting adventures.

The colonial shops and stores of Liberty Square will depict America's past at the time of our nation's founding. Highlight of the area will be a replica of Philadelphia's Independence Hall.

In Fantasyland, visitors may stroll through Pinocchio Street or attend the all-new Mickey Mouse Musical Revue, a spectacular "Audio-Animatronics" visit with 60 of the famous characters from Walt Disney films down through the years.

Towering over Tomorrowland will be the Space Mountain, 20 stories tall. This huge structure will house a number of adventures and attractions themed to the world of the future. Among these will be four high-speed "rocket sled" tracks, which will climb the outside of the mountain, then plunge inside for a dark ride, simulating a trip through outer space. Track engineering was so complex that it had to be worked out by computer.

Holidayland will embrace such sports activities as boating, bathing, fishing, water-skiing and golf.

Phase One — the "Vacation Kingdom" — will be just the beginning of Walt Disney World, but it will be a giant step forward toward realization of the late Walt Disney's dream of a "living showcase that more people will talk about and come to look at than any other area of the world."

It's Time to Prepare for Vacation Fun

By Pat Hall

SOON THE VACATION season will be with us. In full swing and Southern Californians will begin to ask:

Where can we go? Where can we get in? Do we need reservations? How much to spend?

To start at the logical beginning, the matter of first importance is what you want to do and where you want to do it. And it is here, too, that fun begins to enter into the picture.

Actually, the rules for happy vacations are simple ones, and the preparations for a trip need be no special chore. It can, indeed, be nearly as much fun as the holiday itself.

Pouring over maps and reading the flamboyant phrases of tourist literature and conjuring up all those imagined adventures beyond the magic door can be exciting.

Hiking in the woods, fishing in the gurgling waters for trout, children laughing and splashing in lakes, finding new sights and scenic beauties, meeting new people: These are a few dreams of many of our Southern Californians this year.

Ninety per cent of all American vacationers like to travel by auto. Automobiles give us the flexibility and sense of independence that cannot be matched in any other mode of travel.

There are many ways to prepare for a happy trip. Since the entire family is involved, all members should participate in deciding where to go. Families can save travel stories from popular magazines and their Sunday newspaper. These go into what they call their "wish file," to be pulled out during the winter months. The entire family can look over the pictures and stories, and in the end some sort of compromise is reached that gives everyone a chance at the things he most likes to do.

Of course, travel stories are only part of the wealth of vacation information at your fingertips. Every state, for instance, issues some kind of literature describing the highlights of its tourist offerings. Send off a few five-cent postcards and you will find yourself flooded with color brochures, highway information, folders on picnic and camping facilities and lists of local and regional special events. The Chamber of Commerce in any town large enough to justify a dot on the map will send you free information about local recreation and accommodations.

The U.S. Forest Service, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and U.S. Fish and Game Service are extremely cooperative in giving you practical vacation ideas. If traveling in Canada interests you, that country's National Parks and Historic Sites Services will be glad to help you. Do not forget there are always bookstores, libraries, gas stations and automobile associations to help you prepare for that "most wonderful trip."

If the bright city lights, the crowded main streets and the bumper-to-bumper freeways do nothing for you, there is always the journey off the beaten paths. I do not mean you should shun the world and hie to the wilderness like a hermit. But, all over America, if you search with a little extra zeal you can find places where the tourists are not yet as thick as flies. The undiscovered places are most often the least expensive. Naturally, when you leave the customary tourist haunts you may not always find at hand the comforts you are used to. But you will get along, and what's more (you should be prepared for this type of trip) you will enjoy yourself in the process.

The worst blow that you can deal yourself on vacation is to spend too much too fast and wind up limping home ahead of time, with a scowl where a smile should be. To avoid it, stick closely to a budget, even if it means giving up an occasional tempting "extra" like an expensive chair lift ride or a fancy hooked rug at a roadside stand.

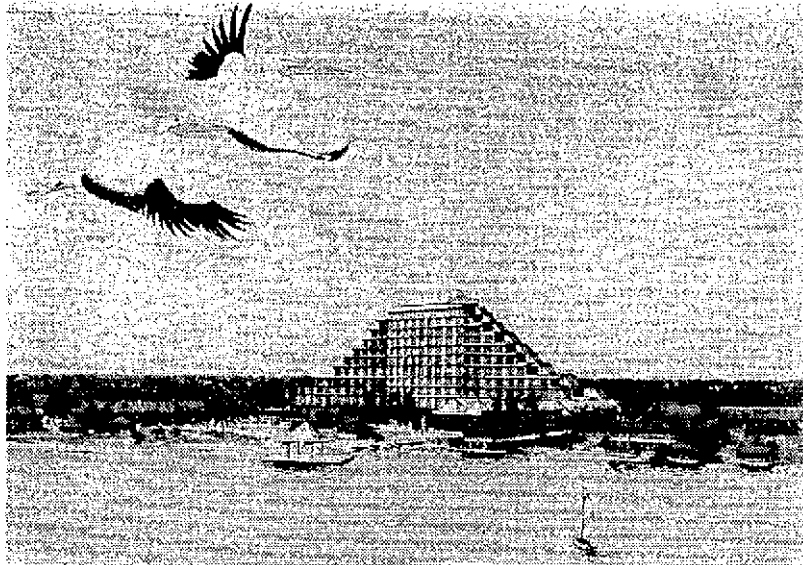

Keep a careful record of all you spend and, when you have reached the limit you have set, call a screaming halt. If you travel with a pocketful of credit cards remember the monthly bill will arrive at your home soon after you do. The safe way to handle the credit card problem is to pay for everything out of the pocket as you go along, but carry a credit card in place of an emergency fund. Don't spend your emergency fund on "bargains" which turn out not to be bargains at all.

The annual vacation is the most important time of the year and rates the most careful planning and budgeting. But don't forget all the joys to be found in short holidays, picnics in the park, or just an overnight rest in the next town. No matter what your choice — be prepared and have a happy vacation!

Florida's Walt Disney World — It Will Outdo Disneyland

By Richard Lesley

ORLANDO, FLA. — California's world-famous Disneyland will have an eastern counterpart in a couple of years. And the Florida version of Disneyland will outdo the original in many respects.

Walt Disney World will open to the public in October 1971 on a site 16 miles southwest of here. It will offer a new concept in vacation resorts, a complete family "Vacation Kingdom."

Walt Disney World will be much larger than Disneyland, will have many more attractions and will offer complete vacation packages at five hotels with a total of 4,000 rooms.

Consider the magnitude of the project, already more than three years in the planning: It will encompass 27,000 acres — an area twice the size of Manhattan Island and about the same size as the city of San Francisco.

Of the 27,000 acres, though, "only" 2,500 acres will be devoted exclusively to resorts and recreation. This compares with 70.5 acres of entertainment area now at Disneyland. The 2,500 acres will reach nearly three miles across Walt Disney World from east to west, and almost two miles from north to south.

The project as a whole will take many years to complete. In addition to a complete "vacationland," it eventually will include an Experimental Prototype Community of Tomorrow (EPCOT), an industrial park designed to showcase American industry at work and an "airport of the future."

PLANS FOR "PHASE ONE" of Walt Disney World were detailed recently. This is the part that will open in October 1971. It will be built around a proven success — a "theme park" that will include some of the most popular features of Disneyland as well as many new attractions. The second phase will be started five years later.

Walt Disney Productions, whose board chairman is Roy O. Disney, estimates Walt Disney World will draw eight million visitors the first full year of operation and that about 90 per cent of them will come from out of Florida. About 5,500 employees will be hired to staff the amusement park and the first two resort hotels.

A major contrast to Disneyland will be the inter-relationship between the theme park and the nearby hotels. They will be a part of the same world of entertainment and recreation activities. A transportation network — monorail, water craft and land vehicles — will link the hotels to the "Magic Kingdom" theme park.

The entire "Vacation Kingdom" will be constructed around a man-made lagoon and natural lake. Considerable progress already has been made in ground preparation. There will be facilities for a wide range of outdoor recreation and entertainment on both land and water.

On the water, the natural sports potential of the existing, 450-acre lake is being expanded with the excavation of an additional 200-acre, man-made lagoon.

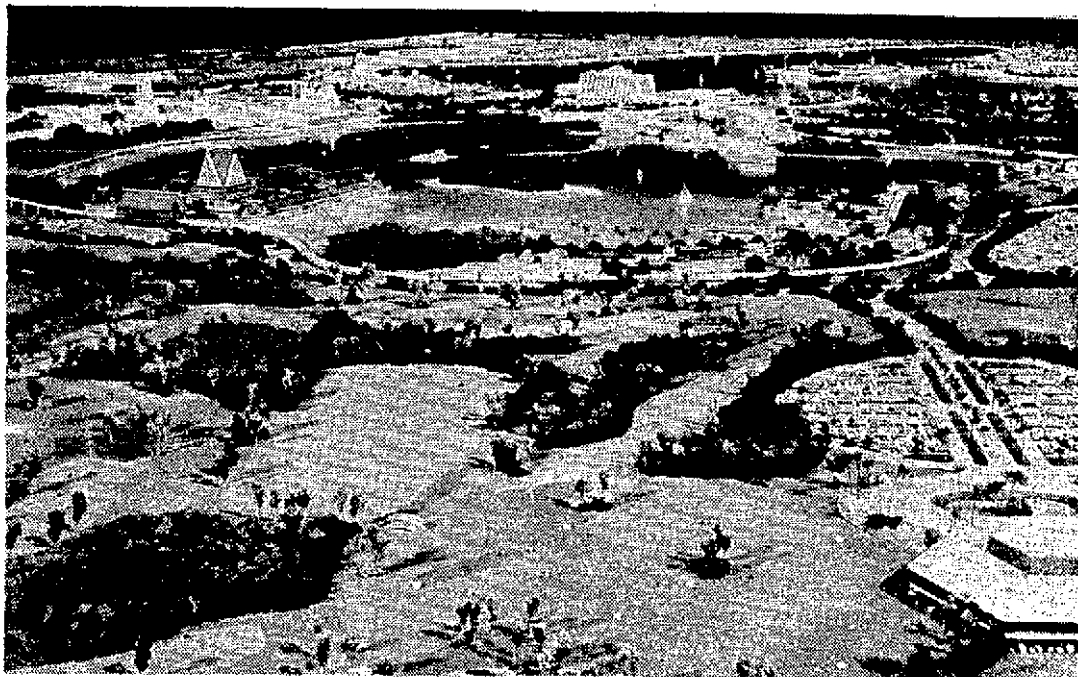

Soon, a pleasure waterway nearly three miles long and dotted with natural and man-made islands will become a center for boating, sailing, water skiing, fishing and aquatic spectacles. This waterway will be kept crystal clear and safe for water sports enthusiasts.

In addition, 3.8 miles of white, sandy beaches from 80 to 100 feet wide, have been built up around the perimeter of the waterway for "seaside" activities like sunning, picnicking and swimming.

On the land, in addition to the "Magic Kingdom" theme park, plans are being developed for 18-hole championship golf courses, stables and bridle trails, nature tours for study of the property's pristine wilderness areas, and a full complement of recreation activities including swimming, tennis, archery, bicycling and camping. The hotels will offer nightclub entertainment and dancing, and nearby there will be theaters presenting motion pictures and stage shows.

Model shows details of the "Vacation Kingdom," which will be a part of Walt Disney World — specifically, those facilities to be constructed on a site near Orlando, Fla., before and during the first five years of operation. Focal point will be a lagoon (center), around which will be constructed an amusement theme park (upper left), similar to Disneyland, theme resort hotels and an entrance complex. There will be facilities for a wide range of outdoor recreation and entertainment on land and water. Note the golf course in the foreground.

An almost endless variety of restaurants will be found, not only in the theme park, but in the theme resorts as well.

THE HOTEL "THEME RESORTS" — so called because each is being based upon a single theme that represents a culture or architectural style around the world — will offer far more than simply convenience of location to the new "Magic Kingdom" and its attractions. In design motif, food specialties, recreation activities, convention facilities and even the type of entertainment to be presented, these major hotels will complement each other and the attractions of the theme park.

The resort hotels will vary in size from 500 to 700 rooms, and will be themed along Contemporary, Polynesian, Asian, Venetian and Persian motifs. These will be constructed before and during the first five years of operation, in response to demonstrated public demand.

At the visual center of this vacationland will stand the "Magic Kingdom." In general concept and size it will parallel California's Disneyland, which itself established a new standard in outdoor recreation 14 years ago.

Guests, having left their automobiles either at their hotel or the day-visitor parking center one-half mile away, will travel to the theme park aboard Walt Disney World-Alweg monorail trains, water craft like historic steam-driven side-wheelers, or land conveyances like double-deck buses or trams. Thus, the main entrance will be a bustling transportation center. The entrance complex will include a parking area for 14,000 cars.

The amusement park will include seven realms, somewhat similar to those of Disneyland — Main Street, Adventureland, Frontierland, Fantasyland, Tomorrowland, Liberty Square and Holidayland.

The architectural styling of Main Street in Florida will be "Eastern Seashore Resort Victorian," a decorative and flamboyant turn-of-the-century decor making extensive use of glass and wrought iron.

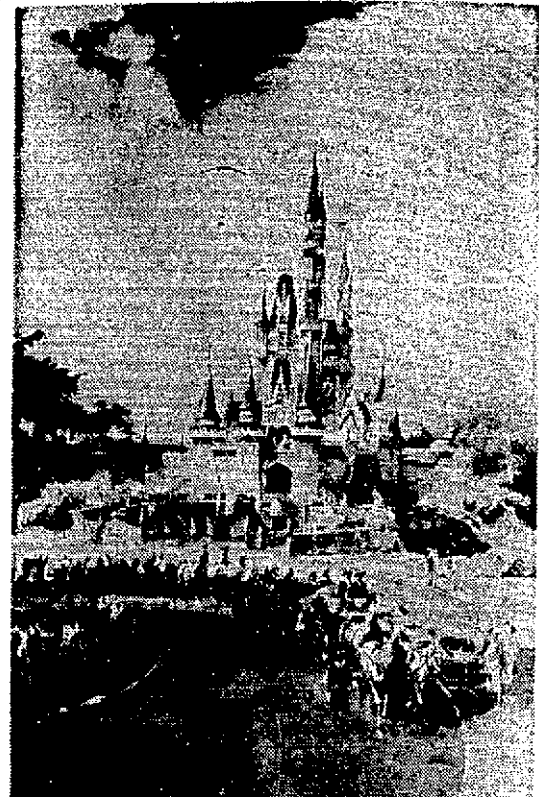

On stage in Frontierland, the Country Bear Band will present a foot stompin' country and western hoedown starring the zaniest group of bears ever assembled. These "Audio-Animatronics" animals will sing and swing and strum in the finest tradition of wild western musicals.

Nearby in Adventureland will be found Thunder Mesa, a spectacular panorama, where the Old West will live again through a series of exciting adventures.

The colonial shops and stores of Liberty Square will depict America's past at the time of our nation's founding. Highlight of the area will be a replica of Philadelphia's Independence Hall.

In Fantasyland, visitors may stroll through Pinocchio Street or attend the all-new Mickey Mouse Musical Revue, a spectacular "Audio-Animatronics" visit with 60 of the famous characters from Walt Disney films down through the years.

Towering over Tomorrowland will be the Space Mountain, 20 stories tall. This huge structure will house a number of adventures and attractions themed to the world of the future. Among these will be four high-speed "rocket sled" tracks, which will climb the outside of the mountain, then plunge inside for a dark ride, simulating a trip through outer space. Track engineering was so complex that it had to be worked out by computer.

Holidayland will embrace such sports activities as boating, bathing, fishing, water-skiing and golf.

Phase One — the "Vacation Kingdom" — will be just the beginning of Walt Disney World, but it will be a giant step forward toward realization of the late Walt Disney's dream of a "living showcase that more people will talk about and come to look at than any other area of the world."

It's Time to Prepare for Vacation Fun

By
Pat Hall

SOON THE VACATION season will be with us in full swing and Southern Californians will begin to ask:

Where can we go? Where can we get in? Do we need reservations? How much to spend?

To start at the logical beginning, the matter of first importance is what you want to do and where you want to do it. And it is here, too, that fun begins to enter into the picture.

Actually, the rules for happy vacations are simple ones, and the preparations for a trip need be no special chore. It can, indeed, be nearly as much fun as the holiday itself.

Pouring over maps and reading the flamboyant phrases of tourist literature and conjuring up all those imagined adventures beyond the magic door can be exciting.

Hiking in the woods, fishing in the gurgling waters for trout, children laughing and splashing in lakes, finding new sights and scenic beauties, meeting new people: These are a few dreams of many of our Southern Californians this year.

Ninety per cent of all American vacationers like to travel by auto. Automobiles give us the flexibility and sense of independence that cannot be matched in any other mode of travel.

Kitchen Display Sets Precedent

Keeping "tab" with the times have created a new concept in kitchen appliance display at A-1 Home Appliance Co.

William B. Eastman, owner of A-1 has created a "mock kitchen" area in the front portion of his building with a cooking and barbecue island to make selections for a single appliance or for an entire kitchen easy work for the customer. Comfortably located directly behind the kitchen display is a two-lane showplace for built-in ovens, refrigerators, hooded ranges, dishwashers, washers and dryers.

Due to the fast-growing remodeling, alterations and custom home market, more and more people are swinging to contracting for new modes and moods for their kitchens. To meet this new demand, A-1 has set up this special display department, with its own merchandising program, to facilitate selections for individuals, builders, contractors, etc.

Approximately 60 per cent of appliance sales will be accomplished this year through the "builder-contractor" sales, according to Eastman. His customers consist of builders, contractors, architects and individuals who are participating in the fast-growing remodeling, alterations and custom house market.

Front area of the Builder-Contractor Appliance Sales Division managed by Eastman's son, John, is designed to give the kitchen effect... complete with tiled cooking island, false cabinets, beams and overhead lighting. The outstanding display gives a complete and varied selection for the customer seeking a single appliance or an entire kitchen.

"Remodeling and alterations are a very important part of our business," said Eastman. "Long Beach and some of the surrounding towns are natural for this type of change because area homes have been established for many, many years. Approximately 75 per cent of our customers have been in the area for 25 years or more... with a great majority living in the same homes in the same neighborhoods and coming to us for appliances over the years."

A long time ago there was a very popular song entitled "Three Little Words." It caught the fancy of the nation and became a "top-tenner."

William B. Eastman, owner of A-1 Home Appliance Co., has come up with another "three little word" hit that has endeared his company to thousands of Southland residents. Eastman's words are "Famous for Service."

"Service is the backbone of my business," says Bill. His service department consists of a full-time manager, dispatcher, shop man and seven "one-line" service men, each with his own truck and each specializing in repairs of one manufacturer. The store carries a basic parts inventory of over $30,000 and each truck carries over $2000 in parts.

Dr. and Mrs. Jay N. Hoover find pleasure in patio.

AFTER two years of retirement, Dr. and Mrs. Jay N. Hoover are still refreshed and delighted by the serenity of the home in Seal Beach Leisure World.

Retirement from 43 years of practice in general surgery for Dr. Hoover means only retirement from the medical activity involved. The Hoovers find an active social life combines with extended travels to set an interesting pace.

A large home on the ocean was sold to allow more time for travel with fewer obligations.

The gated seclusion of Leisure World supplies more security for the Hoovers while they travel and at home it provides the peace and quiet they feel is necessary for their contentment.

The sedate dwelling comprises a large living room, dining area, kitchen, atrium and master bedroom and den.

The home was furnished deliberately for their comfort by the Hoovers.

Beginning with the copper carpeting, the interior design developed into a traditional setting with a classic mural filling one living room wall.

Silkscreen print draperies form the window interest in both living room and dining alcove.

The four-pillow back sofa and lounge chair boast the identical brocade upholstery.

Mrs. Hoover placed the wide grilled breakfast between the two rooms as a display for world-wide collections.

Function in the rust and white kitchen is the result of abundant cabinets surrounding an easy-to-reach work space. An attractive enclosed patio is exposed from the kitchen. The patio supplies outdoor relaxation with indoor facilities such as carpeting and comfortable furniture.

The inner atrium was the result of utilization of space between the dining area and den. The square concrete base was surrounded on two sides with windows; a third cement block wall and sliding glass exit from the dining room meant no elaborate structural changes were demanded. The nearly two-story top was covered with fibre glass while an opening to a backup apartment was sealed with bright canvas.

Carpeting was installed before wrought iron furniture proved to be the light touch for the indoor-outdoor dining.

The resulting effect of the room was a perfect see-through from living room to the den.

"The den is our mahogany room," says Mrs. Hoover. "In our previous home mahogany tradition was the furnishing design but we changed to cherry with this move."

A daybed furnishes additional guest space when the room isn't serving as a sewing, study or entertainment area.

A nearly room-size bathroom between the sleeping rooms has a molded fibre glass tub and walls so simple to keep clean.

The tub and walls were formed in a single piece then installed within the provided space. No grout or texture means scrubbing is reduced to a minimum.

Moire finish vinyl walls include a covey of cupids in gold on cream and copper.

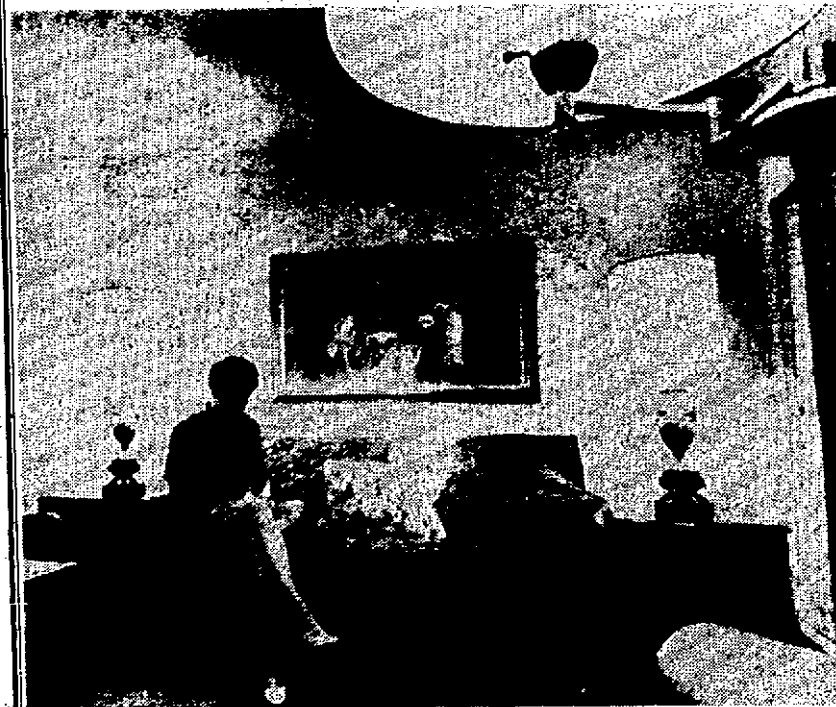

The master bedroom has the well-tailored garden view complete with blooming hibiscus and a rose garden.

The Hoovers couldn't resist a bit of gardening but limited it to the planting, since the company responsible for upkeep takes care of the details.

A graceful wisteria wall mural forms the basis for design in the master bedroom with delicate silkscreen print overdrapes increasing the privacy through filtered sheer underdraperies.

Mrs. Hoover enjoys sewing in the den.

Moire finish vinyl walls include a covey of cupids in gold on cream and copper.

The master bedroom has the well-tailored garden view, complete with blooming hibiscus and a rose garden.

The Hoovers couldn't resist a bit of gardening but limited it to the planting, since the company responsible for upkeep takes care of the details.

A graceful wisteria wall mural forms the basis for design in the master bedroom with delicate silkscreen print overdrapes increasing the privacy through filtered sheer underdraperies.

highlight the room although the Hoovers admit they do little travel shopping. They prefer some of the native handicrafts but keep shopping at a minimum since they enjoy meeting people more than looking at things.

Maintaining interest in a lifelong career is complemented by careful travel plans. The Hoovers prefer medical seminars since they have a great deal in common with the participants. The conventions are held at least once a year, and occasionally twice, and always in an interesting part of the world. Increasing the excitement of such a meeting is the reciprocal entertaining which provides the Hoovers with world-wide friendships with persons of common interest.

Among the more unusual happenings was meeting fellow students from medical school days. Considering the nearly 50-year interim and the place was Beirut, it was unexpected at the very least!

Another memorable evening was spent at the ballet in Moscow in an audience with Charles de Gaulle and Nikita Khrushchev.

The more interesting countries to the Hoovers always are the ones that differ from the United States, but they are increasingly difficult to find. Medical hobbies still share another portion of Mrs. Hoover's life, with 10 years of service devoted to the Volunteers at Memorial Hospital of Long Beach.

Dignity and warmth are the accents of the Hoover home where the interior design "gives comfort without ostentation," according to Mrs. Hoover.

"Our memories are our accessories," she says. Among the rare memories is the animal migration in Tanzania where a solid mass five miles long and one-fourth mile wide of gazelles, wildebeests and zebras moved in a body with the follow-up lions waiting to feed on the lagards. This rare sight was photographed and appeared in a recent National Geographic Magazine.

By traveling quietly and carefully, the Hoovers' guide managed to avoid a confrontation with an elephant on an East African tour.

In the offing is a trip to Ireland but the carefully guarded home remains secure while the Hoovers travel. There is tremendous peace of mind in the knowledge that everything will be cared for, including the special gardens that wrap the house on two sides.

MISS RULE: Please give brief genealogy data on DOHERTY. — P. D., Norwalk.

DOHERTY, Irish, traces to the Gaelic clan name O'Dochartaigh, deciphered as "descendants of the obstructive" or "disobliging one." Doherty (and Dougherty) ancestry began with Conal Gulban, a son of King Niall of the Nine Hostages who died in A.D. 919. The Doherty shield is silver, emblazoned with a running, red buck deer. Across the shield's top is a green stripe having three silver stars clustered at the right end.

MISS RULE: Would like the meaning of LEVESQUE. — N.L., Buena Park.

LEVESQUE, French, began as L'Evesque, which in the 13th century was a religious nickname, likening the forefather to a "bishop" for his deeply religious manner. The Levesque armorial shield is blue on the upper half, emblazoned with a stork standing on one leg. The shield's lower half is silver, decorated with three flaming red hearts.

READERS GIVE THEIR VIEWS ON 20 QUESTIONS

The Opinion Game

By Mark Clutter

THE VAST MAJORITY of those who answered believe that the welfare, health and education of children and young people are a direct responsibility of government.

Eighty-four per cent believe that the United States, "starting right now," should see to it that every American child has food, health care and education.

Seventy-two per cent favor a universal draft of young men and women to carry out urgent public projects.

If the public should vote on legal abortion for any woman who does not want a child, it might pass. Sixty-four per cent of those who answered favor such a measure. Women, understandably, tend to favor it more than men.

Substantial majorities favor capital punishment for the more infamous crimes.

The women who answered outnumbered the men two to one. Except on abortion, there was little difference in the opinions of the sexes.

There also was little difference in the opinions of the various age groups. Young people did not appear to be more radical, and some people past 50 have "way-out" views. The age distribution seemed about right for the population in this area.

The Opinion Game is just that, a game, to stimulate thought and discussion. It does not pretend to be a scientific survey of opinion in the Southland. It does seem, however, that people are thinking different thoughts from their leaders in government. For example, Congress is tending to reduce aid to poverty areas, but citizens want all children cared for.

More than 650 answered the questionnaire. Here are results to the 20 questions with comments on individual opinions.

1. A notorious hoodlum is on trial. Testimony reveals his criminal character, but the prosecution fails to prove that he did the crime for which he is on trial. Should this man be convicted?

The "no" sayers number about 95 per cent, the largest majority in the quiz. American law, of course, holds that the accused must be tried for a specific crime, not for the jurors' notions of his character.

2. A rapist-killer is convicted of the murder of a high school girl. Should he be executed?

Almost three-fourths favor execution for this man. Many who said "no" favor life imprisonment without possibility of parole.

3. A brilliant scientist gives military secrets to Red China and is convicted of treason. Should he be executed?

Sixty per cent want the traitor executed. Many favor life imprisonment without parole. Some urge that he be required in prison to do important scientific work. Some urge that he be deported to Red China. (American law does not recognize the punishment of exile.)

4. You read a novel filled with vile, obscene and profane language formerly regarded as "un-printable." Should the publication of such words be prohibited by law?

Fifty-five per cent oppose censorship of vile language. Among them are those who would keep such literature out of the hands of children, but not adults.

5. You read an interesting, scholarly book which would be understood only by highly educated readers. Its purpose is to make converts to communism. Should such a book be prohibited by law?

Sixty-three per cent oppose censorship of intellectual, pro-Communist literature. Among the arguments against censorship is that communism cannot be combated effectively unless one can find out what the Communists are thinking.

6. No man under our Constitution can be forced to give testimony against himself. Under California law a man suspected of drunk driving must submit to a medical test or be penalized. Is this right?

More than two thirds favor the medical tests as a protection to the public. Some of those opposed say that an acquitted man can still lose his driver's license.

7. Polygamy is forbidden in the United States, but a large and respected church believes in polygamy. In the name of religious freedom, should the law against polygamy be repealed?

Seventy one per cent oppose legal polygamy. A few said it was against the Bible; others argued that it would increase the birth rate.

8. Should a woman who does not want to bear a child be permitted to have a legal abortion?

Thirty six per cent oppose legal abortion for those who want it. The opponents include some women in the most fertile years. The opinion of some who favor abortion can be summed up in this statement: "A woman's body belongs to her, not to some man or foolish old men who make laws."

9. Should abortion be permitted when the life, or physical or mental health of either mother or child is at stake?

More than 90 per cent favor abortion for therapeutic reasons.

10. The police "bug" with electronic devices the home of a racketeer to get information. Should this be permitted?

A slight majority—53 per cent—favor "bugging" by police. Many qualify this by saying "with a court order."

11. Campus militants disrupt a great university and endanger life and property by rioting. Should they be suppressed—with bayonets, if necessary?

Eighty five per cent believe that campus disorders must be suppressed. Some, however, struck out the phrase "with bayonets." Some who opposed suppression argued for discussion and understanding.

12. Should marijuana, the effects of which are not entirely known to medical science, be legalized?

Seventy per cent oppose legalization of marijuana. Some of the younger people were most earnestly opposed. Those favoring legalization argued that "pot" is no more harmful than alcohol and tobacco and should be made a source of tax revenue.

13. The income tax, most people agree, is an unfair tax which puts unequal burdens on some taxpayers. Should it be abolished in favor of some other form of taxation?

A mere 51 per cent oppose repeal of the income tax. Many of them argue for vast revision of present laws and closing of loopholes. Many are unhappy about present income taxes.

14. The right to bear arms is guaranteed by our Constitution, but privately owned firearms cause a fantastic burden of tragedy each year. Should the right to own guns be sternly controlled?

Fifty-four per cent favor gun control laws. Some of them objected to the adverb "sternly" and argued in favor of registration and of restriction of ownership to sane and responsible persons.

15. Most military organizations, fire and police departments, schools and other such agencies forbid their men to wear beards. Do you regard this as an invasion of personal freedom?

The vote on the propriety of beards was 50-50. Those opposing beards argued that employers have a right to dictate terms of employment, including appearance. A few argue that beards are immoral, unsanitary or revolutionary.

16. Freedom of religion is guaranteed by the Constitution, but some religions are evil and perverted. Should the Black Mass, Satan worship, idolatry, snake rituals and other dark practices be prohibited?

Fifty-eight per cent said "no" to the suppression of evil cults.

17. Should persons convicted of homosexual acts be severely punished?

Eighty per cent oppose punishment of homosexuals, although a few objected to the word "severe," feeling that there should be some punishment. Many argue that punishment should be meted out for offenses against children, for forcible acts and for public outrages. Many feel that homosexuals need medical or psychiatric aid. Many argue that what adults do in privacy is their own business. A tiny minority expressed savage hostility and a desire for extreme punishment.

18. Suppose the United States should adopt a universal training act which would require all young men and women to devote two years to service to the nation. Military needs would be only a small part of this draft; mostly the young people would work in urban problems, soil and water conservation, education, public health and many other worthwhile projects. Would you favor such a change of national policy?

Seventy-two per cent favor universal two-year training for all young men and women. A few object to drafting women. Some argue that the universal training program should be voluntary.

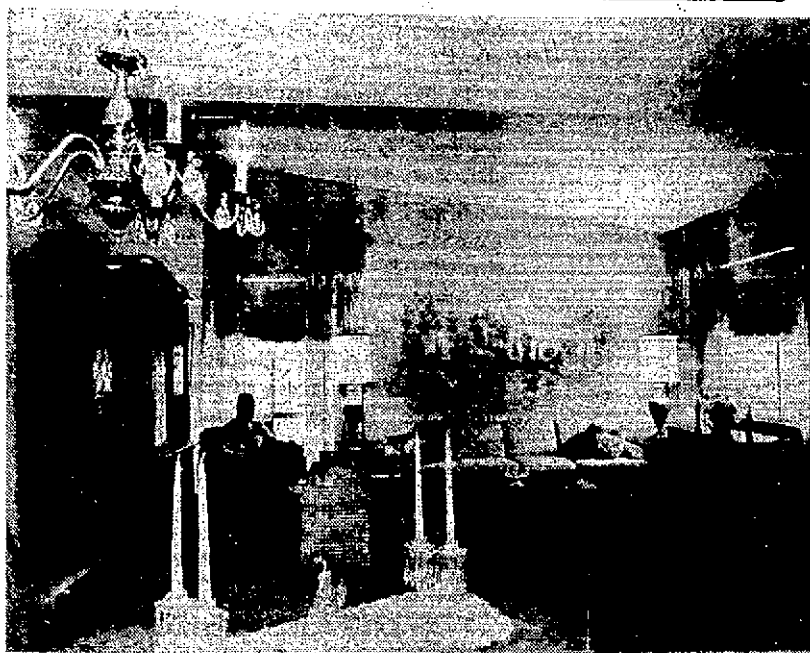

19. Do you believe that, starting right now, the United States should never again allow any American child to go without adequate food, health care and education?

Eighty-four per cent favor government action to provide for all children. Those who oppose are mostly of the anti-socialist persuasion, but a few favor compulsory sterilization of all who will not or cannot care for their own children.

20. Should jails and prisons exist simply to punish wrongdoers for the evils they have done?

Sixty-nine per cent realize that punishment is only one function of prisons. Many spoke in favor of rehabilitation programs. Strangely, few mentioned that prisons exist also for the protection of society from the lawless.

Prunes Achieve Glamour

By Mildred Flanary

Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

NEVER underestimate the prosaic prune! It's stepping up to a glamorous new role today as a cocktail hors d'oeuvre. Now smoothly plump, moisturized and conveniently pitted, it hardly seems related to the cooked fruit once known chiefly for its popularity at America's breakfast table.

And little wonder! Modern processing methods have transformed a choice variety of purple plums into today's moist, soft textured, pitted prune! The resulting product is tempting enough to eat from the package. Almost wrinkle-free, its firm, shiny flesh is smooth to the touch — not sticky to handle — making it an ideal choice for the canape tray.

Whether wrapped in bacon and strung on skewers for barbecuing with meat, or teamed in combination with nuts and cheese and served handsomely without further preparation, luscious, year-round prunes are as appealing to the eye as they are delectable to the palate.

Here are some eye-catching, flavorful serving suggestions:

ON BARBECUE:

Pitted prunes stuffed with water chestnut or walnut half, wrapped with a strip of bacon.

Pitted prunes and frankfurter sections on skewer.

Pitted prunes stuffed with cubes of sharp cheddar cheese on picks.

Cut strip of bacon in half and thread pitted prunes, cherry tomatoes and bacon on skewers.

ON LAZY SUSAN:

Pitted prunes stuffed with crumbled bacon and cream cheese.

Pitted prunes wrapped in cheese pastry and baked. Served hot.

Pitted prune stuffed with bacon and cream cheese, and capers.

Marinate pitted prunes in olive oil, vinegar, garlic and roll in chopped chives.

Stuff pitted prunes with chopped chives, crumbled bacon mixed with small amount of catsup. Serve hot.

Small bowls with dips: mustard soy, horseradish, parsley, chili sauce and worcestershire sauce. Pitted prunes to dip — picks along side.

Recipe of the Week

MRS. E. R. BURKE, P.O. Box 243, Santa Rosa, is the $5 prize winner this week.

HOT GERMAN ASPARAGUS-RICE SALAD

- 1 cup long grain rice
- 8 slices of bacon
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1/3 cup apple cider vinegar
- 2 tblsp. water
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. celery salt
- 2 tblsp. chopped onion
- 2 tblsp. chopped green pepper
- 3 tblsp. chopped pimiento
- 1 1/2 cups cooked asparagus cuts and tips
- 1 hard boiled egg, sliced

Cook rice according to package directions and drain well. Saute bacon until crisp; drain and crumble. Set aside.

In a saucepan, combine 1/4 cup of the bacon drippings, cooked drained rice, sugar, vinegar, water, salt, celery seed, chopped onion, chopped green pepper and chopped pimiento. Cook and stir until liquid is absorbed; add asparagus cuts and tips and crumbled bacon. Toss lightly over heat until heated through. Remove to salad bowl and top with sliced hard boiled egg. Serve at once while hot. Serves 6.

Dream Vacation

WINNER of the $30 grand prize in the Dream Vacation contest is 12-year-old Kathy Tussey, 6026 Pimenta Ave., Lakewood.

Kathy's essay expresses the exuberance of childhood. In her imagined visit to Morro Bay she would swim and run and climb and catch fish and go sight-seeing and play with her dog and "eat smoked fish all the while."

It wasn't easy to choose a winner, because we enjoyed all the published essays. In fact, reading the approximately 250 entries was a real pleasure, and it wasn't easy to pick the weekly winner. They were chosen as good expressions of the various types of vacations people want.

Thanks a lot, essayists.

Prunes Achieve Glamour

By Mildred Flanary

Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

NEVER underestimate the prosaic prune!

It's stepping up to a glamorous new role today as a cocktail hors d'oeuvre. Now smoothly plump, moisturized and conveniently pitted, it hardly seems related to the cooked fruit once known chiefly for its popularity at America's breakfast table.

And little wonder! Modern processing methods have transformed a choice variety of purple plums into today's moist, soft textured, pitted prune. The resulting product is tempting enough to eat from the package. Almost wrinkle-free, its firm, shiny flesh is smooth to the touch — not sticky to handle — making it an ideal choice for the canape tray.

Whether wrapped in bacon and strung on skewers for barbecuing with meat, or teamed in combination with nuts and cheese and served handsomely without further preparation, luscious, year-round prunes are as appealing to the eye as they are delectable to the palate.

Here are some eye-catching, flavorful serving suggestions:

ON BARBECUE:

Pitted prunes stuffed with wafer chestnut or walnut half, wrapped with a strip of bacon.

Pitted prunes and frankfurter sections on skewer.

Pitted prunes stuffed with cubes of sharp cheddar cheese on picks.

Cut strip of bacon in half and thread pitted prunes, cherry tomatoes and bacon on skewers.

ON LAZY SUSAN:

Pitted prunes stuffed with crumbled bacon and cream cheese.

Pitted prunes wrapped in cheese pastry and baked. Served hot.

Pitted prune stuffed with bacon and cream cheese, and capers.

Marinate pitted prunes in olive oil, vinegar, garlic and roll in chopped chives.

Stuff pitted prunes with chopped chives, crumbled bacon mixed with small amount of catsup. Serve hot.

Small bowls with dips: mustard soy, horseradish, parsley, chili sauce and worcestershire sauce. Pitted prunes to dip — picks along side,

Recipe of the Week

MRS. E. R. BURKE, P.O. Box 243, Santa Rosa, is the $5 prize winner this week.

HOT GERMAN ASPARAGUS-RICE SALAD

- 1 cup long grain rice
- 8 slices of bacon
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/3 cup apple cider vinegar
- 2 tblsp. water
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. celery salt
- 2 tblsp. chopped onion
- 2 tblsp. chopped green pepper
- 3 tblsp. chopped pimiento
- 1 1/2 cups cooked asparagus cuts and tips
- 1 hard boiled egg, sliced

Cook rice according to package directions and drain well. Saute bacon until crisp; drain and crumble. Set aside.

In a saucepan, combine 1/4 cup of the bacon drippings, cooked drained rice, sugar, vinegar, water, salt, celery seed, chopped onion, chopped green pepper and chopped pimiento. Cook and stir until liquid is absorbed; add asparagus cuts and tips and crumbled bacon. Toss lightly over heat until heated through. Remove to salad bowl and top with sliced hard boiled egg. Serve at once while hot. Serves 6.

Dream Vacation

WINNER of the $30 grand prize in the Dream Vacation contest is 12-year-old Kathy Tussey, 6026 Pimenta Ave., Lakewood.

Kathy's essay expresses the exuberance of childhood. In her imagined visit to Morro Bay she would swim and run and climb and catch fish and go sight-seeing and play with her dog and "eat smoked fish all the while."

It wasn't easy to choose a winner, because we enjoyed all the published essays. In fact, reading the approximately 250 entries was a real pleasure, and it wasn't easy to pick the weekly winner. They were chosen as good expressions of the various types of vacations people want.

Thanks a lot, essayists.

A God in a Golden Age

By NAT HONIG
Book Editor

SPENCER TRACY was a man of jealous pride in his profession. "Tracy often tried to hide this pride behind self depreciation and a disdain for acting, but he didn't mean it," Larry Swindell says in "Spencer Tracy," World, $6.95.

He was one of the Hollywood gods during its Golden Age (the 1930s and 1940s) along with Gable, Gary Cooper, and Humphrey Bogart (whose close friend he was).

Since Tracy was tightlipped about his private life, the facts Larry Swindell has to tell in a carefully researched and lively biography should be avidly read by all who were Tracy fans. In fact, it is also a book of great interest as a picture of Hollywood at its peak.

Here is Tracy's life from his Milwaukee boyhood. His first New York stage appearance was in 1926, in a George M. Cohan play, and the young Tracy and the aging Cohan became fast friends. Both "masters at needling remarks," they loved to insult each other.

Here is the story of Tracy's marriage to actress Louise Treadwell, and of their children (a tragedy was the deafness of their son John). We learn how Tracy and Loretta Young fell in love during the filming of "Man's Castle" in 1933 (the film was a story of true love in the Depression). Because of that affair Tracy and his wife separated for a year. "In October of 1934 Loretta Young issued a simple statement to the press saying that as she and Mr. Spencer Tracy could not hope to marry because of their Catholic religion they had agreed they would no longer see one another."

Tracy's long, close friendship with Katharine Hepburn, and the effect she had on him as an actor form an important and large part of the book.

And Try Not to Miss...

WHEN CLOUDS GATHER. By Bessie Head. Simon and Schuster, $4.95.

A young writer born in South Africa and living in the newly independent southern African nation of Botswana, Bessie Head has written a fine first novel about her adopted country. Independence is fine; the villagers of Golema Mwindi find, but their existence still remains harsh. The land is not kind to them and they lack skills to soften it. A British soil expert brings a plan to change things for the better, but they cling to the old ways. A young black idealist, who has left the oppressive atmosphere of South Africa, lifts them out of their apathy, battling entrenched hostile forces and finding love.

"PARDON ME, SIR, BUT IS MY EYE HURTING YOUR ELBOW?" Geis, $5.95.

A dozen of the blackest humorists collaborate in an original motion picture script, which will be made into a feature-length film. Each segment examines a hypocrisy or irony of life in these United States. None hammers on the head, but relies on deft satire.

Terry Southern, Arthur Kopit, Herbert Gold (concerning youngsters and their divorced parents), Jack Richardson, Bruce Jay Friedman (a Faustian legend in modern dress), Allen Ginsberg, Bob Booker and George Foster, Arnold Weinstein, Robert Paul Smith, Philip Roth and Gregory Corso are the irreverent authors of the screenplays.

THE EUROPE I SAW. By Elizabeth Wiskemann. St. Martin's, $4.95.

Noted as foreign correspondent and historian, Elizabeth Wiskemann met most of Europe's leaders in the days before World War II, and knew Berlin well in the last years of the Weimar Republic and under Nazi rule. She gives memorable portraits not only of politicians and diplomats, but of artists and writers as well. (Her fearless dispatches brought her arrest by the Gestapo.)

A Trip South

THE MAN SAYS YES. By Dan McCall. Viking, $5.95.

Here — in language crackling with nowness and life — is the story of a young Negro teacher, Beaunorus Green, and his white wife, Ruth. The pair come South to teach during a summer semester at a Negro agricultural and normal university and go back home to New York all the smarter because of their association with such compelling characters as Beaunorus' uncle Archie Washington, college president; a terrifyingly powerful man who drinks and cheats on his wife but without whose power the university would not be, and Henry Prudhomme, an idealistic, proud man who wants to bring down Archie Washington before cancer destroys him.

Specifically, "The Man Says Yes," dramatically written from the vantage point of Beaunorus Green, shows what happens in a Negro Southern campus when the white man does say yes. The reader who comes South to spend the summer with Green and his wife, no doubt, will come away with a different outlook. —Barbara Fryer.

Fine Hot Job

FIREFIGHTING. By Paul C. Ditzel. Van Nostrand Reinhold, $4.95.

This work traces the development of firefighting from the ox-entrail hose and crude piston pumper to the super units of the day that can deliver more than 8,000 gallons of water per minute, a far cry from the day of the bucket brigade.

Firemen now must be technicians, making use of helicopters, skin divers, snorkels, closed TV and hydraulic platforms for plucking persons from burning buildings.

They must understand the chemistry of fires and the use of new agents like high pressure fog, high expansion foam and "wetting" agents that make water more penetrating. A complete chapter is devoted to the training of today's firemen.

—Bill Shelton.

The Label Is 'X'

THE CRAZY LADIES. By Joyce Kilmer. New American Library, $6.95.

Four New York girls in their 20s have fears of becoming 30 without reaching what they consider a necessary milestone in their lives. Simone, 24, a model; Beverly, 29, unhappily married; Anita, 25, airline stewardess, and Lou, 27, reporter, all think they have found the answer to their problems when they meet Robert Fingerhood, clinical psychologist, and very eligible bachelor.

But Robert has every intention of remaining a bachelor, although he is not averse to taking what the girls are only too willing to offer in exchange for what they think will lead to the altar.

"The Crazy Ladies" is a sometimes sad, often hilarious, always sexy novel of four attractive girls trying to make it in the toughest town in the world. Joyce Kilmer understands the way women feel about men, and she tells it like it is. If this were a movie it would have to be designated with the label "X." —Jim Redpath.

Past's Shadow

THE JUNKERS. By Piers Paul Read. Knopf, $5.95.

While attached to the British diplomatic service in post-W.W. II Berlin a young man falls in love with a girl he sees in a cafe. After finally meeting her he finds that her family is one that he is investigating to find how much or how little they were involved with the Nazis before and during the war. And what is more pertinent, to find what their political leanings are in the 1960s.

During his probing he traces the family from the 16th Century briefly, and goes deeply into the lives of the 20th Century Von Rummelsberg family.

The special quality of this novel is that it casts a strong light on both the inescapable past and the ambiguous present, as the young couple search for a common bond of understanding that can sustain their love. —Jim Redpath.

Kitchen Art

By Ellen Krec

SEVENTY-FIVE out of 100 kitchens in today's homes have a similar problem.

A window directly above the sink bordered by cabinets.

The remaining 25 kitchens have a myriad of designs and problems, so those kitchens are best left to the interior experts.

Those 75 windows, however, seem to be part of the tract parcel. Somewhere someone insisted every dish washer also should be a lookout.

Frankly, I never have time to admire the view, only the sticky plates. But, anyway, since we are Marimekko silk screen fabric designed to fill the kitchen window by Mrs. Milton D. Brouhard. The panels are raised or lowered by a single extension rod.

since they move up when it's messy and down when you need it, if your window overlooks a well-groomed wall or busy street.

But a slick answer might be an art-form that adds a bold panel design when the window is fully covered or moves up wherever and whenever you need it.

The most important selection is the fabric and it should be something of interest such as a bold silk screen design or an unusual weave. Before you purchase the fabric, hold it up to the light to make sure some light seeps through.

Mrs. Milton Brouhard selected a Marimekko abstract rose print in sunny yellow and orange, then with a swish of the sewing machine, hemmed top and bottom, allowing a six-inch border after the slot for the rod.

The fabric was exactly the size of the window between the cabinets and, naturally the signature border remained, precluding side hemming.

The purchase of two inexpensive expansion rods slipped into the hems made instant installation.

The top rod allowed the six-inch overhang to serve as a valance. The bottom rod can be moved to any spot along the window to shield an unsightly view or cut out the bright sun.

You could make several panels to change the mood of your kitchen from bold to timid.

Good fabrics wash and is there anything easier to iron than a straight piece of fabric?

The loveliest part of this window treatment is when the block of fabric is down it looks for all the world like a wall hanging.

Other suggestions for your window might be a stained glass panel. Not installed but framed to hang on a fine wire in the center of the glass.

Parts of stained glass are available many places for a fairly reasonable cost. Don't concern yourself with the size, it is comparatively simple to have the panel enlarged or shaped to fit by experts locally.

Just look for a pleasing sample of the glass and leave the rest to your framer.

Best part of this is in moving, it goes with you. If you have it installed it stays with the home.

Finally there are window gardens. Plants grow beautifully in all that light and certainly are easy to care for... no ironing at the very least!

Some of the nurseries have interesting pots and also are able to put little holes in the sides to contain the cord or wire for the hanging. A hook at the top of the window and your window is in full bloom. Ferns do especially well under these circumstances.

Whether you make it, grow it or collect it, your kitchen window is the first reflection of the day and should never make work for you.

Independence is fine, the villagers of Golema Mwindi find, but their existence still remains harsh. The land is not kind to them and they lack skills to soften it. A British soil expert brings a plan to change things for the better, but they cling to the old ways. A young black idealist, who has left the oppressive atmosphere of South Africa, lifts them out of their apathy, battling entrenched hostile forces and finding love.

"PARDON ME, SIR, BUT IS MY EYE HURTING YOUR ELBOW?" Geis, $5.95.

A dozen of the blackest humorists collaborate in an original motion picture script, which will be made into a feature-length film. Each segment examines a hypocrisy or irony of life in these United States. None hammers on the head, but relies on deft satire.

Terry Southern, Arthur Kopit, Herbert Gold (concerning youngsters and their divorced parents), Jack Richardson, Bruce Jay Friedman (a Faustian legend in modern dress), Allen Ginsberg, Bob Booker and George Foster, Arnold Weinstein, Robert Paul Smith, Philip Roth and Gregory Corso are the irreverent authors of the screenplays.

THE EUROPE I SAW. By Elizabeth Wiskemann. St. Martin's, $4.95.

Noted as foreign correspondent and historian, Elizabeth Wiskemann met most of Europe's leaders in the days before World War II, and knew Berlin well in the last years of the Weimar Republic and under Nazi rule. She gives memorable portraits not only of politicians and diplomats, but of artists and writers as well. (Her fearless dispatches brought her arrest by the Gestapo.)

A Trip South

THE MAN SAYS YES. By Dan McCall. Viking, $5.95.

Here — in language crackling with nowness and life — is the story of a young Negro teacher, Beaunorus Green, and his white wife, Ruth. The pair come South to teach during a summer semester at a Negro agricultural and normal university and go back home to New York all the smarter because of their association with such compelling characters as Beaunorus' uncle Archie Washington, college president, a terrifyingly powerful man who drinks and cheats on his wife but without whose power the university would not be, and Henry Prudhomme, an idealistic, proud man who wants to bring down Archie Washington before cancer destroys him.

Specifically, "The Man Says Yes," dramatically written from the vantage point of Beaunorus Green, shows what happens in a Negro Southern campus when the white man does say yes. The reader who comes South to spend the summer with Green and his wife, no doubt, will come away with a different outlook.—Barbara Fryer.

Fine Hot Job

FIREFIGHTING. By Paul C. Ditzel. Van Nostrand Reinhold, $4.95.

This work traces the development of firefighting from the ox-draught hose and crude piston pumper to the super units of the day that can deliver more than 8,000 gallons of water per minute, a far cry from the day of the bucket brigade.

Firemen now must be technicians, making use of helicopters, skin divers, snorkels, closed TV and hydraulic platforms for plucking persons from burning buildings.

They must understand the chemistry of fires and the use of new agents like high pressure fog, high expansion foam and "wetting" agents that make water more penetrating. A complete chapter is devoted to the training of today's firemen.

—Bill Shelton.

The Label Is 'X'

THE CRAZY LADIES. By Joyce Elbert. New American Library, $6.95.

Four New York girls in their 20s have fears of becoming 30 without reaching what they consider a necessary milestone in their lives. Simone, 24, a model; Beverly, 29, unhappily married; Anita, 25, airline stewardess, and Lou, 27, reporter, all think they have found the answer to their problems when they meet Robert Fingerhood, clinical psychologist, and very eligible bachelor.

But Robert has every intention of remaining a bachelor, although he is not averse to taking what the girls are only too willing to offer in exchange for what they think will lead to the altar.

"The Crazy Ladies" is a sometimes sad, often hilarious, always sexy novel of four attractive girls trying to make it in the toughest town in the world. Joyce Elbert understands the way women feel about men, and she tells it like it is. If this were a movie it would have to be designated with the label "X." —Jim Redpath.

Past's Shadow

THE JUNKERS. By Piers Paul Read. Knopf, $5.95.

While attached to the British diplomatic service in post-W.W. II Berlin a young man falls in love with a girl he sees in a cafe. After finally meeting her he finds that her family is one that he is investigating to find how much or how little they were involved with the Nazis before and during the war. And what is more pertinent, to find what their political leanings are in the 1960s.

During his probing he traces the family from the 16th Century briefly, and goes deeply into the lives of the 20th Century Von Rummelsberg family.

The special quality of this novel is that it casts a strong light on both the inescapable past and the ambiguous present, as the young couple search for a common bond of understanding that can sustain their love.—Jim Redpath.

— In 1967, I went to a CAP summer encampment in Alaska for some leadership training. When the other cadets and I got there, we learned that it had been raining for five weeks and many towns were flooded. We were told our help was needed and we pitched in. Some of us spent eight-hour stretches filling sand bags and stacking them. Others of us babysat children of the flood refugees. Some of the senior CAP members gave flu shots. It was exciting and interesting, because we dealt with people in an emergency and studied their reactions. Most of the refugees were worried about their pets and relatives, but none got hysterical.

— On one other actual mission I was on, we were asked by the Air Force to search for some secret device which had fallen off a weather balloon. We had seven planes and six ground teams searching the Barstow area for it. It was finally found three months later.

— Most of the time, there is little danger involved with the search and rescue because we are trained. However, three of my friends who were senior CAP members were killed in an air accident. They had been searching for a missing Marine helicopter. Their deaths didn't frighten me away from CAP.

— There are only two girls in our cadet squadron, and I think it's a shame more girls don't join. I guess they don't like to go out in the dirt and wilderness, sleep on the ground in sleeping bags and undergo survival training. But there are so many rewards. I've spent some 75 hours in airplanes with friends and I will learn to fly. Also, CAP has beach parties and other social events, and I have made friends with people all over California. Besides, CAP is where the boys are.

— A lot of CAP boys go into the Air Force, because if they get a certificate of proficiency or a commission in CAP, they go into the Air Force with one stripe.

— In a few years if I am not married yet, I would like to go into the Air Force as a nurse. I like to help people, and my CAP training has helped prepare me.

— Besides the skills I have learned in CAP, I have something else just as lasting. Somehow or other CAP has helped make me more mature. It has taught me discipline, responsibility, leadership and patience to take things as they come. —Arlene Sherer

Youths Sing of America

By Linda L. Harvey

IN THIS AGE of student riots and draft card burnings 72 college men and women raise their voices and do their "thing" in a different manner — by singing. Singing their joy of being alive and living in America.

The introduction for the group sets the mood: "And now, the most sensational, the most energetic and most enthusiastic group in America today — the Grand Land Singers!"

Their message is patriotism, and their songs spread the word: "Born Free," "Impossible Dream," "Paul Revere," "Which Way America?" and the like.

These vivacious young people desire to be better citizens and help make others better citizens. Wherever they have performed, they have received standing ovations. People come up to them after a show to say how much the message has meant to them. They say it is a joy to find youth in this country who are on the right track.

The Grand Land Singers

group was the end product of an idea by Gary Taylor of Bellflower, a senior at Brigham Young University. Gary is a member of the Sounds of Freedom singing group at BYU, and during summer vacation in 1967 he decided to try to start a similar organization in the Long Beach area.

He suggested the idea to Wayne Haws, Institute of Religion director for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints at Cerritos College. A meeting was called and 25 interested college-age youths attended. Gary Anderson, Norwalk, and Bob Emmons, Long Beach, both still active in the group, were asked to assist Taylor and Haws in getting the group organized.

The members practiced their song numbers, made their own costumes and arranged for performances.

For the first year they were known as The Young People. The name was changed to The Grand Land Singers to better represent the purpose of the group and the name of its show: Project Patriotism.

Members are from California State College at Long Beach, Long Beach City College, Cerritos College and El Camino College, though not all go to college.

The group is church-sponsored, but not all of the singers belong to the church. The prerequisites for joining the Grand Land Singers are ability, interest and that all-important commodity, enthusiasm.

There must be a great deal of enthusiasm. Consider the schedule of the Singers' vice president, Ernie Pauline. He is a full-time student at Long Beach City College and works for the Long Beach School System as a caretaker. He rarely misses a rehearsal. Practices are three hours each Tuesday evening and Saturday morning. "You have to budget your time." When asked how he did it, Ernie grinned, "With difficulty."

The show has its own musicians: Guitar, bass, drums and piano. Carol Ann (Twiggs) Ford of Fountain Valley arranges all the music. She also sings in a trio within the group and plays the piano.

"If we have a new song in the show, I'll spend 10 or 12 hours on it," Carol Ann says. "Most of the music we use needs to be arranged for the group." The time she mentioned doesn't include rehearsals.

Calvin Greer, now on sabbatical leave from his position as the head of the department of music at El Camino College, has been the director since the end of the first summer.

"My first impression of the young people was one of overwhelming spirit and enthusiasm. It is a great thrill to work with enthusiastic, dedicated young people," he says.

Ray Ferguson of La Mirada joined the group about the same time as Greer as another adviser and booking agent.

Greer worked with half the group one evening as they practiced a number for a show. He listened critically, then asked, "Do you know how to eat an elephant? You cut it up into little pieces. Now let's try that part again . . . and again."

In the nearly two years they have been organized they have performed from San Diego to Utah. During the school year they perform twice a month and during the summer they are more active. They have performed at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles, for the International Kiwanis, at the Hollywood Bowl, and for the City of Lynwood on the Fourth of July.

The Singers made a Utah tour this year, and last month they sang at a dinner in Los Angeles for Gov.

Ronald Reagan and former Michigan Gov. George Romney.

They are amateurs. The only money they see is the prize money they have won in competition. They participated in the Knott's Festival of Sounds last fall, winning first place in the first and second rounds.

A group of 13 entertainers, called the Thirteen Original, was selected from among the Grand Land Singers recently and now performs at functions where the large group can't appear. Why 13? "For the 13 original states," Greer explained.

Greer summed up the optimism and progress of the Grand Land Singers: "With no vision people perish."

And these kids have vision. They believe in their country.

Toy Dogs Ride High

By Eleanor Avery Price

TOY DOGS have found a special place in petdom, and you can see them all next Sunday, June 8, in Orange County Toy Dog Club Show at Long Beach Municipal Auditorium. There will be Chihuahuas in two coats, Brussels Griffons, Italian Greyhounds, Japanese Spaniels, Maltese, Toy Manchesters, Papillons, Pekingese, Miniature Pinschers, Pomeranians, Toy Poodles, Pugs, Silky Terriers, Yorkshire Terriers, Shih Tzu, Bichon Frises, and Toy Fox Terriers.

Although large dogs usually enjoy some togetherness with the family, their size and energy make it necessary for them to romp many hours daily outdoors, often alone. But the toy dog lives mostly indoors in close association with his humans. He is the "heart-beat" in the home of the lonely, the elderly, the handicapped, and even just average people. He is alert, quick to warn if something seems wrong, so he serves also as a sentinel.

A toy dog centuries ago was any dog that could pass through an oval dog gauge seven inches by five inches. This separated him from dogs used in the hunt. The smaller the dog, the more pleasure he was said to give his owner. This trend today is to keep toys small, but emphasis is also placed on soundness.

Noble rulers of the past in both Europe and the East helped create the popularity of most toy dogs. The tiny pets were carried in the folds of gowns, in the arms, in carriages, in baskets around the necks of kings.

So loved were toys that the ladies often refused to pose for their portraits unless an elegant little dog was pictured with them. Rare old paintings attest to this fact. It is interesting to note, also, that tiny dogs were depicted on tapestries, potteries, embroideries, temples, as well as carved out of various materials.

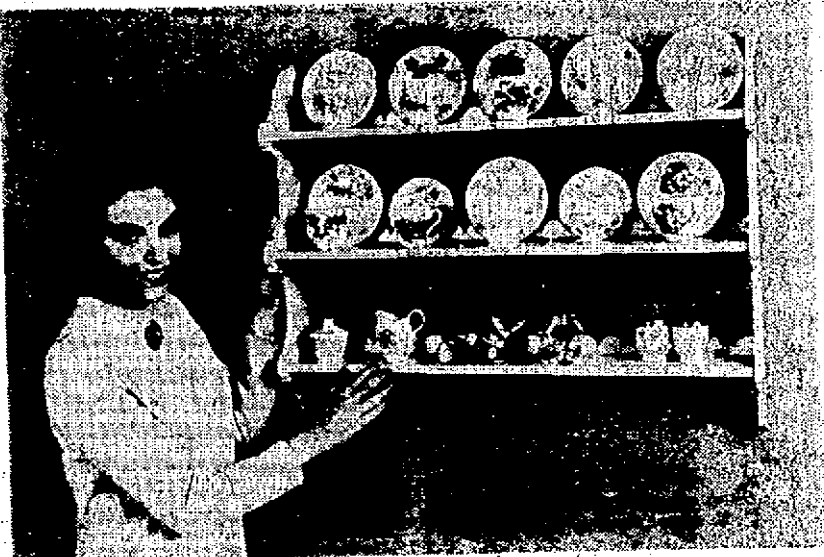

Monarchs from earliest periods used toy dogs extensively as state gifts of esteem to diplomats and foreigners, the nobility thought deserving. Monarchs also had a lucrative business in small dogs, with prices running high.

One interesting story of gentlemen of the courts enjoying toys appears in Chinese history concerning Emperor Ming of the Tang Dynasty (A.D. 713-755). His favorite wife, Yang Kwei Fei, upon seeing her Imperial master suffering indignity of defeat at chess, with a prince, contrived accidentally to loose her tiny dog upon the board. The pieces were upset, the game ruined, but the Emperor was delighted.

TODAY (June 1), Kennel Club of Pasadena has its show at Brookside Park. On June 8, Southeast Obedience Club trial will be at Lynwood City Park. On June 15, Lakewood Obedience Club will hold a puppy match, all breed but no obedience, at Caughran Park, Bellflower Blvd., Bellflower. Also on June 15, there will be an obedience match at Lynwood City Park.

THERE ARE FEW really poor people in this country, even though many of us think we are poor. There was a time when people thought themselves poor if they couldn't buy coffee. Later on they were poor if they couldn't purchase a rug for their living room. Years later they were poor if they couldn't have a telephone. Still later everyone had to have living room furniture that matched. Nowadays we feel poor unless we drive a new-model automobile, have television or a boat.

In this respect, do-it-yourselfers have a distinct advantage. They can take a few scraps of wood, a little leisure time, and come up with all sorts of little luxuries. Suppose you need a handsome wall shelf to brighten up one of your rooms. You can have it and for very little expense. The wall shelf pictured here with Susan Seaforth of NBC's "Days of Our Lives" series was built in one evening from a few scraps of pine. To make it you merely trace the full-size pattern on the wood, then saw out the parts and finally put them together.

To obtain the full-size wall shelf pattern number 67, send 50 cents (add 25c per pattern for airmail delivery) by coin, check or

Vaccine May Cure Type of Leukemia

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Editor

A VACCINE against leukemia is showing promise in trials in France, reports the medical journal The Lancet.

It has been used to date to treat 20 patients with a type of the disorder known as acute lymphoblastic leukemia.

Six have been in remission for more than a year after cessation of drug therapy, four for more than two years and one for more than three years.

The vaccine is given while the patient is in remission during conventional drug treatment. (Remission indicates disappearance of symptoms.)

Vaccines are made of irradiated leukemia cells, BCG vaccine (that ordinarily used against TB), or a combination of both.

In their report, researchers say the vaccines may be "an important step towards the eventual control of acute leukemia."

Successes so far imply that this type of leukemia is caused by a virus.

SEVERE chest pain in heart patients may not always be the well-known condition of angina pectoris, a noted heart doctor cautions.

Since this pain doesn't respond to conventional treatment for angina, the doctor may regard the pain as imaginary and label the patient neurotic.

However, this pain is real, says Dr. George Burch, Tulane University cardiologist.

Dr. Burch likens the pain to a charley horse of the chest. It is excruciating and may persist for hours, days or even months.

However, it doesn't exert the vise-like pressure sensation felt in angina pectoris. Instead, there is a steady, severe burning sensation.

Ways of dealing with this type of pain: Use of a counterirritant spray. Or, use of the drug procaine. Also: application of heat, physical therapy.

LABORATORY research shows that topical applications of fluoride can halt and heal early decay in tooth enamel.

Investigators at the Naval Dental Research Institute, Great Lakes, Ill., performed tests with extracted wisdom teeth. The teeth were immersed in acid solution to produce decay and then treated with a fluoride solution.

Fluoride-treated teeth showed excellent resistance to acid for 24 hours, but untreated teeth sustained a widespread loss of enamel.

The report was made to the International Association for Dental Research.

A COOKBOOK has been compiled to assist parents of celiac children.

These youngsters are victims of celiac disease, a chronic intestinal disorder marked by frequent bouts of diarrhea, loss of appetite, crankiness and symptoms of malnutrition. It can be controlled by a special diet over a long period.

The new cookbook is "Cooking for Your Celiac Child: Dietary Management in Malabsorption Disorders." Authors are Charlotte Baum Sheedy and Norman Kiefert. It is published by Dial Press at $5.95.

The book contains more than 300 recipes, lists of permitted and forbidden foods, recommended brand products found at supermarkets, sources for special health foods and conversion tables for gluten-free cereal grains and flours and their equivalences. There also is a chapter devoted to a full medical description of the disorder.

A NEW BLOOD substitute, prepared from outdated banked blood, looks promising in preliminary trials.

The substitute has the ability to carry oxygen, requires no matching and does not produce adverse reactions.

Researchers at Michael Reese Hospital and Medical Center, Chicago, say the substance still is awaiting government approval for general use.

The new blood substitute would be especially valuable in the treatment of shock resulting from bleeding while properly matched blood is being prepared. Researchers say it also would be effective for nourishing organs awaiting transplant and for priming heart-lung machines before open-heart surgery.

How the substance is prepared is described in Internist Observer (Vol. 7, No. 3; Page 4.)

NOW UNDER development at University of Wisconsin: a new test to determine within 24 hours whether a person is harboring viruses that can cause illness. The new technique, if perfected, could show whether astronauts are likely to contract viral infections. Tests now in use require about a week to identify viruses.

Toy Dogs Ride High

By Eleanor Avery Price

TOY DOGS have found a special place in petdom, and you can see them all next Sunday, June 8, in Orange County Toy Dog Club Show at Long Beach Municipal Auditorium. There will be Chihuahuas in two coats, Brussels Griffons, Italian Greyhounds, Japanese Spaniels, Maltese, Toy Manchesters, Papillons, Pekingese, Miniature Pinschers, Pomeranians, Toy Poodles, Pugs, Silky Terriers, Yorkshire Terriers, Shih Tzu, Bichon Frises, and Toy Fox Terriers.

Although large dogs usually enjoy some togetherness with the family, their size and energy make it necessary for them to romp many hours daily outdoors, often alone. But the toy dog lives mostly indoors in close association with his humans. He is the "heart-beat" in the home of the lonely, the elderly, the handicapped, and even just average people. He is alert, quick to warn if something seems wrong, so he serves also as a sentinel.

A toy dog centuries ago was any dog that could pass through an oval dog gauge seven inches by five inches. This separated him from dogs used in the hunt. The smaller the dog, the more pleasure he was said to give his owner. The trend today is to keep toys small, but emphasis is also placed on soundness.

Noble rulers of the past in both Europe and the East helped create the popularity of most toy dogs. The tiny pets were carried in the folds of gowns, in the arms, in carriages, in baskets around the necks of kings.

So loved were toys that the ladies often refused to pose for their portraits unless an elegant little dog was pictured with them. Rare old paintings attest to this fact. It is interesting to note, also, that tiny dogs were depicted on tapestries, pottery, embroideries, temples, as well as carved out of various materials.

Monarchs from earliest periods used toy dogs extensively as state gifts of esteem to diplomats and foreigners the nobility thought deserving. Monarchs also had a lucrative business in small dogs, with prices running high.

One interesting story of gentlemen of the courts enjoying toys appears in Chinese history, concerning Emperor Ming of the Tang Dynasty (A.D. 713-755). His favorite wife, Yang Kwei Fei, upon seeing her Imperial master suffering indignity of defeat at chess with a prince, contrived accidentally to loose her tiny dog upon the board. The pieces were upset, the game ruined, but the Emperor was delighted.

TODAY (June 1), Kennel Club of Pasadena has its show at Brookside Park. On June 8, Southeast Obedience Club trial will be at Lynwood City Park. On June 15, Lakewood Obedience Club will hold a puppy match, all breed but no obedience, at Caughran Park, Bellflower Blvd., Bellflower. Also on June 15, there will be an obedience match at Lynwood City Park.

June 20 is the date of the Terrier specialty at an area near Dodgers Stadium, Los Angeles. June 21 and 22, are dates of Kennel Club of Beverly Hills show at Santa Monica Auditorium.

Shoreline Restaurant

ABOUT a dozen years ago I was impressed when a restaurant expert from Chicago, here on a visit, predicted: "Some day Southern California will have more dining places than any other area in America. You'll have restaurants on every corner, like service stations."

That expert was talking about the late 1970s and 1980s. But his prediction already is starting to come true. In some sections of Long Beach, restaurants are clustered at choice intersections like grapes.

One of the most successful such organizations is Kentucky Fried Chicken whose trademark is, Colonel Harland Sanders. The white-goated "colonel," now in his 70s, is still active in the business, regularly visiting many of the 2,000 restaurants throughout the nation which use the fried chicken recipe he originated long ago in Kentucky.

The colonel's chief representative in the Long Beach area is enterprising Ray Weidemann, who owns six KFC restaurants and is planning others. Each is modern and colorful, surmounted by a gigantic revolving chicken bucket adorned with the colonel's smiling face. A few weeks ago Ray opened his seventh outlet, a large Kentucky Roast Beef restaurant on Pacific Coast Highway at Pacific Avenue. Constructed on the site of a former Union 76 service station, it has a big parking lot and seating in a patio as well as its dining room. The house specialties are 69-cent roast beef and ham sandwiches.

RAY WEIDEMANN
Buckets of Goodness

Captains by LARRY LA VOIE
The chicken restaurants' delectable specialty is not pre-cooked, par-boiled, half-baked or French-fried for speed or convenience. The colonel's recipe uses fresh (not frozen), locally grown, plump broilers. The chicken is dipped in milk and egg, rolled in flour seasoned with 11 different spices and fried minutes before being served or packaged to take out.

It is by far the most popular chicken preparation in Long Beach. The boxed dinner, $1.25, includes three pieces of chicken, slaw, whipped potatoes, country gravy, hot roll and honey. The bucket of 15 pieces is $4.15. The barrel, 21 pieces, is $5.40.

Shoreline Restaurant
1900 E. OCEAN BLVD., L. B.

ABOUT a dozen years ago I was impressed when a restaurant expert from Chicago, here on a visit, predicted: "Some day Southern California will have more dining places than any other area in America. You'll have restaurants on every corner, like service stations." That expert was talking about the late 1970s and 1980s. But his prediction already is starting to come true. In some sections of Long Beach restaurants are clustered at choice intersections like grapes.

One of the most successful such organizations is Kentucky Fried Chicken whose trademark is Colonel Harland Sanders. The white-garbed colonel, now in his 70s, is still active in the business, regularly visiting many of the 2,000 restaurants throughout the nation which use the fried chicken recipe he originated long ago in Kentucky.

The colonel's chief representative in the Long Beach area is enterprising Ray Weidemann, who owns six KFC restaurants and is planning others. Each is modern and colorful, surmounted by a gigantic revolving chicken bucket adorned with the colonel's smiling face. A few weeks ago Ray opened his seventh outlet, a large Kentucky Roast Beef restaurant on Pacific Coast Highway at Pacific Avenue. Constructed on the site of a former Union 76 service station, it has a big parking lot and seating in a patio as well as its dining room. The house specialties are 69-cent roast beef and ham sandwiches.

RAY WEIDEMANN
Buckets of Goodness

Caricature by LARRY, LA VOIE

The chicken restaurants' delectable specialty is not pre-cooked, par-boiled, half-baked or French-fried for speed or convenience. The colonel's recipe uses fresh (not frozen), locally grown, plump broilers. The chicken is dipped in milk and egg, rolled in flour seasoned with 11 different spices and fried minutes before being served or packaged to take out.

It is by far the most popular chicken preparation in Long Beach. The boxed dinner, $1.25, includes three pieces of chicken, slaw, whipped potatoes, country gravy, hot roll and honey. The bucket of 15 pieces is $4.15. The barrel, 21 pieces, is $5.40.

"The Johnny Cash Show" premieres at 9:30 p.m., Saturday, on Ch. 7 as the summer replacement for "the Hollywood Palace."

Bob Dylan, poet, composer and singer, will make his first prime-time network TV appearance as a guest. Also featured on the opener will be comedienne Fannie Flagg, singer-writer-fiddler Doug Kershaw and Joni Mitchell, Canadian folk singer-composer.

CASH, a dramatic entertainer and singing star, has been in the front rank of singer-performers ever since he recorded his "I Walk the Line" almost 15 years ago. His unique singing style and dynamic stage presence are evident in a show that sees Cash in

Interview with Sirhan

Airs on 'First Tuesday' Ch. 4

An Interview with Sirhan B. Sirhan, convicted assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, will be presented on "First Tuesday" at 9 p.m., Tuesday, Ch. 4.

NBC News correspondent Jack Perkins conducted the interview in the Los Angeles County jail May 22, the day after Sirhan was formally sentenced to death and the day before he was transferred to a death-row cell in San Quentin Prison.

"NEVER IN history have the American people had a chance to try to look into the curious mind of a political assassin," Perkins said. "They never had the chance with Lee Harvey Oswald, President Kennedy's murderer, who was killed, or with James Earl Ray, the assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King, who has refused to speak."

DURING the interview Sirhan was cooperative and voluble, Perkins reported. "He was quite eager to talk. We filmed for two hours and he would have gone on, but the sheriff wouldn't permit us to go beyond that time. Sirhan was nervous and tense as we began the interview, but as we went on he loosened up and spoke freely. Toward the end he tightened up again, because he knew this was the last reel. I got the impression he felt that this might be the last contact with the outside world he would ever have. After it was over, he wept. As far as his lawyers know, this was the only time he has wept since he was taken into custody except for the occasion when he was forced to relive the crime."

concert style performance, conversing and performing with his guests and appearing in specially produced numbers backed by a full orchestra. There will also be a segment called "Ride This Train," in which Cash, through song, takes the viewer on a tour of the American heartland. Specially shot film footage will illustrate the songs he sings — about lumberjacks, Indian reservations, cotton pickers, miners and prison farms.

During the show Cash sings a medley of his biggest hits, including "I Walk the Line," "Big River," "Ring of Fire," Orange Blossom Blues" and "Folsom Prison Blues."

BILL CARRUTHERS, producer-director of the Cash series, says the chemistry of the show "is this: About 85 per cent music, and some comedy too.

"The statement of the show is that country and western music has had more impact on other music than ever before — rock, and the move back to rhythm and blues. A lot of big artists are doing country music. Much of this is due to Glen Campbell's influence."

Cash's show will be considerably different from the traditional Grand Ole Opry, according to Carruthers.

BOB DYLAN, JOHNNY CASH

"The Grand Ole Opry," he said, "is what I call hard country. You don't see the Glen Campbells and the Johnny Cashes on the Grand Ole Opry. They've moved over to the general pop show."

CARRUTHERS says the Cash series originates in Nashville.

"The network and Cash both wanted it that way. Johnny wasn't looking for a series when ABC came to me and asked me to put it together. His home and family are there, and he feels responsible to Nashville. He records there. In addition, we wanted to get a real feel — not too slick."

Carruthers' relationship with Cash stemmed from the singer's performances on ABC-TV's "Operation: Entertainment" series. Other than "Operation: Entertainment" and the Cash show, Carruthers has had no background in country music.

"The first time I was really exposed to it was in the service, during the Korean War," he said. "That's where Johnny really learned it too. He always sang, but he never really learned to play the guitar until he was 21 or 22, in the Air Force, during the same war period."

MAYBE it doesn't make much difference when a series ends like "Peyton Place" does, but aren't you wrong by one week about the last show...? I thought the show was very dull when it started again last fall, and the new characters introduced were very unappealing. But it got better in the middle of the year and I think it would be much better to have "Peyton Place" on during the summer than reruns of "The Guns of Will Sonnett."

The "Doris Day Show" has a lot of meaning in it. Just tonight it was about a poacher shooting ducks and how wildlife should be free. Maybe, at times, the characters are not realistic but I think if the writer of this article would look again, they are real.

I appreciate your newspaper very much because it is so nicely written, but, even though the article was an opinion, I think some of your writers of the TV section should watch the show at least three or four times before giving an opinion.

I THINK the Amateur Hour has a better program than Jonathan Winters, the Smothers Brothers, Ed Sullivan... too many hippies are on the programs. I could make better music on a tin can. Lawrence Welk has the best program. I wish there were more programs like Welk.

TV ABROAD: It's Banned in South Africa

By KENNETH L. WHITING
Associated Press

Trips to the moon by American astronauts have sparked new demands for television in South Africa. "Perhaps the amazing flight to the moon will at long last make South Africans realize how they are being robbed by the government's perverse objection to TV," Editor Joel Mervis wrote in the Johannesburg, South Africa Sunday-Times at the time of Apollo 9.

Fresh grumbling was heard as Apollo 10 blasted off and more complaints are likely when Apollo 11 attempts the moon landing.

THIS IS probably the only large industrial nation to prohibit television.

It is almost certainly coming, but when and in what form remains a mystery.

Some think it will be announced in 1971 to woo votes just before the general election. Most informed guesswork envisions public television about 1973 or 1974.

Closed-circuit television is used in schools and industry, but only under strict government controls.

DR. ALBERT HERTZOG, former minister of posts and telegraphs with control over broadcasting, criticized television as "evil, wicked and dangerous."

Matthys C.G.J. Van Rensburg replaced Hertzog in the Cabinet. "We do not believe television is a thing from the devil," he has said. "It has many advantages and disadvantages."

If and when it does come, it will be carefully controlled by the government, he said.

THIS COUNTRY in effect exports the product it bans. The government-franchised South African Broadcasting Corp. has supplied film of sports and other events to television stations overseas. It shipped footage of Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard, after his first heart transplant, to some 300 U.S. television stations.

D-DAY REVISITED (7), 8 p.m. — A return to the historic shores of Normandy is conducted by producer Darryl F. Zanuck — in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of the assault on Hitler's fortress Europe, and also to plug Zanuck's 1962 film "The Longest Day," with black and white film clips. Zanuck uses a helicopter to take viewers close up to the damaged German bunkers, then visits the Pegasus Bridge near Caen and the American cemetery overlooking Omaha Beach — all to show the brutality of war and the need for peace.

Ask the man, "How many insurance companies do you represent?"

If he says just one—slow down.

He doesn't have much choice to offer you.

Stands to reason you're better off if you buy home, car or business insurance from an agency which represents several companies. An independent agent. Like us.

We have a choice. That's why we can give you sound, impartial advice about which policy is best. And help speed a fair, fast settlement if you have a loss.

This symbol is your assurance that we are professional independent agents.

Look for this seal to be sure you get the insurance that is best for you.

The Independent Insurance Agents Association of Long Beach includes 80 agencies with 130 licensed agents to serve you. For a list of members see the Yellow Pages of your telephone directory under the heading "Independent Insurance Agents Association of Long Beach," under the "insurance" classification.

D-DAY REVISITED (7), 8 p.m. — A return to the historic shores of Normandy is conducted by producer Darryl F. Zanuck — in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of the assault on Hitler's fortress Europe, and also to plug Zanuck's 1962 film "The Longest Day," with black and white film clips. Zanuck uses a helicopter to take viewers close up to the damaged German bunkers, then visits the Pegasus Bridge near Caen and the American cemetery overlooking Omaha Beach — all to show the brutality of war and the need for peace.

SOUNDS OF SUMMER (28), 8 p.m. — Premiere. SPECIAL

- WAR IN MIDEAST? (7), 7:30 p.m. — "Summer Focus, 1969," a series of 13 irregularly-scheduled documentaries, debuts with Frank Reynolds narrating an hour sampling the tensions in that explosive region of the world — including the pressures of refugees, the involvement of the superpowers, and the violent national hatreds and rivalries. (A second "Focus" this week, on Thursday, looks at "Abortion.")

- PEYTON PLACE (7), 8:30 p.m. — We hung up a big new calendar since our goof of last week. But by the ghost of Martin Peyton, tonight's segment IS the finale. Next week — honest — the Sonnets take over this slot for the summer.

- CAMPUS CRUSADE (5), 9 p.m. — This one's for Christ, not parks, as the interdenominational youth group, airs an hour filmed at UCLA — where students discuss their problems, and music is offered by Pat Boone; Paul Snooky, and Peter Yarrow of Peter, Paul and Mary; Bobby Vee and The New Folk, the Campus Crusade for Christ singing group.

Summer Focus Airs Show on Abortion

"Abortion," second documentary in ABC News' "Summer Focus, 1969" series, airing at 10 p.m. Thursday, will provide a picture of one of the most emotional and controversial issues in the United States and the world today.

Few are neutral on the topic of abortion reform, and opinions range from evangelical enthusiasm to damning criticism. The documentary does not offer a judgment for or against abolition of existing abortion statutes.

Spokesmen pro and con, including women who have faced illegal abortion, tell the story of the problem as it exists in all strata of contemporary society.

WOMEN who have survived illegal abortions, a woman who bore a severely defective child when refused a therapeutic abortion, and others who have been deeply affected by confrontation with abortion appear on the program.

Also seen are filmed highlights of this year's debates on the subject in the New York State legislature in Albany. The legislators considered, and rejected, the Blumenthal Bill, which would have amended state law to provide several grounds in addition to present provisions for legal abortion.

Representing the Roman Catholic Church is Father David Granfield, professor at the Columbus School of Law, Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. Father Granfield, author of the forthcoming book, "Abortion, the Choice," outlines the church's position and details what he feels to be viable alternatives to abortion — alternatives which, he believes, allow for the birth of the child without threat to the stability and security of mother or child.

THE CORE of the difficult problem of legalized abortion, explains producer Ernest Pendrell, seems to be "at what point in the conception of a human being does the state take over its responsibility for the life and death of unborn, when is it actually born, and at what point is nature's act the exclusive responsibility of the woman?"

The question he said, is a thorny one, but one that must be dealt with for, as "Abortion" demonstrates, it is natural for a woman to want to have her child. Yet having children is not always desired, and sometimes can be dangerous. The alternative in so many cases . . . illegal abortion . . . is dangerous, and can be fatal."

"Abortion," second documentary in ABC News' "Summer Focus, 1969" series, airing at 10 p.m., Thursday, will provide a picture of one of the most emotional and controversial issues in the United States and the world today.

Few are neutral on the topic of abortion reform, and opinions range from evangelical enthusiasm to damning criticism. The documentary does not offer a judgment for or against abolition of existing abortion statutes.

Spokesmen pro and con, including women who have faced illegal abortion, tell the story of the problem as it exists in all strata of contemporary society.

WOMEN who have survived illegal abortions, a woman who bore a severely defective child when refused a therapeutic abortion, and others who have been deeply affected by confrontation with abortion appear on the program. Also seen are filmed highlights of this year's debates on the subject in the New York State legislature in Albany. The legislators considered, and rejected, the Blumenthal Bill, which would have amended state law to provide several grounds in addition to present provisions for legal abortion.

Representing the Roman Catholic Church is Father David Granfield, professor at the Columbus School of Law, Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. Father Granfield, author of the forthcoming book, "Abortion, the Choice," outlines the church's position and details what he feels to be viable alternatives to abortion — alternatives which, he believes, allow for the birth of the child without threat to the stability and security of mother or child.

THE CORE of the difficult problem of legalized abortion, explains producer Ernest Pendrell, seems to be "at what point in the conception of a human being does the state take over its responsibility for the life and death of unborn, when is it actually born, and at what point is nature's act the exclusive responsibility of the woman?"

The question he said, is a thorny one, but one that must be dealt with for, as "Abortion" demonstrates, it is natural for a woman to want to have her child. Yet having children is not always desired, and sometimes can be dangerous. The alternative in so many cases . . . illegal abortion . . . is dangerous, and can be fatal."

Della

"Della," starring Della Reese, premieres at 10 p.m., Friday, Ch. 9, in the first of a series of hour-long variety-comedy shows.

Starting June 9, "Della" will air at 10 p.m., Monday through Friday evenings.

GUESTS on the first show include Vincent Price, Terry-Thomas, Sandler & Young, Jonathan Frid, and "Barnabas" the vampire from "Dark Shadows." Comic Sandy Baron will be a series regular.

Miss Reese takes on the host-guest role after doing more than 300 TV guest appearances, 18 of them on the Ed Sullivan Show.

SHE COMES from Detroit — "the bottom of it," she says, and got her first big break singing with Erskine Hawkins' orchestra. Hawkins allowed her to sing only three songs — "Sincerely," "Teach Me Tonight" and "Let Me Go Lover" — and Della learned to change delivery styles, singing the tunes in a jump, blues or Latin style. "Anything to keep from going stir crazy," recalls Della.

A first record, "In the Still of the Night," sold half a million copies. Her second, "And That Reminds Me," sold over a million.

DELLA USES her spare time to sketch, write (prose and poetry) and collect clocks. Her favorite singers are Ray Charles, Frank Sinatra, Carmen MacRae, Aretha Franklin and Lena Horne ("when I feel sexy"). All forms of music are favorites to Della. "I am a music junkie. Classical, gospel, blues and songs that go bumpity bump bump."

Della

"Della," starring Della Reese, premieres at 10 p.m., Friday, Ch. 9, in the first of a series of hour-long variety-comedy shows.

Starting June 9, "Della" will air at 10 p.m., Monday through Friday evenings.

GUESTS on the first show include Vincent Price, Terry-Thomas, Sandler & Young, Jonathan Frid, and "Barnabas" the vampire from "Dark Shadows." Comic Sandy Baron will be a series regular.

Miss Reese takes on the host-guest role after doing more than 300 TV guest appearances, 18 of them on the Ed Sullivan Show.

SHE COMES from Detroit — "the bottom of it," she says, and got her first big break singing with Erskine Hawkins' orchestra. Hawkins allowed her to sing only three songs — "Sincerely," "Teach Me Tonight" and "Let Me Go Lover" — and Della learned to change delivery styles, singing the tunes in a jump, blues or Latin style. "Anything to keep from going stir crazy," recalls Della.

A first record, "In the Still of the Night," sold half a million copies. Her second, "And That Reminds Me," sold over a million.

DELLA USES her spare time to sketch, write (prose and poetry) and collect clocks. Her favorite singers are Ray Charles, Frank Sinatra, Carmen MacRae, Aretha Franklin and Lena Horne ("when I feel sexy").

All forms of music are favorites to Della. "I am a music junkie . . . Classical, gospel, blues and songs that go bumpity bump bump."

3 I usually awaken in the morning feeling refreshed and well rested.
4 People generally consider me a happy and contented person.
5 Things often seem not to go well for me and I get depressed.
6 I generally feel pretty good, even when things go wrong in the world.
7 I am somewhat moody and changeable.
8 I would consider my life to be as good as or happier than most people's.
9 I am fairly easygoing and don't easily blow up at people.
10 I accept people for what they are and think most people are pretty good.
11 I tend to be shy at large parties with many strange people.
12 I enjoy social organizations, clubs, and group activities.
13 In most cases I find it easy to meet new people.
14 I have been or would enjoy being the leader of a club or group.
15 I prefer an evening at home with tv or a good book to a party.
16 I like my friends to be enthusiastic and extroverted.
17 Not infrequently, my daydreams are more enjoyable than reality.
18 I prefer crossword puzzles or a good book to leading a new dance.
19 I would enjoy meeting and talking with people from a foreign country.
20 My home is frequently a place where my friends gather informally.
21 I'm for progress, but the new fashion trends are too extreme.
22 Youth has gone too far and should have more respect for authority.
23 Topless entertainment should not be permitted in public clubs and restaurants.
24 The liberalization of divorce and abortion laws is indicative of moral decay in our society.
25 Basically, a woman's place is still in the home.
26 Our modern conveniences are fine but people enjoyed life in the good old days.
27 A woman's smoking or drinking is pettic, just doesn't look ladylike.
28 The proper place for sex education and discussions of values is in the home, not in the school.
29 Married businessmen should not take their secretaries to lunch.
30 Old fashioned respect for law and order is what this country needs.
31 I am generally considered a warm and affectionate person.
32 Sex in marriage should be primarily for the purpose of reproduction.
33 It is all right for two people in love to let their consciences dictate how far they will go sexually.
34 I believe that people can have a good marriage without much sex.
35 I would prefer a male who is dignified and reserved to one who is passionate.
36 An overemphasis on sex can ruin a good marriage.
37 I would want a mate who is warm, affectionate and responsive.
38 Sex is acceptable in its place, but people should not give in to their lustful impulses.
39 Married couples should treat sex seriously and never playfully or erotically.
40 The ability to be affectionate toward a loved one is as important part of marital success.
41 I would like a mate who attends church regularly.
42 I would like my children to begin religious training at early age and continue as long as possible.
43 I believe that God answers prayers.
44 Children should be allowed to choose their own religious and moral beliefs.
45 I believe in the existence of a Supreme Being.
46 Regular church attendance enhances stable and wholesome family life.
47 In the event of personal or marital problems, the first person I'd consult would be a clergyman.
48 I believe that people are eventually punished for their sins.
49 Without organized religion the world would be chaotic and full of evil.
50 I believe in the concepts of Good and Evil.

TV NOTEBOOK

Bing Crosby, his wife Kathryn, and two of their children will star in a modernized and musical version of the fairy tale, "Goldilocks," to be aired on NBC during the 1969-70 season. It will be part animation.

"IT TAKES a Thief," starting Aug. 21 will air Thursday at 10 p.m. on Ch. 7 — the period it will occupy next season on the ABC-TV network. On the week it changes, it will air twice, Tuesday at 8:30 p.m., its current slot, and again on Thursday, in the new time.

The change is the third on ABC prime-time programming — "This is Tom Jones" began airing in its new 9 p.m. Thursday slot, May 15, and "Let's Make a Deal" shifted to 7:30 p.m. Friday last week.

KTTV (Ch. 11) is making some program changes, too. Host Art James moves "Pay Cards" to 5:30 p.m. Monday. Woody Woodbury takes over Donald O'Connor's spot at 11:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, June 10.

OVER AT NBC (Ch. 4) Bill Leyden will start hosting a new daytime comedy series, "You're Putting Me On," a celebrity panel show, from noon to 12:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, starting June 30.

WALTER SCOTT'S Personality Parade

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, Parade, 733 3rd Ave., New York, N.Y., 10017. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. I have just seen one of the worst films of all time, 100 Rifles with Raquel Welch. Does this girl have any talent?—Don Fredericks, Carlsbad, Calif.

A. Yes, but most of it extends from her neck down.

Q. Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin had a pretty wife named Jean. After McCarthy died, what became of his wife?—Ann Hays, Hutchinson, Kans.

A. Jean McCarthy is married to G. Joseph Minetti of the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D.C.

TWOSOME: VANESSA REDGRAVE AND FRANCO NERO

Q. Can you tell me if Vanessa Redgrave, the British actress, is a member of the Communist Party? I understand she is also pregnant by Franco Nero, her 27-year-old leading man in Camelot. How old is Vanessa, and when if ever do these two plan on getting married?—Mrs. T. H. H., Easton, Md.

A. Vanessa Redgrave does not think highly of capitalism. "It is the cause," she says, of "racism and the myth of white superiority." But she is not a member of the Communist Party. Vanessa, 32, and admittedly bearing Nero's child, says she may or may not marry her Italian lover.

Q. What is the highest rank any black woman has ever achieved in the U.S. Air Force?—Wilma Rudolph, Monroe, La.

A. Col. Ruth Lucas of Alabama is the first Negro woman to achieve the rank of colonel in the Air Force. She was promoted to full colonel on Nov. 25, 1968, joined the old WAAC in 1942.

Q. What's happened to Martin Agronsky who was moderator on Face the Nation every Sunday for so long?—J. Goldman, Macon, Ga.

A. Agronsky has his own nighttime TV program in Washington, D.C.

Q. I would like to find out how many Negroes voted in the last Presidential election. Is it true that Richard Nixon did not win a single major black community in the U.S.?—Franklin Desmond, Tampa, Fla.

A. Approximately 7,350,000 blacks voted in the 1968 Presidential election. Of this number, about 740,000 voted for Nixon, 6,600,000 for Humphrey. Nixon did not win a majority in any black community in any of the ten most populous cities. He did, however, make a creditable showing in the Baldwin Hills section of Los Angeles where he carried 31.6 percent of the vote against Humphrey's 66.7 percent.

Q. Is it true that Audrey Hepburn will never pose in a bathing suit because she has no chest?—Harlan Thompson, Jersey City, N.J.

A. Not true. See photo.

Q. I pulled a hitch in Vietnam and was told by members of the ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) that their commanders were subject to disciplinary action for taking casualties on the offensive. Isn't that why the South Vietnamese are afraid to go on the offensive?—L. S. D., Philadelphia, Pa.

A. The South Vietnamese soldiers suffer from poor leadership, lack of initiative, are reluctant in many instances to kill "the V.C. who are after all our brothers." The leading offensive weapon of the South Vietnamese is U.S. air support. Many ARVN commanders in the field spend a good deal of their time avoiding the enemy. That fact is well known to the American military.

Q. President Nixon refused to appoint one of America's great scientists, Dr. Franklin Long of Cornell, to head the National Science Foundation, because Long, like the majority of the nation's scientists, is against the ABM system for a number of reasons. Does this mean that the President wants scientific advice only from yes-men?—V. M., Cambridge, Mass.

A. According to Peter Flanagan, Presidential assistant, "Dr. Long was not recommended by the White House staff to President Nixon because of anticipated opposition from the Hill (Congress)." After reconsidering the entire matter, Nixon agreed to appoint Dr. Long, but in view of the hassle, Long declined.

Q. How old is Loretta Young? I know she is a Catholic, but how many times has she been divorced?—A. McIntyre, New York, N.Y.

A. Loretta Young is at least 56, has been divorced twice, once from Grant Withers, once from Tom Lewis.

Q. How many people in the U.S. are on relief? Which state pays the highest relief? How come in the midst of great prosperity the relief rolls increase 10 percent per year?—Alice Foreman, W. Palm Beach, Fla.

A. Approximately 9 million people are on the welfare rolls, or 4.5 percent of the total population. Massachusetts pays the highest amount per person on relief—$67.85 per month. No one at this time has a definite answer as to why, with unemployment down, the relief rolls continue to climb. Possible answers: a rising rate of illegitimacy, a greater awareness of the availability of welfare, and a lessening of social stigma attached to applying for welfare.

Q. They say Frank Sinatra's hairplants have now cost him $40,000. Can we see his new crop of hair for all that loot?—Yvonne Swain, Dallas, Tex.

A. See photo.

INTELLIGENCE REPORT

BECAUSE OF VOLUME OF MAIL RECEIVED, PARADE REGRETS IT CANNOT ANSWER QUERIES ABOUT THIS COLUMN.

TACKLING INFLATION: NIXON AND TREASURY SECRETARY DAVID H. KENNEDY.

CALLING MONEY

President Nixon's two major problems are (1) how to end the war in Vietnam (2) how to halt inflation in the U.S. This nation's defense program, which costs $80 billion annually at this point, has become America's single largest employer of labor. It takes care of 3.5 million men in the armed forces, 1.3 million civilians in the Defense Department, and 3.8 million employed in defense work provided by contractors or sub-contractors. This brings a staggering labor force of 8.6 million people under the defense umbrella. In terms of the civilian economy, defense workers are largely non-productive. They produce goods and services for war. They do not create a marketable supply of goods and services for civilian consumption in this country. They therefore, according to classic economic theory, constitute one of the major inflationary factors in our economy. There is just too much money in galloping pursuit of too few goods and services, a condition responsible for the steady rise in the cost of living.

An effort to control the supply of money by increasing taxes and interest rates is considered by many economists a hopeless ploy so long as our war budget keeps pumping $80 billion into the nation's $900 billion economy without producing a supply of goods to meet the demand.

POOR KIDS Mental illness in children is much more common than most people think. Recently 1034 New York City children were chosen at random for a study of mental disorder. Marked to severe impairment was found in 12 percent.

Investigators from the Department of Psychiatry, New York University School of Medicine, reported their findings at the annual meeting of the American Orthopsychiatric Association. They revealed among other things that children from lower-class homes, whose parents have had a grade-school education or less and who work at unskilled or semi-skilled jobs, bear an increased risk of psychiatric impairment. The same held true for children whose parents quarreled, whose father showed them little affection, punished them severely, and disliked his job.

The investigators pointed out that black and Spanish-speaking children in New York suffered an impairment rate of 16 percent, compared to 8 percent for other children.

WOMEN AND MEDICINE

The number of American coeds entering medicine is on the rise. According to the American Medical Women's Association, 9 percent of freshmen medical students are women, which is a 15 percent increase over last year.

About 7 percent of the physicians in the nation are women. This is a far lower percentage than in other advanced industrialized nations. For example, about 80 percent of the physicians in Soviet Russia are women.

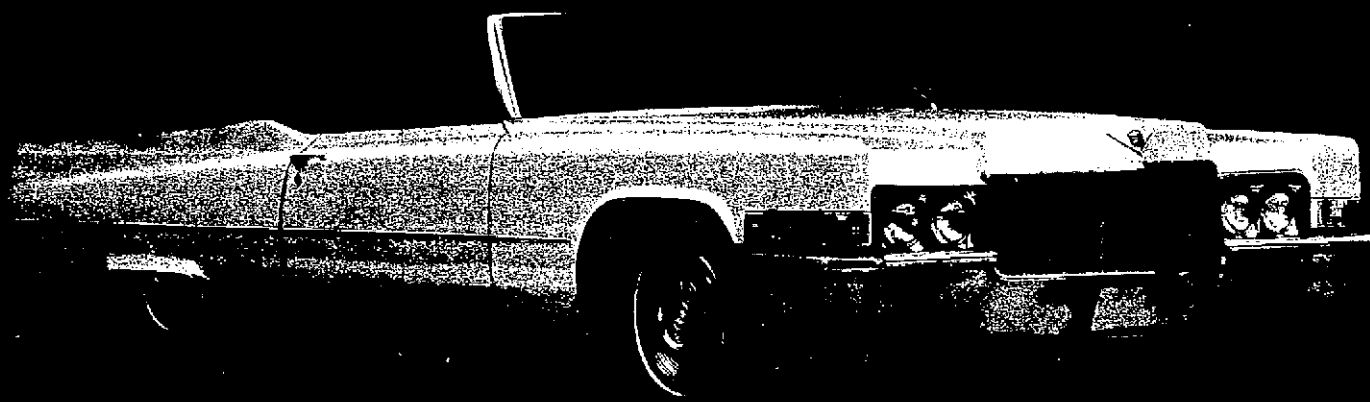

In spite of the popularly held belief that women doctors tend to abandon their medical practice for wifely duties, the association points out that female physicians practice an average of nearly 16 years compared to the only slightly higher average of 19 years for male doctors.

A PLASTIC MODEL OF THE HUMAN HEART AVAILABLE FOR CLASSROOM USE AT $4.40.

HEART MODELS

Heart disease is the chief cause of death in our society. Heart transplants constitute the surgery most widely publicized in the last year.

Because of these two facts, educators are finding it necessary to present their students with improved instruction about the human heart.

To help them, Merck Sharp & Dohme, the pharmaceutical company, is making available to teachers and others interested in the subject, a plastic model of the human heart at cost: $4.40. A specially written "Teachers Manual" has been published to go along with the heart model which is the exact size of a human heart. For more information, write Heart Models, Public Relations, Merck Sharp & Dohme, West Point, Pa. 19486.

ADVERTISED PETITIONS

Nowadays when a group of prominent men feel strongly about some national, controversial issue they get together, sign a joint petition to the government, publish their protest in a newspaper in the form of a paid advertisement.

Petitions are a traditional democratic means of voicing dissent. But buying newspaper space at $5000 and $10,000 a throw in The New York Times for that purpose is not.

In a recent issue of Science magazine Everett Carll Ladd Jr., director of the political data center at the University of Connecticut, gives some facts about this new procedure. In 1953, a year with its fair share of political controversy, not one issue of the Sunday New York Times contained a petition. Last year the Sunday editions were jammed with paid petitions.

Ladd reveals that for the last four years the war in Vietnam has been the major subject of advertised protest, and that virtually all the mass-signature petitions have opposed government policy. The profession most represented in the number of signers and the number of petitions presented was college professors. Next came the clergy, and behind them primary and secondary school teachers.

DISCIPLINE THROUGH FOOD

In the U.S., tomorrow's adults will be taller, and they may also be fatter. A study of the feeding patterns in 2000 households in 12 North Central states reveals that American mothers are feeding their children too much of the wrong kinds of food.

Instead of worrying about their children who eat too much, mothers tend to worry most about their children who undereat. They frequently force the skinny child to overeat, turning him into an obese child, and subsequently an obese adult who becomes a prime candidate for heart disease.

The survey showed that 25 percent of the mothers questioned used food as a reward for good behavior. About 10 percent withheld food as a punishment, and nearly one-third used it as a pacifier. Thus, about 70 percent used food as a measure of parental discipline, a practice many child psychologists find ill-advised.

COLOR TV

More than one-third of the TV households in this country are equipped with color television sets. According to the latest NBC estimate, there are 20,560,000 such households. Some of these homes have more than one color TV set.

An increasing number of bars, hotels, hospitals, schools, and other public places have installed color sets. There are about 22 to 23 million color TV sets in use at this time throughout the country.

THE SHAPE

American women are getting shapelier. Compared to a 1939 survey, they are today the slightest bit larger in the bust, slimmer in the waist, and smaller around the hips.

U.S. Department of Agriculture statistics on females in the 20-to-29 age bracket show the following:

	1939	1969
Bust...	33.97 inches	33.99
Waist...	26.62 inches	25.83
Hips...	37.48 inches	36.94

A PLASTIC MODEL OF THE HUMAN HEART AVAILABLE FOR CLASSROOM USE AT $4.40.

HEART MODELS Heart disease is the chief cause of death in our society. Heart transplants constitute the surgery most widely publicized in the last year.

Because of these two facts, educators are finding it necessary to present their students with improved instruction about the human heart.

To help them, Merck Sharp & Dohme, the pharmaceutical company, is making available to teachers and others interested in the subject, a plastic model of the human heart at cost: $4.40. A specially written "Teachers Manual" has been published to go along with the heart model which is the exact size of a human heart. For more information, write Heart Models, Public Relations, Merck Sharp & Dohme, West Point, Pa. 19486.

ADVERTISED PETITIONS

Nowadays when a group of prominent men feel strongly about some national, controversial issue they get together, sign a joint petition to the government, publish their protest in a newspaper in the form of a paid advertisement.

Petitions are a traditional democratic means of voicing dissent. But buying newspaper space at $5000 and $10,000 a throw in The New York Times for that purpose is not.

In a recent issue of Science magazine Everett Carl Ladd Jr., director of the political data center at the University of Connecticut, gives some facts about this new procedure. In 1953, a year with its fair share of political controversy, not one issue of the Sunday New York Times contained a petition. Last year the Sunday editions were jammed with paid petitions.

Ladd reveals that for the last four years the war in Vietnam has been the major subject of advertised protest, and that virtually all the mass-signature petitions have opposed government policy. The profession most represented in the number of signers and the number of petitions presented was college professors. Next came the clergy, and behind them primary and secondary school teachers.

DISCIPLINE THROUGH FOOD

In the U.S., tomorrow's adults will be taller, and they may also be fatter. A study of the feeding patterns in 2000 households in 12 North Central states reveals that American mothers are feeding their children too much of the wrong kinds of food.

Instead of worrying about their children who eat too much, mothers tend to worry most about their children who undereat. They frequently force the skinny child to overeat, turning him into an obese child, and subsequently an obese adult who becomes a prime candidate for heart disease.

The survey showed that 25 percent of the mothers questioned used food as a reward for good behavior. About 10 percent withheld food as a punishment, and nearly one-third used it as a pacifier. Thus, about 70 percent used food as a measure of parental discipline, a practice many child psychologists find ill-advised.

COLOR TV More than one-third of the TV households in this country are equipped with color television sets. According to the latest NBC estimate, there are 20,560,000 such households. Some of these homes have more than one color TV set.

An increasing number of bars, hotels, hospitals, schools, and other public places have installed color sets. There are about 22 to 23 million color TV sets in use at this time throughout the country.

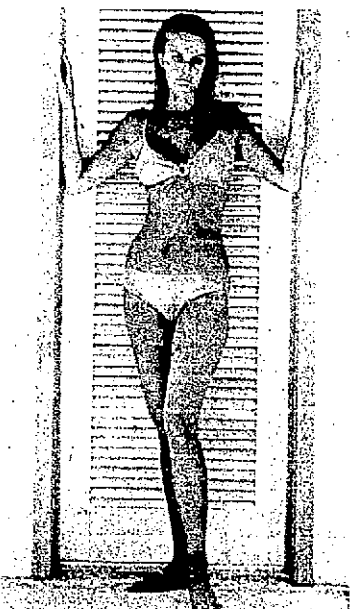

THE SHAPE American women are getting shapelier. Compared to a 1939 survey, they are today the slightest bit larger in the bust, slimmer in the waist, and smaller around the hips.

U.S. Department of Agriculture statistics on females in the 20-to-29 age bracket show the following:

	1939	1969
Bust...	33.97 inches	33.99
Waist...	26.62 inches	25.83
Hips...	37.48 inches	36.94

VIETNAM'S 100,000 ORPHANS

by Harold Ellithorpe

Vietnamese orphans pose for group pictures with Helmut Kutin, chief of newly built Children's Village.

WHAT'S happening to the estimated 100,000 orphans created by the war in Vietnam? It's a question that the South Vietnamese and Americans are facing right now and that they certainly will have to cope with even after the war ends.

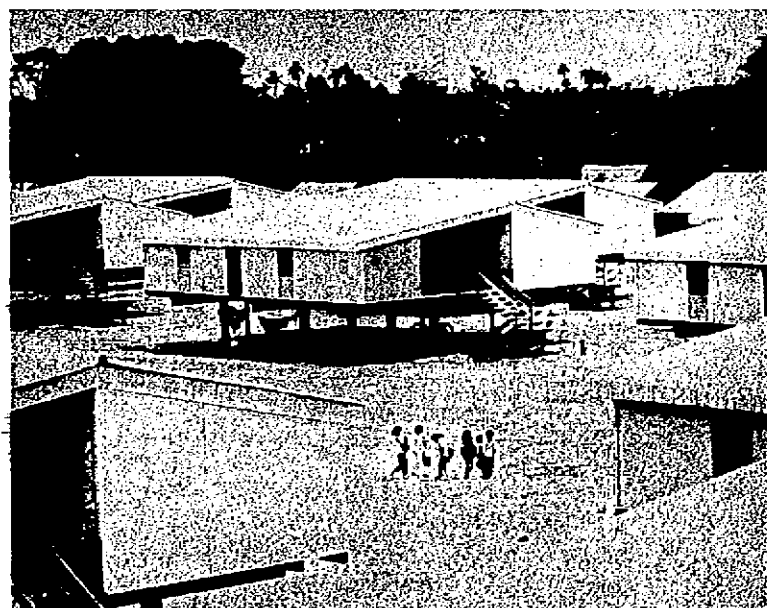

"Never have we found so many cases of whole families being orphaned as here in Vietnam," says Helmut Kutin, a young Austrian who runs a village for orphans just organized at Gò Vấp, five miles from Saigon. Children have been scattered all over the country as the parents have been killed, terrorized, or driven from their homes and turned into fugitives.

The Vietnamese authorities, with U.S. help, are trying to rally the country to meet the needs of these children. South Vietnam's 92 orphanages, most of them in existence for years, are crowded with 12,645 children. These are nearly all private institutions, run by Catholic, Buddhist and other religious or sectarian groups, but many of them receive government funds. Saigon's Ministry of Health, Social Welfare and Relief (MHSWR) operates day-care centers to assure orphans, as well as other children, proper nutrition and education. The American Agency for International Development (AID) has earmarked more than $1 million in 1969 to help the day-care centers and also to take children out of orphanages and place them with near-relatives. Several American voluntary agencies are financing foster-parent programs.

Everyone's in family

Vietnam's "extended family" tradition is also proving helpful in alleviating the plight of the orphans. The Vietnamese regard a family as consisting not only of parents and children, but of grandparents, uncles, aunts and cousins. When one or both parents are killed, the surviving relatives will gladly take a child in. Similarly, many children have been accepted into the household by neighboring and even completely strange families. The government assists families that take in children with financial grants.

Houses are raised in style of Vietnamese mountain dwellings. Children are permitted to play underneath them when the rainy season begins.

School is regular part of orphans' day. Most are going for first time.

Meals at Go Vap are family-style, with "mother" always at table.

Nevertheless, the problem of orphans is of major proportions, and may require new methods and concepts.

Authorities agree that the most successful attempt so far is the Children's Village at Go Vap, which opened last February. It is part of an international organization called SOS-Kinderdorf which came into being 20 years ago after World War II and now operates Children's Villages in 29 countries. The idea, which was originated by an Austrian, Dr. Hermann Gmeiner, meshes perfectly with the Vietnamese concept of the enlarged family.

Instead of being designed as a single, institution-like building, the settlement at Go Vap consists of a cluster of 41 separate houses, plus school and community center. The children in each house, up to 18 of them, regard themselves as belonging to the same family (indeed, many of them do, for care is taken not to separate brothers and sisters). In charge of each house is a "mother" assigned permanently to the children. Her job isn't merely to cook meals, mend clothes and keep the house clean, though she must know how to do all these things. Her main task is to be a parent, to give the children the motherly care, comfort and affection they thought they had lost forever. "The mother is the most important part of our program," says Helmut Kutin who, orphaned himself by World War II, was raised in an SOS-Kinderdorf in Austria.

PARADE visited the "mother" in House No. 5 in Go Vap village. Her name is Vu Thi Luan, and she has 14

"children." Helping her is a young woman named Nguyen Thi Thien, who is designated as the "oldest sister" but who actually is a trainee for "motherhood" herself.

One of the children in the house is a boy 8 or 9 years old who came there without a name. He'd forgotten his own when he was found half-starved and whimpering in a ditch near Saigon. He's called by the nickname "Hello" because that was all he could say when he was picked up and taken to the village. Today, thanks to Vu Thi Luan and his "brothers" and "sisters" he's a normal, healthy, happy child.

The ability to care for an orphan child without "institutionalizing" him is what makes the Go Vap Children's Village different—and provides hope for the future. The children eat their meals of rice, meat, fish, fruits and vegetables around the table with their "mother." They keep their home clean, carefully leaving their sandals outside the door. When a visitor arrives they greet him by bowing politely. They make carvings and other decorations for their walls, and they carefully tend a large plant on the front porch. They even go to school cheerfully, though most of them never saw a classroom in their lives before they came to the village.

Reality of war

The war isn't very far away from Go Vap. The village is located close to an American airbase, and bombers and helicopters roar over it by day. At night flares light up the sky, and the children stay indoors. But the fighting itself doesn't touch the orphans' village. Sometimes the GI's at the base send over packages of candies and soap. And although the Viet Cong have operated in the area from time to time, they have never harmed the camp. SOS-Kinderdorf officials at the organization's U.S. headquarters at 424 Madison Ave., New York, believe that the Cong knows of the work being done by the Children's Village, and respects it. Some of the children, in fact may have had Viet Cong parents.

One children's village such as this can't meet the needs of all of Vietnam's orphans, for Go Vap's top capacity, which will be reached by the end of 1969, is only 600. But many officials believe it points the direction that must be taken if the war's ravages upon an entire generation of children can ever be repaired.

School is regular part of orphans' day. Most are going for first time.

Meals at Go Vap are family-style, with "mother" always at table.

Nevertheless, the problem of orphans is of major proportions, and may require new methods and concepts.

Authorities agree that the most successful attempt so far is the Children's Village at Go Vap, which opened last February. It is part of an international organization called SOS-Kinderdorf which came into being 20 years ago after World War II and now operates Children's Villages in 29 countries. The idea, which was originated by an Austrian, Dr. Hermann Gmeiner, meshes perfectly with the Vietnamese concept of the enlarged family.

Instead of being designed as a single, institution-like building, the settlement at Go Vap consists of a cluster of 41 separate houses, plus school and community center. The children in each house, up to 18 of them, regard themselves as belonging to the same family (indeed, many of them do, for care is taken not to separate brothers and sisters). In charge of each house is a "mother" assigned permanently to the children. Her job isn't merely to cook meals, mend clothes and keep the house clean, though she must know how to do all these things. Her main task is to be a parent, to give the children the motherly care, comfort and affection they thought they had lost forever. "The mother is the most important part of our program," says Helmut Kutin who, orphaned himself by World War II, was raised in an SOS-Kinderdorf in Austria.

PARADE visited the "mother" in House No. 5 in Go Vap village. Her name is Vu Thi Luan, and she has 14

"children." Helping her is a young woman named Nguyen Thi Thien, who is designated as the "oldest sister" but who actually is a trainee for "motherhood" herself.

One of the children in the house is a boy 8 or 9 years old who came there without a name. He'd forgotten his own when he was found half-starved and whimpering in a ditch near Saigon. He's called by the nickname "Hello" because that was all he could say when he was picked up and taken to the village. Today, thanks to Vu Thi Luan and his "brothers" and "sisters" he's a normal, healthy, happy child.

The ability to care for an orphan child without "institutionalizing" him is what makes the Go Vap Children's Village different—and provides hope for the future. The children eat their meals of rice, meat, fish, fruits and vegetables around the table with their "mother." They keep their home clean, carefully leaving their sandals outside the door. When a visitor arrives they greet him by bowing politely. They make carvings and other decorations for their walls, and they carefully tend a large plant on the front porch. They even go to school cheerfully, though most of them never saw a classroom in their lives before they came to the village.

Reality of war

The war isn't very far away from Go Vap. The village is located close to an American airbase, and bombers and helicopters roar over it by day. At night flares light up the sky, and the children stay indoors. But the fighting itself doesn't touch the orphans' village. Sometimes the GI's at the base send over packages of candies and soap. And although the Viet Cong have operated in the area from time to time, they have never harmed the camp. SOS-Kinderdorf officials at the organization's U.S. headquarters at 424 Madison Ave., New York, believe that the Cong knows of the work being done by the Children's Village, and respects it. Some of the children, in fact may have had Viet Cong parents.

One children's village such as this can't meet the needs of all of Vietnam's orphans, for Go Vap's top capacity, which will be reached by the end of 1969, is only 600. But many officials believe it points the direction that must be taken if the war's ravages upon an entire generation of children can ever be repaired.

Cornelius Ryan, whose book "The Longest Day" was made into a film, and new painting of attack on Omaha Beach 25 years ago.

THE MEN WHO STORMED OMAHA BEACH

by John G. Rogers

Friday is the 25th anniversary of D-Day—the allied storming of the Normandy beaches that marked the beginning of the end of World War II in Europe. But it's D-Day forever on the wall of a Connecticut studio that belongs to a man most intimately associated with that famous invasion date—June 6, 1944.

Cornelius J. Ryan, the Irish-American war correspondent who watched the attack from the air and later spent ten years studying D-Day to write the best seller The Longest Day, has just embellished his studio wall with a large oil painting depicting the American move against Omaha Beach.

There on the wall, just as they did a quarter of a century ago on a June day, and subsequently in a movie based on Ryan's book, U.S. troops begin the assault on bloody Omaha. Outfits involved were the 1st and 29th Infantry Divisions and the 2d and 5th Ranger Battalions.

"We'll never know how much we owe those men," says Ryan. "If the invasion had failed, it would have taken six months to a year to make ready another one. In large measure the whole operation depended on how well those first troops could gain a foothold."

Ryan's 6-by-4-foot painting, done by John Scott, the muralist, shows soldiers moving against the beach which is in the background. A few of the men already have fallen. Just as happened on that day in 1944, the first wave of assault troops has been pinned down in the low-tide water some 300 yards off the beach and subsequent waves are piling up against them.

Here and there among the troops stand spears of "Rommel's asparagus." These are tall wooden pilings topped by mines and named for Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, commander of the German defense. A burning tank flounders in the water at left background. "There's one of the reasons we have so few good pictures of Omaha on D-Day," Ryan explains. "About 64 tanks sent in had movie cameras attached but only seven of them made it. And there aren't many paintings, either. The best of them are in the Pentagon and at West Point. I think mine is the only one devoted just to Omaha."

Plaque to Ike

Ryan's identification with his composite painting is intense. It was done to his specification and memory, and his memories are poignant. "I know every inch of that beach," he muses. "I've been over it again and again. And I'm totally immersed in D-Day. Who wouldn't be after living with it for ten years?"

Ryan, now a roving editor with Reader's Digest, will once again walk the historic beach on Friday—the anniversary day. He and some 20 other surviving D-Day war correspondents will visit the scene. And in St. Laurent Cemetery high above the beach, where 11,000 Americans are buried, they'll help dedicate a plaque to the late General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Lemon Crisps

by Beth Merriman

PARADE FOOD EDITOR

Markets are beginning to burgeon with the beautiful fruits and berries of summer. Right now it's plump red strawberries waiting to doff their green caps and greet the cream pitcher, but soon there will be raspberries, blueberries, etc. For something to "go with" these fruits, try crisp cookies that are tangy with the zest of lemon. They freeze beautifully and defrost in minutes, as crisp and flavorful as the day you tucked them in freezer wrappings. Keep the recipe handy, because after the first batch is gone, you'll want another.

Lemon Crisps

- | | |
|--------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 1 cup soft butter or margarine | 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour |
| 1 1/4 cups sugar | 1 teaspoon baking powder |
| 1 egg | 1/2 teaspoon baking soda |
| 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract | 1/2 cup dairy sour cream |
| Grated peel of 1 lemon | 2 cups quick rolled oats, uncooked |

Beat butter until creamy. Gradually beat in sugar. Add egg, extracts and lemon peel; beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add alternately with sour cream to creamed mixture; blend well. Beat in oats. Cover dough; chill several hours. Roll dough out on lightly floured board or canvas to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut with floured 2-inch or 3-inch round cutter. Place on lightly greased cookie sheets, about 2 inches apart. Sprinkle with granulated sugar. Bake at 375° for 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from cookie sheets immediately. Makes approx. 3 1/2 dozen 3-inch cookies or approx. 7 dozen 2-inch cookies.

Now Possible To Shrink Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

Science has found a medication with the ability, in most cases—to stop burning itch, pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain and itching, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

The answer is Preparation H—there is no other formula like it for hemorrhoids. Preparation H also soothes inflamed, irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

REFITS FALSE TEETH

Living in litter is not for people. Keep America Beautiful.

Advertising contributed for the public good.

Now...Denture Invention

For people with both "uppers" and "lowers"

The big difference between natural teeth and dentures is in performance. Natural teeth are held solidly in place by living connective tissue. Without connective tissue, even the most expensive dentures may slip and rock. Gums often get raw and sore. Constant rubbing may cause serious bone damage. Eating can be slow, painful. You speak less clearly. You dare not laugh for fear of dentures dropping.

Now chemists have developed an artificial connective membrane—FIXODENT. It connects dentures with gums and mouth surfaces. It is incredibly effective for both uppers and lowers.

FIXODENT's elastic membrane absorbs the shock of biting and chewing —helps protect gums from bruising and irritation. You eat faster—bite harder, without pain—enjoy your food more. Eat hard-to-chew foods—steaks, fruits—prevent "denture malnutrition," a problem of older people. FIXODENT helps you speak easier, faster, more clearly. When dentures slip you hold them in place with tongue and cheek muscles that ache. FIXODENT helps prevent strain.

The special pencil-point dispenser spots FIXODENT with precision—no oozing over. Often lasts "round-the-clock." It even resists hot drinks. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get special FIXODENT at all drug counters.

My Favorite Jokes

By George Colston

EDITOR'S NOTE: Comedian George Colston represents the sixth generation of his family in show business. Born in New Orleans, reared on stages all over the world, and educated at Harvard, George made his professional debut at the age of 3. With the exception of a four-year stint as a pilot in the Air Force, he has pursued his career. Today he often pilots himself to his engagements around the country.

Colston has played dates all over the world and only recently completed an eight-month engagement in the Near and Far East in nightclubs and U.S. military clubs. He closed in Bangkok one Saturday and opened in San Francisco on Tuesday.

One of 14 children, the versatile performer has just written a comedy book, George Colston Turns On, and is preparing to record a comedy album.

All this, along with appearances on television, in nightclubs, and in industrial shows, has kept George Colston a free-swinging bachelor.

Herewith are some of his favorite jokes:

Kids today are so disrespectful. My 8-year-old nephew was expelled from school. He said to his father: "I had a little trouble at school. Can you help me?"

"Don't worry," his understanding father replied. "Into each life some rain must fall; but, remember, every cloud has a silver lining."

My nephew looked at me and said: "Talk about the generation gap! I ask for advice and he gives me a weather report."

The psychiatrist said to a problem child's mother: "I will see Tommy in two weeks; but meanwhile you need help, too. You are so upset over the boy, I advise you to take one of these tranquilizers each morning until I see you again."

Two weeks later mother and son returned. The psychiatrist asked: "How is Tommy getting along?"

The mother shrugged: "Who cares!"

Two little boys in Hollywood were arguing. "My father can beat your father."

"Oh yeah! My father IS your father!"

A city swinger went horseback riding, and the stable attendant asked if he wanted an English saddle or a Western saddle.

"What's the difference?" asked the novice.

The attendant explained that a Western saddle had a horn on it, and the English saddle didn't.

"Give me the English saddle. I don't expect to ride in traffic."

Elephants are traditionally supposed to be deathly afraid of mice, but this elephant never read any books and wasn't buying that story. So Jumbo looked down at a rodent that was trying to look fierce and said disdainfully: "I ain't afraid of you; you're just a puny little thing. How come you're so puny anyhow?"

"I've been sick," said the mouse.

Do you know how to tell a happy motorcyclist?

He has hugs on his teeth.

My brother-in-law is a self-made man—and it's the worst example of unskilled labor I've ever seen.

Hear about the minister who said to the mechanic: "Your estimate runneth over."

I wouldn't say inflation has gotten out of hand, but in the good old days dime stores didn't have to use layaway plans.

One of those new off-color off-Broadway shows closed after running only a week. They lost a dollar and a half on costumes alone.

These days you can't tell whether a gal is wearing a high miniskirt or a low lobster bib. Never has so little done so much for so many.

"I'll have a whale sandwich, quick, I'm hungry," said the diner.

"Right," said the waiter. A half hour later he brings in the sandwich.

The diner bites into it and says angrily: "That isn't whale, it's elephant, and if there's one thing I can't stand it's elephant meat. Besides, why did it take so long?"

"I'm sorry," says the waiter. "we just finished today's whale and we had a long argument before deciding we wouldn't cut up a fresh whale just for one sandwich."

REFITS FALSE TEETH

Living in litter is not for people. Keep America Beautiful.

Advertising contributed for the public good.

Now...Denture Invention

For people with both "uppers" and "lowers"

The big difference between natural teeth and dentures is in performance. Natural teeth are held solidly in place by living connective tissue. Without connective tissue, even the most expensive dentures may slip and rock. Gums often get raw and sore. Constant rubbing may cause serious bone damage. Eating can be slow, painful. You speak less clearly. You dare not laugh for fear of dentures dropping.

Now chemists have developed an artificial connective membrane—FIXODENT. It connects dentures with gums and mouth surfaces. It is incredibly effective for both uppers and lowers. FIXODENT's elastic membrane absorbs the shock of biting and chewing —helps protect gums from bruising and irritation. You eat faster—bite harder, without pain—enjoy your food more. Eat hard-to-chew foods—steaks, fruits—prevent "denture malnutrition," a problem of older people. FIXODENT helps you speak easier, faster, more clearly. When dentures slip you hold them in place with tongue and cheek muscles that ache. FIXODENT helps prevent strain.

The special pencil-point dispenser spots FIXODENT with precision—no oozing over. Often lasts 'round-the-clock. It even resists hot drinks. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get special FIXODENT at all drug counters.

My Favorite Jokes

By George Colston

EDITOR'S NOTE: Comedian George Colston represents the sixth generation of his family in show business. Born in New Orleans, reared on stages all over the world, and educated at Harvard, George made his professional debut at the age of 3. With the exception of a four-year stint as a pilot in the Air Force, he has pursued his career. Today he often pilots himself to his engagements around the country.

Colston has played dates all over the world and only recently completed an eight-month engagement in the Near and Far East in nightclubs and U.S. military clubs. He closed in Bangkok one Saturday and opened in San Francisco on Tuesday.

One of 14 children, the versatile performer has just written a comedy book, George Colston Turns On, and is preparing to record a comedy album.

All this, along with appearances on television, in nightclubs, and in industrial shows, has kept George Colston a free-swinging bachelor.

Herewith are some of his favorite jokes:

Kids today are so disrespectful. My 8-year-old nephew was expelled from school. He said to his father: "I had a little trouble at school. Can you help me?"

"Don't worry," his understanding father replied. "Into each life some rain must fall; but, remember, every cloud has a silver lining."

My nephew looked at me and said: "Talk about the generation gap! I ask for advice and he gives me a weather report."

The psychiatrist said to a problem child's mother: "I will see Tommy in two weeks; but meanwhile you need help, too. You are so upset over the boy, I advise you to take one of these tranquilizers each morning until I see you again."

Two weeks later mother and son returned. The psychiatrist asked: "How is Tommy getting along?"

The mother shrugged: "Who cares?"

Two little boys in Hollywood were arguing. "My father can beat your father."

"Oh yeah! My father IS your father!"

A city swinger went horseback riding, and the stable attendant asked if he wanted an English saddle or a Western saddle.

"What's the difference?" asked the novice.

The attendant explained that a Western saddle had a horn on it, and the English saddle didn't.

"Give me the English saddle. I don't expect to ride in traffic."

Elephants are traditionally supposed to be deathly afraid of mice, but this elephant never read any books and wasn't buying that story. So Jumbo looked down at a rodent that was trying to look fierce and said disdainfully: "I ain't afraid of you; you're just a puny little thing. How come you're so puny anyhow?"

"I've been sick," said the mouse.

Do you know how to tell a happy motorcyclist?

He has bugs on his teeth.

My brother-in-law is a self-made man—and it's the worst example of unskilled labor I've ever seen.

Hear about the minister who said to the mechanic: "Your estimate runneth over."

I wouldn't say inflation has gotten out of hand, but in the good old days dime stores didn't have to use layaway plans.

One of those new off-color off-Broadway shows closed after running only a week. They lost a dollar and a half on costumes alone.

These days you can't tell whether a gal is wearing a high miniskirt or a low lobster bib. Never has so little done so much for so many.

"I'll have a whale sandwich, quick, I'm hungry," said the diner.

"Right," said the waiter. A half hour later he brings in the sandwich.

The diner bites into it and says angrily: "That isn't whale, it's elephant, and if there's one thing I can't stand it's elephant meat. Besides, why did it take so long?"

"I'm sorry," says the waiter. "we just finished today's whale and we had a long argument before deciding we wouldn't cut up a fresh whale just for one sandwich."

"And now the news of the day—and I think you'd better be sitting down!"

The Honest Repairman —a Vanishing American?

by Ken W. Purdy

A few weeks ago I took a Minox camera into a New York shop for repairs. The trouble seemed simple enough: I couldn't load it, the film cassette wouldn't go in. The clerk told me it needed cleaning and lubrication, one week, $6.50. When I came back the camera was taken out of a drawer in an elaborately wrapped, stamped, tagged package. I paid the $6.50. It didn't look any cleaner than it had been, but I thought the important work had been done on the inside.

I bought a cassette of film. It wouldn't go in. Amazement and bafflement were registered by the clerk. He tried to load it. Another clerk tried. Another. No use, it would have to "go back to the shop." Ten days. Right.

Next time, when the Minox was taken out of its official-looking wrapping, I realized I was being hustled: when I told the clerk I wanted to see if it would take film there was a pregnant pause. I pointed to an open cassette on a nearby shelf. It was "new" and I couldn't use it.... I used it anyway. It wouldn't go in, as everybody in the shop had known it would not.

I raised the roof. I made a phone call to a famous New York photographer who knew the president of the Minox importing company. Unpleasantness followed, and by next day I could prove that the camera had been nowhere near the repair shop and that it had not even been dusted off, much less cleaned and lubricated. The store returned my $6.50 without a word of argument or defense. The Minox company cleaned, lubricated and practically rebuilt the camera for me without charge, entirely as a courtesy, since the company itself had been in no way involved. But this happy ending came about only because I knew whom to call. Most customers being deliberately cheated are helpless.

Unless he's lucky the cheated customer may never find out. I took my daughter's expensive watch, made by an internationally known company, to a shop displaying the company's dealership sign. The watch had been running badly. It needed, the man said, a complete cleaning and adjustment, $20. He was an old-world-craftsman-type, with just a trace of accent, probably fake Swiss, and he looked as trustworthy as your grandmother. When I came back for the watch he said he needed "another three days for checking, just to be sure." I returned, gave him the $20 and took the watch. It stopped dead four days later. Even in my rage, I had to admire the subtlety of his technique. Who could suspect a man who wanted three extra days just to be sure he'd done a great job?

I went to the U.S. headquarters of the company. A woman clerk in the elaborate and luxurious repair department took the watch away, brought it back and told me it needed a complete cleaning and adjustment, $30, ready in 12 weeks.

Information gap

I told her that since the watch had just come from one of its dealerships, I required to know its precise condition.

"We don't give out that information," she said.

I explained the position more fully: somebody, I said, was a liar and a cheat. After a considerable discussion, and one more trip to consult with the technicians in the back room, she was able to say that the work did in fact need to be done, and that, yes, that indicated pretty clearly that it certainly had not been done by the little old watchmaker with the winning ways.

After a considerable discussion, and one more trip to consult with the technicians in the back room, she was able to say that the work did in fact need to be done, and that, yes, that indicated pretty clearly that it certainly had not been done by the little old watchmaker with the winning ways.

Whom do you trust? Any of these honest, friendly faces could belong to the repairman who may be robbing you blind. How does one tell?

I entered a complaint with an official of the company, but he chose to make no comment.

It used to be that occasionally one would find repair work had been badly done. Now it seems to me that more and more one finds it hasn't been done at all. I suspected that a garage was cheating me. I took a car in for gear-box adjustment, but I sealed the gear-box lid. It could be opened easily enough, but it would show. When the car came back, with a bill for over $30, the seal hadn't been broken. Nobody had even looked into the gear-box, much less adjusted anything. I screamed. I refused to pay. I let it come to suit and settled for 50 percent. So, after a great deal of trouble, I came out only half-cheated.

Legally to prove a case of non-service, Better Business Bureau officials say, the customer must be expert or sophisticated or lucky or all three. Probably for this reason, and also because often the customer doesn't know he's been victimized, non-service complaints are uncommon. What is not uncommon are complaints about incompetent or careless service and repair, or fraudulent guarantees, or "hijacking," the technique of enticing a customer with a promise of a low-cost minor job, then hitting him with expensive, unnecessary work—which may or may not be done at all.

"We just don't have enough people to go out and thoroughly investigate non-service complaints," the Metropolitan New York Better Business Bureau says. "Often it's a case of one man's judgment or opinion. And it's very difficult to get people to testify. One mechanic bills a customer $189 for new transmission parts, let's say. A week later another mechanic, one whom the customer knows and trusts, tells him that no such work has been done. But will he make an affidavit, or testify in court? No, he won't. Almost never.

"All we can tell people is to deal with reputable stores and shops, and get written guarantees for work and parts clearly spelled out on the bill. Beware of come-ons, of big bargains. Today it's hard enough to get something for something, you certainly aren't going to get something for nothing."

There is no doubt that the standard of morality has dropped sharply in recent years (shoplifting and cheating by customers is booming, too) and there are probably many repairmen who consider themselves honest because they don't do anything worse than persuade a customer to buy something he doesn't need. After all, if the customer actually gets the part or the service he paid for, that's not stealing, is it?

TV and radio better

The TV and radio field, which used to be rich ground for swindlers, has been notably cleaned up. Most manufacturers now maintain factory service or use authorized service agencies which are tightly checked and supervised. A service agency with a good company is lucrative, it's well worth having, and smart operators won't risk losing it for the sake of a couple of hundred dollars on the side. If a shop does start to cheat, the word soon gets out. The BBB recently took a Bronx repairman to court when he billed a customer $47.50 on a TV "repair." The set was a plant, in perfect order except for a $7 tube. It was taken straight from the crooked shop to a reputable one, where it was established that $40.50 of the bill was overcharge.

A current gold-mine for crooked repairmen is the air-conditioner field. The BBB says that there are no authorized service agencies for air conditioners. A standard ploy begins with a baited offer to recondition your machine for $8.95 or so. The repairman arrives and goes into a well-rehearsed act: your freon is missing, the frattistat valve is completely shot, you could be asphyxiated in your sleep, the conditioner has to go into the shop. The next bulletin is that the bill won't be $8.95, it will be $34.95. You still want the $8.95 special? Well, there's a trucking charge of $7.50 and the conditioner is now all taken apart, it will have to be put together again... most people finally authorize the $34.95 overhaul.

Some mechanics find woman customers irresistible targets. Mrs. Anita Lemberg of Brooklyn went to a muffler shop for a while-you-wait replacement. When her car was on the hoist, the mechanic told her a horror story about the condition of her steering system, it was so dangerous she shouldn't drive another foot, and so on. In only two hours, he said, he could "replace all the bushings" and perform other wonders. The bill was $51. Her regular mechanic, doing a lube job a week later, showed her that the grease and grime on her steering system was a year old if it was a minute. She went back to the muffler shop, where she was told that her mechanic was a liar.

Through the wringer

An Ellenville, N.Y., woman, Mrs. Marian Talken, had trouble with her clothes dryer. The repairman told her it needed a new drive-shaft and bearings. The bill was $72, and when the original trouble recurred, he wouldn't come back. Another repairman charged $13 to take the dryer apart and show Mrs. Talken that the same old drive-shaft was still in business at the same old spot. He would not, however, be her witness. "I don't want to get involved," he said. "You'll have to settle it yourself."

Doesn't anything good ever happen? Well, yes. A few months ago a friend of mine asked a jeweler how much he would charge to fix an old watch. The man said he didn't like to work on anything but brand-new watches. A second watchmaker said, reluctantly, that he'd do it, for around $150. My friend kept shopping around until he got a better price—$7.20—and a prompt, superb job. How? That part was a little tricky: he asked a friendly airline pilot to take it to a shop in London. But even that is not a guaranteed solution. A London jeweler charged me twice the list price for a wrist-watch crystal three years ago, probably because I had an American accent.

Maybe the answer is to do it yourself, or forget it.

That's all it takes to help build powerful muscles, trim body

No strenuous exercises...no elaborate gym equipment...no lengthy, tedious work-outs. You don't need time, space, or energy to multiply your strength...to broaden your shoulders...to increase your lung capacity...to trim your waistline...to develop vigor. Now the same method of Isometric-Isotonic Contraction that trained the German Olympic Team and other world-famous athletes can help YOU build a powerful physique. Yes, even if you are 30, 50 years old or more. Unlike ordinary isometric contraction devices, the TENSOLATOR™ combines both Isometric and Isotonic benefits in a series of quick 7-second exercises that you do once a day in your own room—less than 2 minutes in all! Muscles grow stronger, shoulders broaden, chest expands, waist tapers down—and you feel like a new man. Fast! We guarantee impressive results in 10 days or your money back without question. Send for the big brochure that shows step-by-step illustrations of the Tensolator Method. Mail this coupon with your name and address, and 25c to cover postage and handling to:

HAIL TO THE FIRST DAY OF JUNE, GENTLEMEN.

WOW! MEANWHILE, MY FRIEND ALBERT IS FOUND OUT WE SHARED A COMMON ACADEMIC INTEREST WHEN WE WERE STRUPLINGS.

EVERY SUNDAY EACH OF US ROUSED AROUND WITH THE FUNNY PAPERS... AFTER SUNDAY SCHOOL OF COURSE...

I USED TO READ THE FUNNY PAPER WHAT HAD THE MOUSE HITTING THE CAT WITH A BRICK!

AN I USED TO LOVE THE "PUSSY CAT PRINCESS."

ALL US LIBERALS DOGS LOVED TO SEE THAT DOWNSTOOD MY MOTHER CREAM THAT BIG, FAT CAT WITH THE BRICK.

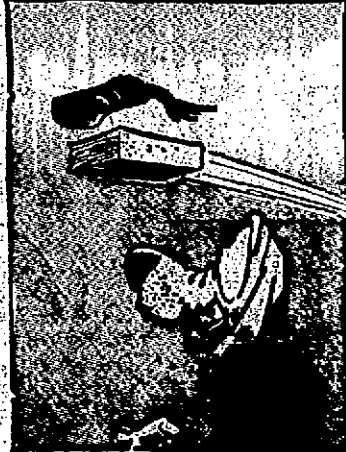

YEH, THEM NICE "DOCK IT FROM CATS LONG ENOUGH" ALL US BIG LIBERALS WAS FOR THE UNDERDOG...

BUT SPOSE THE CATS WERE TO TURN ON THE DOGS?

IN THE FIRST PLACE A CAT IS NOT OF SUFFICIENT MENTAL CALIBRE TO...

MAARGH! MAARGH! MAARGH!

EVERYBODY'S FOR THE UNDERDOG... LONG AS HE STAYS THE UNDERDOG.

EGAD LADS! WHEN I WAS YOUR AGE, I WOULD BE ON THE PLAYING FIELD, ROMPING IN THE SUNSHINE, RATHER THAN ROOSTING ON THAT FENCE!

BUT WE HAVE NO ONE TO BAT FOR US, UNCLE AMOS!

HOW ABOUT IT, UNCLE BULGY? ER-I MEAN UNCLE AMOS! HOW ABOUT SOME OF THAT STICKWORK YOU'RE SO FAMOUS FOR?

'UNCLE BULGY' INDEED! DIRT THAT BOY!

UNCLE AMOS IS REALLY MAD!

WHIPPERSNAPPER!

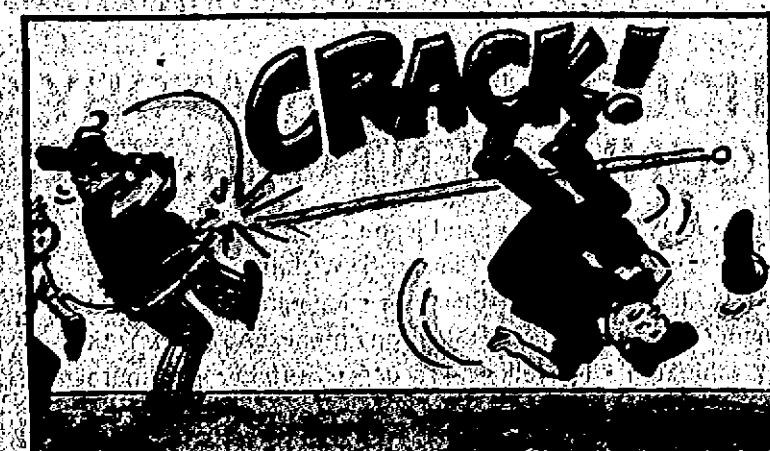

HEY, UNCLE BULGY, WHEN YOU'RE IN THE BOX, I CAN'T SEE IT!

WANT ME TO HANG IT ON A WIRE, UNCLE BULGY?

IF I THROW IT ANY SLOWER, IT'LL ROLL!

TRY THE OTHER END OF THE BAT!

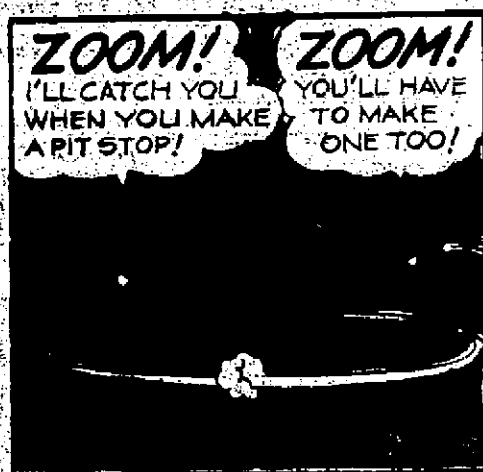

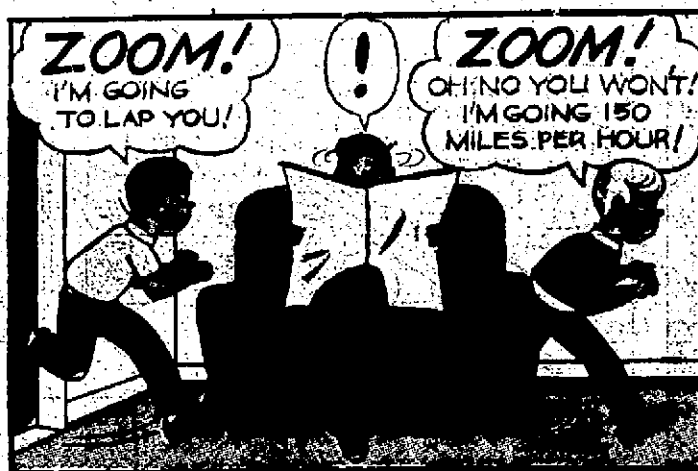

CRACK!

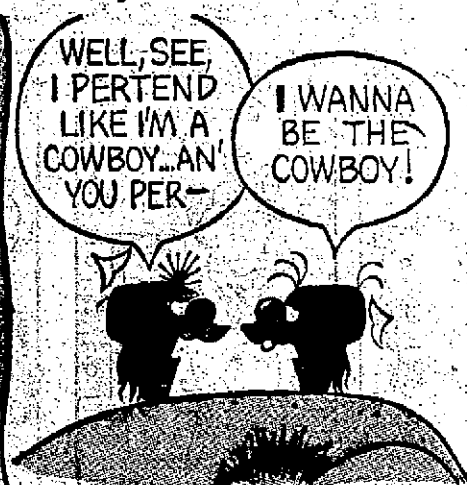

C'MON, LEANDER... I TOLD THE BALL NEVER TOUCHED YA!

Y'NOT TO CALL HIM 'UNCLE BULGY'!
